University Profile

Overview

Weber State University is an exceptional comprehensive university providing associate, bachelor and master's degrees to meet the needs of the region. WSU graduates are broadly educated, capable and prepared for meaningful careers, graduate and professional schools, and civic engagement. The hallmark of the university is excellent teaching with extraordinary interactions between faculty and students. WSU offers a wide and diverse variety of degrees/programs (see Programs Sorted by Degree or Programs Sorted by Major/Minor) - the largest and most expansive undergraduate program in the State of Utah. With a student body of over 29,000 drawn predominantly from Utah, but also including students from 48 states and 61 foreign countries, WSU takes pride in its student-centered environment for learning and believes that quality education is founded upon close associations between faculty and students.

WSU is distinguished by outstanding academic programs that recruit motivated students to work with faculty to create and share knowledge. More than fifty academic departments and programs in seven colleges provide learning opportunities for a diverse spectrum of students, including grants and support for undergraduate research, community-based and service learning, an Honors program, and a Bachelor of Integrated Studies (BIS) program. The Office of Undergraduate Research (OUR) and the Center for Community Engaged Learning help to engage students in learning both inside and outside the classroom, and the Honors program provides small classes in a rich, supportive, and challenging academic setting. The BIS offers students the opportunity to design their own degrees with three areas of academic emphasis meant to prepare them for specific career paths or graduate study.

Academic studies are complemented by a wide range of extracurricular activities, including student government, intramural and intercollegiate athletics, and award-winning performing arts groups. In addition, the Student Success Center along with the First Year Experience program helps new students adjust to the university community, while a variety of support services aid those with particular needs.

The WSU Ogden campus has 60 buildings on 526 acres that house abundant classrooms and laboratories, excellent student computing facilities, outstanding performing arts auditoriums, a spacious library, and a well-equipped health and fitness center. An area of continued growth is WSU-Davis, which provides instruction to students on a new high-tech campus in Layton. In addition to its Ogden and Davis campuses, WSU offers courses throughout the state and Intermountain West and is a leader in online instruction.

Historical Perspective

Weber State University was founded in Ogden, Utah, as Weber Stake Academy on January 7, 1889, by the Weber Stake Board of Education of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. The 1933 Utah Legislature established Weber College as a state junior college and placed it under the control of the Utah State Board of Education. Following World War II the college outgrew its downtown campus and moved to the present 400-acre site, spectacularly perched on the mountainside overlooking Ogden and the Great Salt Lake.

In 1959 the Utah Legislature authorized the addition of upper division courses, leading to award of the first baccalaureate degrees by Weber State College in 1964. The 1969 Legislature created the Utah System of Higher Education, comprising nine public institutions of higher learning, including Weber State College. The system is governed by a State Board of Regents, and each institution has its own Board of Trustees; members of both boards are appointed by the governor.

In 1990 the state legislature renamed the institution Weber State University, effective New Year's Day 1991, appropriately symbolizing its role as Utah's premier public, undergraduate university.

Mission Statement

Weber State University provides associate, baccalaureate and master degree programs in liberal arts, sciences, technical and professional fields. Encouraging freedom of expression and valuing diversity, the university provides excellent educational experiences for students through extensive personal contact among faculty, staff and students in and out of the classroom. Through academic programs, research, artistic expression, public service and community engaged learning, the university serves as an educational, cultural and economic leader for the region.

WSU Mission Core Themes Assessment

Each of the mission core themes has objectives, indicators of achievement and empirical assessment measures of the indicators. This section contains summary assessment data for the indicators of achievement for each of the core theme objectives.

Catalog Information

The Weber State University catalog is maintained by the Registrar's Office based on approved curricula. Although some areas of information are covered in detail, much of the content is presented in a general way. The catalog is not to be considered a binding contract between Weber State and any student or other institution. Weber State reserves the right to change its regulations or course offerings as conditions require during the period of any student's attendance. Students should refer to the official schedule of classes online which is available before and during registration each semester.

Assessment at WSU

WSU routinely conducts campus-based studies of student attitudes, student achievement, student satisfaction, and personal, professional and career development. These studies are grouped under the heading of student outcomes assessment. Each WSU student is expected to participate in outcomes assessment. While every student is not selected for participation in every activity, it is likely that an individual student will be involved in one or more assessment activities during the college years. It is only through cooperative participation in the assessment process that WSU can better understand itself and better serve its students.

As well, every academic program assesses student learning for both formative and summative assessment purposes. This assessment is generally embedded in the curriculum, but may also utilize outside exams, internships, and portfolios.

*For more information on outcomes assessment at WSU, contact the Office of Institutional Effectiveness, Annex 2, 801-626-8586

Campus Safety and Nondiscrimination Policy Statement

CAMPUS SAFETY

Your safety while attending WSU is extremely important to us. The university maintains a campus alert system called Code Purple that provides notices about significant emergency situations on campus such as snow closures, power outages, gas leaks, or other potentially dangerous threats. We encourage you to sign-up for campus alerts at weber.edu/codepurple.

To report any crime or emergency, call 911 or University police at 801-626-6460, 3734 Dixon Parkway, Ogden, UT 84408.

The university also publishes an Annual Security Report and Fire Safety Report which provides information about crime statistics, crime prevention, alcohol and drug policies, fire statistics, etc. These reports can be found online at <http://apps.weber.edu/wsuiimages/police/2014-15%20Clery%20Book.pdf>. You may request a physical copy by calling 801-626-7440 or visiting the WSUPD at 3734 Dixon Parkway, Ogden, UT 84408.

NONDISCRIMINATION

Weber State University is committed to protecting the personal rights of all students, employees, and visitors by providing an environment free from harassment and other forms of discrimination based upon race, color, national origin, pregnancy or pregnancy-related conditions, genetics, age (over 40), disability, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity/expression, veteran, active military status, and other classifications protected by law. Such an environment is a necessary part of a healthy learning and working atmosphere. Unlawful discrimination undermines human dignity and the sense of community WSU seeks to foster.

Discrimination and harassment are illegal and specifically prohibited by the constitutions, statutes, precedents and regulations of the United States and Utah. It is the policy of the University to vigorously enforce these laws among its students and employees.

Individuals who believe any of these rights have been violated should review information available at Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity website (<http://weber.edu/aaeo>) and PPM 3-32, available at https://www.weber.edu/ppm/Policies/3-32_DiscriminationHarassmentandSexualMisconduct.html

Discrimination and harassment complaints or those who need assistance with reasonable accommodations may contact:

Sexual harassment is a type of discriminatory harassment involving unwelcome conduct directed against persons based on their sex, sexual orientation or gender identity/expression which is prohibited by WSU. Sexual harassment includes unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors or other verbal or nonverbal conduct of a sexual nature, including potentially criminal conduct such as rape, sexual assault, sexual exploitation, dating violence, domestic violence and stalking. Sexual violence is a severe form of sexual harassment. Individuals who experience or become aware of any form of violence, sexual violence, or sexual harassment are encouraged to immediately report such behaviors. To report any emergency or to file a police report regarding these behaviors, call 911 or University police at 801-626-6460, 3734 Dixon Parkway, Ogden, UT 84408. For help responding to non-emergency situations involving these behaviors, contact the Executive Director of AA/EO, AA-EO@weber.edu, Miller Administration Building, Room 102, 3850 Dixon Parkway, DEPT 1022, Ogden, UT 84408-1022, at 801-626-6239 or 801-626-6240, or a Survivor Advocate with the Women's Center at 801-626-6372. For more information, including options, processes, and a list of on and off campus resources, go to: <http://www.weber.edu/safeatweber/>.

The university provides training materials regarding sexual assault, violence prevention, dating violence, domestic violence, stalking, alcohol abuse, and how to assist if you are a bystander. These materials are a helpful guide for safe practices on and off-campus. The university expects all students, faculty and staff to complete this training. Go to portalapps.weber.edu/everfiSSO/.

Commitment to an Inclusive Community

Pivotal to Weber State University's mission is the need to embrace and value the diversity of its members. Acknowledging the uniqueness of each individual, we seek to cultivate an environment that encourages freedom of expression. Because the University is a community where inquiry is nurtured and theories are tested, every individual has the right to feel safe to express ideas that differ from those held by other members of the community. However, all persons who aspire to be part of our campus community must accept the responsibility to demonstrate civility and respect for the dignity of others. Recognizing that the proper balance between freedom of expression and respect for others is not always apparent or easy to achieve, we must continually challenge ourselves and each other in an atmosphere of mutual concern, good will and respect. Therefore, expressions or actions that disparage an individual's or group's ethnicity, gender, religion, sexual orientation, marital status, age or disability are contrary to the mission of Weber State University.

Exceptions to University Policy

All students at Weber State University have the right, with appropriate rationale, to request an exception to University policies or requirements. Help with preparing requests for exceptions can be obtained from the Registrar's Office, SC 101, 801-626-6061, or from the Assistant Dean of Students, Davis Campus Room 261, 801-395-3460.

Student Code

Students attending the University are expected to adhere to certain standards as defined in the Weber State University Student Code, a copy of which is available from the Office of the Dean of Students (Miller Administration Building, Suite 317) or on-line at <http://weber.edu/ppm/6-22.html>.

Enrollment Services and Information

Weber State University is continually working to make it easier for students to access information and receive the assistance they need. Students may apply for admission and access registration, transcripts, and a lot more online at weber.edu. Academic advisement, admissions, registration and other enrollment services are also provided at the Davis Campus. Class schedule information for specific semesters is available online at weber.edu.

Information on records, grading and transcripts; academic standards and eligibility; credit by examination or petition; and graduation requirements is provided in this catalog under the Academic Info & Policies.

The Office of Admissions

Admissions Director: Scott Teichert

Associate Director of Admissions: Andrew Young

Location: Student Service Center, Room 201 and Room 210

Telephone: 801-626-6050

Internet Address: www.weber.edu/admissions

The Office of Admissions encourages future students to reach their educational dreams by providing exceptional service and personal support through the exploration, application, acceptance, transfer, orientation and initial enrollment processes.

Recruitment Services

Location: Student Service Center, Room 210

Telephone: 801-626-6050

Email: www.weber.edu/getintoweber

Admissions Advisors and staff help future students navigate the admission process and provide general information on transferring from another institution, scholarships, programs and majors. Additionally, staff regularly visit high schools and community colleges to inform students, educators, and parents of the educational programs and opportunities available at Weber State University.

Members of the Office of Admissions, including Student Ambassadors, provide campus tours and regularly host campus visit opportunities. Campus visits may be scheduled through the Office of Admissions by calling 801-626-6050 or by visiting weber.edu/getintoweber.

Transfer Advisement

Telephone/Appointments: 801-626-6050

Email: admissions@weber.edu

Internet Address: weber.edu/transfer

Transfer Guide: weber.edu/transferguide

Transfer students are strongly encouraged to contact the Office of Admissions for valuable information and assistance while making the transition to Weber State University. This office provides advisement on transferring courses and general education requirements, information on admission, scholarships and financial aid, and more. In addition, students can learn how a course might transfer to Weber State from another school by exploring the transfer guide on the Office of Admissions website.

NOTE: The Office of Admissions does not determine how courses will transfer; those decisions are made by academic departments. To see how your credits will transfer, first check the transfer guide to see if an equivalency has already been established. If an equivalent course does not exist, students may either submit the transfer request form on the transfer guide website or apply for admission providing official transcripts.

Admission Process

Before students may take classes at Weber State University, they must first be admitted. To apply for admission a student must submit a completed application for admission, a $30 non-refundable processing fee and official high school/college transcripts to the WSU Admissions Office located in the Student Service Center, Room 201. This may also be done by mail:

Weber State University
Admissions Office
3885 West Campus Drive Dept. 1137
Ogden, UT 84408-1137

Students can complete an online application by going to www.weber.edu/apply.

For more information visit the above Internet address or call 801-626-6050.

Refer to the Academic Calendar for semester dates.

Specific guidelines for international students are described below.

Acceptance letters are sent to students for the academic semester indicated on their application. A student must inform the Office of Admissions if they wish to begin school in a semester earlier than that listed on his/her acceptance letter.

Important: All information submitted for admission will be kept on file for 6 months. If applicants do not enroll within 6 months, the information will be destroyed.

Freshman Students

Students will be considered freshmen if they meet any of the following criteria:

- Students who have never attended any college or university.
- Students who graduated from high school or have a GED.
- Students with fewer than 30 semester credit hours from another university or college.

Application Steps for Freshman Admission

1. Submit an application for admission.
2. Pay the $30 application fee (non-refundable processing fee).
3. Submit an official transcript from the high school of graduation. The transcript should be sent directly from the high school to the WSU Admissions Office or brought into the Admissions Office in an envelope sealed by the school.
4. Submit an official transcript for any college-level course work completed through another institution. The transcript should be sent directly from the institution to the WSU Admissions Office.

Transfer Students

Students who have attended another college or university after high school graduation, and have completed the equivalent of at least 30 semester credit hours, will be considered a transfer student.

Students who have completed fewer than 30 semester hours will be considered freshman (see above). These students will also receive transfer credit based on the guidelines below.

Application Steps for Transfer Students

1. Submit an application for admission.
2. Pay the $30 application fee.
3. Submit an official transcript from EACH college or university previously attended. The transcript must be sent directly to the WSU Admissions Office.

Transfer Credit

Weber State University accepts transfer credit from regionally accredited colleges and universities. Associate of Arts (AA) and Associate of Science (AS) degrees earned at any higher education institution accredited by one of the following six regional accrediting associations (recognized by the U.S. Department of Education) will satisfy all general education core and breadth requirements provided the granting institution was regionally accredited at the time the degree was awarded.

- North Central Association Commission on Accreditation and School Improvement
- New England Association of Schools and Colleges
- Middle States Association of Schools and Colleges
- Southern Association of Schools and Colleges
- Western Association of Schools and Colleges
- Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges

Transfer credit for college courses that are remedial or developmental will not be transferred to WSU. Credit will be carried on the student's transcript by WSU but may not apply toward certain degree requirements. WSU Academic Departments will evaluate and determine whether the transfer credits will be acceptable toward their major or minors.

For students who are transferring from a non-regionally accredited institution, please refer to Credit by Examination or Petition in Academic Information.

Interstate Passport

The Interstate Passport enables successful transfer of a block of lower-level general education learning to other institutions participating in the Interstate Passport Network. Students who complete their Passport at Weber State University will not be required to repeat or take additional course work to meet lower-division general education requirements in the Passport's nine areas when they transfer to any other Passport institution. Weber State University will begin transcribing the Interstate Passport following the Spring 2017 semester. Students with an interest in achieving the Passport should see our website at weber.edu/passport and contact their Advisor.

International Students

International applicants with no prior college or university credit will be considered for admission by submitting evidence of the U.S. equivalent of a high school diploma. International applicants who have attended a U.S. college or university and have at least 30 semester hours and a 2.0 GPA will be considered a transfer student.

Application Steps for International Students

The following must be submitted at least 60 days prior to the start of the semester in which the applicant plans to enroll.

1. A completed international application for admission. (see weber.edu/issc)
2. A $65 USD non-refundable application fee (check or money order payable to Weber State University).
3. A copy of the identification page of the passport.
4. A Financial Guarantee consisting of the following documents.

Bank Statement or a Bank Letter: Indicating the required funds are available for use. This document may NOT be faxed or printed from the internet; it must be printed on bank letter head with a signature and stamp from a bank official. The bank statement or letter may be from any banking institution in the world. Please make sure that the amount being verified by the bank is listed in U.S. dollars ($).

Financial Guarantee Form: Must be filled out by the sponsor, which is the person that provided the bank statement. The sponsor will need to fill out the form completely. If the bank statement is from the applicant's personal bank account, then a Financial Guarantee form is not required.

5. Official transcripts, certificates and diplomas from all high schools, colleges, and universities previously attended. To be considered official they must either be sent directly from the school to Weber State University or be in a sealed envelope. The transcripts must show course work taken and marks earned. Please send them in the original language as well as a certified English translation, if appropriate.

International Transfer Students: Need to provide all items listed above and also the items listed below.

6. Copy of current I-20 from a U.S. educational institution and a copy of their visa.
7. Transfer Authorization form, which will be provided by WSU once all other application requirements have been met. Please inform the school you previously attended that you wish to transfer to WSU and submit the Transfer Authorization form to them to be complete and faxed back to WSU.

NOTE: If you are transferring from a school outside of the U.S., you will be considered a freshman until your credential evaluation report is received and entered into your student record by the WSU Admissions office. If you wish to receive credit for college/university course work completed outside the U. S., you will need to send your transcripts to a credential evaluation company accepted by WSU. You may view a list of accepted credential evaluation companies at weber.edu/issc. Please request that the course by course evaluation be sent to the WSU International Student and Scholar Center.

International Graduate Applicants: If you wish to apply for a graduate program at WSU, you will need to apply for admission with the graduate program in addition to applying to the University as an international student. You will need to meet the graduate program's admission requirements and the International Student admission requirements before you will be issued an I-20.

TOEFL or IELTS Requirements: A TOEFL or IELTS score is not required for admission to WSU. However if an official score report with the following minimum scores is provided, the student will not be required to take Learning English for Academic Purposes (LEAP) courses.

Minimum placement scores:

TOEFL Internet Based Score: 61 or higher

TOEFL Paper Based Score: 500 or higher

IELTS Score: 6.0 or higher, with a minimum of 5.0 on each subscale

If a TOEFL or IELTS score is not provide or the score is below the required score, you will be required to take a placement test to determine your English proficiency level.

Additional Requirements

International students must attend fall and spring semesters and take at least 12 credit hours each semester. All international students are required to meet with an International Student advisor immediately after arriving on campus to receive individualized guidance. The International Student advisor gives assistance to students in meeting U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement requirements concerning visas, passports, permits, permission to work, and related matters. Students are also assisted in making academic, social, and environmental adjustments to campus and community life.

International students must carry medical insurance while studying in the U.S.

I. Application Procedures

To apply to a graduate program all individuals must contact the graduate program for specific admissions requirements. The following items must be provided to the specific graduate program office:

1. A completed online application accompanied by the nonrefundable application fee (as designated by the Graduate Council).
2. A bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university is required for admission as a graduate student at Weber State University. An official transcript from each previously attended college and/or university (except WSU) must be sent directly from each institution to the graduate program. Transcripts must be submitted for all coursework above the high-school level and all prior degrees. For international students, transcripts must be accompanied by a professional degree and transcript evaluation, which must be sent directly to the graduate program by a WSU-approved foreign credentials evaluation service. See International Student Admissions website for further details. Transcripts submitted as application credentials become the property of the Weber State University and will not be returned to the applicant.
3. Admissions tests may be required by the specific graduate program (GRE, GMAT, Miller's Analogies Test, etc.), as well as proof of English language competency for international applicants. Applicants should request that their test score reports be sent directly to the graduate program to which they are applying, or to WSU if a specific institutional code is not available for the graduate program.

II. Admission Requirements

Admission to a graduate program at Weber State University is based on the applicant's academic ability, past performance and evidence of a reasonable chance of success within that program. Selection for admission is made without regard to race, color, ethnic background, national origin, religion, creed, age, lack of American citizenship, disability, status of veteran of the Vietnam era, sexual orientation or preference or gender.

Admission is competitive and solely at the discretion of the graduate program to which the applicant has applied: meeting minimum admission requirements does not guarantee admission. Minimum requirements for admission to a Weber State University graduate program are as follows:

- A bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university that will be completed before matriculation into the graduate program (see the U.S. Department of Education website for a list of recognized regional accreditation agencies). A satisfactory GPA on all undergraduate work. Contact the graduate program for specific GPA requirements.
- Appropriate admissions test scores if required. (Contact graduate program for specific admissions test requirements.)
- A completed application, along with the submission of all required supporting materials (contact graduate program office for specific requirements).

Note: Individual graduate programs may have additional requirements. Information concerning admission to and requirements for these programs is located in the sections of this catalog for the colleges indicated above.

Departmental Admissions

Certain programs of study require an additional acceptance process into the major beyond admission to the institution. Upon successful completion of required prerequisites, students may apply for formal acceptance into the program, which may include a competitive selection process. More detailed information is available in this catalog under the Acceptance Requirements listed for each program. Students should contact the academic department responsible for the program in which they are interested in more information about specific acceptance and/or prerequisite requirements.

Admission Requirements

Freshman Students

New freshmen students, and transfer students with fewer than 30 semester credit hours, will be admitted to the University on the basis of the following:

- Verification of high school graduation from an accredited high school or General Education Development test (GED) with scores established by the University. (See Applicants Without High School Diplomas.)
- Submission of official college or university transcripts if college credit has been earned.

Applicants Without High School Diplomas

Applicants who are not high school graduates must present evidence of high school equivalency to be considered for admission. High school equivalency may be satisfied in one of the following ways:

- Passing the General Education Development test (GED) with an overall score of 2250 or above with no individual score below 450. Applicants who plan to submit GED scores in lieu of a high school diploma are not eligible to take the test until they are 16 years old.
- Passing the American College Test (ACT) with a composite score of 21 or above (SAT score of 1030 or above).

Transfer Students

Transfer students will be admitted to the University on the basis of the following:

- More than 30 semester credit hours earned at an accredited institution with a cumulative college-level GPA of 2.00 or above.

Transfer students with a cumulative GPA below 2.00 will be referred to the Admissions Committee and may be considered for admission to WSU on warning or probation according to the current Academic Standards policy.

Admission Appeal Process

An information sheet highlighting grounds for appeals to admission decisions is available at the WSU Admissions Office.

Utah Residency

The Admissions Office classifies all applicants as either resident or non-resident based on information from the application for admission. Applicants whose credentials indicate out-of-state status are classified as non-residents. If there is doubt concerning resident status, an applicant is classified as a non-resident.

Non-residents who have reason to believe they can qualify for resident status should file a residency application with the Admissions Office. Applications are accepted only until the end of the third week of the current semester. Any application received after the third week will be considered for the following semester only.

Residency applications are available online at weber.edu/utahresident. Each application will be considered in accordance with the provisions of Utah Code Annotated 53B-8-102 and Utah State Board of Regents Policy and Procedures R-512 and WSU PPM 6-01.

Math and English Placement

Upon admission to Weber State University, Math and English course placement is determined based on students' prior academic performance and test results. Fees may be charged for assessment tests and/or tutoring. Students may enroll in courses for which they meet the prerequisites. For specific information about placement, visit weber.edu/placement.

Special Admission Programs

Concurrent Enrollment

The Weber State University Concurrent Enrollment Program allows eligible high school juniors and seniors to fulfill both high school and university graduation requirements at the same time by attending WSU-approved high school classes taught by WSU approved teachers. These classes match the WSU course content and student performance criteria. These students, though not officially matriculated at WSU, still create a WSU official permanent transcript. WSU academic department representatives work closely with these teachers to provide professional development opportunities as well as to assure WSU standards are maintained.

For updated information, visit weber.edu/concurrent.

Early College

Location: Student Service Center, Room 140 OR Davis Campus, Building D2, Suite 241

Telephone: 801-395-3480

Early College allows students to fulfill both high school and university graduation requirements at the same time by attending classes at the university while they are still in high school. University faculty teach classes, and the credits/grades from the Early College program become part of the student's permanent WSU transcript. Students are responsible for the university tuition and fees, although scholarships are available. Utah colleges and most out-of-state and private universities will accept Early College credits.

For more information, visit weber.edu/earlycollege.

First Year Experience

Telephone: 801-626-6752

Internet Address: weber.edu/fye

The First Year Experience (FYE) Program is designed to help incoming students make a successful transition into the university community. The program assists students in making progress toward fulfilling the following educational and personal goals:

- Acquiring a sense of competence as a student and becoming successful in college.
- Mastering academic skills, such as note taking, textbook reading, test taking, writing, and time management.
- Demonstrating knowledge and use of campus resources.
- Demonstrating effective interpersonal skills with a variety of people.
- Developing a sense of belonging to the WSU community through the connections with other students, teachers, mentors and WSU employees.
- Enhancing his or her mental, physical, spiritual and social health.

The FYE Program is further explained below.

Honors Program

Location: Library, Room 324

Telephone: 801-626-7591

The Honors Program is designed to offer students of superior ability and motivation opportunities to broaden and enrich their academic program and accelerate their preparation for graduate work.

The Honors Program is further explained on Engaged Learning, Honors, and Interdisciplinary Programs.

Senior Citizen

Telephone: 801-626-6743

Utah residents age 62 and over are permitted to enroll on a tuition-free, audit basis. Senior citizens will be required to complete an application for admission and register at the Registration Office on or after the first day of class. Where applicable, senior citizens will be charged a fee for use of consumable materials. A $10 per semester administrative fee will be charged and enrollment is limited to space availability.

Scholarships

Director: Jed W. Spencer

Location: Student Service Center, Room 120

Telephone: 801-626-7569

Internet Address: weber.edu/scholarships

WSU awards scholarships for academic excellence or specific activities as described below. Unless otherwise specified, all scholarships are for one year and are not renewable. New freshmen students are automatically considered for academic scholarships upon being admitted to the University. Students should complete the Specialized Scholarship Application to apply for non-academic scholarships by December 1st. It is important to apply early; the online application becomes available on September 1st each year.

An award may be canceled if the Award Offer is not accepted within the specified time period.

The priority deadline for scholarships is:

Continuing Students December 1st

New Freshman December 1st

Transfer Students March 1st

Students may only have up to full tuition in academic and activity waiver combined.

Academic Awarding Categories

New Freshmen

Scholarships include the Presidential Aletheia Scholarship (8 consecutive semesters of tuition waiver and general fees); Trustees, Deans, Merit, Opportunity, and Concurrent Enrollment Edge. These Scholarships are a four year award (8 semesters, or until graduation with a Bachelor's degree) and may consist of up to full tuition, and are generally based upon an index score (determined by the high school cumulative grade point average and the composite ACT/SAT score - see the Scholarship Index Score Chart). Sterling Scholar winners is a one year award.

Transfer Students

The Academic Distinction Scholarship is awarded based upon cumulative GPA and completion of 30 hours of college credit.

Continuing Students

Scholarships are based upon WSU cumulative GPA. A minimum of 12 semester credit hours at Weber State University is required for this category. Scholarships include High Honors, Honors, and Achievement.

Wildcat Activity Award Categories

General Requirements

- Must be registered full time (12 credit hours).

Activity scholarships are one-year awards waiving up to full tuition, and are based on the student's abilities or outstanding achievements. Activity scholarships (with the exception of leadership scholarships) may be renewed when the student meets the selection criteria established by the awarding department.

Scholarships for Specific Activities

With the exception of leadership, students are required to contact the activity area to get information about specific requirements and auditions. Scholarships are available in the following areas:

Club Sports - Contact Club Sports, 801-626-6476

Emerging Leaders Scholarships

These scholarships are available only to graduating high school seniors and transfer students. Students are not required to be student body officers to be considered. In addition to the scholarship application, students applying for a leadership scholarship must meet the following requirements:

1. Have a cumulative GPA of 3.0 or higher on a 4.0 scale.
2. ACT score: 18 or greater, or a SAT of 950 or greater.
3. Exhibit involvement in academic and community activities, with particular experience in leadership roles within the state of Utah. (Only Utah residents are eligible.)
4. Be accepted to Weber State University and will be attending in the next fall and spring semesters.
5. Successfully participate in the Emerging Leaders program as established by the Department of Student Involvement & Leadership.

Students must apply for admissions/scholarships by the 2nd Monday in January. Portfolios are due February 1 - Send to: Sheldon Cheshire, Student Involvement & Leadership Programs, 2102 University Circle, Ogden, UT 84408-2102.

Donor Sponsored Departmental and Special Consideration Scholarships (Privately Funded)

Privately funded scholarships are awarded according to the donor's specifications, which can be major-specific (often referred to as departmental scholarships), need based or special conditions. To apply for private donor scholarships, complete the Specialized and Scholarship Application by the priority date of December 1.

General Requirements

- Maintain the minimum GPA specified by the scholarship (varies between 2.0 and 3.7).
- Register for the minimum number of credit hours specified by the scholarship (most scholarships require 12 credit hours).

Scholarships for Out-of-State Students

Out of state students are eligible for tuition incentive programs or academic waivers. Tuition incentive programs include: Alumni Legacy, the Western Undergraduate Exchange Program, and the 100 mile radius scholarship. Academic Waivers include Mt. Ogden, Golden Spike, and Waterfall Canyon for new freshman and Ben Lomond, Skyline Trail, Antelope Island and Malan's Peak for transfer students. Nonresident waivers cannot be combined with tuition incentive programs. Current information for each program can be found on WSU website at weber.edu/Scholarships.

Nonresident Academic Scholarships

Academic nonresident scholarships for new freshmen students are determined based on index score (high school GPA and ACT/SAT test scores). Academic nonresident scholarships for transfer students will be determined by cumulative transfer GPA.

Alumni Legacy

The Alumni Legacy Program allows children or grandchildren of non-resident Weber State alumni to pay in-state tuition. This scholarship pays the out-of- state portion of tuition and fees for students who live in on-campus housing.

100-Mile Tuition Reduction

Non-resident students living within 100 highway miles of WSU are eligible to apply for this tuition reduction. It will pay one-half of the difference between resident and nonresident tuition charges.

Western Undergraduate Exchange Program (WUE)

For undergraduate students from Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, the Commonwealth of the Northern Marianas Islands, Guam, Hawaii, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington and Wyoming. This program offers a reduced tuition level to 150% of Weber's resident tuition.

International Students

New freshman International students who have not attended another Utah System of Higher Education may apply for a 4 year award (8 semesters, or until graduation with a bachelor's degree) and is dependent on a GPA or grade profile that is unique to each country - Transfer students with 30 or more college credits may apply for a 3 year award (6 semesters, or until graduation with a bachelor's degree) and will be determined by transfer GPA. International scholarships include Louis F Moench, H. Aldous Dixon, Aaron W. Tracy and William P. Miller.

Scholarship Deferment

Scholarship deferment requests must be submitted at weber.edu/returntoweber.

Financial Aid

Director: Jed W. Spencer

Location: Student Services Center, Room 120

Telephone: 801-626-7569

Internet Address: weber.edu/financialaid

The Financial Aid Program was established to assist students in achieving their educational goals. The following sources of financial aid are available for eligible students:

Grants - Funds that are considered gifts and do not have to be repaid if Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) is maintained.

Student Loans - Funds that are loaned to students and must be repaid with interest.

Work-Study - Employment opportunities that allow students to earn funds to help pay for school.

Each form of financial aid has different regulations. The following is only a brief summary of the financial aid process. Students desiring financial aid should contact the Financial Aid & Scholarship Office as early as possible for guidance and assistance. The priority deadline for financial aid is April 1.

General Eligibility Requirements

- Meet the admission requirements of WSU as described in the Admissions section of this catalog. Conditional admission does not qualify for federal aid.
- Be enrolled or accepted for enrollment in a program that leads to a degree or certificate at WSU.
- Be a U.S. citizen, permanent resident, or other eligible non-citizen.
- Be registered with the Selective Service, if required.
- Be in good standing (not in default) on any student loan, federal loan or grant.
- Maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress.
- Have a correct Social Security Number.

Types of Financial Aid Available at WSU

Grants/Gifts

Grants are gifts that do not have to be repaid if Satisfactory Academic Progress is maintained. All grants require a minimum overall GPA of 2.00 by the end of a student's fourth semester. All grants require that the student demonstrate a financial need, as determined by the FAFSA. The types of grants available are:

Federal Pell Grant - Available to undergraduate students. For the 2020-2021 aid year, awards may range up to $3,173 per semester.

Federal SEOG (Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant) - Awarded to help undergraduates pay for their education after high school. Awards may range up to $400 per semester.

Student Loans

Loans are aid that must be repaid with interest. The types of loan programs available are:

- Federal Direct Loan
 - Subsidized Stafford
 - Unsubsidized Stafford
 - Federal Parents Loan for Undergraduate Students (PLUS)
 - Federal Graduate Plus Loan for Students in Graduate Programs

- Talent Development Incentive Loan Program

Employment - FWSP (Federal Work-Study Program)

This program provides jobs for undergraduate and graduate students who meet the basic eligibility requirements for financial aid and demonstrate financial need. Jobs are available both on-campus and off-campus. To see a listing of all jobs available visit jobs.weber.edu, select "Search Jobs" in the left menu, then Position Type "Hourly." Work study jobs will be defined in the job description as federal work study or FWS.

Application Process

Students should first determine if they are eligible for financial aid. Refer to General Eligibility Requirements above. The priority application deadline is April 1; this does not guarantee receipt of any specific type(s) of grants. Applications received after the deadline will be processed as quickly as possible with no guarantee that the award will be ready to meet fall semester tuition and fees payment deadlines.

Application Steps

The WSU FINANCIAL AID CODE IS 003680. This code will be needed to complete your FAFSA application online at <https://studentaid.gov/h/apply-for-aid/fafsa>. All other applications and forms are available online at www.weber.edu.

1. Complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) or the Renewal Application (for continuing students) at <https://studentaid.gov/h/apply-for-aid/fafsa>.
2. Submit additional, required documents through Financial Aid Verify, located in the eWeber student portal.

The Review Process

Students are advised to apply online at <https://studentaid.gov/h/apply-for-aid/fafsa>. Applications will go through a Federal "needs analysis." The ability of a student and the student's family to contribute, as well as other resources, will determine the need for financial assistance. Students will receive a Student Aid Report (SAR) which will provide information on the expected family contribution and financial need.

Once a student's FAFSA is sent to Weber State University, it will be reviewed in the order it was received. As part of the review, our office may require additional information which may include, but is not limited to, official academic transcripts, tax return transcripts, marriage documentation, citizenship documentation, and/or emancipation documentation.

Students will be notified through their Wildcat Mail of additional requirements. If a student feels that their FAFSA does not accurately reflect their situation, they should contact a Financial Aid Advisor.

When a student's file is complete, an award notice will be emailed to the student, directing them to their student portal. Students can view/accept their award(s) through the eWeber student portal, under Award Information.

An award may be canceled if the Award Offer is not accepted within the specified time period.

Satisfactory Academic Progress

In order to receive financial aid, students must meet qualitative and quantitative academic standards.

Qualitative (Academic Standing)

In addition to the University's standards, all students who receive financial aid must maintain at least a "C" average overall GPA (2.00) by the end of their fourth semester. This includes transfer work. Students not meeting this requirement will be disqualified from financial aid until they bring their overall GPA to the minimum requirement.

Quantitative (Completion Rate & Maximum Time Frame)

Students who receive financial aid must satisfactorily complete (receive grades other than I, T, W, UW, NC, E, or AU) at least 67% of their attempted credits, on a semester-by-semester and overall basis.

Students who receive financial aid must also complete their program of study within 150% of their program length. For example, a student in a bachelor's program that requires 126 credits will need to complete their program within 189 attempted credit hours. A student in an associate's degree that requires 62 credits will need to complete their program within 94 attempted credits. A student in a certificate program that requires 30 credits will need to complete their program within 45 attempted credits.

Any exceptions to these requirements must be approved by the Financial Aid & Scholarship Petition Committee (see Petitions and Reinstatement of Aid).

Eligibility Status

Students who receive financial aid and complete less than the minimum number of credit hours required by their award level will be put on financial aid denial or warning.

Please be aware that any time a student drops a class, there will be financial aid consequences.

Credit hours transferred from other colleges/universities will be included in the total hour eligibility for Satisfactory Academic Progress whether or not financial aid was received at the other institution(s).

If students change their program of study, credit hours completed for the previous major or majors will still be included in the total number of hours for financial aid eligibility even though the credit hours may or may not satisfy program requirements for the new major. If a student cannot complete their program within the maximum time frame for their program (150% of credits needed for graduation), their financial aid will be denied.

Petitions & Reinstatement of Aid

Students who are denied financial aid, but who experienced extenuating circumstances, may petition to have their denial removed. Petitions include 1) a letter from the student 2) documentation of their circumstance and 3) a graduation plan. All petitions are reviewed by the Financial Aid & Scholarship Petition Committee.

For students who do not have extenuating circumstances, or whose petition is denied, can regain financial aid eligibility by paying for their courses with other funding until they meet the completion rate and GPA Satisfactory Academic Progress requirements.

Programs must be completed within the maximum time frame.

Withdrawals and Return of Title IV Funds

Withdrawals will negatively affect your satisfactory academic progress calculation. If you completely withdraw from school, you may be required to return a portion, if not all, of the financial aid awarded for the semester.

If you are dropping some, but not all of your classes, make sure you know how this could affect your Pell Grant.

Return to Title IV Policy (R2T4)

Federal regulations require your eligibility for aid to be recalculated whenever you withdraw from the university, either officially or unofficially. The recalculation determines the amount of aid you have "earned" by prorating according to the percent of the term completed before withdrawing.

After the 60% point in the semester or period of enrollment, you are considered to have earned 100% of the Title IV funds you were scheduled to receive during that period.

The Financial Aid and Scholarship Office will use the withdraw date recorded in the Registrar's Office as your official withdrawal date from the university. In the case of unofficial withdraws (i.e. dropped courses, UW grades, and/or retroactive withdrawals), your last date of attendance is reported by the instructor. When such a date can't be determined, the midpoint of the semester is used as your last date of attendance.

A repayment of aid is required when the actual amount of aid disbursed is greater than the amount earned, as determined by the recalculation. The university will return funds to the Title IV Program on your behalf when you owe an overpayment, and the university will consider the returned funds as your debt to the institution.

If the overpayment is not repaid by the end of the semester:

- A hold is placed on future registration.
- Your account is referred to the Loan Servicing Department for collection.
- You will be put on financial aid denial and will not be eligible to receive any future federal financial aid funding until the overpayment is paid in full and satisfactory progress requirements have been met.

A post-withdrawal disbursement will be made if you had eligibility for the Title IV funds (essentially earning more aid than was disbursed.) If you are entitled to a post-withdrawal disbursement:

- You will be sent an email informing you that you are entitled to additional funding.
- You must respond within 14 days of the receipt of the notification confirming the receipt of loan funds.
- You will be informed what type of funds you are eligible to receive and reminded that if the funds are loans, you are responsible for the repayment.
- If you still have outstanding institutional balances, the funds will be applied to the balance first.

A school must return Title IV funds to the programs from which you received aid during the semester as soon as possible, but no later than 45 days after the date it determines you withdrew. Funds are returned in the following order, as applicable.

1. Unsubsidized Federal Stafford loans
2. Subsidized Federal Stafford loans
3. Federal PLUS loans
4. Federal Pell Grants
5. Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG)

Sample Calculations

Example 1: Withdrawal Date: February 23, 2016

You initially received $1,979 in Direct Unsubsidized Loan and $1,155 in Direct Subsidized Loan. You attended 44% of the term, so the repayment amount, which must be repaid immediately, is calculated to be $1,121. Your revised award is $858 in Direct Unsubsidized Loan and $1,155 in Direct Subsidized Loan.

Example 2: Withdrawal Date: March 22, 2016

You initially received $1,484 in Direct Unsubsidized Loan, $2226 in Direct Subsidized Loan, and $1,381 in Pell Grant. You attended 62% of the term, so no repayment is required. You are allowed to keep all the aid initially awarded.

Student Expense Budget (Cost of Attendance)

The cost of attending Weber State University includes direct educational costs such as tuition, fees, books and supplies, as well as living costs such as room and board. Below is a table that gives an approximate budget for students attending the 2018-2019 fall and spring semesters. Students should use this only as an estimate when planning their education expenses.

Sample Budget: 2020-2021 Undergraduate - 2 semesters at Full Time Attendance

In-state (Utah residents)*	Out-of state (non-resident)*
-------------------------------	---------------------------------

Tuition and Fees (2 semesters)	$6,106	$16,288
Misc. Expenses	$3000	$3000
Books (estimated)	$1,400	$1,400
Room & Board  (on-campus housing)	$7,380	$7,380

Based on attending full time for 2 semesters. Please note that these amounts are from last year. Graduate tuition and fees vary by program. Current tuition and fee amounts by credit hour load are published on the web at weber.edu/bursar/TuitionFee_Tables.html.*

Room and board can vary greatly depending on whether or not students live in the dorms and what meal plan they select.*

Student Success Center

Director: Leslie Park

Location: Student Services Center, Room 140

Telephone: 801-626-6752

Internet Address: weber.edu/ssc

Email: studentsuccess@weber.edu

Weber State University's Student Success Center provides student-centered programs focused on retention and persistence to graduation. The Center's dedicated staff provides academic advisement to students pursuing an Associate of Arts or Science in General Studies, and oversees programs on multiple WSU campuses supporting academic skills training, early college access, and academic interventions. Student Success Center programs support students throughout their academic journey from orientation to graduation as part of the University's mission to offer excellent educational experiences to all students. The Student Success Center is also responsible for the administration of the Early College Program, Concurrent Enrollment Advisement, the First Year Experience Program (FYE), New Student Orientation, Starfish Early Alert, the Bounce Back Program, and the Academic Advising Referral Service.

New Student Orientation

Location: Student Service Center, Room 140

Telephone: 801-626-6752

Internet Address: weber.edu/orientation

All students new to WSU are required to complete New Student Orientation (NSO). Students must complete NSO through their eWeber Portal and will become familiar with:

- Student services, student involvement and activities, and Weber State's campuses
- eWeber account and how to register for classes
- Procedures for obtaining parking permits, Wildcards, and purchasing textbooks
- Policies and procedures
- General Education requirements
- Program specific degree information
- Dates and times for Weber Welcome events

The Weber Welcome is an optional event that students are highly encouraged to attend. This experience will help connect students with student leaders, faculty and staff, and resources, easing the transition into the WSU community. Students are invited to attend this event as they complete the NSO requirement.

First Year Experience Program

Location: Student Services Center, Room 140

Telephone: 801-626-6752

Email: fye@weber.edu

Internet Address: weber.edu/fye

The First Year Experience (FYE) Program is designed to help incoming students make a successful transition into the university community. The program assists students in making progress toward fulfilling the following educational and personal goals:

- Acquiring a sense of competence as a student and becoming successful in college.
- Mastering academic skills, such as note taking, textbook reading, test taking, writing, and time management.
- Demonstrating knowledge and use of campus resources.
- Demonstrating effective interpersonal skills with a variety of people.
- Developing a sense of belonging to the WSU community through the connections with other students, teachers, mentors and WSU employees.
- Enhancing his or her mental, physical, spiritual and social health.

Program Components

To aid students in achieving these goals, the FYE Program includes the following components:

- UNIV 1105 Foundations of College Success (3). This course assists incoming students in making a successful transition to college. Topics include the purpose of higher education, goal setting, time management, study and test taking skills, critical thinking, stress management, academic advisement, career and major exploration, using campus resources, and understanding student responsibilities.

- UNIV 3170 First Year Experience Mentor Leadership Seminar (2)
In this seminar course, FYE Peer Mentors are taught to effectively help Foundations of College Success (UNIV 1105) students in making a successful transition to college. FYE Mentor requirements are available at weber.edu/fye. Course enrollment limited to FYE Peer Mentors. May be repeated once for 2 more credits and additionally for zero credits.

Program Requirements

Any WSU student with 30 hours or fewer is welcome to participate in the program by taking UNIV 1105.

Program of Study (Major/Minor) Declaration

Contact: Department Office for Major and Minor

All degree-seeking students must select a program of study. When students declare their program of study, they indicate their degree, major, (and minor if applicable), and catalog year. To declare or change a program of study, students should contact the department office of their chosen major and minor. To declare an associate's degree in general studies, students should contact the Student Success Center.

Registration

Associate Registrar: Ms. Cori Hodge

Registration Advisor: Sharon Dansie

Location: Student Services Center, Room 101

Telephone: 801-626-7780 or 801-626-6100

Internet Address: weber.edu/registrar (click on "registration")

Email Address: registration@weber.edu

The University offers classes during fall, spring, and summer semesters. Students must register each semester to attend classes. Class schedule information for specific semesters is available on the WSU home page (weber.edu). The web-based class schedule provides information about the dates and times classes are offered for the selected semester. See the *Academic Calendar of this catalog for registration dates and beginning and ending dates for each semester.

Registration Process - New Students

To register for classes, new students should:

1. Complete the admissions process - new students who have applied for admission (available on-line at weber.edu/admissions), but have not received an acceptance notice by mail, should contact the Admissions Office at 801-626-6050.
2. Obtain a registration appointment by accessing the Internet* see the Academic Calendar in this catalog to determine when registration begins each semester; the system will be available to provide appointments one week prior to that date.
3. Plan a course schedule - some alternate classes should be selected in case first selections are closed.
4. At the correct appointment time access the Internet.*
5. Pay tuition and fees - log in to the eWeber student portal* to pay tuition and fees online. Electronic statements and up-to-date balances are available in the student account at any time.

* To log in, go to weber.edu and enter your Wildcat Username and password.

A Wildcat ID and password are required before registering online in your eWeber student portal. You can sign up for a Wildcat ID online at weber.edu/eservices. For assistance contact Computing Support at 801-626-7777.

Registration Process - Continuing Students

To register for classes, continuing students should:

1. Obtain a registration appointment by accessing the Internet* - see the Academic Calendar to determine when registration begins each semester; the system will be available to provide appointments one week prior to that date.
2. Plan a course schedule - some alternate courses should be selected in case first selections are closed.
3. At the correct appointment time access the Internet*.
4. Pay tuition and fees - log in to the eWeber student portal* to pay tuition and fees online. Electronic statements and up-to-date balances are available in the student account at any time.

* To log in, go to weber.edu, and enter your Wildcat Username and password.

A Wildcat ID and password are required before registering online in your eWeber student portal. You can sign up for a Wildcat ID online at weber.edu/eservices. For assistance contact Computing Support at 801-626-7777.

Registration Appointments

- Registration appointments are issued to new and continuing students one week before registration begins each semester. During this week students may obtain a registration appointment by accessing the Internet at weber.edu and entering their Wildcat Username and password. Go to the Student Services tab and click on Registration Time.
- Registration appointments are calculated based on a student's total earned hours (hours earned with a passing letter grade and hours earned through credit by examination).

First Registration Phase - (Registration by Appointment)

- During this registration phase, students may register starting on their appointed day.
- On their assigned day and appointed time, students should access the registration system on the Internet at weber.edu and enter their Wildcat Username and password.
- Tuition and fees may be paid by cash, check VISA, DiscoverCard, or MasterCard. Log in to the eWeber student portal to pay tuition and fees online. Electronic statements and up-to-date balances are available in the student account at any time. A paper billing statement will be mailed at the student's request by sending an email to cashiers@weber.edu.
- Refer to Bursar's Office to obtain information about payment deadlines and tuition and fee amounts. It is the student's responsibility to understand the registration, payment, withdrawal, and refund schedule and to make sure account balances are paid in-full and on-time to avoid late fees or other charges.

Second Registration Phase - (Open Registration)

Once appointment registration is complete, "open registration" continues and all students are allowed access to register and/or make changes to their class schedules on a first-come-first-served basis.

- During the second phase of registration, all students may register or make changes by accessing the registration system on the Internet at weber.edu and entering their Wildcat Username and password.
- Tuition and fees may be paid by cash, check VISA, DiscoverCard, or MasterCard. Log in to the eWeber student portal to pay tuition and fees online. Electronic statements and up-to-date balances are available in the student account at any time. A paper billing statement will be mailed at the student's request by sending an email to cashiers@weber.edu.
- Refer to the Bursar's Office to obtain information about payment deadlines and tuition and fee amounts. It is the student's responsibility to understand the registration, payment, withdrawal, and refund schedule and to make sure account balances are paid in-full and on-time to avoid late fees or other charges.

Changes in Registration

- Students may add classes online or at the registration windows (Registrar's Solution Center at the Ogden campus, Davis campus, West center and Morgan center) through the 5th business day of the semester or block. Instructor approval will be required to add a class beginning on the 6th business day of the semester or block.
- Students may drop classes online or at the registration windows (Registrar's Solution Center) through the deadline dates (see the Academic Calendar online). There are different deadlines for refunds and grading when withdrawing from classes.
- Students are strongly encouraged to plan their class schedules in consultation with an advisor to avoid unnecessary changes and ensure efficient progress toward completion of degree requirements.
- Students receiving financial aid should be careful not to reduce their credit hour load below the minimum number of hours required by their award level.

Closed Classes

- Only academic departments and instructors have the authority to admit students to closed classes.
- Students may contact the individual department and/or the instructor for specific procedures regarding admission to closed classes.

Credit/No Credit (CR/NC) Registration

The basic objective of credit/no credit grading is to allow students the opportunity to enroll in classes outside their major or minor on a pass (CR)/fail (NC) basis without affecting their GPA. The following rules apply:

- Freshmen students may take no more than one class per term on a credit/no credit basis.
- Students with 30 or more credit hours who have a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or above may register for no more than two classes per term on credit/no credit basis.
- A maximum of 20 hours of credit/no credit in elective courses may be used for graduation.
- Classes taken on a credit/no credit basis will not satisfy major, minor, general education, or specific course requirements. The University Curriculum and General Education Committee have designated a few exceptions to this rule. Please see the academic department for information on these course exceptions.
- Grades on the credit/no credit system are not included in computing the term or cumulative grade point average. A grade of credit is recorded only for letter grades of C- and above. Grades less than C-, including UW, will be recorded as no credit.
- Students who change their Program of Study must submit the appropriate form to the Records Office and request the grade be changed to the letter grade issued by the instructor if a credit/no credit course applies to the new Program of Study.
- If a student has previously taken a course for a letter grade, the same course may not be retaken for credit/no-credit.
- Choice of credit/no credit registration should be made at the beginning of the term, but a student may change classes to credit/no credit status until the CR/NC deadline. This date can be found in the University's Academic Calendar.
- The instructor is not notified when a student takes a class for a credit/no credit grade. The instructor will assign a letter grade on the Final Grade Report and then the Records Office will convert the letter grades to credit or no credit.

Audit Course Registration

The basic objective of taking a class as audit is to allow students the opportunity to attend a class without earning either a grade or credit for the class.

- Students registering to audit a class will pay tuition and fees per the current tuition and fee schedule.
- Students in regulated programs, i.e. Financial Aid and Athletics, are subject to the respective program guidelines for audit registration.
- Some courses may not be open to audit students because of classroom space limitations. Students must receive instructor permission to audit a class.
- Choice of audit registration should be made at the beginning of the term, but a student may change classes to audit status until the audit deadline. This date can be found in the University's Academic Calendar.
- Students auditing classes are expected to attend on a regular basis. Students may officially withdraw from the audited class according to the deadline. Audit students failing to attend class may be issued a "W" grade at the discretion of the instructor.
- Senior Citizens (Utah residents ages 62 and over) may audit a course as a Lifetime Learner for a $10.00 fee per semester, on a space available basis, by applying at the Admissions Office. Lifetime Learner's selecting this option for courses do not have the option to receive a letter grade nor credit on their transcript for these courses.

Registration Credit Hour Loads

- It is recommended that undergraduate students planning to graduate with a bachelor's degree in four years register for at least 15 credit hours per semester.
- Undergraduate students are classified as full-time if they register for 12 or more credit hours, as three-quarter time with 9 credit hours, and as half-time with 6 credit hours.
- Graduate students are classified as full-time if they register for 9 or more credit hours, and as half-time if they register for 5 or more credit hours.

Overload Registration

- Students may register for a maximum of 20 credit hours without special permission.
- Students with a cumulative GPA of 3.50 or better may petition for a maximum of 24 credit hours, and students with a cumulative GPA of 3.75 or better may petition for additional credit hours. Petition forms are available from academic departments or the Registrar's Solution Center.

Withdrawal

- Students can withdraw from individual classes online according to the deadlines on the Academic Calendar.
- Students who want to completely withdraw from the semester or block may do so online according to the deadlines on the Academic Calendar. Students who need help may come in-person with picture ID to the Registrar's Solution Center, SC 101, or the Davis Campus, D2 246, or may send an email request to registration@weber.edu from their Weber email account ending in @mail.weber.edu, or send a signed written request via fax (801-626-6679) or mail (1102 University Circle, Ogden, UT 84408). Requests should always include the student name, W#, and a clear statement explaining the request.

Go to the Cashier's Office page online (www.weber.edu/bursar/RefundDates) and check the Refund Policy and Deadlines before making a decision to drop classes. You will be accountable to the refund schedule for any tuition and fee costs associated with the time you spent registered for your classes.

- From the 16th to 50th business day of a semester, or 16th to 30th business day of a block, students may withdraw from classes online or by submitting a completed "Withdrawal from Class" form to the Registrar's Solution Center. Courses dropped during this period will appear on the transcript with a "W" notation.

Tuition and Fees

Weber State University reserves the right to assess tuition and fees as approved by the Board of Regents. Current policies, procedures, tuition and fee tables, payment deadlines, refund schedules and other important information are available at weber.edu/bursar (click on the link for Tuition and Fee Tables).

- Tuition is established by the Utah State Board of Regents and is subject to change without notice.
- Full-time students (12-18 credit hours) are assessed full tuition.
- Part-time students (less than 12 credit hours) are assessed tuition on a per credit hour basis.
- Students that enroll in more than 18 hours will be assessed tuition on a per credit hour basis for the additional hours.

Please also see Surcharge.

Tuition and Fee Schedule

Tuition and fees are established each year in late spring. Current tuition and fees will be posted on the Internet at weber.edu/bursar/TuitionFee_Tables.html.

HB248 Tuition Disclosure 2012-2013

Full-time undergraduate resident students at Weber State University paying a semester of tuition and fees amount of $2,384 contribute an estimated 59% of the full cost of instruction of $4,041. The remaining support of $1,657 is provided by state tax funds.

Tuition and Fee Assessment

Weber State University does not drop courses for non-payment or non-attendance. Students are responsible for dropping courses they do not plan to attend. Tuition and fees will not be waived for nonattendance. Once registered, each student is obligated to pay for their courses unless the student has dropped courses or the student completes a total withdraw from school during the 100% refund period. If a student drops or completely withdraws from school after the 100% refund period, the student is obligated to pay tuition and fees according to the current semester refund schedule. Also, a student must pay for or drop courses by the payment deadline to avoid late fees and interest. (See Withdrawal for further information.)

Tuition and Fees for Online and Independent Study Courses

Refer to wsuonline.weber.edu/students/costs.asp for tuition and fee information for WSU Online and Independent Study courses, or call 1-800-848-7770 and choose "Online & Independent Study Student Services" from the phone menu.

Course (Lab) Fees

Some courses require additional fees for materials and/or resources.

Rentals and Deposits

Rentals and/or deposits are required on certain items and are paid to the Cashier. Any applicable refunds must be obtained from the Cashier prior to June 30.

Surcharge

In 2003 the Utah State Board of Regents passed a policy designed to encourage students to make reasonable progress toward completion of degree requirements. The policy states that students who exceed 135% of the credits required for completion of their baccalaureate degree will be charged the full cost of instruction. For example, a student whose program of study requires 126 semester credit hours will be allowed a maximum of 170 semester hours in which to complete degree requirements (126 credits x 1.35 = 170 credit hours). Any work beyond the allowed 135% will be charged at the full cost of instruction.

Credit hours that do not count toward the 170 hours are concurrent enrollment, advanced placement, and credit by examination. Individuals are also exempt from the surcharge if:

- the credits are necessary for the student to complete the student's program of study; and the excess credits are a result of circumstances where a substantial number of credits from a transferring institution could not be applied to the program of study;
- the excess credits are a result of a reasonable enhancement of the student's major by the addition of a minor or emphasis to the program of study; or
- the excess credits are the result of a re-entry into the educational system by a student who may have accumulated a large number of credits, or even completed degrees, but where employment requirements obligate his or her return to college.

More information is available by contacting the Cashier's Office at 801-626-8006 (SC 209).

Agreement to Pay Tuition Charges

When a student registers for courses at Weber State University the student agrees to the terms of the "Agreement to Pay Tuition Charges." The agreement states:

In consideration of the University's allowing me to register for courses, thus incurring the attendant costs to the University, both direct and indirect, I promise to pay Weber State University (WSU), Ogden, Utah, tuition and fees (principal) assessed to me for courses for which I have registered by the published payment due date for each semester. Also, I agree to pay for any additional fees and interest charges that are assessed to my account each semester. I hereby agree to pay a late payment fee of $40 if my account balance is not paid by the published payment due date, together with interest at the rate of 12% per annum on the unpaid balance. In the event I default on this agreement and it becomes necessary to place this account for collection, I also agree to pay collection fees, not to exceed 50.00% of the original principal balance, plus any court and/or attorney fees resulting from the enforcement of this agreement. Any collection costs stated above are in addition to the principal, fees and interest due on my account. In the event of default of any of the terms of this agreement, I hereby give to the WSU Controller, or his/her designee, Power of Attorney to apply all monies due me from WSU to any delinquent portion of this note until the principal, fees, interest and costs are paid in full. I agree that WSU may repay my account balance from any TITLE IV funds due me. I understand that the principal amount is calculated based on my class-load each semester at WSU. All outstanding tuition account balances are considered qualified educational loans under I.R.C § 221 and are extended with the express understanding that future repayment shall be made to the university. I further understand that my acceptance of these terms represents my acknowledgement and acceptance of my tuition account balance qualifying as a qualified education loan under I.R.C. § 221, and as such, is exempt from discharge under federal bankruptcy code 11 U.S.C. § 523(a)(8).

Billing Statement

Tuition and fees statements are available on the eWeber student portal. Electronic statements and up-to-date balances are available in the student account at any time. Students are responsible for viewing up-to-date balance or e-statements in the student account. It is the student's responsibility to make sure account balances are paid in-full and on-time. A paper billing statement will only be mailed at the student's request by sending an email to cashiers@weber.edu.

Payment Schedule

- Payment deadlines are listed on the Internet at weber.edu/bursar.
- Tuition and fees may be paid by cash, check VISA, DiscoverCard, MasterCard or American Express.
- Monthly payment plans are available to help students who are not able to pay in full when tuition is due. (See Monthly Payment Plan Option below.)

Late Payment Fee

A late payment fee will be assessed to all students who have not paid their tuition and fees in-full or have not signed up for a monthly payment plan (see weber.edu/bursar/Late_fees.html for the amount and schedule for assessment of the fee.) If a student has an outstanding balance after their financial aid or scholarships have been applied, the student is responsible to pay this amount by the payment deadline to avoid the late payment fee and interest charges. The late payment fee and interest are nonrefundable and will not be waived.

If a student changes his/her schedule by adding classes, the student has until Friday at 4:00 p.m. of that week to pay the balance or the late payment fee will be assessed to the student account. Students should check their account balance each time a change is made to his/her schedule to determine the new balance due.

Interest Assessment

Interest will begin the fourth week of the semester. The annual rate is 12%. A student will not be assessed interest as long as the student is in a Monthly Payment Plan that covers all tuition and fees and current on all payments. Interest on unpaid balances will be assessed in addition to the late payment fee.

Monthly Payment Plan Option

The Monthly Payment Plan is a program intended to help students who are not able to pay their account in full by the tuition and fee deadline. Instead of one large payment, tuition and fees are broken down into equal monthly payments. Enrollment in a plan is available at the time of registration prior to beginning of each semester. See weber.edu/bursar for details about monthly payment plans.

Personal Checks or eChecks

Personal checks or eChecks returned by a financial institution for any reason are subject to a service charge and may result in the withholding of student records and/or dropping of courses.

Delinquent Accounts-Collection Fees

Students with unpaid tuition and fees, room and board, parking fines, or other fees due to the University will have a hold placed on their records until such obligations are paid in full. The hold will prevent the student from registering for future semesters, viewing transcripts or grades, delay graduation, and limit use of the Wildcard and certain student services.

Unpaid accounts will be processed by University collections. A collection fee of ten percent of the outstanding balance will be assessed to the student. Interest and monthly collection fees will also be assessed on any unpaid balance. In the event additional collection efforts become necessary, WSU may refer a past due account to an outside collection agency. All delinquent accounts are subject to collection fees, interest, plus all court costs and reasonable attorney fees. The collection agency and/or WSU will report delinquent accounts to a credit reporting agency.

Third Party/Sponsored Payments

Students are responsible for ensuring that appropriate documentation for third party/sponsored payments is submitted to the main cashier's office prior to the start of classes each semester. Students must comply with the terms of the agreement and verify that all tuition and fees changes are paid by the sponsor agreement. It is the student's responsibility to verify that any course or tuition and fee changes will be paid by the sponsor and that these changes are reported to the accounts receivable office for proper processing. If the sponsor does not provide funding by the end of the semester, the student will be responsible for payment of tuition and fees. The account will be considered delinquent if unpaid at the end of the semester. (See Delinquent Accounts above.) Contact 801-626-6263 for information on how to submit vouchers or contracts.

Administrative Withdrawals

The University reserves the right to administratively withdraw a student from a current semester if a student has an unpaid tuition and fee balance from a prior semester or if the student provides a dishonored check or other payment to pay for tuition and fees. The prior semester courses will not be dropped or withdrawn.

Financial Petitions

Tuition and fee assessment is based on the registration date of the course and date of withdrawal from the course. The withdrawal dates are published on the Academic Calendar each semester. If, due to extenuating or for other acceptable circumstances, the student must drop a course after the published deadline, the student must complete the "Exception to University Policy-Tuition and Fee Assessment Petition" weber.edu/bursar/Petition.html and submit supporting documentation.

Tuition and fees are assessed according to approved tuition and fee tables. The assessment is based on the number of registered credit hours or liable hours for each student. For example, if the student signs up for 12 credit hours, he or she is liable for paying for 12 hours according to the tuition and fee table.

Deadlines for Filing Petition

The deadline for filing a petition is the last day of the semester of enrollment. The burden of proof rests with the student to submit documentation of circumstances that prevented the student from adhering to the University policies and procedures. For more information and forms refer to: weber.edu/bursar/Petition.html

Refunds and Reimbursements

Student fees and course fees are refunded based on the University refund schedule (see weber.edu/bursar). Late fees and withdrawal fees are nonrefundable. In most cases, if a credit card is used to pay for tuition and fees, refunds and residual funds will be credited to the credit card. Students may opt to have any refund sent electronically to a bank account of their choice by setting up a refund profile at weber.edu/bursar/erefunds.html. All other refunds will be mailed to the student. Admission fees and recording fees are nonrefundable.

Refunds for dropped courses will be processed after the third week of class.

Financial Aid Withdrawals and Return of Title IV Funds

See Withdrawals and Return of Title IV Funds in the Financial Aid section.

COVID-19 Response

During Spring 2020, the COVID-19 pandemic led to campus closure beginning March 12, 2020 and classes were moved to virtual format for the remainder of Spring 2020 semester and for the entirety of Summer 2020 semester. Students enrolled in Spring and Summer 2020 courses have the following transcript comment placed on their academic transcript: Academic disruption due to global pandemic. More information is available here.

Students were provided with extended deadlines for full semester and second block Spring 2020 courses to withdraw (W), audit (AU), or change to credit/no credit (CR/NC) grading option:

- Extended deadline for W or AU: April 17, 2020
- Extended deadline for CR/NC: April 24, 2020

CR/NC is the University's form of pass/fail and requires a minimum grade of C- for CR. Grades of D+ and below result in NC.

Departments were given the option to accept Spring and Summer 2020 courses with CR/NC grading for program requirements, and provided individual direction for their programs and courses. Accepted grading options include CR (Credit, meaning C- or better) and SC (Special Credit, meaning C or better). Please follow the links below for information from each academic program.

Privacy Rights

The WSU Records Office maintains student records in accordance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), which affords students the right to inspect and review their educational records, the right to seek to have the records amended, and the right to have some control over the disclosure of information from the records. The law generally requires that written consent of the student be received before personally identifiable data about the student is released. Institutions may release, without written consent, those items specified as public or directory information, provided the institution informs students of the data designated as public information and gives students prior opportunity to refuse disclosure of any or all categories of that information. Directory information at Weber State University is currently specified to include name, address, telephone number, major (program of study), dates of attendance, degree(s) received, full-time/part-time status, and honors received. A student may have their public or directory information made confidential by submitting a written request to the Registrar's Office.

If a student feels that information other than directory information has been made public in violation of this act, they may contact the Registrar's Office to file a formal grievance. Copies of the entire policy or information about specific procedures may be obtained from the Office of the Registrar.

Transcripts

Students may obtain official copies of their academic transcripts from the Registrar's Solution Center. There is a $5.00 charge for this service. For students who attended prior to Summer 2010, four fee-free transcripts will be provided if the request is made in person or by mail.

- Transcripts picked up in person require photo identification.
- Transcript requests may be made by mail or online at www.weber.edu/records (telephone requests cannot be accepted) and should include the student's name, social security number or WSU student ID number, birthdate, student's signature and complete address where the transcript should be sent.
- Transcript requests by anyone other than the student must be accompanied by a written release from the student that includes:
 - A sentence stating that you have given your consent to a friend or a relative to pick up your transcript
 - The name of your friend or relative that will be retrieving your transcript
 - Your full name and any prior names
 - Your Social Security Number or Student ID Number and birthdate
 - Your approximate dates of enrollment
 - Your signature

The person receiving the record will be asked to show photo identification.

A printable copy of a transcript request form is available via the WSU Web site at weber.edu/records. Requests should be mailed to: Weber State University, Records Office, 3885 West Campus Dr. DEPT 1102, Ogden, UT 84408-1102; or emailed as a pdf or jpeg attachment to records@weber.edu.

Record Holds

Transcripts and diplomas will not be issued for students who owe money to the University for financial aid, library fines, housing, traffic tickets, etc.

Students may access their grades on the Internet with a "Wildcat Username" and password. To obtain information about access to the eWeber student portal, contact the Computing Support Center Help Desk at 801-626-7777.

Grading

Grade System

The following grades and numeric point values are used to compute the cumulative grade point average (GPA).

A	Excellent	4.0
A-	Excellent	3.7
B+	Good	3.3
B	Good	3.0
B-	Good	2.7
C+	Standard	2.3
C	Standard	2.0
C-	Standard	1.7
D+	Sub-Standard	1.3
D	Sub-Standard	1.0
D-	Sub-Standard	0.7

To calculate a cumulative GPA, the total number of grade points (the number of credit hours per course multiplied by the numeric points listed above for the grade) is divided by the total number of credit hours.

Courses coded with an R in front of the grade (indicating academic renewal), or an E in the far right column of the form (indicating exclusion due to a repeat), are not used in computing the GPA, the graduation hours, or the total hours completed. Courses coded ND (non-degree) are not used in computing the GPA or the graduation hours completed, but they are included in computing the total hours attempted.

Courses with the following notations in the grade column are not used in computing the GPA, the graduation hours, or the total hours completed (with the exception of CR-Credit courses which may be used toward graduation hours or total hours).

AU-Audit

- Indicates the student was allowed to sit in a class without earning credit or a grade.
- Audit students who fail to attend class without withdrawing may be issued a withdrawal (W). (See Registration section of this catalog.)

CE-Continuing Education Unit

- Students who enroll in a Continuing Education Unit through the Continuing Education Office will receive a CE grade. It is not counted in the WSU GPA or Total Hours, but can be listed on a transcript.

CR-Credit

- Indicates the student registered for a course on a pass/fail basis and earned a C- or better. (See Registration section of this catalog.)
- Certain courses are offered on a credit/no credit basis only and letter grades are not given.
- Credit/no credit courses may only be used as electives in a student graduation requirements. Classes taken on a credit/no credit basis will not satisfy major, minor, or general education requirements with exception of those courses or programs of study approved by the University Curriculum and General Education committees and those courses approved by academic departments for credit by special examination.
- A maximum of 20 hours of credit/no credit electives may be used for graduation.

I-Incomplete

- Indicates the student was unable to complete the course for a legitimate reason (such as accident or illness) after having completed a substantial portion (approximately 80%) of the required work.
- A written contract between the student and the instructor indicates the work still to be done and the deadline for its completion (within 12 months).
- The student must complete remaining work without re-registering or attending the class during a subsequent semester.
- Credit hours are not counted until a letter grade is posted.
- All incomplete (I) courses must be completed prior to graduation.

NC-No Credit

- Indicates the student registered for a course on a credit/no-credit basis and earned less than a C-.
- Students who stop attending a class for which they are registered on a credit/no-credit basis without officially withdrawing will receive an NC grade entry for that class.
- Certain courses are offered on a credit/no credit basis only and letter grades are not given.

NG-No Grade Reported

- The instructor has not reported a grade for the course.

SC-Special Credit

- The student has received credit through an examination, waiver, or substitution for which they are not eligible for a letter grade.
- These credits are counted toward the total number of credits required for graduation but are not used to calculate the cumulative grade point average.
- Special credits may be used for graduation requirements as determined by the academic departments.

T-Temporary Grade

- The course is being continued in the subsequent semester and a grade and credits will be calculated when the course is complete and a letter grade has been issued. The "T" grade is approved for specific courses only.

UW-Unofficial Withdrawal

- Indicates the student stopped attending the course without officially withdrawing. UWs are calculated as failing grades in the student's semester and cumulative grade point averages.

W-Withdrawal

- The student withdrew from the course in the interval comprising the 16th through the 50th business day of a semester or the 30th business day of a block. Withdrawals are not permitted after the 50th business day of a semester or 30th business day of a block.

Changing of Grades

- Grades may be changed only by the instructor who submitted the original grade.
- Students who feel their work has been evaluated unfairly should contact the instructor.
- Students who choose to complete a course on a credit/no credit basis may petition the Registrar's Office to have a CR grade replaced by the earned letter grade if they recently changed their major or minor and need the letter grade to meet graduation requirements for the new major or minor.

Repeat Courses

- Repeated courses will be automatically flagged as part of the grading process at the end of each term.
- Each course (unless specifically listed as repeatable for credit in the course description) may be used only once in cumulative hours and GPA.
- A course will appear on the transcript each time it is completed, but it will be counted only once in total hours and only the most recent letter WSU grade received will be used to calculate the GPA (CR is not considered a letter grade and will not cause a previous grade to be discounted).
- Once a bachelor's degree has been posted to a student's permanent record, courses used for that degree may not be repeated to improve their GPA.

Academic Renewal Policy

1. The applicant for academic renewal must be a currently enrolled undergraduate student or must have been enrolled during the previous term. Students who are not currently enrolled and who cannot obtain financial aid until their GPA is recalculated using Academic Renewal should begin the process with Academic Records and take written evidence of the initiation of this process to the Financial Aid Office.
2. Academic renewal may be requested only once during a student's academic career.
3. Once a certificate, associate, or bachelor degree is awarded by Weber State University or received as a transfer credit, any Weber State course(s) completed prior to the completion of that certificate or degree will not qualify for academic renewal. However, WSU courses completed after receiving a certificate or associate degree, but before completion of a bachelor degree, are eligible for renewal if they meet the requirements.
4. The policy does not apply to graduate students or students pursuing a second bachelor's degree.
5. Grades of "D+" or less which were earned six years or more prior to the petition date will not be computed in the GPA.
6. Academic requirements may not be satisfied by courses to which academic renewal has been applied.
7. Hours not used for GPA purposes are not used to satisfy total and upper division credit hour requirements.
8. The Academic Renewal Policy will apply only to courses taken at Weber State University.
9. Only the calculation of a student's GPA will be affected by this policy.
10. This policy applies to WSU GPA calculation only. A student's GPA when transferring or applying for graduate/professional schools will be calculated according to the policy of that institution, i.e. the receiving institution may average the grades or use the original grades.

11. Students who are applying for academic renewal and graduating in the same semester must notify the Graduation Department.

Applications for academic renewal and detailed policy information are available at the Records Office or at www.weber.edu/records.

Credit by Examination or Petition

Contact: Records Office

Location: Student Services Center, Room 101

Telephone: 801-626-6100

Students may receive WSU degree credit by examination or petition under the following restrictions:

- The student must be a WSU-admitted student.
- The student must pay the appropriate recording fee in addition to specific test fees.
- Credit will not be given if it duplicates previous examinations, petitions, or course work for which a student received a grade (A-E) or notation I, T, W, UW, CR, NC.
- Credit by examination or petition will not be considered part of the residency requirement.
- Credit by examination or petition, although graded with credit (SC), may be used to satisfy major, minor and general education requirements.

Advanced Placement Examination (AP)

- AP credit is earned by completing one or more high school AP courses and successfully completing the appropriate exam(s) while in high school.
- WSU credit hours may be earned with each AP examination score of 3, 4, or 5. Credit awarded is at the discretion of the academic department. Some departments require a score of 4 or 5 for the awarding of credit. Please see <http://www.weber.edu/admissions/aptests.html> for details.
- To have credit evaluated, a student must submit their scores and pay a $10 recording fee.
 - Scores may be submitted to the Admissions Office as a part of the Admissions process, or
 - Scores may be submitted to the Admissions Office in person, along with a receipt for the $10 recording fee payment.
- If a student submits AP, CLEP, and IB scores for evaluation, the IB scores will be awarded first. If the AP or CLEP credit duplicates the IB credit already awarded, the AP and CLEP credits will be reduced by the amount of credit awarded for the IB Higher-Level Subject in the specific area.

International Baccalaureate Credit (IB)

- A student who completes the IB Diploma program will receive 30 semester credit hours, a waiver of all Breadth Requirements contained in the general education requirements, and a waiver of the University Diversity requirement. To further waive the Core Requirements of general education, a student must complete the corresponding Higher-Level Subject with a score of five (5) or higher.
- If the IB Diploma is not earned, students will be awarded eight (8) semester hours of credit and a waiver of the corresponding general education requirement for each Higher-Level Subject completed with a score of five (5) or higher.
- If a student submits AP, CLEP, and IB scores for evaluation, the IB scores will be awarded first. If the AP or CLEP credit duplicates the IB credit already awarded the AP and CLEP credits will be reduced by the amount of credit awarded for the IB Higher-Level Subject in the specific area.
- A student must be admitted and matriculated at WSU to have IB credit evaluated.

- Once test results have been received, students eligible for credit will receive an evaluation from the Admissions Office with instructions about how to have credits added to their transcript.

College Level Examination Program (CLEP)

- CLEP is a way for students to earn college credit by completing one or more of the General or Subject Examinations administered by the Testing Center.
- Applications and further information on the procedure, fees, and testing schedule are available from the WSU Testing Center.
- A student's test scores will be considered if the student drops the same course within the first 3 weeks of the semester.
- Students must submit examination scores and a receipt for the $10 application fee to the Admissions Office to initiate the evaluation process.

Special Examination

- Special examinations may be arranged to earn credit for some WSU courses not covered by CLEP testing. Each department determines which courses will qualify.
- Students must provide evidence of sufficient background in the area to be tested.
- Applications for Special Examinations and further information about requirements, limitations, and fees may be obtained from the academic departmental offices.

Foreign Language Credit for Prior Language Experience

- Students with prior language experience may be given foreign language credit by examination or by passing an upper division (3000-level or higher) course with a minimum grade of C. See the Foreign Language Department for applications and more information.

Credit for Military Training

- Students who have completed at least 24 months of active military service may be granted a maximum of 10 credit hours. These credits are awarded as social science general education course HLTH 1030 (3 credit hours) and 7 elective credit hours.
- Students who have completed four or more years in the National Guard or a reserve unit may be granted social science general education course HLTH 1030 (3 credit hours) and 7 elective credit hours.
- Additional credit may be granted for military schooling if specific requirements are met.
- To receive credit students should submit military form DD-214 and a receipt for the $10 recording fee to the Records Office to start the process.
- Military credit will be evaluated only if it can be applied to a legitimate undergraduate degree program. Students who have already earned a bachelor's degree may have their credit evaluated upon request.
- Military credit is added to a student's total credit hours completed, and may reduce a student's eligibility for financial aid.
- More information can be found at: http://www.weber.edu/Records/Military_Credit.html

Credit for Courses from Non-accredited Schools and Colleges

- Students with credit from non-accredited schools may request transfer credit for certain courses which are equivalent to courses described in the catalog.
- Official transcripts with the Application for Transfer Credit form should be taken to the appropriate academic department for evaluation. Transfer credits from non-accredited schools may be accepted under the following guidelines.
- Credit may be accepted only if the course is deemed to be equivalent to a course at in the WSU catalog.
- Specific course credit may be applied by the Records Office if recommended and approved by the appropriate department chair with the Application for Transfer Credit form which can be obtained from the Records Office.

Credit for Experiential Learning and Industrial or Commercial Training

- Credit for experiential learning shown to be equivalent to courses described in the catalog may be allowed by some departments according to specific guidelines.
- Application for Credit forms and further information are available from the major and minor department offices.
- Before credit for prior experiential learning becomes part of the student's permanent record, the student must have completed thirty credit hours with a GPA of 2.25 or better to establish evidence of a satisfactory learning pattern.

Minimum GPA Standards

The minimum cumulative institutional grade point average (GPA) required at WSU is 2.00 or C. The minimum institutional GPA required by the University for graduation is 2.00; however, many majors and minors have a higher requirement. Students with a GPA below 2.00 will receive one of the following notices and should see an academic advisor immediately.

Academic Warning

- Students with a cumulative institutional GPA below 2.00 will be placed on academic warning. They must earn a semester GPA of at least 2.00 each semester until their cumulative WSU GPA reaches 2.00 to remain on academic warning and avoid academic probation. Students whose cumulative WSU GPA reaches 2.00 will be restored to good academic standing.

Academic Probation

- Students who earn a semester GPA below 2.00 while on academic warning will be placed on academic probation. They must earn a semester GPA of at least 2.00 each semester until their cumulative WSU GPA reaches 2.00 to remain on academic probation and avoid academic suspension. Students whose cumulative WSU GPA reaches 2.00 will be restored to good academic standing.

Academic Suspension

- Students who earn a semester GPA below 2.00 while on academic probation will be placed on a one-semester academic suspension. After serving the one-semester suspension, students will be returned to academic warning and will be eligible to re-enroll at the institution.

Appeal Procedure

- Students who have been placed on academic warning, probation, or suspension and feel their classification is in error should see the Associate Registrar to review their records and receive information regarding the process of appeal.
- Students who have received an academic suspension will be required to serve the full suspension length of one semester before re-enrolling at the University unless their classification was made in error.

Academic Excellence

Each semester, students who complete at least 12 credit hours with letter grades (CR/NC grades and ND courses will not be counted) will qualify for academic excellence recognition on the basis of their semester GPA as follows:

4.00 for the High Academic Excellence Certificate

3.50 to 3.99 for the Academic Excellence Certificate

Student Activity Eligibility

Students participating in activities such as student government, university organizations, clubs, special awards, and intramural athletics should be matriculated students working toward a degree or certificate. Many individual programs and organizations have standards higher than this minimum.

Intercollegiate Athletics Eligibility

Students participating in NCAA sports must be enrolled as full-time students in a Bachelor's degree program, must remain in good academic standing, and must meet the satisfactory progress policies of the University, the Big Sky Conference, and the NCAA. Details of these requirements may be obtained from the Eligibility or Compliance Office.

Commencement

Commencement ceremonies are held in April and December. Students who complete degree requirements during the fall semester may attend commencement ceremonies in December, or the following April. Students who complete requirements in the spring are eligible to attend the April commencement ceremonies. Students who complete degree requirements in the summer may attend ceremonies the prior April or the following December.

Students' names will appear in the commencement program according to the following:

- Fall applications submitted by the Fall deadline will appear in the December commencement program
- Spring applications received by the Spring deadline will appear in the April commencement program.
- Summer applications received by the Spring deadline will appear in the April commencement program.
- Summer applications received after the Spring deadline will appear in the December commencement program.

Commencement information will be mailed to all candidates who apply for graduation by the application deadlines. This information may also be obtained from the Graduation Office.

Spring 2022	February 18, 2022	April 2022	June 20, 2022
Summer 2022*	July 1, 2022	December 2022	October 10, 2022

*NOTE: Summer graduation candidates who wish to participate in the Spring commencement ceremonies should apply for Summer, but follow the Spring semester deadline.

Students who are nearing completion of Graduation Requirements, should take the following steps:

1. Schedule an appointment and meet with your advisor(s) as required. Keep in mind that you may need to see a college advisor, a major advisor, and a minor advisor. NOTE: Students seeking an Associate of Science or Arts degree in General Studies should meet with an Academic Advisor in the Student Success Center.
2. Review your CatTracks degree evaluation with your advisor(s). Make sure that your Program of Study is correctly listed in your CatTracks degree evaluation and then check for missing requirements with your advisor(s). Program of Study corrections must be completed with your advisor prior to submitting your graduation application.
3. Submit your application for the semester that all of your program requirements will be complete. Applications are online - log into your eWeber portal, search for "Graduation Application" in the search bar and then follow the instructions outlined in the graduation application.
4. Commencement Ceremony information will be sent to all candidates who apply by the application deadline.

All possible care is taken in checking student records for graduation; however, it is the sole responsibility of the student to verify all requirements for a degree.

- The Graduation Office will confirm that the requirements defined in the student's degree evaluation are completed before posting their degree or certificate.
- Students who do not complete graduation requirements by the Graduation Requirement Completion Deadline or who change their graduation semester should notify the Graduation Office of their new anticipated semester graduation date. Complete policy information on Graduation Requirement Deadline is at http://www.weber.edu/ppm/Policies/4-1_GraduationStandards.html
- Diplomas will be sent and degrees will be posted to student transcripts the semester following completion.

Changes in Graduation/Catalog Requirements

Entering students, including first-time and transfer students, will be required to complete the degree and program requirements listed in the catalog in effect when they first enroll, with the following exceptions:

- When students change their program of study, they are then required to graduate under the catalog in effect when they declare the new program of study (see Program of Study (Major/Minor) Declaration).
- Students must complete major and minor requirements under a catalog no older than 6 years for a bachelor's degree or 3 years for an associate's degree, respectively. Students taking longer to graduate may either choose to graduate under the requirements from the oldest active catalog or under the catalog which is in effect at the time they file for graduation.

Requests for Exceptions to Graduation Requirements

Requests for exceptions to graduation requirements are considered only on the basis of substantial and reasonable grounds. Students should contact the academic department who has oversight for the major or minor requirements for more information about their exceptions process. Questions about all other degree requirements can be brought to the Registrar's Office.

Completed Degree

Once a degree has been completed, the degree title and program name cannot be altered and a student cannot change factors related to that degree; courses cannot be repeated to improve the GPA, grades cannot be changed, and majors or minors cannot be added. If a student continues to earn a second bachelor's degree or a master's degree, credit hour and GPA calculations begin again. If a student continues on to earn a bachelor's degree after earning an associate's degree, the grades earned toward the associate's degree will be used in calculating cumulative GPA for the bachelor's degree. Academic renewal cannot be applied to courses taken prior to the posting of an associate's degree.

Awarding of Multiple Degrees

- Students may receive multiple degrees in the same academic year. However, students who first earn their degree in a specific academic area, with the exception of the AAS degrees and certificates, will not be awarded a general A.S. or A.A. degree in a subsequent term.
- Students must apply for each degree requested.

Second Bachelor's Degree

A student may qualify for admission to a second baccalaureate degree following the completion of a first bachelor's degree at an accredited institution. The first and second baccalaureate degrees may not be awarded during the same semester or term. To qualify for a second degree, a student must complete a minimum of 30 credit hours in residence at WSU with a GPA of at least 2.00 and fulfill all requirements for the programs declared in second degree. For students whose first baccalaureate degree is also from Weber State University, credits earned in conjunction with but beyond the minimum credits required for the first degree may be applied toward the second baccalaureate degree. However, a minimum of 30 semester credit hours must be earned at WSU after the first degree is conferred. All candidates for a second bachelor's degree must satisfy the university's American Institutions (AI) requirement. Course work taken as part of the first degree that is comparable to the current list of approved diversity courses may be used to satisfy this requirement. Students pursuing a Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Music Education, or Bachelor of Arts in Music must fulfill WSU's foreign language requirement. Policy governing the second bachelor's degree can be found in PPM 4-1.I.G. For additional information about a second baccalaureate policy please contact the academic department in which you plan to earn your second degree.

Honors at Graduation

Students who qualify for honors based on their cumulative institutional grade point average (GPA) will have the appropriate designation indicated on their transcripts and diplomas.

Bachelor's Degree Honors

Summa Cum Laude - WSU GPA of 3.90 or higher.

Magna Cum Laude - WSU GPA of 3.80 or higher.

Cum Laude - WSU GPA of 3.60 or higher.

Associate's Degree Academic Excellence

High Academic Excellence - WSU GPA of 3.85 or higher.

Academic Excellence - WSU GPA of 3.60 or higher.

Additional honors awarded at graduation are described under the Honors Program (see Honors Program).

Interruption or Changes in Instruction Due to Circumstances Beyond the Reasonable Control of the University

Each semester the University will endeavor to provide courses and services as it traditionally has including face-to-face or hybrid instruction for those courses for which all or a portion would normally occur on site. However, as recent experience has taught us, the traditional delivery of courses may be interrupted or changed due to circumstances beyond the reasonable control of the University. Such circumstances may be a health emergency, like the recent COVID-19 outbreak, closure of the University due to damage or destruction of the physical facilities, like an earthquake, or other events including but not limited to natural or person-made events such as civil unrest, strike, cyberattack, pandemic, directive of government or health authorities, etc. (hereinafter "Circumstances Beyond the Reasonable Control of the University"). In the event of the interruption of or changes in instruction caused by Circumstances Beyond the Reasonable Control of the University you recognize and agree that the University may deliver all or part of the courses and services in a virtual environment or in other non-traditional ways. This may occur at any time including prior to the start of or in the middle of a semester. Agreeing to the statement and registering for courses acknowledges your understanding and acceptance of this delivery method. In addition, you recognize and agree that in the event of Circumstances Beyond the Reasonable Control of the University that cause courses to be suspended or canceled that the University will make a good faith determination of when or if courses will be resumed and may determine that the courses are sufficiently complete for the awarding of credit without further instruction with or without final exams, projects, papers, etc. You agree that the University's decision in such cases is final and that you will be entitled only to a refund of a pro rata amount of tuition if courses are not finished and not resumed or rescheduled or no refund if courses are completed and you agree that this is your sole remedy. In addition, you agree to waive any right to seek damages, direct or indirect resulting from or related to Circumstances Beyond the Reasonable Control of the University. If the University determines to provide pro rata refunds, you agree that such refunds may be in the form of a tuition credit for future semesters.

Student Affairs, Services and Information

The Division of Student Affairs includes a variety of services ranging from those that directly supplement classroom learning to those which are aimed at helping students attain a holistic education and a healthy lifestyle. The goal of Student Affairs is a commitment to solving student problems and helping students become aware of services, activities and programs available to them. The staff in Student Affairs will assist in designing, developing, implementing and evaluating programs to expand the students' personal development and enrich co-curricular opportunities.

The LGBT Resource Center is committed to supporting students, faculty, staff and community members by providing information, resources and support to accommodate the needs of individuals in our community. Our goal is to create a safe and inclusive environment for the LGBTQ+ and ally community within the university through educational experiences, advocacy and support that promotes the personal, intellectual and academic growth of all students, faculty and staff.

The LGBT Resource Center strives to achieve these efforts by following closely along with the university's Inclusivity Statement and Diversity Initiative.

Opportunities for students, faculty and staff include:

- Safe Zone Ally Training, Transgender and LGBTQ 101 workshops and activities
- Weekly LGBTQIA Support and Discussion Group
- Annual events and activities including Pride Week, National Coming Out Day, Transgender Education and Awareness Month, Gaypril and PRIDE
- Scholarship opportunities

Center for Community Engaged Learning

Telephone: 801-626-7737

Location: Shepherd Union, Suite 327

Website: weber.edu/CCEL

The Center for Community Engaged Learning at Weber State University facilitates both curricular and co-curricular community engaged learning experiences. The main mission of the center is to engage students, faculty and staff members in direct service, civic engagement, and community research to promote civic participation, build community capacity, and enhance the educational process.

Community engaged learning can be facilitated through one of our three pathways: direct service, civic engagement and community research.

Direct Service experiences often involve working directly with community residents to meet an immediate need. Examples of direct service include, but are not limited to: volunteering to serve meals at a homeless shelter, using academic knowledge to develop an electronic food-monitoring database for a food pantry, serving as a mentor or tutor in a local school or youth development program, cleaning up the banks of the Ogden River, or coaching a city youth sport.

Civic engagement experiences often involve raising awareness about issues of public concern and working more systematically through both political and non-political processes to create change. Examples of civic engagement include, but are not limited to: attending organized discussions about pollution; community organizing; writing a letter to an elected official; engaging others in the process of deliberative democracy; or producing information about community issues.

Community research experiences often involve gathering information with and for community organizations to solve a pressing community problem or create change. Examples of community research include, but are not limited to: community needs assessment survey; water quality or scientific assessment; or program evaluation for non-profit organizations.

Regardless of the type of community engaged learning experience, students are expected to acquire four CEL outcomes through their experiences: civic knowledge, civic skills, civic values, and civic action. Student learning outcomes, definitions, and measurement rubrics can be found at www.weber.edu/CCEL.

Innovation & Economic Development

Director: Brandon Stoddard

Location: Weber State Downtown, Rm 211, 801-626-7232

Innovation & Economic Development in the Provosts Office at Weber State University fosters a broad and continuing partnership between business, government agencies, and Innovation & Economic Development. Innovation & Economic Development promotes business and economic development in the community and serves as a community resource for entrepreneurship and small business management. As a service organization, Innovation & Economic Development provides business technical assistance, training and education, and information to businesses and government agencies. Specific programs and services of the Center is listed below.

Small Business Development Center

The Small Business Development Center (SBDC) is a partnership between Weber State University, the U.S. Small Business Administration, and the Utah Governor's Office of Economic Development. The SBDC provides counseling, training, and resource referral for individuals from Northern Utah looking to start, grow or exit small business endeavors. The Center provides a wide variety of seminars, workshops and courses for free or a low fee. Consulting is free of charge and covers areas such as business assessment and planning, market research and marketing strategy, financial analysis and forecasting, debt and equity funding development, ecommerce, and human resource management. For additional information see <https://www.weber.edu/sbdc/>.

Small Business Institute

The Small Business Institute (SBI) uses teams of senior-level or graduate students to provide management consulting and technical assistance to small business concerns. Students participating in the program receive university credit and the opportunity to apply their knowledge and skills in a real world setting. Participating businesses receive management assistance at no charge.

The WSU Davis Campus provides a wide range of higher educational opportunities to the residents of Davis County and surrounding areas. With a population of over 350,000 residents, Davis County is Utah's third largest county. It is also home to Hill Air Force Base, Utah's largest employer. Davis County residents comprise 44 percent of the student body at Weber State University. In addition to providing learning opportunities close to where these students live and work, the Davis Campus is an integral part of the larger community, enriching the social, cultural and economic lives of the citizens of Davis County.

From its 110 acre campus in Layton, WSU Davis offers a full range of general education courses and a wide range of associate's, bachelor's, and master's degrees. Information about degree and certificate programs available at WSU Davis can be found on the web at weber.edu/Davis. Students may take classes at both the Davis Campus and the Ogden Campus concurrently, depending upon their needs and schedule. One of the hallmarks of the Davis Campus is the special attention given to meeting the needs of military, veteran, nontraditional, and working students.

The Davis Campus provides a complete university experience for students, using both visiting and resident faculty to provide instruction and advisement. Extensive student services and support activities are also available, including computer classrooms, computer laptop lounge, and a 44 workstation computer lab, a library, bookstore, testing center, enrollment services, academic advisement, academic support, financial aid counseling, tutoring, student activities, counseling services, a fitness center, stress relief center, event spaces and dining and a wide range of other student services.

The Davis Campus is also home to the Northern Utah Academy for Math, Engineering and Science (NUAMES), an early college charter high school that works in partnership with Weber State University.

Requirements for Institutional Certificates

Students are awarded an Institutional Certificate when they complete a program of study fulfilling a 10 credit hour minimum in residence at Weber State. Course work for institutional certificates is designed in a specific area for career and technical education purposes or for professional development. Students enrolled in Institutional Certificate programs are awarded diplomas indicating they have completed an Institutional Certificate in a defined area. Institutional Certificates are designated as "Institutional Certificate" under the Degrees/Programs listing (see Programs Sorted by Degree). Refer to the listings under the academic department for specific requirements. At the discretion of the department credits earned as part of an Institutional Certificate may be applied to a degree. Students enrolled in Institutional Certificate programs may need to meet additional credit hour requirements in order to qualify for financial aid and should check with the Financial Aid Office.

Requirements for Graduate Certificates

A Graduate Certificate is a program of study, less than a year in length, made up of graduate-level course work, with a prerequisite of at least a Bachelor's degree. Students enrolled in Graduate Certificate programs are awarded diplomas indicating they have completed a Graduate Certificate in a defined area. Institutional Certificates are designated as "Grad Cert" under the Degrees/Programs listing. Refer to the listings under the academic department for specific requirements.

Requirements for Certifications

Students are awarded departmental certifications for completing a course or series of courses in a specified area. Certifications are designated as "Certification" under the Degrees/Programs listing (see Programs Sorted by Degree). Refer to the listings under the academic department for specific requirements. Students enrolled in certification programs may need to meet additional credit hour requirements in order to qualify for financial aid and should check with the Financial Aid Office.

Weber State University General Education Requirements

What is General Education (Gen Ed)?

Gen Ed is shared by all degree-seeking students. Gen Ed credits (~34-41) account for about 2/3 of the Associate's and 1/3 of the Bachelor's degrees. Gen Ed provides broad exposure to diverse disciplines and is the foundation for developing intellectual tools and responsibility to the self and others.

What is the mission of General Education?

To provide students with the foundational knowledge and intellectual tools that enhance and transcend their academic program of study. The big questions posed by Gen Ed courses address significant issues about the world. Gen Ed courses help students apply their learning and develop personal and social responsibility, which is demonstrated through signature assignments.

Why is General Education required of all students?

Gen Ed is not a random series of courses to "get out of the way" - it is a program of courses to lead the way to students' future success in higher education, the workplace, and the community. Because Gen Ed courses are framed around a Big Question, which is tapped by a Signature Assignment, students repeatedly exercise Gen Ed Learning Outcomes (GELOs) and "cross-train" their mind.

What are the General Education Program Requirements?

Students are required to take CORE courses in Composition, Quantitative Literacy, American Institutions, Information Literacy and Diversity (~10-17 credits) and BREADTH courses in Creative Arts and Humanities (9 credits), Physical and Life Sciences (9 credits), and Social Sciences (6 credits).

What are WSU courses?

The WSU Program provides students access to team taught, high-impact, interdisciplinary, variable credit (3-5), and limited enrollment WSU courses that satisfy requirements in two areas (core or breadth) of Gen Ed (with a passing grade). Students get the benefit of the expertise of two WSU faculty members in courses that engage their mind and challenge their thinking. (See https://www.weber.edu/GenEd/WSU_Courses.html.)

What is the Gen Ed Certificate of Completion?

The Certificate of Completion is awarded when students complete all core and breadth requirements with a minimum 2.0 GPA. Once awarded, it will appear on students' transcripts and is considered part of their official record. The Certificate allows students to "lock in" their Gen Ed credits and is transferable between institutions in the Utah System of Higher Education.

What is the Interstate Passport?

WSU participates in the Interstate Passport Initiative wherein a block of Gen Ed courses is accepted between institutions and noted on students' transcripts for articulation purposes. WSU issues the Passport upon completion of the Gen Ed Certificate of Completion with a C or better in all Gen Ed courses. WSU Gen Ed requirements are met (except for American Institutions, a Gen Ed requirement mandated by the Utah State Legislature) for incoming students who have earned a Passport elsewhere. (See weber.edu/passport.)

Who can help me plan my General Education courses?

Before selecting General Education courses, students should consult with an Academic Advisor (weber.edu/advisors) and review their Cattracks degree evaluation (eWeber student portal).

Core General Education Requirements

The core requirements listed below apply to all Bachelor's degrees and AA/AS degrees. It is recommended that students complete these requirements within the first 60 credit hours. General education requirements for AAS degrees vary and are specified by each program.

General Education Certificate of Completion

The Certificate of Completion in General Education is official proof that a student has completed the general education requirements of an Associate or Bachelor degree. Once awarded, it will appear on students' transcripts and is considered part of their permanent record. Students must have a minimum GPA of 2.0 to be awarded the General Education Certificate of Completion.

Composition (EN) 3-4 credit hours

Complete ENGL 2010 EN2 - Intermediate College Writing (3) OR ENGL 2015 EN2 - Intermediate College Writing & Research (4) and earn a "C" grade or better.

Entrance into ENGL 2010 OR ENGL 2015 requires one of the following: Passing ENGL 1010 with a grade of "C" or better, passing the AP Language and Composition or Literature and Composition examination with a score of 3 or better, achieving an ACT English and Reading score of 29 or better, a CLEP with essay test with a score of 50 or better, or an articulated transfer credit from another regionally accredited college or university.

Quantitative Literacy (QL) 3-6 credit hours

QL may be met with one of the following options:

- MATH 1030 QL - Contemporary Mathematics (3), OR MATH 1035 QL - Contemporary Mathematics with Prerequisite Topics (6), OR MATH 1040 QL - Introduction to Statistics (3), OR MATH 1050 QL - College Algebra (4), OR MATH 1080 QL - Pre-calculus (5), OR MATH 1090 QL - Business College Algebra (3), OR MATH 1120 QL - Foundations of Data Science (3), OR MATH 2020 QL - Geometry for Elementary Teachers (3), OR any WSU Math course for which either MATH 1050 or MATH 1080 is a prerequisite. A "C" grade or better is required.

- A score of 65 or higher on the ALEKS math placement exam or a score of 70 or higher on the College Level Math portion of the Accuplacer exam.
- Credit recorded on a transcript of a score of 3 or higher on the AP Calculus or AP Statistics exam (Credit by Examination).
- A score of 50 or higher on the CLEP Calculus or College Algebra or Pre-Calculus exam (Credit by Examination).
- An ACT math score of 26 or higher.

To enroll in MATH 1030, you must have either earned an ACT Math score of 21 or higher, completed MATH 0970 or 1010 with a "C" grade or better, or earned an appropriate math placement score.

To enroll in MATH 1035, you must have completed MATH 0950 with a "C" grade or better, or earned an appropriate math score, or instructor approval.

To enroll in MATH 1040, you must have either earned an ACT Math score of 21 or higher, completed MATH 1010 with a "C" grade or better, or earned an appropriate math score.

To enroll in MATH 1050, MATH 1080, MATH 1090, or MATH 1120, you must have either earned an ACT Math score of 23 or higher, completed MATH 1010 with a "C" grade or better, or earned an appropriate math placement score.

To enroll in MATH 2020, you must have completed MATH 2010 and 2015 with a "C" grade or better.

If you earned a "C" grade or better in PHIL 2200 between Spring 2007 and Spring 2013 and you are declared in a catalog year between Spring 2007 and Spring 2013, your QL requirement is also met. Some departments may not accept PHIL 2200 toward program requirements.

American Institutions (AI) 3-6 credit hours

Select one of the following options and earn a "C" or better:

- ECON 1740 AI - Economic History of the United States (3); POLS 1100 AI - American National Government (3), HIST 1600 AI - The Black Experience (3), HIST 1610 AI - The Latinx Experience (3), HIST 1620 AI - The LGBTQ Experience (3), OR HIST 1700 AI - American History (3).
- HIST 2700 - History of the United States to 1877 (3) AND HIST 2710 - History of the United States since 1877 (3) (recommended for History majors).
- Present advanced placement credit in American History or American Government.
- Present suitable transfer courses from other institutions.

Information Literacy (IL) 1.0 credit

Successful completion can be met by receiving a credit grade on a proficiency exam or taking one of the courses with a "C" grade or better. Exams are credit/no credit, courses vary. Students should check with their Major Adviser to determine the best way to meet the information literacy requirement. More information is also available at: http://library.weber.edu/researchandteaching/information_literacy or by contacting the IL Administrator at 801-626-7034 or libinstruct@weber.edu.

- LIBS 1504 - Information Literacy Competency Exam OR LIBS 1704 - Information Navigator OR LIBS 2504 - Information Resources in History OR LIBS 2604 - Information Resources in Education OR EDUC 2604 - Information Resources in Education OR LIBS 2704 - Information Resources in the Business Disciplines OR BSAD 2704 - Information Resources in the Business Disciplines OR LIBS 2804 - Information Resources in the Social Sciences OR LIBS 2904 - Information Resources in the Health Professions OR HTHS 2904 - Information Resources in the Health Professions.

Note: Information Literacy (IL) transfer credit that does not automatically transfer from another college or university will be evaluated on an individual basis. Transfer credit must meet the current WSU IL requirements, have been taken within the last seven years, and passed with a grade of "C" or above.

Diversity (DV)

Complete one of the following general education courses and earn a passing grade. Note: the following courses will meet both a breadth and diversity requirement (see courses marked with a "♦" in the Breadth requirements).

- ANTH 1000 SS/DV - Introduction to Anthropology Credits: (3)
- ANTH 1020 LS/DV - Biological Anthropology Credits: (3)

Course Attributes

Attributes are short acronyms embedded into course titles that identify specific elements of content and/or pedagogy within a course. Content refers to a focus on agreed-upon outcomes. Pedagogy refers to a focus on use of specific types of instructional approaches or strategies.

The purpose of the attributes is to support the organizational mission by increasing:

- Advising transparency for students
 - Identify required course work such as General Education or Diversity courses.
 - Identify specific content and pedagogy that may inform appropriate course selection.
- Institutional identification by making visible engagement in specific learning outcomes and high impact practices, particularly for underrepresented students.
- Facilitation of interdisciplinary study and University curriculum initiatives.
- Third-party recognition of University accomplishments, such as Carnegie Foundation recognition of the Center for Community Engaged Learning (CEL) attribute.
- Leverage for graduates in applying to graduate school or for employment, by defining attributes on the back of transcripts and/or offering certificates or recognitions for completing a given number of courses. The scope of an attribute may be limited to courses within a specific department or college, or inclusive of courses across the University. A single course may not hold more than three attributes.

High Impact Educational Experiences

High Impact Educational Experiences promote student learning through curricular and co-curricular activities that are intentionally designed to foster active and integrative student engagement by utilizing multiple impact strategies.

Attribute	Abbreviation	Description
Community Engaged Learning	CEL	Students will engage in meaningful community engagement that is connected to their specific course's academic objectives. CEL Website
Course Based Research	CRE	Students will engage in a significant research, scholarly, or creative works experience as a major component of this course. CRE Website
Internship	INT	Students will spend the bulk of their time engaging with industry professionals in experiential learning. INT Website
Sustainability	SUS	Students will concentrate on sustainability, including its social, economic, and environmental dimensions, or examine an issue or topic using sustainability as a lens. SUS Website
Global Learning	GLB	Students will develop global knowledge, global skills or global attitude as one of the learning outcomes/goals of the course. GLB Website

General Education

The purpose of the Weber State University General Education program is to provide students with foundational knowledge and intellectual tools that enhance and transcend their academic program of study. The big questions posed by General Education courses address significant issues about the world. General Education courses help students apply their learning and develop personal and social responsibility, which is demonstrated through signature assignments. More information is available in the Catalog's General Education Requirements and the General Education website.

Attribute	Abbreviation	Description
Composition	EN1	Students will develop practices of successful academic writing that will serve as a foundation for continued writing experiences across the curriculum. Students will focus on the writing process, writing for specific audiences, collaboration with peers, and on the interrelationship between reading and writing.
Composition	EN2	Students will focus on writing arguments, conducting library research, and documenting sources, practices which serve as a foundation for continued writing experiences across the curriculum. Students will further develop practices of successful academic writing introduced in EN1 courses, including the writing process, writing for specific audiences, and collaboration with peers.
American Institutions	AI	Students will demonstrate reasonable understanding of the history, principles, form of government, and economic system of the United States. Students will use primary documents, engage in a diversity of viewpoints, as well as interpret, communicate and integrate information about historical, political, and economic systems.

Quantitative Literacy	QL	Students will demonstrate quantitative reasoning skills beyond those found within required high school Mathematics courses and at an appropriate introductory university level. Students will focus on interpretation, representation, calculation, application/analysis, assumption, communication, and creation of quantitative evidence.
Information Literacy	IL	Students will learn the Library and Web research skills needed for success in college and for lifelong learning.
Diversity	DV	Students will engage with human diversity/multiculturalism that is directly relevant to present-day society in a course that is comparative in nature (multi-cultural or cross-population), treats multiple aspects of diversity and/or culture (such as race, gender, age, class, etc.) in a single area of study, or is specific to a particular group of people or culture that is not present or is under-represented in the general social-economic-political framework of the United States.
Humanities	HU	Students will derive evidence from primary sources regarding the complexities and changes in human experience through analytical reading and critical thought; describe how human experience is shaped by social, cultural, linguistic, and/or historical circumstances; demonstrate attentiveness to linguistic, visual, and/or audio texts when communicating meaning/ or use appropriate verbal, perceptual, or imaginative skills when organizing meanings, developing a sense of self, and balancing potentially disparate values.
Creative Arts	CA	Students will discuss the scope and variety of the fine arts; recognize the aesthetic standards used in making critical judgments in various artistic fields; analyze and articulate understanding of a range of artistic processes; participate in an introductory performance, production or design experience in the arts; or demonstrate how the creative process is informed and limited by social and historical contexts.
Social Sciences	SS	Students will demonstrate understanding of social and behavioral science methods, concepts, and theories; formulate basic questions about social behavior and phenomena through interpretive and systematic analyses; develop empirically-derived and theoretically-informed explanations of human behavior in both its individual and collective dimensions; or demonstrate a critically-reasoned understanding of social patterns and individual variation congruent with and divergent from those patterns.
Physical Sciences	PS	Students will demonstrate understanding of science as a way of knowing about the physical world, demonstrate understanding of forces in the physical world, discuss the flow of matter and energy through systems; develop evidence-based arguments regarding the effect of human activity on the Earth; or describe how the Physical Sciences have shaped and been shaped by historical, ethical, and social contexts.
Life Sciences	LS	Students will demonstrate understanding of science as a way of knowing about the natural world; demonstrate basic understanding of how organisms live, grow, respond to their environment, and reproduce; discuss the organization and flow of matter and energy through biological systems; explain from evidence patterns of inheritance, structural unity, adaptation, and diversity of life on Earth; or describe how the Life Sciences have shaped and been shaped by historical, ethical, and social contexts.

Telitha E. Lindquist College of Arts & Humanities

Deboarh Uman, Dean

The Telitha E. Lindquist College of Arts & Humanities offers comprehensive programs encompassing the visual and performing arts, languages, literature, and communications. The programs of the College are designed to help students gain a thorough understanding of their cultural and aesthetic heritage and to prepare them for employment opportunities that will take advantage of the special skills developed through rigorous study of the arts and humanities. The educational and cultural programs of the departments are available to both major and non-major students.

The curriculum of the Telitha E. Lindquist College of Arts & Humanities is enriched by special lectures, exhibitions, dramatic and musical productions. Many nationally known artists perform each year before audiences drawn from the campus and the community.

Communication is a dynamic process that plays a complex and profound role in shaping both individuals and society and is vital to the free exchange of ideas central to a democratic society. The Weber State University Department of Communication seeks to promote an understanding of this process and the effective and ethical practice of human communication by focusing on how people create and use messages to generate meanings within and across various contexts, cultures, channels and media, including those delivered through technology. WSU Communication Department curricula and programs are grounded within a liberal arts tradition and are designed to help students live vital and successful lives in an ever-changing global environment.

The curriculum for the major is designed to provide a liberal arts-based study of human communication combined with a course of study that prepares graduates for entry-level employment in Communication and Communication-related careers. The major also prepares students for graduate study in Communication and related disciplines. The Department is committed to enhancing student learning through required internships and through co-curricular opportunities afforded by our award-winning student-operated organizations, including The Signpost, KWCR Wildcat Radio, Ogden Peak Communications, Studio 76, and Weber State Debate and Speech Team.

Communication majors may select one of six emphasis areas: Civic Advocacy, Digital Media, Interpersonal & Family Communication, Multimedia Journalism, Organizational Communication, and Public Relations & Advertising. They may also select a Communication Teaching major with emphases in Communication Studies or Multimedia Journalism. Students may earn the Communication major as either a Bachelor of Arts or a Bachelor of Science degree.

The Communication minor and the Bachelor of Integrated Studies concentration in Communication (BIS) are designed to provide students with knowledge and skills in Communication that complement the major or other concentrations of study.

The interdisciplinary associate's degree in Workplace Communication & Writing is a career-oriented program designed to prepare students for entry-level careers in many fields while also preparing students for bachelor's degrees in Communication. The Associate of Science in Communication is another two-year degree offered that benefits students from many professions where communication plays a critical role.

In addition to emphasizing knowledge, understanding, and demonstrated competence in the skills of human communication, curricular and co-curricular programs emphasize the development of character in students. Accordingly, department faculty discourage symbolic expression that demeans and degrades other human beings, and encourage symbolic expression that celebrates the fundamental dignity of all human beings.

Obsolete Credit

Credit earned more than 10 years earlier than the proposed date of graduation will not be accepted for the major, minor or BIS concentration in Communication unless validated through a challenge examination or department chair approval.

Co-curricular and Extra-curricular Activities

Scholarships, Fellowships, and Tuition Waivers

Scholarships and/or tuition waivers are available to WSU Policy Debate Speech Team competitors and to The Signpost, KWCR Wildcat Radio, Ogden Peak Communications, and Studio 76 staff members. Other academic scholarships are also available. Contact the department office at 801-626-6426 or visit the department website at weber.edu/communication for more information.

Professional and/or Honorary Organizations

Communication students are encouraged to join one or more of the professional and/or honorary organizations affiliated with the department. Memberships in these organizations provide students with opportunities to meet and network with Communication professionals, learn about employment opportunities in the field of Communication, and participate in practical experiences relevant to future employment. Professional organizations in Communication include:

Society of Professional Journalists (SPJ)

Public Relations Student Society of America (PRSSA)

Lambda Pi Eta Honor Society (LPH)

Weber State Debate and Speech Team

Participation in intercollegiate debate and speech team activities is conducted in conjunction with the instructional program in argument, public speaking, and civic advocacy. Students participate in debate and speech team tournaments under supervision of the program's directors. The Department of Communication hosts the annual Bob Mukai College Classic, the annual Val Browning Round Robin, and the state high school debate and speech championship. Policy debate is a two-on-two format, centering on a policy question derived from a resolution. Policy debate simultaneously challenges and improves student research, analytical, advocacy, and public speaking skills. Speech competition is a contest between individuals or teams in various argument and advocacy skills that can be used and applied across the educational spectrum. There are four main categories of competition: platform speaking, interpretive speaking, limited preparation, and individual debate.

Weber State Student Media

The Signpost

Multimedia Journalism students polish reporting, writing, and multimedia skills at The Signpost, Weber State University's student-run news organization. Content is disseminated online 24/7 and via newspaper two days a week.

KWCR Wildcat Radio

Students practice and develop their knowledge and resumes by joining Weber State's student-run, digital-streaming radio station KWCR Wildcat Radio. Student staffers gain experience in audio production, podcast creation, live broadcasting, public relations, live event planning, social campaigns, and seeking music promoters and sponsorship opportunities. KWCR streams music, local sports, news, and specialty programs on the MyWeberMedia app and the RadioFX app.

Studio 76

Studio 76 produces high-quality video content for campus and community organizations as well as creates multiple studio shows ranging from a weekly newscast produced for The Signpost to in-studio entertainment shows. Studio 76 also offers live-streaming services to many campus clubs and organizations. Content is shown online via MyWeberMedia.com or Studio 76's YouTube channel.

Ogden Peak Communications

Students run a public relations and advertising agency to apply the skills they have learned in the classroom. Ogden Peak Communications works with clients to develop content and campaigns. Students take on the same roles and responsibilities as PR professionals.

My Weber Media

Members of each student media co-curricular area collaborate through the My Weber Media Group and distribute media content on the converged media site MyWeberMedia.com. Students develop multimedia skills and learn about cross-promotion. The My Weber Media site contains news and views from The Signpost, video content from Studio 76, music and interviews from KWCR Wildcat Radio, as well as promotional material from Ogden Peak Communications. Additional content includes student films and live streaming of important events.

Interdisciplinary Associate's and Minor

The Communication Department participates in the interdisciplinary associate's degree in Workplace Communication and Writing (AA). Students who wish to enroll in this program should contact the Communication Department or one of the college advisors for the College of Arts & Humanities who will help them work out a schedule. The department also participates in the Linguistics Minor. Students who wish to enroll in this program should indicate their desire to do so with the program coordinator who will help them work out a proper combination of courses to fit their needs. (See the Engaged Learning, Honors, and Interdisciplinary Programs section of this catalog.)

Digital Media Production (AA)

- Grade Requirements: Institutional grade-point average of 2.0 or better.
- Credit Hour Requirements: The Associate of Arts in Digital Media Production is a specialized associate's degree consisting of a minimum of 61 semester credit hours with a minimum of 15 in Digital Media Production core with a cumulative grade-point average of 2.0 or better. The degree consists of a minimum of 37 credits of General Education classes paired with classes dedicated to professional and artistic expression via digital media, video or film, and 6 credits of Foreign Languages. This degree stacks with the bachelor's degree in Communication with a Digital Media emphasis OR with the interdisciplinary Film Studies bachelor's degree in the College of Arts & Humanities. In Communication classes, students obtain a theoretical perspective on digital media and go on to learn practical skills such as writing, producing audio and video content, performing on audio and video productions, and computer editing skills associated with content creation for the web, social media, film and other purposes. Students apply these skills in Communication classes associated with the converged media site, mywebermedia.com. Elective courses come from Art, Theater and Web. The culminating experience is a capstone course where students work on their resume, portfolio, and interviewing skills while becoming acquainted with the field of digital media and film production.
- Program Code: 3091AA
- CIPC: 090199

Advisement

Students are encouraged to meet with the academic advisor for the College of Arts & Humanities at least annually for course and program advisement.

Email cahadvisor@weber.edu for more information or to schedule an appointment.

Digital Media Production (AAS)

- Grade Requirements: Institutional grade-point average of 2.0 or better.
- Credit Hour Requirements: The Associate Applied Science in Digital Media Production is a specialized associate's degree consisting of a minimum of 64 semester credit hours with a minimum of 21 in Communication. The degree consists of a minimum of 18 credits of General Education classes (ENGL 1010, ENGL 2010, MATH QL, HU/CA, SS, PS/LS) paired with classes dedicated to professional and artistic expression via digital media, video or film. This degree stacks with the bachelor's degree in Communication with a Digital Media emphasis OR with the interdisciplinary Film Studies bachelor's degree in the College of Arts & Humanities. In Communication, students obtain a theoretical perspective on digital media and go on to learn practical skills such as writing, producing audio and video content, performing on audio and video productions, and computer editing skills associated with content creation for the web, social media, film and other purposes. Students apply these skills in Communication classes associated with the converged media site, mywebermedia.com. Elective courses come from Art, Theater and Web. The culminating experience is a capstone course where students work on their resume, portfolio, and interviewing skills while becoming acquainted with the field of digital media and film production.
- Program Code: 3091AAS
- CIPC: 090199

Advisement

Students are encouraged to meet with the academic advisor for the College of Arts & Humanities at least annually for course and program advisement. Email cahadvisor@weber.edu for more information or to schedule an appointment.

Organizational Communication Emphasis (45 credit hours)

An Organizational Communication emphasis provides students with a foundation employers seek-effective professional communication in the workplace.

Students must complete a minor approved by their advisor or select one of the following interdisciplinary tracks:

- Generalist: Does not specialize. The generalist has the communication skills and knowledge to lead groups and develop organizational strategies necessary for management. Rather than focus on the career areas of technical writing or training and development, the generalist combines organizational communication with expertise in a secondary subject of interest. Minors in disciplines such as Spanish, health administration, political science, psychology, or economics are a valuable combination with an Organizational Communication Generalist emphasis.
- Technical Writing: Synthesizes technical information into messages easily understood by a given audience. Technical writers produce organizational policy and training manuals, employee newsletters, brochures, grant applications, and annual reports.

- Training & Development: Conducts training needs assessments for diverse groups, designs workshops, writes training manuals, evaluates classroom technology and equipment needs, and evaluates training.

Organizational Communication Emphasis (45 credit hours)

An Organizational Communication emphasis provides students with a foundation employers seek-effective professional communication in the workplace.

Students must complete a minor approved by their advisor or select one of the following interdisciplinary tracks:

- Generalist: Does not specialize. The generalist has the communication skills and knowledge to lead groups and develop organizational strategies necessary for management. Rather than focus on the career areas of technical writing or training and development, the generalist combines organizational communication with expertise in a secondary subject of interest. Minors in disciplines such as Spanish, health administration, political science, psychology, or economics are a valuable combination with an Organizational Communication Generalist emphasis.
- Technical Writing: Synthesizes technical information into messages easily understood by a given audience. Technical writers produce organizational policy and training manuals, employee newsletters, brochures, grant applications, and annual reports.
- Training & Development: Conducts training needs assessments for diverse groups, designs workshops, writes training manuals, evaluates classroom technology and equipment needs, and evaluates training.

Department of English Language and Literature

Department Chair: Hal Crimmel

Location: Elizabeth Hall, Room 435

Telephone Contact: 801-626-6251

Professors: James Russell Burrows, Hal Crimmel, Becky Jo Gesteland, Siân Griffiths, Mark LeTourneau, Karen Marguerite Moloney, Scott Rogers, John Schwiebert, Sally Bishop Shigley, Mahalingam Subbiah, Mikel Vause, Michael Wutz; Associate Professors: Jason Barrett-Fox, Christy Call, Susan McKay, Julia Panko, Abraham Smith, Shelley Thomas; Assistant Professors: Courtney Craggett, Rebekah Cumpsty, David Hartwig, Emily Petersen, Ryan Ridge, Megan McDonald Van Deventer; Instructors: Toni Asay, Jan Hamer, Kyra Hudson, Clint Johnson, Brooke Kelly, Becky Marchant, Sylvia Newman, Eleanor Olson, José Otero, William Pollett, Laura Stott, Sarah Vause; Visiting Assistant Professor: Christopher Scheidler

The Department of English Language and Literature offers a broad spectrum of language, literature and writing courses. English majors and minors, English teaching majors and minors, English majors with professional and technical writing emphasis and professional and technical writing minors, and English majors with creative writing emphasis, in consultation with English department advisors, can select programs individually designed to satisfy academic requirements. Furthermore, students preparing for careers in law, medicine, business, public relations and government service may find departmental courses highly beneficial. The English Department has also designed courses for the general student in introductory and intermediate writing and creative writing.

Students transferring to Weber State as English majors, with most of their junior and senior status completed, are required to take a minimum of 9 upper division credit hours, minors a minimum of 6 upper division credit hours. This requirement also applies to transfer graduate students.

English Composition Requirement

Students seeking the Associate of Applied Science degree must pass ENGL 1010 or ENGL 1005 with a "C" grade (2.0) or better in order to satisfy the composition requirement. Students seeking any other degree must successfully complete ENGL 2010 with a grade of "C" or higher. Students placed in developmental English courses ENGL 0900 and ENGL 0955 must also pass those courses with grades of "C" or higher. Please note that English composition courses, whether developmental or not, are sequential and can not be taken out of numerical order.

Successful completion of ENGL 2015 or ENGL 2010 with a grade of C or better satisfies the University core requirement for Composition. Entrance into ENGL 2015 or ENGL 2010 can be accomplished in the following ways: 1) passing ENGL 1005 or ENGL 1010 with a grade of C or better, 2) passing the AP Language and Composition or Literature and Composition examination with a score of 3 or better, 3) achieving an ACT English and Reading score of 29 or better, 4) a CLEP with essay test with a score of 50 or better, or 5) articulated transfer credit from another regionally accredited college or university.

English Placement

Students are placed in the English developmental/composition sequence of courses either by ACT sub-scores or by Accuplacer scores. As of 2019, there is a new version. If you took the Accuplacer test prior to 2019, contact the Department of English for details.

ACT Sub-scores*	Accuplacer Scores	Course Placement
ACT English and Reading sub-score 29 or higher	Reading and Writing both 300	ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015
ACT English and Reading sub-scores both 17 or above	Writing scores both 250-299 or above	ENGL 1010 or ENGL 1005
Lowest ACT English or Reading score from 13-16	Lowest Reading or Writing score from 237-249	ENGL 0955 or ENGL 1005 or referred to the ESL office for non-native English speakers
Lowest ACT English or Reading score 12 or below	Both Reading and Writing score 236 or below	ENGL 0900 or referred to the ESL office for non-native English speakers

ACT scores in English and Reading expire after 4 years. ACCUPLACER scores expire after 48 months.*

International students who meet the University's TOEFL and IELTS requirements for admission are cleared to register for ENGL 1005 or ENGL 1010.

International students who do not meet the University's TOEFL or IELTS requirements for admission and resident students for whom English is a second language who score 89 or below on the Accuplacer Test are required to take the LEAP Placement Test and complete appropriate ESL courses according to the test results. ESL classes fulfill foreign language credit toward a BA and AA degree or elective credit toward a BS and AS degree. Refer to the Learning English for Academic Purposes (LEAP) section of this catalog.

Pathways for Completing your Composition Requirement

Your placement shows where you need to begin in one of these course sequences to fulfill your English Composition requirement:

- ENGL 0900 → ENGL 0955 → ENGL 1010 → ENGL 2010 or
- ENGL 0900 → ENGL 0955 → ENGL 1010 → ENGL 2015 or
- ENGL 0900 → ENGL 1005 → ENGL 2010 or
- ENGL 0900 → ENGL 1005 → ENGL 2015 or
- ESL courses → ENGL 1010 → ENGL 2010 (for non-native English speakers)
- ESL courses → ENGL 1010 → ENGL 2015 (for non-native English speakers)

Interdisciplinary Minors

The English Department participates in the Asian Studies, Environmental Studies and Linguistics Minor Programs. Students who wish to enroll in one of these programs should indicate their desire to do so with the program coordinator who will help them work out a proper combination of courses to fit their particular needs. (See the Engaged Learning, Honors, and Interdisciplinary Programs section of this catalog.)

Interdisciplinary Associate's

The English Language and Literature Department participates in the interdisciplinary associate's degree in Workplace Communication and Writing (AS). Students who wish to enroll in this program should contact the English Language and Literature Department or one of the college advisors for the College of Arts & Humanities who will help them work out a schedule.

The English Department offers Face-to-Face (F2F), Hybrid, and Online (OL) classes.

The following definitions are intended to help faculty and students understand the differences between Face-to-Face (F2F), Hybrid, and Online (OL) classes taught in the English Department.

1. If less than 15% of the class sessions are online, a course will be designated Face-to-Face (F2F)- the current default for courses.
2. If 30–70% of class sessions are conducted online, normally but not exclusively in Canvas, courses will be designated Hybrid. This is consistent with WSU Online's definition.
3. Classes that are 100% online will be defined as Online (OL).
4. Classes will be designated as F2F, Hybrid, or OL prior to the time the department finalizes schedules for any given semester. The designation may not be changed once registration has opened or during the semester except in the event of extenuating circumstances such as injury, illness or university closure; Department Chair approval is required.
5. Within the various categories (F2F, Hybrid, Online) the table below illustrates how many online class sessions students can expect in each category. This number is dependent on how often a class meets: once a week (mainly evening classes), twice a week (TR or MW), and three times a week (MWF):

	How Many Sessions May Be Online?
Course Scheduled As:	F2F (up to 15% online)	Hybrid (30-70% online)	Online (100% online)
1x/week: (14-15 classes/semester)	2 sessions, maximum	Minimum 4 / Maximum 10 sessions	100%
2x/week: (TR or MW: 30 classes/semester)	4-5 sessions, maximum	Minimum 9 / Maximum 21 sessions	100%
3x/week: (MWF: 42 classes/semester)	6 sessions, maximum	Minimum 13 / Maximum 30 sessions	100%

English (BIS)

The English Department participates in the BIS degree program. For an English concentration, students should take a minimum of 18 credit hours as approved by the English Department. Students may choose either a literature concentration or a writing concentration. BIS students must meet with the English Department Chair to design their English component.

The Bachelor of Integrated Studies (BIS) best suits the student who has developed a sense of his or her educational and life goals, and who is looking for ways to express those goals through an individualized university program. The BIS Program serves the needs of the student who wants to:

- create a specific academic program
- obtain a broad liberal education
- prepare for particular career goals and/or graduate school

To accomplish these general outcomes, the BIS student completes course work in three different disciplines. As a culminating experience, the student then synthesizes the three disciplines in a capstone project. For information about the requirements of the BIS Program, look at the BIS web site at weber.edu/bis/.

- Program Prerequisite: Enroll into the BIS Program with an interview with the BIS Program Coordinator. Call 626-7713 to talk with the BIS secretary and schedule an appointment.
- Grade Requirements: Receive a minimum grade of "C" (2.0) in each of the courses taken for the three emphases in addition to a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.5. Classes listed on the BIS contract must be taken for a letter grade; special exams, CLEP or credit/no credit are not allowed for contract classes.
- Program Code: 3022
- CIPC: 230101

English Minor

- Grade Requirements: A grade of 2.0 or better in all courses used toward the minor.
- Credit Hour Requirements: Minimum of 21 hours of English courses. ENGL 1010 and ENGL 2010 do not count toward an English minor, but ENGL 2010 is a pre-requisite for the required courses and should be taken early.

Department of Foreign Languages

Department Chair: Isabel Asensio

Location: Elizabeth Hall, Room 434

Telephone Contact: Sandy Thomas 801-626-6183

Professors: Isabel Asensio, Craig Bergeson, Thomas Mathews; Associate Professors: Diego Batista, Electra Fielding, Kacy Peckenpaugh, John Trimble; Assistant Professors: Youn Soo Goldstein, Vicente Iranzo, Aubrey Jones Kubiak; Visiting Assistant Professors: Cynthia Jones, Isabel Meusen; Instructors: Tomono Adachi, Chantal Esquivias

The Department of Foreign Languages promotes global awareness and intercultural understanding by providing instruction and study abroad opportunities in various languages. We prepare majors and minors to function effectively in a foreign language by offering courses in literature, culture, linguistics, pedagogy and language for professional purposes.

A bachelor of arts degree is offered. Students may select a regular major, a teaching major or a major with a commercial emphasis in French, German or Spanish. Regular and teaching minors are offered in these three languages as well. In addition, a Japanese minor is offered, and the department participates in Asian Studies, European Studies and Latin American Studies minors and in a departmental Honors Program. A language emphasis for the BIS degree requires a minimum of 18 hours, 15 of which must be upper-division course work. Courses in other languages may be offered as need and resources allow. The curriculum is based on the National Standards for measuring proficiency. Each course is designed to foster linguistic skills and to increase the student's ability to participate in the culture.

Foreign Language Requirement for the Bachelor of Arts Degree

The Bachelor of Arts degree includes a foreign language or ASL (American Sign Language) requirement which may be met by one of the following:

1. Documentation of a proficiency level of "Intermediate Low" or better through an examination administered by the WSU Foreign Language Department or through an examination by a recognized testing agency.

2. Completion of WSU foreign language course ASL 2020 or CHNS 2020 or FRCH 2020 or GRMN 2020 or ITLN 2020 or JPNS 2020 or PTGS 2020 or SPAN 2020 with a grade of "C" or higher, or comparable transfer credit.
3. Completion of any upper-division WSU foreign language course with a grade of "C" or higher, or comparable transfer credit.
4. Students for whom English is a second language may meet the BA foreign language requirement by verifying their proficiency in their native (non-English) language in cooperation with the Foreign Language Department and verifying their proficiency in English as a Second language by passing the ESL Special Examination.
5. Documentation of a minimum proficiency level in American Sign Language through an examination administered by the American Sign Language/Interpreting program at Salt Lake Community College (SLCC). The signer must "produce and maintain American Sign Language with continuity and precision."
6. Completion of SLCC's American Sign Language Course ASL 1050 with a grade of "C" or higher, or comparable transfer credit.
7. Completion of twelve semester-hours of foreign language.

Obtaining Foreign Language Credit for Prior Language Experience

Students with prior language experience may obtain lower-division foreign language credit by completing one of the following options:

1. Students may obtain credit for 1010, 1020, 2010 and 2020 by passing a higher numbered course with a minimum grade of "C"
2. Students may obtain credit for 1010, 1020, 2010 and 2021 through examination, but only in those languages in which the Department of Foreign Languages has expertise (usually limited to French, German, Japanese and Spanish). This examination is administered regularly by the department. Credit for Humanities General Education (2020) cannot be obtained through examination.

Upon payment of a nominal fee, hours earned through either option are recorded as "credit" on the transcript and do not affect the student's GPA. The department may accept results from other foreign language testing agencies as evidence of proficiency. Application for credit is to be made at the office of the Department of Foreign Languages.

Generally, students may not earn lower-division foreign language credit for proficiency in their native language. If a student's second language is English, then English may fill the BA foreign language requirement (see specific BA-major department advisors).

Interdisciplinary Minors

The Foreign Languages Department participates in the Asian Studies, European Studies, Linguistics, and Latin American Studies Minor Programs. Students who wish to enroll in one of these programs should indicate their desire to do so with the program coordinator who will help them work out a proper combination of courses to fit their particular needs. (See the Engaged Learning, Honors, and Interdisciplinary Programs section of this catalog.)

Oral Proficiency Requirements

The American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL) has defined a scale for the evaluation of the language proficiency of students. The ACTFL Proficiency scale has four levels: Novice, Intermediate, Advanced and Superior. The Department of Foreign Languages requires that students achieve a determined proficiency level, depending on the students' goals. In addition, instructors assume that students entering any class have acquired the entry-level proficiency indicated for that class. (These levels are indicated in parentheses by the description of each course. N=Novice; NH=Novice High; IL=Intermediate Low; IM=Intermediate Mid; IH=Intermediate High; AL=Advanced Low.)

Novice (N)

Students at this level have no experience in the language they are studying. They begin by learning the sound and spelling system and by memorizing words and phrases. During the course, they will progress to the point of being able to create simple sentences, to ask some questions, and to initiate, sustain and conclude simple social tasks more than half of the time.

Novice High (NH)

At the Novice-High level student's progress from the ability to respond simply with learned utterances to the ability to create language face-to-face, to ask and answer simple questions, and to create sentence-level constructions.

Intermediate Low (IL)

At the Intermediate-Low level students continue to build mastery of personal social-oriented informational tasks and move to a higher level by practicing informational tasks beyond the immediate and personal. Students will move from simple-sentence to more complex sentence-level discourse. They will practice narration, description and comparison, but mastery is not expected.

Intermediate Mid (IM)

Students at this level build on an ability to perform informational tasks beyond immediate and personal needs while they continue to practice narration, description and comparison. In addition, students begin practice in supporting opinions and hypothesizing in the language. They move from complex sentence-level structures to paragraph-level discourse.

Intermediate High (IH)

At this level students can function at the Advanced level most of the time. They still need practice narrating, describing and comparing, and Linking sentences together smoothly. In addition, they encounter more tasks that require them to support opinion and to hypothesize. Student's progress from complex sentences to paragraphs to extended discourse.

Advanced Low (AL)

Students at this level function at the Advanced level all or almost all of the time. Students have no difficulty with extended discourse, narration in all tenses and explanation. They are able to and use language both oral and written in complex and sophisticated ways.

American Sign Language (ASL) (AA)

An Associate of Arts with an American Sign Language (ASL) major will indicate that a student has completed all WSU AA degree requirements and the core curriculum required for the Bachelor of Arts in ASL. Department of Performing Arts

Chair: Dr. Jenny Kokai

Location: BC 331

Telephone Contact: Patty Coan 801-626-6437

Professors: Karen Bruestle, Tracy Callahan, Carey Campbell, David Feller, Mark Henderson, Thomas Priest, Amanda Sowerby, Erik Stern, Viktor Uzur, Shi-Hwa Wang, Yu-Jane Yang, Catherine Zublin; Associate

Professors: Tamara Goldbogen, Jessica Greenberg, Ralph van der Beek, Francisco de Galvez, Jennifer Kokai;

Assistant Professors: Joseph Blake, Daniel Jonas, Andrew Lewis, Cully Long, Shijun Wang; Visiting Assistant

Professor: Kenneth Plain; Instructor: Sam Bryson

The Department of Performing Arts at Weber State is based on five primary purposes: 1) to develop aesthetically aware and artistically discriminating citizens; 2) to provide opportunities for all students to participate in creative, artistic experiences and to encourage community members to participate in the performing arts; 3) to develop artistic competence and sensitivity; 4) to provide for career development in the arts through the preparation of teachers, performing artists, scholars, and technical specialists; and 5) to expose students and community to classic and contemporary works in all genres of the performing arts and to continue to provide the finest possible performances in the arts.

The department's degree programs prepare students for professional careers in teaching and performance as well as in technical specialties while providing the liberal arts background necessary for graduate study. In the department's Performing Arts Series, students and faculty participate in professionally produced dance, musical, and theatrical events.

Dance Area

The primary goals of the Dance area of the Department of Performing Arts are:

1. To develop aesthetically aware and artistically discriminating citizens;
2. To promote cultural understanding of ourselves and others through the study of dance;
3. To encourage appreciation of dance through critical thinking;
4. To engage the community in a range of dance experiences;

5. To foster an understanding of and engagement in the creative process through dance performance, improvisation, choreography, pedagogical studies, technology, and collaborative endeavors;
6. To provide the guidance, class work, and experience necessary to prepare teachers, performing artists, and scholars;
7. To prepare students for careers or advanced study that require creativity, collaboration, and an understanding of the human experience as explored in the study of dance;
8. To provide rigorous dance training.

Two majors are offered: 1) a Bachelor of Arts in Dance, with a focus on creativity in performance and choreography; and 2) a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science in Dance Education, with a focus on education and pedagogy. Dance majors follow a program based on growth beginning with foundational theory courses, technique courses appropriate to each dancer's ability, and a culminating senior project.

Dance Education majors follow a program based in the knowledge and understanding of dance education in relation to secondary education and/or studio teaching, focusing on pedagogy, choreography, history, and performance. The Dance Education major prepares students to be teachers of dance in the public sector, private sector, and non-profit environments. In addition, Education majors seeking secondary certification must satisfy all requirements for the Licensure Program as outlined by the Jerry and Vickie Moyes College of Education (including a minimum GPA of 3.0 for admission to the Education Program).

Two minors are offered: 1) Dance, with a focus on performance and choreography; and 2) Dance Teaching. Dance minors follow a program that provides for study in technique, creative and theoretical coursework. A minimum of eighteen (18) credit hours (GPA of 2.25 or better) must be completed in the Dance Area courses.

Dance Teaching minors must complete a minimum of eighteen (17-18) credit hours (GPA of 2.25 or better) from the Dance Area courses. This program is comprised of a dance teaching core (7-8 hours), dance history, technique in ballet and modern dance, additional dance forms and creative work. In addition, teaching minors seeking secondary certification must satisfy all requirements for the Licensure Program as outlined by the Jerry and Vickie Moyes College of Education (including a minimum GPA of 3.0 for admission to the Education Program). Dance teaching minors are strongly encouraged to select teaching majors in subject areas that are needed in Utah secondary schools.

Performance Opportunities

Orchesis Dance Theatre provides performance and production opportunities for qualified students who demonstrate technical abilities in dance. The company's activities include on-campus and dance festival concerts. Its repertoire consists of traditional and experimental modern dances, contemporary ballets, and theatrical and performance works choreographed/directed by dance faculty, students, and well-known artists. Auditions are required for performances sponsored by Orchesis. WSU Moving Company is the Dance Area's outreach program, which provides further performance, production and teaching opportunities. Significant dance works and lecture demonstrations are performed; teaching residencies are implemented in the public schools and for campus and community organizations.

School of Music

The School of Music is an accredited member of the National Association of Schools of Music. Programs leading to the Bachelor of Music degree are offered for students seeking emphases in performance, keyboard pedagogy, stringed instrument pedagogy, vocal pedagogy, or music education. Additional programs include the Bachelor of Arts in music, Bachelor of Integrated Studies, Minor in Music Performance, Music Studies Minor, Sound Production/Recording Minor, Certificate of Proficiency in Jazz Studies and Certificate of Proficiency in Music Entrepreneurship.

The primary goals of the School of Music are: 1) To develop individuals who are aware, artistically discriminating, and devoted to a lifelong association with music; 2) To provide opportunities for students and community members to participate in creative musical experiences; 3) To develop musical competence, sensitivity, and purpose; 4) To expose students and community to classic and contemporary musical works, and to provide the finest possible performances; 5) To provide for career development in music through the preparation of teachers, performers, and scholars.

Policies and Procedures

The following policies are subject to change. For current information, see the latest Performing Arts | School of Music student handbook and make an appointment with a music area advisor.

Freshman Registration and the Music Core

All freshman music majors and minors entering WSU as full-time students should register for the following courses: MUSC 1006, MUSC 1110, MUSC 1130, MUSC 1150, MUSC 1901, MUSC 1681 or MUSC 1682, and large ensemble. Piano Pedagogy and Piano Performance majors do not register for MUSC 1150.

General Policies and Performance Requirements

1. All entering music majors and minors, including transfer students, must audition with the respective program faculty for admittance to that program.
2. A $445 Applied Music Fee is charged to music majors and minors for instrumental or vocal lessons. These lessons are 45 minutes in length and require attendance at a weekly master class. These lessons may be taken for one or two credit hours. There is also an option for two 45 minute lessons each week for two credit hours plus master class attendance and a research paper or project. The fee is $890.
3. A $320 Applied Music Fee is charged to students registering as non-music majors or minors. These lessons are 30 minutes in length and may not be used as credit for music majors or minors in their primary performance area. A limited number of slots are available for students registering in this category.
4. All music education, vocal, keyboard and string pedagogy majors should consult with the latest student handbook, and their major advisor.

Schedule for Performance Evaluations (Juries)

1. Performance evaluations will be regularly conducted and scheduled:
 1. At the end of Fall and Spring semesters.
 2. By special request for evaluation during the year upon agreement of the student, the teacher and the committee. All special requests must be scheduled through the area head.

2. All music majors and minors must take performance evaluations each semester. Performance evaluations are required until completion of the student's final recital as stipulated by the degree program.
3. Students completing a junior or senior recital are excused from that performance area's performance evaluation the semester in which the recital is completed.

Procedures for Performance Evaluation (Juries)

1. All incoming music majors and minors and all transfer students and current students who change their major or minor to music subsequent to their initial enrollment at Weber State University will enroll at the 1000 level of private instruction.
2. A student may be placed in a higher competency level at the completion of any evaluation. A student will not be permitted to progress to the 3000 level until they have met with their major advisor. The advisor will review the student's graduation progress and determine whether it is in the student's best interest to move to the 3000 level.
3. Student admittance to each competency level is granted only by general consent of the area faculty upon satisfactory completion of a performance level evaluation appropriate to that level.
4. Refusal by the appropriate area faculty to allow admittance to the next level may be appealed by the student provided there is consent of the private teacher.
 1. This appeal should be made directly to the area head, who will in turn consult with the faculty regarding a repeat performance evaluation.
 2. Only one appeal will be accepted at each performance evaluation.
5. More than three (3) semesters of study at any one competency level due to lack of improvement on the part of the student will be cause for a recommendation from the appropriate faculty that the student not continue as a music major or minor.
6. Failure to attend proficiency evaluations will result in a grade of "E" being given for the private lesson during that semester.

Recital Performance

1. All Bachelor of Music and Bachelor of Music Education students must participate in at least one general student recital or master class per semester. This should normally be a solo appearance, but this determination is left to the discretion of the applied music teacher.
2. All music majors except those in the Bachelor of Arts and pedagogy programs, must present a half-hour formal junior recital upon reaching the 3000 competency level. All music performance minors must present a half-hour formal junior recital upon reaching the 3000 competency level. The student must register for MUSC 3991 during the semester the recital will be presented.
3. All Bachelor of Music students must present a one-hour senior recital while at the 4000 competency level. The student must register for MUSC 4991 during the semester the recital will be presented.
4. Repertoire for the senior recital must not contain music performed on the junior recital. Completion of a senior recital will exempt a student from further proficiency level evaluations.
5. All students presenting a senior recital must perform that recital before a faculty review committee not less than two weeks prior to the recital date. The review committee will consist of the student's applied teacher, the appropriate area head, and one other music faculty member of the student's choice.
6. The review committee will be present at the public performance of the senior recital and will recommend pass/fail for the recital.
7. All students must complete a recital approval form for junior or senior recitals. The recital form must be completed and signed by the area head and applied teacher prior to scheduling any required faculty preview performance.
8. Failure to complete a junior or senior recital in the semester in which the student is registered for the recital will result in a grade of "E" for the recital.

Recital/Concert Attendance

All music majors and minors must attend 24 music area recitals, concerts, and/or community concert events per year while enrolled in applied music at the 1000 and 2000 level. Attendance reports are required for two years and are maintained in the music office. To receive credit for graduation, students enroll in MUSC 1006 for their first two semesters attending 12 recitals or concerts each semester and MUSC 2006 for their third and fourth semesters attending 12 recital or concerts each semester.

Music Major Foreign Language Requirement

The Bachelor of Music and Bachelor of Music Education with a Choral Emphasis degree requirement is for two semesters of foreign language chosen from French, German, Italian, and Spanish. The requirement may be satisfied by taking two semesters of the same language, or one semester each of two different languages.

For the Bachelor of Arts in Music, please see Language Courses Required to fulfill the BA listed under the major requirements.

Bachelor of Integrated Studies

Students declaring an emphasis in music as one of their three BIS concentrations must abide by all guidelines and stipulations detailed in the BIS student handbook.

Courses taken in fulfillment of the music area emphasis must total a minimum of 18 credit hours and will be determined in consultation with the music BIS. These courses should directly and demonstratively contribute to the goals set forth by the student in his/her approved BIS application.

The following courses, however, are required for all music BIS students:

- MUSC 1010 CA - Introduction to Music (3) *
- MUSC 1110 - Music Theory I (2)
- MUSC 1130 - Sight-Singing & Aural Skills I (1)
- MUSC 1120 - Music Theory II (2)
- MUSC 1140 - Sight-Singing & Aural Skills II (1)

Additionally, music BIS students must take at least one of the following:

- MUSC 1030 CA - Introduction to Jazz (3) *
- MUSC 1033 CA - Introduction to American Music (3) *
- MUSC 1035 CA - History of Rock and Roll (3) *
- MUSC 1040 CA/DV - Music of World Cultures (3) *
- MUSC 1043 HU - Music, the Arts & Civilizations (3) *
- MUSC 1063 CA - Music in Religion (3) *
- THEA 1043 CA - Introduction to American Musical Theatre (3) *

 Please note that according to the BIS student handbook, courses taken in completion of the university General Education requirements will not count toward a BIS emphasis. In other words, "double-dipping" is not allowed.*

Theatre Arts Area

The Theatre Arts area of the Department of Performing Arts provides scholarly, creative, collaborative and practical theatre experience for students.

The objectives of the program are to: 1) Encourage participation in and appreciation of theatre and drama; 2) Foster creativity and develop technical skills in acting, directing, costuming, scenic design, script writing and theatre management; 3) Prepare students for careers or professional schooling in those fields that require strong presentational skills, creative problem solving, effective collaboration, and an understanding of human experience.

Theatre students must complete a sequence of formal course work that includes University general education, core theatre courses, and focus or specialty courses. Formal course work is complemented by a sequence of experiential learning opportunities in the theatre. Students and faculty develop individualized programs of course work and practical experience, including a junior seminar, annual juries, portfolio preparation, various practica, and opportunities for individual theatre projects.

Study of theatre provides students with useful tools to contribute to and make positive changes in society. Theatre students learn about diverse historical eras, communities and technologies. Theatre challenges students to be creative and to translate that creativity into applied processes - to think precisely, speak confidently in public, work productively with others, visualize abstract concepts and represent those concepts concretely. Theatre skills are useful in a variety of professions including, but not limited to, business, government, law, journalism, and public relations.

Major Requirements

The department offers a Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree in Musical Theatre, Theatre Arts, and Theatre Arts Teaching. A minimum of 62 course units (2.0 or better GPA) or courses in the combined areas of Dance, Music, and Theatre are required to qualify for the Musical Theatre Major. A minimum of 45 course units (2.0 or better) of Theatre Arts courses must be completed to qualify for either the Theatre Arts or Theatre Arts Teaching programs.

Teaching majors must also satisfy all requirements for the Licensure Program as outlined by the Department of Teacher Education.

A $350 Applied Music Fee is charged to Theatre Arts Area majors and minors enrolled in Individual Training in Stage Voice (THEA 4651). These lessons are 45 minutes in length. A limited number of slots are available for students registering for these lessons.

Performance Opportunities

Involvement in theatre productions is an important part of the Theatre program. The Weber State Theatre produces a full season of plays in the Austad, Allred and Eccles theatres of the state-of-the-art Val A. Browning Center for the Performing Arts. Theatre facilities include a variety of proscenium and flexible staging situations. Students are given first priority in all department productions.

The theatre season is offered by the Department of Performing Arts as part of the Performing Arts Series. Because the season is generously supported by the Associated Students of Weber State through student fees, students receive substantial discounts for performances.

In addition to performance opportunities at Weber State, theatre majors are encouraged to seek summer employment in stock or repertory companies relating to their interests.

Dance (AA)

An Associate of Arts with a Dance major will indicate that a student has completed all WSU AA degree requirements and the introductory classes required for the Bachelor of Arts in Dance. Students who have completed the AA degree may continue with intermediate and advanced coursework for the BA.

Sound Production/Recording (AS)

Sound Production/Recording is the art and science of capturing and editing music, sound, and dialog. The Associate of Science in Sound Production/Recording is a specialized two-year degree which offers students practical knowledge, training, and experience in a variety of production, recording, and performance applications.

In classes emphasizing hands-on learning with state-of-the-art equipment, students learn the skills needed to succeed as a music producer, recording technician, post-production designer, or other similar fields. Thus, students completing the degree will be well positioned to pursue a rewarding career in the vibrant and growing fields of recording, live sound, and music/post production.

Additionally, this Associate degree pairs well with a variety of majors, such as Music, Theatre, Film Studies, Communication, Creative Writing, Computer Science, and others, and serves as a valuable first degree for students continuing on to complete a Bachelor degree, as well as supporting students' own personal performance and production interests

- Credit Hour Requirements: The degree consists of a minimum of 37 credits of General Education classes and 23 hours of required sound technology courses.
- Grade Requirements: A grade of C or better (grades of C- are not acceptable) is required in all courses in the Sound Production/Recording program.
- Program Code:
- CIPC:

Advisement

Students are encouraged to meet with the academic advisor for the College of Arts & Humanities at least annually for course and program advisement.

Email cahadvisor@weber.edu for more information or to schedule an appointment.

Students should also meet regularly with advisors in the Sound Production/Recording program as they progress through the requirements for their Associate of Science degree.

Telephone Contact: Cynthia Kurien 801-626-6455

Professors: Matthew Choberka, Angelika Pagel, K Stevenson, Joshua Winegar; Associate Professors: Larry Clarkson, Paul Crow, Jason Manley, Molly Morin, Stephen Wolochowicz; Assistant Professors: Micah Bauer, Maria del Mar Gonzalez, Dianna Huxhold, Taylor Klover;

Instructors: Lauren Bennett, Levi Jackson

Our world is partially understood through smell, taste, sound, and touch. But perhaps most of all we make sense of our environment through what we see. The art, architecture, mass media and even the furniture in our spaces bear distinct messages that influence our decisions and enrich life.

Creative processes are exciting. Students of art and design contribute new expression to the vitality of our visual environment and learn to interpret what is seen through trained observation. Innovative thinking is absolutely necessary for success and must be balanced against research and critical judgment. Emphasis is placed on writing and the critical evaluation of artistic products. Students gain experience at preparing exhibits and portfolios for eventual professional activity.

Studies in art and art history offer windows of understanding to other cultures, both past and present. This is one of our primary concerns in preparing citizens for productive relations in an increasingly multicultural society.

Seventy-eight different courses are offered by the Department of Visual Arts. These span traditional areas such as art history, art education, ceramics, drawing, small metals/jewelry, painting, photography, printmaking, sculpture, and visual communication. The department is continually expanding into emerging modes of expression involving digital video, digital photography, animation, interactive design, and sound. Classes are enhanced by public lectures, seminars, workshops and special sessions by critics, historians, and visiting artists.

Weber State University supports three Bachelor's degrees in the visual arts with specializations in most of the areas mentioned above. The Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees provide a broad liberal arts background, a solid base for many careers or further study. The Bachelor of Fine Arts degree is more professionally focused with high concentrations of studio art and art history. The BFA is for students who wish to move directly into professional work in art or design, or those who intend to pursue graduate study in the visual arts. Senior exhibitions are required for most Bachelor of Fine Arts majors.

The Elizabeth Dee Shaw Gallery exhibits art that exemplifies the ideas and values of the curriculum. This serves our students and the public interest as well. Exhibitions involving regional, national, and internationally recognized artists serve a vital role in the cultural life of the community. The Gallery organizes at least six exhibitions each year. All are free and open to the public.

Transfer of Credits

Transfer students must present an official transcript and a portfolio to petition course substitutions for visual arts program requirements. A minimum number of departmental residency hours is required for completion of degree programs: 19 credit hours for the BFA, 12 hours for BS and BA programs, 6 hours for minors.

The University requires students seeking a second baccalaureate degree to complete a full year in residence and a minimum of 30 total credit hours.

Studio Fees

Studio fees are required in most visual arts classes. Check the current course schedule for exact amounts.

Asian Studies Minor

The Department of Visual Arts participates in the Asian Studies Minor Program. Students who wish to enroll in this program should indicate their desire to do so with the program coordinator who will help them work out a proper combination of courses to fit their particular needs. (See the Interdisciplinary Programs section of this catalog.)

Art (AA)

An Associate of Arts with an Art major will indicate that a student has completed all WSU AA degree requirements and the Studio Foundations curriculum required for the Bachelor of Arts in Art. Students who have completed the AA degree may continue with intermediate and advanced coursework for the BA, and are eligible to apply for admission to the Bachelor of Fine Arts degree program (Graphic Design, Photography, Art Education, 2-dimensional Media, or 3-dimensional Media).

Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better in all courses (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable).

- Program Code: 3075AA
- CIPC: 500701

Advisement

Art majors are encouraged to meet with a departmental advisor at least annually for course and program advisement. Call 801-626-6762 for more information or to schedule an appointment.

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). There are no special admission or application requirements for this major.

Art (BFA)

The Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree is the professional studio-focused undergraduate degree in visual art and graphic design. The degree does not require a Minor, instead focusing on additional studio, art history, and capstone course requirements, making the BFA the preferred preparation for graduate study, and for students planning on careers as independent studio artists and designers. Select from the areas of emphasis listed below for detailed information on BFA admissions and additional program requirements.

Areas of Emphasis

Select one of the following areas of emphasis:

Four-year degree:

Art (BFA), 2D Media Emphasis (drawing, painting, printmaking)

Art (BFA), 3D Media Emphasis (ceramics, sculpture)

Art (BFA), Photography Emphasis

Art (BFA), Graphic Design Emphasis (graphic design in print/interactive media)

Five-year degree:

Art (BFA), Art Education Emphasis

Art (BFA), 2D Media Emphasis

- Program Prerequisite: Completion of Foundation courses with minimum grade requirements followed by mandatory advising (refer to the BFA Admission Requirements below).
- Minor: Not required.
- Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better in courses required for all majors and minors (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable). Also refer to the general grade requirements for graduation.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation. Of this total, 75 credit hours are required for the BFA degree. A total of 40 upper division credit hours is required by the university for graduation (courses numbered 3000 and above).
- Program Code: 3005BFA
- CIPC: 500706

Advisement

All Art majors and minors should interview with the department chair/advisor early in their course of study. Call the Department of Visual Arts at 801-626-6455 for more information or to schedule an appointment. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

BFA Admission Requirements

All Art majors must first declare a Major in General Art (program of study - see Enrollment Services and Information) with the department secretary. Once the five Foundation courses have been completed with a minimum grade of B- in each, students schedule a mandatory advising meeting with the department chair to declare their BFA major in one of the five studio areas of emphasis. After admittance, students plan their studio elective classes in consultation with the department chair and a faculty advisor from the chosen emphasis area.

Students who select the Art Education emphasis must satisfy the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Teacher Education department).

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Fine Arts requirements. The following Foundation/elective courses will also fulfill general education requirements in the creative arts category: ARTH 1090 and ARTH 1100.

Art (BFA), Art Education Emphasis

- Program Prerequisite: Completion of Foundation courses with minimum grade requirements followed by mandatory advising (refer to the BFA Admission Requirements below).
- Minor: Not required.
- Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better in courses required for all majors and minors (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable). Also refer to the general grade requirements for graduation.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation. Of this total, 75 credit hours are required for the BFA degree. A total of 40 upper division credit hours is required by the university for graduation (courses numbered 3000 and above).
- Program Code: 3062BFA
- CIPC: 131302

Advisement

All Art majors and minors should interview with the department chair/advisor early in their course of study. Call the Department of Visual Arts at 801-626-6455 for more information or to schedule an appointment. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

BFA Admission Requirements

All Art majors must first declare a Major in General Art (program of study - see Enrollment Services and Information) with the department secretary. Once the five Foundation courses have been completed with a minimum grade of B- in each, students schedule a mandatory advising meeting with the department chair to declare their BFA major in one of the five studio areas of emphasis. After admittance, students plan their studio elective classes in consultation with the department chair and a faculty advisor from the chosen emphasis area.

Students who select the Art Education emphasis must satisfy the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Teacher Education department).

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Fine Arts requirements. The following Foundation/elective courses will also fulfill general education requirements in the creative arts category: ARTH 1090 and ARTH 1100.

English Department Chair: Hal Crimmel
Program Director: David Hartwig, 801-626-7461
Location: Elizabeth Hall, Room 443
Telephone Contact: Kate Johnson, 801-626-7179

The Master of Arts in English program offers traditional graduate students and working adults advanced preparation in the study of English language and literature.

The curriculum is composed of 2 and 3 credit hour classes that fall into the following broad categories:

- American Literature
- British Literature
- Teacher Education
- World Literature
- Linguistics

Rhetoric and Writing Studies Graduate Certificate

This certificate will provide students with advanced training in Rhetoric and Writing Studies with an emphasis on the teaching of college-level composition.

- Grade Requirements: Students must receive a grade of B or better in every course.
- Credit Hour Requirements: The program of study consists of 12 credit hours. This includes 9 credit hours of required courses and a minimum of 3 credit hours of electives.
- Program Code: 3090GC
- CIPC:231304

Admission Requirements

Admission to the MENG program requires a bachelor's degree in English. Students with less English preparation may petition for conditional admission which may require that they take additional classes at the 5000-level for full matriculation.

Applicants must complete an online application. Criteria for acceptance into the program include:

- Undergraduate degree in English with a minimum GPA of 3.25 in the major (preferred)
- Submission of writing sample (4-8 pages)
- Transcripts from all institutions of higher education attended
- Three letters of recommendation from educational or professional references
- Interview with the program director or option coordinator

Additional Requirements for International Students

All international students and any applicants educated outside the United States must demonstrate proficiency in English. Those whose native language is not English must submit an official score from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) of 550 (paper-based) or 213 (computer-based). Other appropriate tests may be used as an alternative to the TOEFL, such as IELTS and the WSU LEAP Special Examination. The score may not be more than two years old.

Other appropriate tests may be used as an alternative to the TOEFL, such as IELTS and the WSU LEAP Special Examination. The score may not be more than two years old.

Transfer Credits

- Transfer credit must be approved by the program director and cannot exceed 11 credit hours. Transfer classes must be at appropriate levels and fulfill the objectives of the Master of Arts in English degree at WSU. No courses for which credit was used to fulfill requirements of another degree may be used toward the Master of Arts in English degree.

Obsolete Credits

- Credit earned more than ten (10) years earlier than the proposed date of graduation will not be accepted for the MA degree unless approved by the program director.

Graduation Requirements

- Credit hour requirements are determined within the option. A minimum of 24 credit hours at the 6000-level and a minimum of 33 total credit hours are required in the program. Students must complete all requirements in one of the options.
- Grades of B- or better in all courses counting toward the degree.
- Students with a BS degree must show foreign language competency either by completing six hours of a foreign language class with a grade of C (or better) or by passing a prescribed foreign language reading test.
- Students not completing a thesis will be required to submit a portfolio of their work to the program for assessment purposes.
- Program Code: 3056MENG
- CIPC: 230101

Time for Degree Completion

- MENG students must receive approval from the program director to register for more than nine (9) credit hours in a semester.
- MENG students have a maximum of six calendar years to complete their degree requirements, starting from the first semester during which the student has registered for and begun taking classes. Students who exceed this time limit may submit a letter of appeal to the program director to request an extension.
- Students who fail to enroll in program classes for three consecutive semesters (not including summers) must apply for readmission to the program.
- In order to ensure timely progress through the program, students are encouraged to consult with an advisor at least once a year.

A minimum of 16 credit hours will be required from MEd for licensure with additional credit in student teaching also required. Credit taken in the MEd Program will meet elective requirements for the 33 credit hour minimum in MENG.

TEACHING ENGLISH TO SPEAKERS OF OTHER LANGUAGES OPTION (TESOL)

All MENG students will be required to complete the Core Requirements as part of their degree.

TESOL Foundations

All of the following:

- MED 6250 - Second Language Acquisition: Theories and Implementation Credits: (3)
- MED 6270 - Literacy Strategies for Teaching English Language Learners Credits: (3)
- MENG 6005 - Intercultural Classroom Discourse Credits: (3)
- MENG 6280 - TESOL Practicum Credits: (1)
- MENG 6410 - Strategies and Methodology of Teaching ESL/Bilingual Credits: (3)
- MENG 6420 - English Phonology and Syntax for ESL/Bilingual Teachers Credits: (3)
- MENG 6450 - ESL/Bilingual Assessment: Theory, Methods, and Practices Credits: (3)

Electives

Elective courses may be taken to fulfill the minimum 33 credit hours required to graduate.

Master of Professional Communication Program

Program Director: Dr. Sarah Steimel, 801-626-6535
Telephone Contact: Lisa Arner, 801-626-7499
E-mail Contact: mpc@weber.edu
Location: Elizabeth Hall, north end of third floor
Department Chair: Dr. Anne Bialowas

The Master of Professional Communication (MPC) degree emphasizes advanced communication knowledge and skills necessary to produce effective leaders, managers, and organizational members in for-profit, government or non-profit organizations. Students develop a plan of study tailored to their personal career goals through a combination of required and elective courses within the field of communication and in related fields such as business, education, and health professions. Courses in the two-year program blend classroom instruction with online educational tools to accommodate the educational needs of working professionals.

Master of Professional Communication (MPC)

Admission Requirements

Applicants for admission into the WSU Master of Professional Communication program must possess a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution (or be in the final stage of completing the degree) and have a minimum GPA of 3.0. Each applicant is evaluated holistically based on program admission requirements. Ideal applicants will present a strong overall academic record, positive letters of recommendation, and a record of professional accomplishment. An ideal class will consist of working professionals with a wide variety of backgrounds.

Applicants will submit:

- Completed application with personal essay
- Current resume
- Official transcripts from every institution of higher education attended (transcript must show that the bachelor's degree has been completed).
- Three letters of academic and/or professional recommendation

Additional Admission Requirements for International Students

All international students and any applicants educated outside the United States must demonstrate proficiency in English. Those whose native language is not English must submit an official score from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) of 550 (paper-based) or 213 (computer-based). The score may not be more than two years old. Equivalent IELTS score is also accepted in place of TOEFL.

Elective Courses from Other Universities

Related graduate-level courses from other universities may be accepted with permission of the MPC program director.

Transfer Credit

Transfer credit must be approved by the program director and cannot exceed 12 hours. Transfer classes must be at an appropriate level and fulfill the objectives of the MPC. No courses for which credit was used to fulfill requirements of another degree may be used toward the MPC degree.

Grade Requirements

To earn the MPC degree, candidates must complete all graduate courses with a grade of B- or higher. The overall program GPA must be 3.0 or higher. Failure to maintain a 3.0 grade point average, or two consecutive course sessions where a grade lower than B- has been earned, will result in academic probation in accordance with departmental policies.

Graduation Requirements

1. 33 credit hours, at least 30 at the 6000-level.
2. Overall GPA of at least 3.0.

Time for Degree Completion

MPC students must receive approval from the program director to register for more than nine (9) credit hours in a semester.

MPC students have a maximum of six calendar years to complete their degree requirements, starting from the first semester during which the student has registered and begun taking classes. Students who exceed this requirement may submit a letter of appeal to the MPC director to request that this requirement be waived. Students who fail to enroll in MPC courses for three consecutive semesters must apply for readmission to the program unless a deferment is approved by the program director. In order to ensure timely progress through the program, students must consult with an MPC advisor every Fall Semester. Students on the thesis/project track who, for any reason, do not finish their thesis or project or program of courses within the two-year framework suggested in this program, must pay continuing enrollment and tuition the semester they defend their thesis or project.

- MPC 6450 - Advanced Organizational Communication Credits: (3)
- MPC 6600 - Strategic Communication Credits: (3)

Electives (9 credit hours)

Students may choose the thesis track, project track OR the coursework track

Thesis

- MPC 6900 - Thesis/Project I Credits: (3)
- MPC 6950 - Thesis/Project II Credits: (3)
- 3 credit hours of master's level electives, chosen in consultation with the MPC program director.

Project Track

- MPC 6900 - Thesis/Project I Credits: (3)
- 6 credit hours of master's level electives, chosen in consultation with the MPC program director.

Coursework Track

Choose nine credit hours of electives in consultation with the MPC program director.

- At least 6 credit hours must come from elective courses at the 6000 level.
- No more than 3 credit hours of dual designated MPC courses at the 5000 level.

Elective Master's-level Courses

6000-level Electives

- MPC 6250 - Interviewing Credits: (3)
 - MPC 6500 - Topics in Professional Communication Credits: (3)
 - MPC 6620 - Conflict Resolution and Mediation Credits: (3)
- Note: Students may also choose 6000-level courses from the list of core required courses above to count as electives.

Elective Interdisciplinary Courses

Students may select no more than two courses (or credit hours, whichever is reached first) from the following WSU master's program courses (with the permission of the appropriate MPC graduate program advisor and/or fulfillment of prerequisite courses). Interdisciplinary electives must be approved by the MPC program director.

- MBA 6140 - Marketing Management Credits: (3)
- MBA 6170 - Corporate Communications Credits: (3)
- MBA 6530 - E-Business Credits: (3)
- MBA 6540 - Negotiations Credits: (3)
- MED 6110 - Introduction to Classroom Management Credits: (3)
- MED 6120 - Advanced Classroom Management Credits: (3)

- MBA 6110 - Fundamentals of Ethical Leadership Credits: (3)
- MBA 6120 - Organizational Behavior Credits: (3)
- MBA 6440 - Strategic Leadership Credits: (3)
- MBA 6450 - Leadership Through People Skills Credits: (3)
- MBA 6580 - Project Management Credits: (3)
- MBA 6850 - Business Development and Entrepreneurship Credits: (3)
- MED 6220 - Current Problems in Education Credits: (3)
- MED 6230 - Instructional Technology for Teachers Credits: (3)
- MED 6380 - Values Education Credits: (3)

Dual-Designation or "Swing" Courses

The following dual designation courses are designed to fill gaps in the undergraduate preparation of students who wish to command the broadest understanding of professional communication. While the courses are accessible to students who have not taken the corresponding undergraduate courses, the graduate courses differ from undergraduate counterparts in demanding greater depth and breadth in all major aspects of each course such as reading, writing, presentation, projects, etc. Of the 9 elective credit hours in the Master of Professional Communication degree, only 3 may be 5000-level courses and must be approved by the MPC program director before registration.

- MPC 5080G - Intercultural Communication Credits: (3)
- MPC 5090G - Gender and Communication Credits: (3)
- MPC 5220G - Editing Credits: (3)
- MPC 5400G - Public Relations Media and Campaigns Credits: (3)
- MPC 5500G - Topics in Communication Credits: (1-3)
- MPC 5650G - Communication Law Credits: (3)
- MPC 5820G - Persuasive Communication Credits: (3)

Grade Appeal Procedures

The evaluation of student performance is recorded on the student's University transcript as part of the student's permanent record. The grade is determined by the faculty member responsible for the course and is based upon factors related to achievement of the course objectives. The grade is considered final unless an appropriate appeal is filed by the student. For the student who is dissatisfied with a grade and has reason to believe the grade issued is incorrect, the following appeal procedure is provided by the College and the University. Steps 1 and 2 of the process are considered informal appeals and are designed to provide an avenue for resolution without a formal hearing.

Within fourteen (14) days of the beginning of the following term, the student shall confer with the instructor who issued the grade and outline the reason/s why he or she believes the grade to be incorrect. (If the faculty member is unavailable, the student must contact the faculty member's chairperson within this same time period to request an extension of the time allowed for this step. Such permission must be obtained in writing.) Within seven (7) days of the student-faculty conference, the faculty member shall advise the student, in writing, of the outcome of the course grade review.

Step 2

If the student still considers the grade to be incorrect, the student may appeal the grade at the department level. This appeal must be in writing, must follow the procedures outlined in the College's Grade Appeal

Process document, and must be filed not later than seven (7) days from the date of the completion of step one. The College Grade Appeal Process document may be picked up from the department office or the office of the dean.

Step
3 If, after completion of step 2, the student is still dissatisfied, the student should consult with the University's due process officer and may request that the case be reviewed by a Weber State University hearing committee.

Exercise and Nutrition Sciences (ENS) in the Jerry & Vickie Moyes College of Education offers programs that teach skills and knowledge needed to maintain and enhance human performance and well-being through exercise, fitness, sport, and optimal nutrition. We offer undergraduate students exceptional educational experiences in a variety of teaching environments supported by faculty with diverse expertise. Our state-of-the-art facilities - including fully equipped laboratories (biomechanics, human performance, nutritional biochemistry, and foods), a networked computer lab, and ample indoor and outdoor fitness and activity arenas - provide outstanding areas for student instruction and research. With a curriculum designed to develop professional knowledge and skills, our graduates enter the workforce as fitness and nutrition professionals in a variety of educational, health and fitness settings, and are prepared to pursue graduate studies in their respective career fields.

Through instruction, scholarship and service, our department offers Bachelor of Science degrees in Exercise and Sport Science (Fitness Professional and Exercise Science emphases) and Nutrition Education (Integrative Nutrition and Sports Nutrition emphases) and a Nutrition Education minor. We also support the efforts of undergraduates seeking the Bachelor of Integrated Studies degree, offering Exercise Science and Nutrition Education and as emphases for the BIS Program.

Mission Statement

The Department of Exercise and Nutrition Sciences (ENS) supports and enhances the mission of the University through learning, access, and community partnerships in exercise and nutrition sciences. We provide effective instruction, exploratory research, and engaged service to prepare exercise, fitness, and nutrition professionals for the workforce and graduate studies and to promote optimal health, human performance, and overall well-being.

Exercise and Nutrition Science Departmental Honors

Please see weber.edu/honors/contracts.html for a list of current Departmental Honors contracts and Departmental Honors Advisors. For additional information about the Honors Program, please refer to the Honors Program section of the WSU Catalog.

Exercise and Sport Science (BS)

The Department of Exercise and Nutrition Sciences within the Moyes College of Education offers an undergraduate program in Exercise and Sport Science with two emphasis options: Fitness Professional and Exercise Science. Students may declare one or both emphases. The Exercise and Sport Science major program prepares students for a variety of career options, several national certifications, and for entering graduate and professional schools.

Graduates will have demonstrated competence and knowledge in anatomy, physiology, fitness assessment, kinesiology, biomechanics, exercise physiology, exercise programming and implementation, exercise leadership and client education, nutrition, health, strength and conditioning, weight lifting, aerobic activities, and more.

- Program Prerequisite: Not required.
- Minor: Not required.
- Grade Requirements: A GPA of 2.75 or higher in all courses required for this major. The overall GPA must be 2.00 or better. No more than one "D" is acceptable.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation; a total of 63 credit hours for this major. Ten to 11 credit hours of required support courses may be used as general education credit. A total of 40 upper division credit hours is required for graduation with 36-38 upper division hours possible within the required courses for this major.
- Program Code: 5049BS with one of the following emphasis codes Fitness Professional (5050) or Exercise Science (5051).
- CIPC: 310505

Advisement

All Exercise and Sport Science students are encouraged to meet with a faculty advisor or the department advisement coordinator each semester for course and program advisement. Call 801-626-6696 or email the ENS Department Advisor matthewsmith20@weber.edu for more information or to schedule an appointment. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Nutrition Education (BS)

The Department of Exercise and Nutrition Sciences within the Moyes College of Education offers an undergraduate program in Nutrition Education with two emphasis options: Sports Nutrition; and Integrative Nutrition. Students may declare one or both emphases. The Nutrition Education major program prepares students for a variety of career options and for graduate school to pursue advanced degrees.

The Sport's Nutrition Educator graduate will have demonstrated competence and knowledge in chemistry, anatomy, physiology, diet analysis and design, nutrition assessment, sports and fitness nutrition, diet therapy, lifespan nutrition, research, and related exercise science topics with cultural application and sensitivity for individuals and athletes. Information is provided for typical graduate Registered Dietitian Nutritionist (RDN) program pre-requisites. The prerequisites vary somewhat from one graduate program to another and it is the student's responsibility to ensure that all pre-professional courses fulfill entrance requirements.

Integrative nutrition includes nutrition as it intersects with other related fields to support health and wellbeing of individuals and groups. The Integrative Nutrition Educator graduate will have demonstrated competence and knowledge in diet analysis and design, fitness nutrition, lifespan nutrition, sustainable cooking, and related exercise science, health, child and family studies, botany, microbiology, physical education, recreation, and/or psychology topics with cultural application and sensitivity.

- Program Prerequisites: Not required.
- Minor: Not required.

Department of Child and Family Studies

Department Chair: Wei Qiu

Location: McKay Education Building, Room 204

Telephone Contact: Danielle Orozco 801-626-7151

Advisor: Darcy Gregg, 801-626-6411

Professors: Chloe Merrill, Wei Qiu, Paul Schvaneveldt;

Associate Professors: Mark Adams, Sheila Anderson, Teri Henke, Carrie Ota; Assistant Professors: Alex Collopy, Charles Dunn, Daniel Hubler, Keith Osai

The Department of Child and Family Studies offers a broad personal and professional education by providing majors in the following areas: Early Childhood (Bachelor's and Associate of Applied Science), Early Childhood Education, and Family Studies. Minors in Child Development and Family Studies are also offered. Child and Family Studies is also an area available for a Bachelor of Integrated Studies (BIS).

Learning is enhanced by the Melba S. Lehner Children's School where preschool laboratory experience is provided for practical application. Practical experience is built into all areas of study. Honors credit is available for students who desire greater depth. Preparation for graduate study can be pursued in any area represented in the department.

Child and Family Studies Department Policies

All Child and Family Studies courses must have been taken within the last 10 years to count towards major/minor requirements.

The Child and Family Studies Department will only accept two non-articulated transfer courses for the major/minor.

If a grade in a Child and Family Studies major/minor course does not meet the minimum requirement for graduation, the student may retake the course once. In special circumstances, by the judgment of the department chair, the student may petition the Family Studies or Early Childhood Committee, as appropriate, to graduate with the lower grade. The Retention & Referral Policy can be found at https://www.weber.edu/wsuiimages/chfam/CHF_Retention18.pdf.

All students with a major/minor in Child & Family Studies are strongly encouraged to contact the department academic advisor in McKay Education Building room 248 (801-626-6411) early in their academic career for advisement and declaration of a major and/or minor.

Students must undergo a background check and be fingerprinted for major and course requirements.

Early Childhood Laboratory

The Melba S. Lehner Children's School serves as an early childhood laboratory to give students practical experience in early childhood environments. Students must complete Child and Family Studies prerequisite major courses at a B-level or better and apply to the Director of the Melba S. Lehner Children's School two semesters prior to student teaching. Other practical experience can be arranged with a faculty advisor.

Double Major

Early Childhood and Elementary Education

Students wanting licensure in both Early Childhood Education and Elementary Education are encouraged to complete a double major. All course requirements must be completed for both majors, which include only one semester of student teaching EDUC 4840A/B INT - Student Teaching in Elementary Education and EDUC 4850 - Integrated Elementary Education Student Teaching Seminar and Synthesis. Students will complete the Early Childhood Education requirements. Please see the CHF department academic advisor for additional coursework and information.

Child and Family Studies (BIS)

- Grade Requirements: An overall GPA of 2.00 or C in courses used toward the emphasis. Students will receive the final grade they have earned in each course. If a grade in a Child & Family Studies major course does not meet the minimum requirement for graduation, the student may retake the course once. In special circumstances, by the judgment of the department chair, the student may petition to the Family Studies or Early Childhood Committee, as appropriate, to graduate with the lower grade.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 18 credit hours from Child and Family Studies to include 6 hours of required courses and 12 hours of electives. Two courses (6 credits) must be upper division (3000 level or above).
- Program Code: 5054
- CIPC: 190704

All Child and Family Studies courses must have been taken within the last 10 years to count towards major/minor requirements.

Required Courses (6 credit hours)

- CHF 1500 SS/DV - Human Development
Credits: (3) *
- CHF 2400 SS/DV - Family Relations Credits: (3)

Note:

 If taken for Social Science general education credit, CHF course (3 credits) must be added.*

Electives (minimum 12 credit hours)

Elective courses to be determined in conference with a department advisor.

- At least six credit hours must be upper-division (courses numbered 3000 and higher).

Child and Family Studies Departmental Honors

Please see <https://portalapps.weber.edu/honors/default.aspx> for a list of current Departmental Honors contracts and Departmental Honors Advisors. For additional information about the Honors Program, please refer to the Honors Program section of the WSU Catalog.

Child Development Minor

- Grade Requirements: A grade of C or better in courses used toward the minor.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 18 credit hours, of which at least 6 must be upper division courses (courses numbered 3000 and above). Students will receive the final grade they have earned in each course. If a grade in a minor course does not meet the minimum requirement for graduation, the student may retake the course once. In special circumstances, by the judgment of the department chair, the student may petition to the Family Studies or Early Childhood/Early Childhood Education Committee, as appropriate, to graduate with the lower grade.
- Program Code: 5001
- CIPC: 190706

To be allowed to work with children in the Melba S. Lehner Children's School for lab practicum, students must have clearance of criminal background check approved by the Utah Department of Health, Child Care Licensing Program. Look for more information on the Weber State University Fingerprinting Office website (www.weber.edu/fingerprinting).

- CHF 2620 - Planning Creative Experiences for Young Children Credits: (3) (lab required)

In addition

Students must complete an advisor-approved specialization of 15 hours or advisor-approved minor.

Early Childhood Education (BS)

The Departments of Child and Family Studies and Teacher Education offer a major in Early Childhood Education with certification for teaching in programs which serve children from birth through eight years of age (Pre-K through 3rd grade). Students preparing to teach a Pre-K early care and education program, Head Start, or a Kindergarten to 3rd grade classroom of a public school graduate with a major in Early Childhood Education. Early Childhood Education students meet the requirements of Elementary Education K-6 License Track with specialization in Early Childhood. They double major in both Early Childhood Education and Elementary Education and are eligible for receiving a second license to teach from kindergarten through 6th grade (K-6).

- Program Prerequisite: Students must have completed at least 36-38 credit hours of required prerequisite support courses and meet all other Teacher Education admission requirements. (See Department of Teacher Education in this catalog.)
- Minor: Not required. Early Childhood is the specialization.
- Grade Requirements: Early Childhood Education students must meet minimum major course grade requirements and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.00 or higher in all college work. Early Childhood Education students take two groups of required courses: Early Childhood Education courses and Elementary Education Professional Education Courses (Teacher Education Levels). Students must receive a grade of B- or better in all required Early Childhood Education courses. A grade of "B-" or better is required in all Teacher Education Professional Education courses. If a grade in an Early Childhood Education course does not meet the minimum requirement for graduation, the student may retake the course once. If the student retakes a course, the student will receive the grade earned in the second course attempt. In special circumstances, by the judgment of the department chair, the student may petition to the Early Childhood/Early Childhood Education Committee, as appropriate, to graduate with the lower grade. Early Childhood Education majors must also achieve at least a "C" grade in MATH 2010, MATH 2015, and MATH 2020.

- Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 120 credit hours is required for a bachelor's degree; 109-111 of these are required within the major.
- Program Code: 5002BS
- CIPC: 131210

Advisement

Students must follow the Department of Child and Family Studies Advisement procedures. Contact the department advisor located in the McKay Education Building, Room 248 (801-626-6411). (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Program of Study (Major/Minor) Declaration). Early Childhood Education majors must meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Department of Teacher Education).

To be allowed to work with children in the Melba S. Lehner Children's School for student teaching, students must have clearance of criminal background check approved by the Utah Department of Health, Child Care Licensing Program. Look for more information on the Weber State University Fingerprinting Office website (www.weber.edu/fingerprinting).

General Education

See Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. The following courses required for the Early Childhood Education major will also satisfy general education requirements: COMM HU 1020 or COMM HU CEL 2110, GEOG SS/DV 1300 OR GEOG SS/DV 1520, MATH QL 2020, and CHF SS/DV 1500.

Students pursuing a BS degree must take 9 credit hours, at least 3 credit hours from Life Sciences and at least 3 credit hours from Physical Sciences. One of the courses must be GEO PS 1350 (Principles of Earth Science), PHYS PS 1360 (Principles of Physical Science), BTNY LS 1370 (Principles of Life Science), or at least one science course with lab.

Major Course Requirements for BS Degree

Pre Core Course Required (3 credit hours)

Note: This course will satisfy a general education requirement.

- CHF 1500 SS/DV - Human Development Credits: (3)

Core Courses Required (30 credit hours)

- CHF 2500 - Development of the Child Credits: (3)
- CHF 2600 - Introduction to Early Childhood Education Credits: (3)
- CHF 2610 - Guidance Based on Developmental Theory Credits: (3)
- CHF 2620 - Planning Creative Experiences for Young Children Credits: (3) (Taken with Level 1 courses)
- CHF 3500 - Young Children at Risk Credits: (3) or
- EDUC 2010 CEL - Human Exceptionality Credits: (3)

- CHF 3640 - Working with Parents Credits: (3)
- CHF 4710 - Advanced Guidance and Planning for Early Childhood Education Credits: (1-3) ***
- CHF 4720 INT - Student Teaching in the Children's School Credits: (6) (6 credit hours required) *
- CHF 4990A - Seminar in Child Development Credits: (3)

Note:

*CHF 4710 and CHF 4720 are taken concurrently in fall or spring semester, typically between Level 1 and Level 2. Students are encouraged to apply two semesters prior to student teaching in the Melba S. Lehner Children's School.

Support Courses Required (24-25 credit hours)

- EDUC 1010 CEL - Exploring Teaching Credits: (3)

- COMM 1020 HU - Principles of Public Speaking Credits: (3) or
- COMM 2110 HU CEL - Interpersonal and Small Group Communication Credits: (3)

- GEOG 1300 SS/DV - Places and Peoples of the World Credits: (3) or
- GEOG 1520 SS/DV - Geography of the United States and Canada Credits: (3)

- MATH 2010 - Arithmetic for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3)
- MATH 2015 - Algebra for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3)
- MATH 2020 QL - Geometry for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3)
- ENGL 3300 - Children's Literature Credits: (3)

At least one course from the following:

- ART 1030 CA - Studio Art for the Non-Art Major Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3430 - Creative Processes in the Elementary School Credits: (3)
- DANC 3640 INT - Teaching Creative Dance in the Elementary School Credits: (3)
- MUSC 3824 - Music for Elementary Teachers Credits: (4)
- THEA 4603 - Creative Drama Credits: (3)

Professional Education Courses Required (53 credit hours)

Admission to teacher education is required prior to enrollment in Professional Education courses. The Level course changes will begin Fall 2018 and will show up in Cattracks for the 2018-2019 catalog year.

Level 1 (11 credit hours)

- EDUC 3115 - Media Integration in Elementary Education Settings Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3120 - Reading Instruction in the Primary Grades Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3205 - Culturally and Linguistically Responsive Teaching Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3270 - Differentiation and Collaboration for Inclusive Teaching Credits: (3)
- CHF 2620 - Planning Creative Experiences for Young Children Credits: (3) ***

Note:

* Credits of CHF 2620 are counted under "Core Courses Required."

A Semester Between Level 1 and Level 2

- CHF 4710 - Advanced Guidance and Planning for Early Childhood Education Credits: (1-3) ***
- CHF 4720 INT - Student Teaching in the Children's School Credits: (6) ***
- CHF 4990A - Seminar in Child Development Credits: (3) ***

Note:

* Credits of CHF 4710, CHF 4720, and CHF 4990A are counted under "Core Courses Required." CHF 4990A may be taken concurrently with CHF 4710 and CHF 4720, or at a later time.

Level 2 (13 credit hours)

- EDUC 3100 - Instructional Planning & Assessment Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3210 INT - Elementary Level II Practicum Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3230 - Data Analysis for Elementary Teachers and Math Pedagogy Credits: (2)

- EDUC 4350 - Elementary Mathematics Pedagogy Credits: (2)
- PEP 3620 - Methods of Teaching Physical Education and Health for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3)

Level 4 (12 credit hours)

- EDUC 4840A/B INT - Student Teaching in Elementary Education Credits: (8)
- EDUC 4850 - Integrated Elementary Education Student Teaching Seminar and Synthesis Credits: (4)

Note:

The Professional Education component of the Early Childhood Education major requires four semesters to complete. Therefore, it is very important that candidates have completed the General Education requirements and have taken most of the required Support courses prior to entering the program. Because of the possible scheduling difficulties, failure to do so could mean spending an extra semester (or more) in completing the program.

Family Studies (BS)

- Program Prerequisite: (1) Complete the Pre-professional Core courses listed in the next column under Major Course Requirements; (2) Declare your Family Studies major with the department academic advisor; (3) Complete a background check and clearance (see Policy Notes).
- Minor: A minor is required.* Optional: In lieu of a minor, a specialization of 12-18 semester hours may be substituted as approved by the department advisor. Six of these hours must be upper division (courses numbered 3000 and above).
- Grade Requirements: A grade of C or better in courses required for this major (a grade of C- is not acceptable). Students will receive the final grade they have earned in each course. If a grade in a major course does not meet the minimum requirement for graduation, the student may retake the course once. In special circumstances, by the judgment of the department chair, the student may petition to the Family Studies or Early Childhood Committee, as appropriate, to graduate with the lower grade. Also refer to the grade requirements for graduation under General Requirements.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of at least 120 credit hours is required for graduation; a minimum of 48 of these must be within the major. A total of 40 upper division credit hours is required by the University (courses numbered 3000 and above); 33 of these are required within the major.
- Program Code: 5003BS
- CIPC: 190704

Advisement

Students must follow the Department of Child and Family Studies Advisement procedures. Contact the department advisor located in McKay Education Building, Room 248 (801-626-6411). (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Program of Study (Major/Minor) Declaration). To be eligible for acceptance into and graduation from the Family Studies Program a candidate must:

1. Complete all of the Pre-professional Core courses listed under Course Requirements.
2. Declare the Family Studies major with the department academic advisor.
3. Complete a background check and clearance (see Policy Notes).

Policy Notes

Since students majoring in Family Studies will be working with families and children, the State of Utah requires a background check and clearance. Applicants must be fingerprinted and complete a background check before being fully accepted into the program. A handout available from the department secretary explains the procedure and nominal expenses. Background checks require up to eight weeks and should be completed, or in progress, at the time Family Studies Program courses are begun. See the department secretary for further details.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements.

 Family Studies students may combine their major with either a minor or a dual major. Consult with an advisor when designing a dual major. Minors may be selected from department minor offerings across campus. Typical minors include Psychology, Sociology, Gerontology, Social Work, Communications, and/or Business. A minor should be designed to best support personal goals or career directions.*

The Family Studies program fulfills the requirements for provisional certification as a Family Life Educator, available by application and paid fee to the National Council on Family Relations. Full certification requires two years of paid professional experience in addition to the Family Studies degree. Provisional certification allows five years to complete the two-year requirement.

The Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation (HPER) in the Jerry and Vickie Moyes College of Education offers programs that promote lifelong wellness from a variety of disciplines. The teaching environment, supported by faculty with diverse expertise, creates quality learning communities that offer undergraduates exceptional educational experiences. The state-of-the-art facilities - including 6-lane swimming pool, ample indoor and outdoor recreational, fitness, sport and activity areas, and indoor climbing wall - provide an outstanding arena for student instruction. With a curriculum designed to develop professional knowledge and skills, graduates from the department are prepared to work in a variety of educational, health and recreational settings.

Through instruction, scholarship and service, the department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation offers Bachelor of Science degrees in health promotion, outdoor and community recreation, and physical education. Minors include coaching sport, health promotion and health promotion teaching, physical education/coaching, and recreation. In addition, the department offers undergraduate and graduate programs for the department of teacher education, the master of education program, and supports Weber State University and community wellness related activities.

The department also supports the efforts of under graduates seeking the bachelor of integrated studies degree, offering health promotion, physical education/coaching, and recreation/leisure services as emphases for the BIS Program.

Mission Statement

The Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation inspires future professionals by providing high

Advisement

The Academic Advisor for the Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation (HPER), Brittini Strickland, assists HPER students with advisement prior to admission to the Health Promotion program, and through completion of their program of study. Brittini can be contacted by phone (801-626-7425), email (BrittiniStrickland@weber.edu) or online (through the Department Advisor Referral List) for more information or to schedule an appointment. Students also are encouraged to meet with program faculty for additional course and program advisement.

Admission Requirements

Before a student can be considered for the Health Promotion program, the following application requirements must be met:

1. Admission to Weber State University.
2. Completion of 25 credit hours with a minimum 2.50 Weber State University GPA. Of these 25 credits, the students must demonstrate completion of: HLTH 1030, and, HTHS 1110 or ZOOL 1020.
3. Grade "C" or better in all major coursework.
4. Declare your program of study with the HPER Academic Advisor.

Retention Requirements

1. After students are selected into the Health Promotion major, retention in the program will be based on the following criteria:
 1. Grade "C" or better in all major coursework.
 2. Students must maintain a GPA of 2.5 or higher in all courses required for this major.
2. Students who fail to meet the retention criteria will be placed on probation in the Health Promotion major for one semester. If standards are not met by the end of the probationary period, the student may be dismissed from the major at the discretion of the Program Director.
 1. Students who receive any grade below a "C" in a course counting toward the Health Promotion major must repeat that course and receive a grade of "C" or higher to remain in the major.
 2. Failure to repeat the course (when offered) will result in dismissal from the program at the discretion of the Program Director.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements.

Graduates of the program are eligible to sit for the Certified Health Education Specialist (CHES) examination with a minimum of 25 semester hours in health courses.

Outdoor Leadership (AAS)

This program is pending approval by the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities, which accredits WSU.

The Outdoor & Community Recreation Education (OCRE) program at Weber State University offers students the opportunity to develop the skills, abilities, and knowledge necessary for a career in the outdoor recreation industry. The expressed goal of the OCRE program is to prepare students to effectively utilize and leverage the recreation industry to promote personal growth, health and wellness, and economic and environmental sustainability. Upon completion of the program, students may pursue front-line and leadership positions in: outdoor retail, outdoor education and/or adventure centers; guiding/outfitting companies; not-for-profit and private camps; resorts, spas and wellness centers; state and national parks; campus recreation; therapeutic programs; youth development programs; municipal parks and recreation departments; and public and private education.

- Prerequisite: Before beginning this program, a student must see the department advisor in Swenson.
- Grade Requirements: A cumulative GPA of 2.75 and a grade of B- or better in required major courses. Students will receive the final grade they have earned in each course. If a grade in a major course does not meet the minimum requirement for graduation, the student may retake the course once. In special circumstances, by the judgment of the department chair, the student may petition to the Outdoor & Community Recreation committee, as appropriate, to graduate with the lower grade
- Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 63 credit hours is required for an associate of applied science degree; 45 of these credits are major requirements.
- Program Code: 5061AAS
- CIPC: 310601

Advisement

Students must follow the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation Advisement procedures. Contact the department advisor located in the Swenson building (also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List).

Use Grad MAPs to plan your degree

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Program of Study (Major/Minor) Declaration). Sign a Program of Study Contract with the Health, Physical Education and Recreation department. Contact the department advisor.

Physical Education (BS)

Physical Education Major

The Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation offers an undergraduate degree in Physical Education. The Physical Education Non-teaching Track is designed to prepare students to work in a physical activity venue. The Physical Education Teaching Track is designed to prepare students to teach physical education in a K-12 school system. A teaching minor is to be selected in addition to the teaching major to prepare students to enter the Teacher Education program and to become licensed to teach in a K-12 school system.

Physical Education Teaching Track students must meet all requirements for the Physical Education Teaching Track and those requirements needed for Teacher Licensure (27).

Physical Education Non-teaching Track students must meet all requirements for the Physical Education Teaching Track except those needed for Teacher Licensure and an additional 12 credits listed below.

- Program Prerequisite: Students selecting the Physical Education Teaching Track, must meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Teacher Education Department in this catalog).
- Minor: Physical Education Teaching Track requires a teaching minor.
- Grade Requirements: A combined GPA of 3.0 is required for all courses used toward the major. No grade lower than a "C" is acceptable.
- Credit Hour Requirements: Physical Education Non-teaching Track-Total minimum credit hours required in the Major (48). Physical Education Teaching Track-Total minimum credit hours required in the Major (36). Any Physical Education Professional course older than 8 years will not be accepted toward degree requirements.
- Program Code: Physical Education Non-Teaching (5017BS), Physical Education Teaching (5012BS)
- CIPC: Physical Education Non-Teaching (310599), Physical Education Teaching (131314)

Advisement

All Physical Education students are encouraged to meet with a faculty mentor or the department academic advisor each semester for course and program advisement. Call 801-626-7425 or send a message to BrittniStrickland@weber.edu for more information or to schedule an appointment. Teaching majors are encouraged to also consult with advisors in the Jerry and Vickie Moyes College of Education (call 801-626-6269). (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Requirements

Students must meet with Academic Advisor to declare PEP Major. Physical Education Minor

The Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation offers three undergraduate minors in Physical Education. The 1) Physical Education Non-teaching Minor is designed to prepare students to work in a physical activity venue. A major must also be selected. The 2) Physical Education Minor is designed to prepare students to teach physical education in a K-12 school system. The 3) Physical Education/Coaching Education Teaching Dual Minor is designed to prepare students to teach physical education and to coach in a K-12 school system. A teaching major is to be selected in addition to either of the teaching minors to prepare students to enter the Teacher Education program and to become licensed to teach in a K-12 school system.

Physical Education Non-teaching Minor students must meet all requirements listed below.

Physical Education Minor and Physical Education/Coaching Education Dual Teaching Minor students must meet all requirements for the Physical Education Minor or the Physical Education/Coaching Education Teaching Dual Teaching Minor and those requirements needed for Teacher Licensure (27).

- Grade Requirements: A combined GPA of 3.0 is required for all courses used toward the minor. No grade lower than a "C" is acceptable.
- Credit Hour Requirements: Physical Education Non-teaching Minor - a total of 29-30 credit hours are required. Physical Education/Coaching Education Dual Teaching Minor - a total of 46-47 credit hours are required. Physical Education Minor - a total of 27 credit hours are required. In addition to the required credit hours, Physical Education/Coaching Education Dual Teaching Minor and Physical Education Minor students must meet the requirements of their selected teaching major and the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Teacher Education Department in this catalog).

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements.

A General Education course required for all Physical Education minors is:

NUTR LS SUS 1020 Science and Application of Human Nutrition (3)

HTHS LS 1110 BioMed Core (4)

See major and minor course prerequisites for additional General Education recommendation/requirements. Also see Teacher Education Requirements for recommended and required General Education courses for Physical Education/Coaching Education Dual Teaching Minors and Physical Education Track Minors.

Admission Requirements

Students must apply for Physical Education program admittance by November 10 or March 10 of their first semester of taking Physical Education Professional [PEP] courses. Applications are available from the Physical Education Program Director. In addition, students applying for the Teaching Track must meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Teacher Education Department in this catalog). In addition, students applying for the Physical Education Specialization grades 1-8 must also meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements. Students will not be allowed to register for PEP 3520, PEP 3520L, PEP 3630, PEP 3660, PEP 4700, PEP 4830, PEP 4860C, or PEP 4990 until admission requirements have been met.

Admission requirements include:

1. Declared major or minor or BIS in a Physical Education or Coaching Education program.
2. Minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75.
3. Students may transfer a maximum of 12 physical education professional course credits from another institution per the Physical Education Program Director approval.
4. Fingerprinting/background check must be cleared prior to admission to the program. Provisional admission is granted for one semester only until the check is completed.

Program Retention Requirements

After admission into the Physical Education major/minor programs, students will be retained based on the following:

1. Minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0.
2. Earned grade of "C" or above for each required course.
3. Clear fingerprinting/background check.
4. Retention/improvement of sport specific and fitness skills.
5. Student Disposition score above 20 in each course.

Physical Education Teaching (BS)

Physical Education Major

The Department of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation offers an undergraduate degree in Physical Education. The Physical Education Non-teaching Track is designed to prepare students to work in a physical activity venue. The Physical Education Teaching Track is designed to prepare students to teach physical education in a K-12 school system. A teaching minor is to be selected in addition to the teaching major to prepare students to enter the Teacher Education program and to become licensed to teach in a K-12 school system.

Physical Education Teaching Track students must meet all requirements for the Physical Education Teaching Track and those requirements needed for Teacher Licensure (27).

Physical Education Non-teaching Track students must meet all requirements for the Physical Education Teaching Track except those needed for Teacher Licensure and an additional 12 credits listed below.

- Program Prerequisite: Students selecting the Physical Education Teaching Track, must meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Teacher Education Department in this catalog).
- Minor: Physical Education Teaching Track requires a teaching minor.
- Grade Requirements: A combined GPA of 3.0 is required for all courses used toward the major. No grade lower than a "C" is acceptable.
- Credit Hour Requirements: Physical Education Non-teaching Track-Total minimum credit hours required in the Major (48). Physical Education Teaching Track-Total minimum credit hours required in the Major (36). Any Physical Education Professional course older than 8 years will not be accepted toward degree requirements.
- Program Code: Physical Education Non-Teaching (5017BS), Physical Education Teaching (5012BS)
- CIPC: Physical Education Non-Teaching (310599), Physical Education Teaching (131314)

Advisement

All Physical Education students are encouraged to meet with a faculty mentor or the department academic advisor each semester for course and program advisement. Call 801-626-7425 or send a message to BrittniStrickland@weber.edu for more information or to schedule an appointment. Teaching majors are encouraged to also consult with advisors in the Jerry and Vickie Moyes College of Education (call 801-626-6269). (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Requirements

Students must meet with Academic Advisor to declare PEP Major. In addition, students applying for the Teaching Track must also meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Teacher Education Department in this catalog). Students will not be allowed to register for PEP 3520, PEP 3520L, PEP 3630, PEP 3660, PEP 4700, PEP 4710, PEP 4860C, PEP 4830, or PEP 4990 until admission requirements have been met.

Admission requirements include:

1. Declared major or minor or BIS in a Physical Education or Coaching Education program.
2. Minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75.
3. Students may transfer a maximum of 12 physical education professional course credits from another institution per the Physical Education Program Director approval.
4. Fingerprinting/background check must be cleared prior to admission to the program. Provisional admission is granted for one semester only until the check is completed.

Program Retention Requirements

After admission into the Physical Education major/minor programs, students will be retained based on the following:

1. Minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0.
2. Earned grade of "C" or above for each required course.
3. Clear fingerprinting/background check.
4. Retention/improvement of sport specific and fitness skills.
5. Student Disposition score above 20 in each course.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements.

General Education courses required for the Physical Education major are:

The major purpose of the professional education programs in teacher education is to prepare candidates for teaching in elementary and secondary schools. Preparation is also provided for teachers of students with mild to moderate disabilities with the special education mild/moderate license. The department prepares students for endorsements in Mathematics, ESL (English as a Second Language), Dual Language Immersion, Basic Reading (graduate level only), and Education of the Gifted (graduate level only). All programs are accredited through the Teacher Education Accreditation Council (TEAC).

The preparation for teaching falls academically within four major categories: University General Education, support courses, subject specialization, and professional education.

1. University General Education requirements -- In selecting courses to satisfy the general education requirements, candidates should note the general education courses recommended and/or required in their major and/or professional education requirement sheets available in the Teacher Education Advisement Center (ED 230).
2. Support courses
3. Specializations are required of all elementary candidates. Elementary education majors have two track options; K-6 and 1-8. The K-6 track requires one 9 credit specialization and a 9 credit early childhood specialization while the 1-8 track requires a 18 credit specialization or a teaching minor. The professional education program outlines acceptable subject specialization areas and requirements. Special Education majors choose one 9-hour specialization or a teaching minor. Secondary candidates completing a teaching major may be required to complete a teaching minor (refer to the teaching major program requirements). The teaching major and teaching minor must be in subjects taught in Utah public secondary schools.

4. Professional Education courses help the prospective teacher learn about children, the nature of the learning process, and how to provide desirable learning experiences. To meet licensure requirements, secondary school candidates are required to complete a minimum of 24 semester hours of professional course work; 55 semester hours are required of the prospective elementary school teacher.

Professional course work in the program is organized into sequential levels. As students move through the program, they are required to demonstrate in a variety of ways the knowledge, skills and dispositions that embody the department's organizing theme and program model.

It is important that interested students contact the Teacher Education Advisement Center (ED 230) as quickly as they decide to become a teacher. Specific program admission requirements, required courses, and recommended general education course work are available.

Admission to Teacher Education

Admission to the Teacher Education Programs is a separate process from general university admission. The Teacher Education programs maintain a competitive admissions process. Applicants are provisionally admitted each semester after submitting their application materials and meeting the minimum admission criteria listed below. Students are admitted two times per year: fall semester and spring semester. Applicants are evaluated by cumulative GPA and admission interview score.

Minimum Admission Requirements

1. Formal Application submitted online by the deadline date.
2. At least 40 semester hours of general education and relevant prerequisite courses.

Those intending to teach Special Education or teach at the elementary level, please note:

The Professional Education component of the Special Education major and the Elementary Education major requires four semesters to complete. Therefore, it is very important that candidates have completed the General Education requirements and have taken most of the required Support Courses prior to entering the program. Because of possible scheduling difficulties, failure to do so could mean spending an extra semester (or more) in completing the program.

Those intending to teach at the secondary level, please note:

The Professional Education component of the Secondary Education program requires two semesters to complete. Therefore, it is very important that candidates have completed the General Education requirements and most of the teaching major and minor requirements prior to entering the program. Because of possible scheduling difficulties, failure to do so could mean spending an extra semester (or more) in completing the program.

3. Passing the appropriate Praxis II Content test or passing the ACT with the composite score of 21 with a verbal/English score no less than 20 and a mathematics/quantitative score of no less than 19 is required for all programs. The Utah State Office of Education specifies the passing score for each test. Students will not be considered for admission if they do not meet the state specified passing score on the Praxis II or ACT.
4. Sign up for an interview in the Advisement Center when you turn in application materials (the schedule will be available approximately one (1) month prior to the interview dates).
5. Composition general education requirement completed (grade "C" or above in ENGL 2010 EN2, or equivalent).
6. Quantitative Literacy requirement completed (see General Requirements in this catalog).
Note: Elementary, Special Education, and Early Childhood Education majors need MATH 1050 as prerequisite for Mathematics Education support courses.
7. Communication competency completed (grade "B-" or above in COMM 1020 or COMM 2110 or equivalent).
8. University Computer and Information Literacy competency completed (see General Requirements in this catalog).
9. EDUC 1010 Exploring Teaching or approved equivalent course completed.

10. Teacher Education also recognizes specific program and diversity needs of professional education and reserves the right to consider such factors in the admission of candidates.
11. For teacher education applicants who are English language learners, an additional requirement of 6.5 on each of the four sections of the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) test is required for admission.

Additional Notes

1. Fingerprinting/background check must be completed immediately after being admitted. Go to the following link for more information: <https://weber.edu/fingerprinting>
2. Students are provisionally admitted to a specific teacher education program: (1) early childhood education; (2) elementary education; (3) special education; (4) secondary education.
3. Provisional admission to a specific program is valid for a period of five years. If a student has not completed the program within the five-year period or desires to pursue a different program, he/she must seek readmission under the current admission standards and complete current course/program requirements. Changes in state licensure requirements may necessitate more immediate program changes.
4. Professional education credits older than five years at the time of program admission generally will not be counted. However, students may revalidate outdated course work by following procedures available in the Teacher Education Advisement Center, ED 230.
5. A Graduate Certificate in Teaching is also available through the Master of Education program.
6. Applicants who hold Bachelor's degrees older than five years and who have not had more recent relevant course work or work experiences related to their major and minor must take at least two courses in their major and one course in their minor as designated by the academic department.
7. Applicants with an earned graduate degree seeking initial licensure must satisfactorily complete requirements 1, 2, 4, and 5. They are then placed in the pool with others seeking provisional admission.
8. Data are collected on students admitted to the Teacher Education program for the purposes of national accreditation and program improvement. No personal information is used in this process.

Early Childhood Education Major

The Departments of Child and Family Studies and Teacher Education offer a major in Early Childhood Education with licensure for teaching in programs which serve children from birth through eight years of age (Pre-K through 3rd grade). Requirements are listed under the Department of Child and Family Studies. See Room ED 248 for additional information.

Elementary Education Major

Students preparing to teach in elementary schools graduate with a major in Elementary Education. The elementary education major has a K-6 track and a 1-8 track.

The Teacher Education Advisement Center and faculty advisors from the Department of Teacher Education are available to advise prospective teachers. A program requirement sheet is available from the Teacher Education Advisement Center in Room 230 in the McKay Education Building. It is to the student's advantage to begin program planning early.

Interdisciplinary Minors

The Teacher Education Department participates in the interdisciplinary Linguistics Minor Program. Students who wish to enroll in this program should indicate their desire to do so with the program coordinator who will help them work out a proper combination of courses to fit their particular needs. (See the Engaged Learning, Honors, and Interdisciplinary Programs section of this catalog.)

Basic Reading Endorsement

Level I—Basic Reading Endorsement

These courses will meet the requirement for a Level I Basic Reading Endorsement to be added to the Elementary or Secondary Education licensure. The Teacher Education Department provides the courses required for these two endorsements but does not give the endorsement. It is the teacher's responsibility to submit application to the USOE (<http://www.usoe.k12.ut.us>) for the reading endorsement. The USOE does the endorsing after reviewing the student's application and coursework.

This program will meet the requirements for the Dual Language Immersion Endorsement to be added to the Elementary or Secondary Education licensure. Students must also demonstrate language proficiency at the Advanced Mid or higher Level, as determined by the Foreign Language Department.

These courses taken at the graduate level may also be used as electives for the MED degree. See the Department of Teacher Education or the Master of Education Office for more details.

Course Requirements for Endorsement

Required Courses (15 credit hours)

Graduate students should contact the MED director for approved substitutions.

- EDUC 3375 - Foundations of Dual Immersion or Immersion Education Credits: (3) (MED 6375)
- EDUC 4415 - Content-Based Second Language Curriculum, Instruction and Assessment Credits: (3) (MED 6415)
- EDUC 4270 - Literacy Strategies for Teaching English Language Learners Credits: (3) (MED 6270)
- EDUC 4740 - Building School Partnerships with ESL/Bilingual Families Credits: (1)
- FL 4400 - Methods for Teaching Languages Credits: (5)
- EDUC 5770 INT - Field Experience in ESL/Bilingual Education Credits: (2) *

Note:

 EDUC 5770 needs to be completed with Student Teaching.*

Endorsement programs are also offered through the graduate program as electives.

Note:

It is recommended that candidates for the Dual Language Immersion Endorsement also complete the ESL Endorsement with the following courses:

- EDUC 4250 - Second Language Acquisition: Theories and Implementation Credits: (3) (MED 6250)
- ENGL 4420 - English Phonology and Syntax for ESL/Bilingual Teachers Credits: (3) (MENG 6420)
- ENGL 4450 - ESL/Bilingual Assessment: Theory, Methods, and Practices Credits: (3) (MENG 6450)

Education (AS)

The Associate of Science degree (AS) in Education is a two-year program designed to prepare students for the elementary or special education bachelors programs. Students completing this program will develop skills and get the hands-on experience necessary to be accepted into the professional courses offered at the university level. Course work will satisfy the General Education requirements for the first two years of a bachelor's degree in elementary or special education. Specific requirements for the bachelor's degrees in elementary education and special education can be found at Department of Teacher Education.

- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 60 credit hours are required for graduation; 24 or these are required Education-related and support courses and 36 are required general education courses.
- Program Code: 5025AS
- CIPC: 139999

Advisement

All students should meet with an advisor in the Teacher Education Advisement Center and from the Department of Teacher Education. Call 801-626-6309 for more information or to schedule an appointment. See weber.edu/COE/tedadvice.html

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Associate of Science requirements. The following courses required for the AS in Education will also fulfill general education requirements: CHF SS/DV 1500, COMM HU 1020 or COMM HU CEL 2110, GEOG SS/DV 1300 or GEOG SS/DV 1520, MATH QL 2020. It is recommended that students fulfill the Computer and Information Literacy Part D requirement with LIBS 2604/EDUC 2604.

Major Course Requirements for AS Degree

Required Education-related Courses (30-31 credit hours)

- EDUC 1010 CEL - Exploring Teaching Credits: (3)
- EDUC 2010 CEL - Human Exceptionality Credits: (3)
- CHF 1500 SS/DV - Human Development Credits: (3)
- COMM 1020 HU - Principles of Public Speaking Credits: (3) OR
- COMM 2110 HU CEL - Interpersonal and Small Group Communication Credits: (3)
- ENGL 3300 - Children's Literature Credits: (3)
- GEOG 1300 SS/DV - Places and Peoples of the World Credits: (3) OR
- GEOG 1520 SS/DV - Geography of the United States and Canada Credits: (3)
- MATH 2010 - Arithmetic for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3) grade of C or above
- MATH 2015 - Algebra for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3) grade of C or above
- MATH 2020 QL - Geometry for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3) grade of C or above
- AND one of the following:
- ART 1030 CA - Studio Art for the Non-Art Major Credits: (3) Can not double count as Gen Ed
- DANC 3640 INT - Teaching Creative Dance in the Elementary School Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3430 - Creative Processes in the Elementary School Credits: (3)
- MUSC 3824 - Music for Elementary Teachers Credits: (4)
- THEA 4603 - Creative Drama Credits: (3)

Required Support Courses (15 credit hours)

Select 6 credit hours from the following, with at least 3 from Creative Arts (don't duplicate departments):

Humanities

- ENGL 2200 HU/DV - Introduction to Literature Credits: (3)
- ENGL 2220 HU/DV - Introduction to Fiction Credits: (3)

- ENGL 3510 HU/DV - World Literature
Credits: (3)
- MUSC 1043 HU - Music, the Arts & Civilizations Credits: (3)
Creative Arts
- ART 1010 CA - Introduction to the Visual Arts Credits: (3)
- ART 1030 CA - Studio Art for the Non-Art Major Credits: (3)
- DANC 1010 CA/DV - Introduction to Dance Credits: (3)
- MUSC 1040 CA/DV - Music of World Cultures Credits: (3)
- THEA 1033 CA - Introduction to Acting Credits: (3)

Select 3 credit hours from the following to satisfy the science with a lab requirement (may not duplicate departments):

- GEO 1350 PS - Principles of Earth Science Credits: (3) OR
- CHEM 1360 PS - Principles of Physical Science Credits: (3) or PHYS PS 1360 OR
- BTNY 1370 LS - Principles of Life Science Credits: (3) or MICR LS 1370 or ZOOL LS 1370

Select 6 additional credit hours from the General Education Physical Science and Life Science requirements.

Required Track-Specific Support Courses (6 credit hours)

Grades K-6 Track

- CHF 2500 - Development of the Child Credits: (3)
- CHF 2610 - Guidance Based on Developmental Theory Credits: (3)

Grades 1-8 Track

6 Credits in Specialization Area

- Mathematics (Elementary Ed endorsement)
- English as a Second Language (ESL)

Special Education Track

6 Credits in Specialization Area

- Mathematics
- Reading/Language Arts
- ESL

Education of the Gifted Endorsement

These courses may also be used as electives for the MEd Degree. See the Department of Teacher Education or the Master of Education Office for more details.

Course Requirements for Endorsement

Required Courses (14 credit hours)

- MED 6420 - Foundations of Education of the Gifted Credits: (3)
- MED 6440 - Social and Emotional Needs of the Gifted Credits: (2)
- MED 6480 - Differentiated Curriculum for the Gifted Credits: (3)
- MED 6490 - Assessment and Evaluation in Education of the Gifted Credits: (3)
- MED 6495 - Action Research in Education of the Gifted Credits: (3)

Elective (at least 2 credit hours)

Select one of the following options:

- MED 6450 - Creativity and Applied Imagination Credits: (2)
- MED 6470 - Teaching for Thinking Credits: (2)
- Approved graduate credit through professional development course of conference

Elementary Education (BS)

- Program Prerequisite: Provisional admission to a Teacher Education Program (see the admission requirements described under the Department of Teacher Education).
- Minor/Specialization: K-6 Early childhood education (9 credit hours) and another area (9 credit hours); Grades 1-8 One-subject area specialization (18 credit hours) or a teaching minor (16 credit hours minimum) must be selected.
- Grade Requirements: Elementary Education majors must maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.00 or higher in all college/university work and at least a "B-" grade in each professional education course to continue in the program. Elementary Education majors must also achieve at least a "C" grade in MATH 2010, MATH 2015 and MATH 2020.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 120 credit hours is required for graduation; a minimum of 46 of these is required within the Elementary Education major. A total of 40 upper division credit hours is required (courses number 3000 and above).
- Program Code: 5005BS
- CIPC: 131202

Admission Requirements

Declare a program of study (see Program of Study (Major/Minor) Declaration). Follow the provisional admission requirements outlined under the Teacher Education department.

Advisement

All Elementary Education majors should meet with an advisor in the Teacher Education Advisement Center and from the Department of Teacher Education. Call 801-626-7694 for more information or to schedule an appointment.

For Elementary Education majors, there are 4 areas of course work that are required: I. University and General Education Requirements; II. Support Courses; III. Subject Area Specialization; and IV. Professional Education Courses. Details for each of these required areas follow.

General Education

I. University and General Education Requirements

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. The following courses required for the Elementary Education major will also satisfy general education requirements: COMM 1020 or COMM 2110, GEOG SS/DV 1300 OR GEOG SS/DV 1520, MATH QL 2020 and CHF 1500. Meeting the general education science requirements may not meet elementary education science requirements. Following the suggested guidelines below will assure that both University general education and Elementary Education requirements are met.

Students pursuing a BS degree must take 9 credit hours, at least one (1) course from a life science group and at least one (1) course from a physical science group. One of the courses must be PS1350 (Principles of Earth Science), PS1360 (Principles of Physical Science), or LS1370 (Principles of Life Science), or at least one science lab course.

Major Course Requirements for BS Degree resulting in a K-6 License

II. Support Courses Required (or equivalent) (27-29 credit hours)

- CHF 1500 SS/DV - Human Development Credits: (3)
- COMM 1020 HU - Principles of Public Speaking Credits: (3) or
- COMM 2110 HU CEL - Interpersonal and Small Group Communication Credits: (3)
- EDUC 1010 CEL - Exploring Teaching Credits: (3)
- EDUC 2010 CEL - Human Exceptionality Credits: (3)
Note: Elementary Education and Early Childhood Education Double Majors may fulfill this requirement with CHF 3500 (3)
- ENGL 3300 - Children's Literature Credits: (3)

- GEOG 1300 SS/DV - Places and Peoples of the World Credits: (3) OR
- GEOG 1520 SS/DV - Geography of the United States and Canada Credits: (3)
- MATH 2010 - Arithmetic for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3) Grade of C or above required
- MATH 2015 - Algebra for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3) Grade of C or above required
- MATH 2020 QL - Geometry for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3) Grade of C or above required

At least one course from the following

- ART 1030 CA - Studio Art for the Non-Art Major Credits: (3)
- MUSC 3824 - Music for Elementary Teachers Credits: (4)
- EDUC 3430 - Creative Processes in the Elementary School Credits: (3)
- DANC 3640 INT - Teaching Creative Dance in the Elementary School Credits: (3)
- THEA 4603 - Creative Drama Credits: (3)

III. Required Area of Specialization
(18 credit hours)

Grades K-6 License Track (18 credit hours)

- CHF 2500 - Development of the Child
Credits: (3) Must be completed prior to Level 1
- CHF 2610 - Guidance Based on Developmental Theory Credits: (3) Must be completed prior to Level 1
- CHF 3620 - Curriculum Planning for Kindergarten Credits: (3) Taken with Level 1 courses

Note:

In addition, complete a 9-hour specialization in one of the areas listed below. For further information concerning the courses involved in the areas of specialization, see the Teacher Advisement Center, ED230.

1. Art
2. Early Childhood
3. Educational Computing
4. English as a Second Language (ESL)
5. Fine Arts
6. Foreign Language
7. General Science
8. Mathematics
9. Multicultural Education
10. Music
11. Physical Education
12. Reading/Language Arts
13. Social Science
14. International Education

Grades 1-8 License Track (18 credit hours or approved teaching minor)

Complete a minimum of an 18-hour area of specialization in one of the areas listed below, or a teaching minor. (See the Secondary Education section for teaching minors.) For further information concerning the courses involved in the areas of specialization, see the Teacher Advisement Center, ED230.

1. English as a Second Language (ESL)
2. Mathematics

The Professional Education component of the Elementary Education major requires four semesters to complete. Therefore, it is very important that candidates have completed the General Education requirements and have taken at least some of the required Support Courses prior to entering the program. Because of possible scheduling difficulties, failure to do so could mean spending an extra semester (or more) in completing the program.

IV. Professional Education Courses Required (56 credit hours)

Admission to teacher education is required prior to enrollment in Professional Education courses. The Level course changes will begin Fall 2018 and will show up in Cattracks for the 2018-2019 catalog year.

Level 1 (18 credit hours)

Note: K-6 Track must take CHF 3620 during this level (credit hours shown under Required Area of Specialization, Level 1 for K-6 Track is 15 credit hours). Cohort codes required for these courses (ECE, ELEM, or DUAL). Program codes required for these courses: Early Childhood Education (5003BS), Elementary Education (5005BS) or both.

- EDUC 3115 - Media Integration in Elementary Education Settings Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3120 - Reading Instruction in the Primary Grades Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3140 - Educational Psychology, Interpersonal Skills and Classroom Management Credits: (3)

- EDUC 3205 - Culturally and Linguistically Responsive Teaching Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3270 - Differentiation and Collaboration for Inclusive Teaching Credits: (3)
- CHF 3620 - Curriculum Planning for Kindergarten Credits: (3)

Level 2 (13 credit hours)

Note: K-6 majors take an area of specialization course (3) and 1-8 majors take an a minor/endorsement course (3). Cohort codes required for these courses (ECE, ELEM, or DUAL). Program codes required for these courses: Early Childhood Education (5003BS), Elementary Education (5005BS) or both.

- EDUC 3100 - Instructional Planning & Assessment Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3210 INT - Elementary Level II Practicum Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3230 - Data Analysis for Elementary Teachers and Math Pedagogy Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3240 - Reading Instruction in the Intermediate Grades Credits: (3)
- EDUC 4345 - Elementary Integrated Arts Methods Credits: (3)

Level 3 (17 credit hours)

Cohort codes required for these courses (ECE, ELEM, or DUAL). Program codes required for these courses: Early Childhood Education (5003BS), Elementary Education (5005BS) or both.

- EDUC 3280 - Elementary Social Studies Methods Credits: (3)
- EDUC 4210 INT - Elementary Level III Practicum Credits: (3)
- EDUC 4320 - Elementary Language Arts Methods Credits: (3)
- EDUC 4330 - Elementary Science Methods Credits: (3)
- EDUC 4350 - Elementary Mathematics Pedagogy Credits: (2)
- PEP 3620 - Methods of Teaching Physical Education and Health for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3)

Level 4 (12 credit hours)

Cohort codes required for these courses (ECE, ELEM, or DUAL). Program codes required for these courses: Early Childhood Education (5003BS), Elementary Education (5005BS) or both.

- EDUC 4840A/B INT - Student Teaching in Elementary Education Credits: (8) [K6 or 1-8]
- EDUC 4850 - Integrated Elementary Education Student Teaching Seminar and Synthesis Credits: (4)

Elementary Education Mathematics Endorsement

A candidate desiring to receive Elementary Education Mathematics Endorsement must fill the requirements of the Elementary Education major and complete the following courses.

Courses Required for Endorsement

Mathematics Courses Required (19 hours)

- MATH 1060 - Trigonometry Credits: (3)
- MATH 1210 - Calculus I Credits: (4)
- MTHE 3060 - Probability and Statistics from a Teaching Perspective Credits: (3)
- MTHE 3070 - Geometry for Grade K-8 Teachers Credits: (3)
- MTHE 3080 - Number Theory for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3)
- MTHE 4040 - Mathematical Problem Solving for Grade K-8 Teachers Credits: (3)

Note:

Elementary education majors desiring an Elementary Mathematics Endorsement should consult with the Mathematics Department Chair early in their program. The student will be assigned an advisor to help design his/her course of study.

ESL (English as a Second Language) Endorsement

This program will meet the requirements for the English as a Second Language (ESL) Endorsement to be added to the Early Childhood, Elementary, or Secondary Education licensure.

These courses taken at the graduate level may also be used as electives for the MEd degree. See the Department of Teacher Education or the Master of Education Office for more details.

- Grade Requirements: A GPA of 3.00 or better in courses used toward the minor in addition to an overall GPA of 3.00 or higher.
- Credit Hour Requirements: 17 credit hours required.
- Program Code: Minor 5009
- CIPC: 131401

Students must satisfy the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements.

Course Requirements for Minor/Endorsement

Required Courses (18 credit hours)

- EDUC 4250 - Second Language Acquisition: Theories and Implementation Credits: (3) (MED 6250)
- EDUC 4270 - Literacy Strategies for Teaching English Language Learners Credits: (3) (MED 6270)
- EDUC 4740 - Building School Partnerships with ESL/Bilingual Families Credits: (1)
- EDUC 5770 INT - Field Experience in ESL/Bilingual Education Credits: (2) **
- ENGL 4410 - Strategies and Methodology of Teaching ESL/Bilingual Credits: (3) * (MENG 6410)
- ENGL 4420 - English Phonology and Syntax for ESL/Bilingual Teachers Credits: (3) (MENG 6420)
- ENGL 4450 - ESL/Bilingual Assessment: Theory, Methods, and Practices Credits: (3) (MENG 6450)

Note:

 FL 4400, Methods of Teaching a Foreign Language, may be substituted for ENGL 4410.*

 EDUC 5770 needs to be completed with Student Teaching.*

Endorsement programs are also offered through the graduate program as electives.

ESL (English as a Second Language) Minor

This program will meet the requirements for the English as a Second Language (ESL) Endorsement to be added to the Early Childhood, Elementary, or Secondary Education licensure.

These courses taken at the graduate level may also be used as electives for the MEd degree. See the Department of Teacher Education or the Master of Education Office for more details.

- Grade Requirements: A GPA of 3.00 or better in courses used toward the minor in addition to an overall GPA of 3.00 or higher.
- Credit Hour Requirements: 17 credit hours required.
- Program Code: Minor 5009
- CIPC: 131401

Students must satisfy the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements.

Course Requirements for Minor/Endorsement

Required Courses (18 credit hours)

- EDUC 4250 - Second Language Acquisition: Theories and Implementation Credits: (3) (MED 6250)
- EDUC 4270 - Literacy Strategies for Teaching English Language Learners Credits: (3) (MED 6270)
- EDUC 4740 - Building School Partnerships with ESL/Bilingual Families Credits: (1)
- EDUC 5770 INT - Field Experience in ESL/Bilingual Education Credits: (2) **
- ENGL 4410 - Strategies and Methodology of Teaching ESL/Bilingual Credits: (3) * (MENG 6410)
- ENGL 4420 - English Phonology and Syntax for ESL/Bilingual Teachers Credits: (3) (MENG 6420)
- ENGL 4450 - ESL/Bilingual Assessment: Theory, Methods, and Practices Credits: (3) (MENG 6450)

Note:

 FL 4400, Methods of Teaching a Foreign Language, may be substituted for ENGL 4410.*

 EDUC 5770 needs to be completed with Student Teaching.*

Endorsement programs are also offered through the graduate program as electives.

Secondary Education Licensure

- Program Prerequisite: Provisional admission to a Teacher Education Program (see the admission requirements described under the Teacher Education Department). Select an academic teaching major and teaching minor or composite teaching major and teaching minor that WSU offers. In many departments the teaching major and minor are different from the departmental major and minor.
- Minor: A teaching minor is recommended and may be required with most teaching majors (please consult your content major advisor). A teaching minor is generally not required with a composite teaching major (refer to specific composite major program requirements).
- Grade Requirements: Secondary Education students must meet minimum major course grade requirements and maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.00 or higher in all college work and achieve at least a "B-" grade in each professional education course to continue in the program.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 semester hours is required for graduation; a minimum of 24 of these is required within the Secondary Licensure program. A total of 40 upper division credit hours is required (courses number 3000 and above).

The academic teaching major and teaching minor must consist of not less than 30 and 16 semester hours respectively, or a composite major of a minimum of 46 semester hours. The teaching major and teaching minor must be in subjects taught in Utah public secondary schools. Either the major or minor must be a subject which Utah secondary schools are required to teach (those marked with asterisks do not satisfy this second requirement - see the list of teaching majors and minors below).

Admission Requirements

Declare a program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). Follow the provisional admission requirements outlined under the Teacher Education Department.

Advisement

All Secondary Education students should meet with an advisor in the Department of Teacher Education. Call 801-626-7694 for more information or to schedule an appointment. In addition, students should seek advisement from both their teaching major and their teaching minor program areas.

For Secondary Licensure candidates, there are 4 areas of course work that are required: I. University and General Education Requirements; II. Support Courses; III. Teaching Major and Teaching Minors (when required) that WSU offers; and IV. Professional Education Courses. Details for each of these required areas follow.

General Education

I. University and General Education Requirements

Refer to Degree Requirements for either Bachelor of Science or Bachelor of Arts requirements. The following courses required for the Secondary Education Licensure Program will also satisfy general education requirements: COMM 1020 or COMM 2110 and CHF 1500.

Course Requirements for Licensure

II. Support Courses Required (or equivalent)

- EDUC 1010 CEL - Exploring Teaching Credits: (3)

One course from the following

- CHF 1500 SS/DV - Human Development Credits: (3) or
- PSY 3140 - Adolescent Psychology Credits: (3)

One course from the following

- COMM 1020 HU - Principles of Public Speaking Credits: (3) or
- COMM 2110 HU CEL - Interpersonal and Small Group Communication Credits: (3)

Music Education

Licensure Programs

Special Education (Mild/Moderate)

Composite Majors

In lieu of the major and minor, a candidate may elect a composite teaching major which consists of a minimum of forty-six (46) hours of subjects in closely related fields.

Art (minor required)	Biology
Business Education	Earth Science
	Physical Science

IV. Professional Education Courses Required (24 hours)

Secondary Teacher Education Core

- EDUC 3220 - Foundations of Diversity Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3265 - The Exceptional Student Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3315 - Media Integration in the Secondary School Setting Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3900 - Preparing, Teaching, and Assessing Instruction Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3910 INT - Secondary Education Practicum Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3935 - Reading and Writing Across the Secondary Curriculum Credits: (2)

Secondary Teacher Education Student Teaching

- EDUC 4940 INT - Student Teaching in Secondary Education Credits: (8)
- EDUC 4950 - Integrated Secondary Student Teaching Seminar Credits: (4)

Additional Information:

Provisional admission to teacher education is required prior to enrollment in 3000 level and above education classes.

HIST 4500 is a required course for the Social & Behavioral Science Teaching Major/Teaching Minor.

The Professional Education component of the Secondary Education program requires two semesters to complete. Therefore, it is very important that candidates have completed the General Education requirements and most of the major and minor requirements prior to entering the program. Because of possible scheduling difficulties, failure to do so could mean spending an extra semester (or more) in completing the program.

Special Education (BS)

- Program Prerequisite: Provisional admission to a Teacher Education Program (see the admission requirements described under the Teacher Education Department).
- Specialization: Required (9 or more credit hours). Students may choose any academic teaching minor (refer to department listings for specific requirements). Or, choose a specialization area (see below).
- Grade Requirements: A "B-" or higher is required for any upper division EDUC or MED course, in addition, Special Education majors must maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.00 or higher in all college/university work.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 120 credit hours is required for graduation. The following are required within the program: Support Courses 21; Specialization 9; Professional Education 12; Special Education 44. A total of 40 upper division credit hours is required (courses number 3000 and above).
- Program Code: 5007BS
- CIPC: 131001

Admission Requirements

Declare a program of study (see Program of Study (Major/Minor) Declaration). Follow the provisional admission requirements outlined under the Teacher Education department. Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Advisement

All Special Education majors should meet with an advisor in the Teacher Education Advisement Center and with an assigned advisor from the Special Education faculty. Call 801-626-7694 for more information or to schedule an appointment.

For Special Education majors, there are 4 areas of course work that are required: I. University and General Education Requirements; II. Support Courses; III. Area of Specialization; and, IV. Professional Courses. Details for each of these required areas follow.

General Education

I. University and General Education Requirements

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. The following courses required for the Special Education major will also satisfy general education requirements: COMM 1020 or COMM 2110, MATH QL 2020, and CHF SS/DV 1500.

Students pursuing a BS degree must take 9 credit hours, at least one (1) course from a life science group and at least one (1) course from a physical science group. One of the courses must be GEO PS 1350 (Principles of Earth Science), CHEM 1360 PS/PHYS PS 1360 (Principles of Physical Science), or BTNY LS 1370 /MICR LS 1370/ZOOL LS 1370 (Principles of Life Science), or at least one science lab course.

Major Course Requirements for BS Degree

II. Support Courses Required (or equivalent) (21 credits)

- EDUC 1010 CEL - Exploring Teaching Credits: (3)
- EDUC 2010 CEL - Human Exceptionality Credits: (3)
- CHF 1500 SS/DV - Human Development Credits: (3)
- COMM 1020 HU - Principles of Public Speaking Credits: (3) or
- COMM 2110 HU CEL - Interpersonal and Small Group Communication Credits: (3)
- MATH 2010 - Arithmetic for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3) Grade of C or above required
- MATH 2015 - Algebra for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3) Grade of C or above required
- MATH 2020 QL - Geometry for Elementary Teachers Credits: (3) Grade of C or above required

And at least 6 credit hours from the following

- ENGL 3300 - Children's Literature Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3390 - Literacy in the Primary Grades Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3430 - Creative Processes in the Elementary School Credits: (3)
- EDUC 4250 - Second Language Acquisition: Theories and Implementation Credits: (3)
- EDUC 4270 - Literacy Strategies for Teaching English Language Learners Credits: (3)
- CHF 2400 SS/DV - Family Relations Credits: (3)
- CHF 2500 - Development of the Child Credits: (3)
- CHF 3640 - Working with Parents Credits: (3)
- PSY 3000 - Child Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 3140 - Adolescent Psychology Credits: (3)
- PEP 3660 - Adapted Physical Education Credits: (3)

III. Area of Specialization options (9 credits)

In addition, complete a 9-hour specialization in one of the areas listed below. For further information concerning the courses involved in the areas of specialization, see the Teacher Advisement Center, ED230.

1. Mathematics
2. English as a Second Language
3. Early Childhood
4. Family Studies
5. Language Arts (Secondary)
6. International Education

IV. Courses Required for the Major (55 credits)

Level 1 - Foundation Education Courses (14 credits)

- EDUC 3115 - Media Integration in Elementary Education Settings Credits: (2)
- EDUC 3120 - Reading Instruction in the Primary Grades Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3140 - Educational Psychology, Interpersonal Skills and Classroom Management Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3205 - Culturally and Linguistically Responsive Teaching Credits: (3)
- EDUC 3270 - Differentiation and Collaboration for Inclusive Teaching Credits: (3)

Level 2 - Inclusion Methods (15 credits)

- EDUC 3371 - Assistive Technology Credits: (1)
- EDUC 3545 - Universal Positive Behavior Support Strategies for Teachers Credits: (2)

The Master of Education degree (MEd) at Weber State University is a professional program intended to support educators in schools, business, industry, and higher education through advancing the theoretical and practical applications of teaching and leadership. There are multiple emphases from which candidates choose to best fit their needs: Curriculum and Instruction, Educational Leadership, Higher Education Leadership, and Family Life Education. Courses within the emphases are aligned to state and national professional standards, and may lead to advanced licensure. A Graduate Certificate in Educational Leadership is available for candidates who have a master's degree in education and are seeking the administrative/supervisory license only.

Educational Leadership Graduate Certificate

If you are seeking a teaching license, please go to the appropriate Graduate Certificate in Teaching page.

- Grade Requirements: Following admission to the MEd program, students must maintain an institutional GPA of 3.0. Students must earn at least a B- in all core classes. Students must earn at least a B- in all courses. If students earn a grade that is below a B-, the course must be retaken. Course grades below a C- are unacceptable and could result in removal from the program if the problem persists.
- Credit Hour Requirements: The 26-hour program of study consists of professional core specific to educational leadership, including an intensive internship in the K-12 setting. The graduate certificate is intended for those who already hold a master's degree. Courses listed in the Foundations section or equivalent must be on the transcript of the master's degree. If not, some of these may be required.

College of Social & Behavioral Sciences

Dr. Julie Rich, Interim Dean

The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences is dedicated to studying behavior and thought in their individual, social, cultural, physical, and historical contexts, and to the beneficial application of this knowledge. The College prepares students for productive careers and engaged citizenship through general education instruction, and major, minor and interdisciplinary programs which emphasize critical and scientific thinking. Through teaching, scholarship, and service, the College's faculty aims to enhance social justice, environmental awareness, and the quality of life in northern Utah and beyond.

Social Science Education Center

Director: Dr. Stephen Francis
Location: Lindquist Hall, Room 273
Telephone: 801-626-6781

The Social Science Education Center was initiated and organized in 1990 to promote, coordinate, and encourage social science education. The faculty of the College of Social & Behavioral Sciences, the College of Education, public and private schools and their respective districts collaborate in programs and activities designed to improve and enhance the teaching of the Social Sciences. This includes seminars for social science teachers in the area and presentations by Weber State University professors.

The Olene S. Walker Institute of Politics and Public Service

Director: Robert Hunter
Location: Lindquist Hall, Room 167
Telephone: 801-626-6206
Email: walkerinstitute@weber.edu

The non-partisan Walker Institute is committed to upholding the highest standards of American democracy and providing a visible and vibrant hub of political engagement for the Weber State University community. Through forums, workshops, seminars, symposiums and panel discussions, the Walker Institute strives to bring a better understanding of the political process to students and community members. The Walker Institute is dedicated to the training of future leaders by inspiring students to embrace public service and engaging them in internship opportunities at the local, state and national levels.

The Richard Richards Institute for Ethics

Director: Dr. Richard Greene

Location: D2-137H (Davis Campus)

Telephone: 801-626-6694

The Richard Richards Institute for Ethics was established in 2007 in order to promote ethical leadership in both private industry and government. It works to do so via outreach and education by offering scholarship opportunities to high school and college students, hosting workshops and ethics related activities for community members, and by acknowledging and honoring those leaders of our community who exemplify the highest ethical ideals and standards.

Aerospace Studies (Air Force ROTC)

Weber State provides a program in Aerospace Studies (Air Force) through an inter-campus agreement with the University of Utah. Students may minor in Aerospace Studies by satisfying requirements identified.

Chair: Lt Col Angelique P. Brown (SLC)

Location: Building 4, Room 421J

Telephone Contact: 801-626-7649 or 801-581-6236

Professor: Lt Col Michael Eliason

Assistant Professor: Capt Daniel Luczak

The Department of Aerospace Studies offers two, three, and four-year programs through the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC). These provide matriculated students an opportunity to earn commissions as officers in the U.S. Air Force in conjunction with completing bachelor's degree requirements in academic fields of the students' choice. AFROTC provides education that develops abilities and attitudes vital to the career of a professional Air Force officer and gives an understanding of the mission and the global responsibilities of the U.S. Air Force.

The Department of Aerospace Studies offers academic preparation in interdisciplinary areas including communication skills, Air Force history, leadership and management principles and practices, decision-making theory and policy formulation, ethics and values, socialization process within the armed services, national and international relations, national defense structure, national security policy, and military law. Entry into the General Military Course (GMC) during the first two years of AFROTC is open to all students. Entry into the Professional Officer Course (POC) during the final two years is selective and is normally initiated during the student's sophomore year. Potential candidate should contact the faculty for the most current information.

Undergraduate Program

General Requirements. Enrollment is open to men and women who:

1. Are U.S. citizens or applicants for naturalization. (Non-U.S. citizens may participate in the General Military Course for academic credit only.)
2. Are at least 14 years of age.

3. Are enrolled as full-time students in a program leading to an academic degree (bachelor's degree or higher).

Additional qualifications for admittance to the Professional Officer Course include:

4. Complete 1 through 3, above, plus the following:
 - o The General Military Course (four-year program) and a four-week field training course, or a six-week field training course (two-year program).
5. Complete all commissioning requirements prior to the following:
 - o Age 29 if a pilot or navigator candidate, or
 - o Age 35 for all other categories. Waivers to extend the maximum age may be granted on a case-by-case basis.
6. Meet the physical standards for general military service.
7. Attain the current minimum scores on the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test.
8. Have a recommendation from a board of Air Force officers.
9. Are at least 17 years old and enlist in the Air Force Reserve prior to entering the POC.

Commissioning Requirements. The requirements for commissioning include successful completion of the Professional Officer Course and field training, completion of a bachelor's or higher degree, and acceptance of a commission in the U.S. Air Force.

Service Obligation. There is no military service commitment for students in the General Military Course unless the student has an AFROTC scholarship. Those entering the Professional Officer Course incur an active-duty service commitment of not less than four (4) years after receiving a commission. POC graduates who are navigator candidates agree to serve six (6) years of active duty after graduation from navigator training. POC graduates who are pilot candidates accept ten (10) years of active duty service after graduation from pilot training.

Financial Aid. All AFROTC contracted cadets receive a monthly tax free allowance depending on their student status (Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, or Senior).

Uniforms and Texts. All Air Force texts and uniforms are furnished at no expense to the student.

Scholarships. AFROTC scholarships are available to qualified applicants in two, three and four-year programs. Each scholarship provides full tuition*, laboratory and incidental fees, and limited reimbursement for curriculum-required textbooks. In addition, scholarship cadets receive a nontaxable cash allowance each month during the academic year while on scholarship status. Scholarships are available on a competitive basis for two, two and one-half, three, or three and one-half years. Applications for scholarships should be made directly to the Professor of Aerospace Studies, 1901 E. South Campus Drive, Room 2009.

to $9,000*

AFROTC Programs

Two basic routes to an Air Force Commission are available to college students in the AFROTC. Entering students may enroll in the AFROTC four-year program, and those with at least two academic years remaining may apply for the two-year program. Students having an intermediate amount of school remaining (e.g., three years) may enroll in an adjusted four-year program.

Four-Year Program. Matriculated students may pursue the four-year program. Enrollment procedures for the first two years of AFROTC, known as the General Military Course, are the same as for any other college course. The GMC consists of one hour of course work and two hours of leadership laboratory each week.

During the sophomore year, cadets may apply for the last two years of the program, the Professional Officer Course. Requirements for entry into the POC are listed earlier under General Requirements. If selected for the POC, GMC cadets are scheduled to attend a four-week field training course at an Air Force base during the summer months.

Students enrolled in AFROTC may major in any field.

Two-Year Program. For entry into the two-year program, two academic years must remain at the undergraduate or graduate level, or a combination of the two. Two-year program applicants must qualify by meeting the same criteria as students in the General Military Course who are applying for POC entry. (See General Requirements.)

Each applicant must successfully complete a six-week field training course at an Air Force base during the summer months. This course provides academic and military preparation for entry into the POC. Those fulfilling all requirements, including the successful completion of field training, complete enrollment procedures upon return to campus. Application for the two-year program should be made early in the academic year (normally sophomore year) so that requirements may be completed in time for assignment to summer field training.

Note: Classes are held at the University of Utah.

Aerospace Studies (Air Force ROTC) Minor

- Grade Requirements: The cumulative grade-point average (GPA) for all courses used toward the minor must be 2.0 or greater, with no course grade lower than a C-.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 16 hours credit hours in departmental classes, 12 of which must be upper division.
- Program Code: 7022
- CIPC: 280101

Advisement

All Aerospace Studies students are required to meet with a faculty advisor at least semi-annually for course and program advisement. Call (801) 581-6236 for more information or to schedule an appointment.

Admission Requirements

Enrollment in any of the upper division, directed studies, or leadership lab classes requires approval of the department. Contact (801) 581-6236 for more information.

The Criminal Justice program provides students with a liberal education, while offering academic preparation through an expanded emphasis on criminal justice education. The program also offers a basis for graduate study and seeks to contribute significantly to the improvement of the quality of justice administration.

Criminal justice agencies in the recent past have established advanced academic standards. Education is becoming a more meaningful factor in selection of law enforcement, corrections, and security personnel for initial employment, promotion, and administrative roles.

Criminal Justice (AS)

- Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better in courses required for an Associate's Degree in Criminal Justice in addition to an overall GPA for these courses of 2.50 or higher. Also refer to the general grade requirements for graduation.
- Credit Hour Requirements: 60 total hours are required, including at least 21 Criminal Justice credits (CJ prefix).
- Program Code: 7004AS
- CIPC: 430104

- CJ 2300 - Policing: History, Theory and Practice Credits: (3)

Criminal Justice Elective Courses (9 credit hours)

Select 9 additional credit hours from Criminal Justice (CJ prefix) courses. Students may not use CJ 4830 Directed Readings or CJ 4950 Field Trips/Travel Study to fill this requirement.

Advisement

All Criminal Justice students are encouraged to meet with a faculty advisor at least annually for course and program advisement. Visit the Criminal Justice Department web page or call 801-626-6146 for more information or to schedule an appointment. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Criminal Justice (BS)

- Program Prerequisite: Not required.
- Minor: Not required. Students are encouraged to complete a minor that compliments their career goals.
- Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better in courses required for a Bachelor's Degree in addition to an overall GPA for these courses of 2.50 or higher. Also refer to the general grade requirements for graduation.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation; of which 40 hours must be upper division credit hours (courses numbered 3000 and above). A minimum of 46 Criminal Justice credit hours are required for the Criminal Justice Concentration. A minimum of 79-82 credit hours (including 49 Criminal Justice credit hours) are required for the Crime Scene Investigation Concentration.
- Program Code: 7004BS with Concentration code Criminal Justice (7045), Crime Scene Investigation (7046).
- CIPC: 430104 with Concentration code Criminal Justice (430104), Crime Scene Investigation (430111).

Advisement

All Criminal Justice students are encouraged to meet with a faculty advisor at least annually for course and program advisement. Students are encouraged to take CJ 4860- Criminal Justice Internship, and complete a minor as a way to complete their upper division course requirement. Visit the Criminal Justice Department web page or call 801-626-6146 for more information or to find an advisor. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List).

Students with an interest in forensic science lab work should consider the Forensic Science Fundamentals Certificate of Proficiency and meet with the Director of the Forensic Science Programs.

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study. No special admission or application requirements are needed for this program. Students with a criminal history may be precluded from participating in certain forensic science courses and should see the Director of Forensic Science Programs for advisement prior to selecting this program of study.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. The following course required for the Criminal Justice major will also satisfy general education requirements: CJ 1010 SS. Students selecting the Crime Scene Investigation Concentration should complete general education requirements by taking the following support courses: CHEM 1110 PS, CHEM 1210 PS, PHYS 1010 PS, PHYS 2010 PS, PHYS 2210 PS, MATH 1040 QL, ZOOL 1020 LS, ANTH 1020 LS/DV, HTHS 1110 LS, ART 2450 CA and/or COMM 1020 HU.

Geography is the study of the spatial organization, arrangement, function, movement, and interrelationships of phenomena on the surface of the earth. It is a science concerned with both physical and cultural phenomena and routinely interfaces with other disciplines in the natural sciences, social & behavioral sciences, humanities, business, and economics. With a global perspective and a robust geospatial toolkit (GIS, Satellite Imagery, Computer Mapping, GPS, and other Technologies.), the department prepares students to engage in the processes that create more sustainable environments and communities throughout the world.

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). No special admission or application requirements are needed for this program. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Arts requirements. Two of the following courses are required for the Geography major or Geography Teaching major: GEOG 1000, GEOG 1300, GEOG 1500 or GEOG 1520 (these courses will also satisfy general education requirements).

Major Course Requirements for BA Degree

The Geography BA requires 39 credit hours.

Required Geography Courses (18 credit hours)

All Geography majors take these 18 core required hours. Select an additional 18 hours from one of seven tracks listed below. Among those 18 hours, students are encouraged to select a course with a SUS designation and one with a CEL designation.

- GEOG 1000 PS SUS - Natural Environments of the Earth Credits: (3) or
- GEOG 1500 PS SUS - The Science of Global Warming: Myths, Realities and Solutions Credits: (3)
- GEOG 1300 SS/DV - Places and Peoples of the World Credits: (3) or
- GEOG 1520 SS/DV - Geography of the United States and Canada Credits: (3)
- GEOG 1790 - Exploring Our World Through Geospatial Technology Credits: (3)
- GEOG 2790 - Exploring Geography, Environment & Sustainability Credits: (1)
- GEOG 3790 - Research Methods in Geography Credits: (3) (Spring semester only)
- GEOG 4990 - Senior Seminar in Geography Credits: (3) (Fall semester only)

Select 2 credits from the following:

- GEOG 1002 - Map Reading and Land Navigation Credits: (2)
- GEOG 1005 - Natural Environments Field Studies Credits: (1)
- GEOG 2950 - Elementary Regional Field Studies Credits: (1-3)
- GEOG 4950 - Advanced Regional Field Studies Credits: (1-3)

Required Language Arts Courses (12 credit hours)

Students make take any combination of Foreign Language or Language Arts Courses to reach 12 credit hours. At least half of these must be upper division.

Required Regional Courses (3-9 credit hours)

Select at least 1 of the following.

- GEOG 3540 - Geography of Latin America
Credits: (3)
- GEOG 3590 - Geography of Europe Credits: (3)
- GEOG 3640 - Geography of Asia Credits: (3)
- GEOG 3740 - Geography of Africa Credits: (3)
- GEOG 3780 - Geographic Area Studies
Credits: (1-3)

Elective Courses (6 credit hours)

Select any 2 upper division geography courses.

Geography (BS)

- Program Prerequisite: Not required.
- Minor: Not required.

Environmental Studies Minor

Coordinator: Dr. Alice Mulder

Location: SS 302

Telephone: 801-626-6198

The Environmental Studies Minor is an interdisciplinary degree that focuses on the work of science in human activity. The curriculum is rooted in science to ground factual knowledge. However, its trunk is solidly comprised of social science and humanities courses because they teach the application of science in policy-making, business decisions and historical precedent even as they call upon the arts for their expression and upon ethics in consideration of health and social justice issues. The minor reaches across campus because all disciplines play an essential role in shaping environmental thought.

Students will gain an appreciation for local, national and international environmental issues and problems as well as their potential solutions. They will develop a personal philosophy about the environment's role in their lives and their own ability to affect nature and their physical environment by making ethical choices.

- Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better is required for all courses.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 25 credit hours is required, at least 15 of these must be upper division (numbered 3000 or higher).
- Program Code: 3063
- CIPC: 030103

Students must select courses from outside their major academic department whenever a choice is offered.

Students are encouraged to consider diversity in curriculum selection.

Political Science

Political Science, in the broadest sense, is the study of politics particularly as it relates to governments and people. Political scientists study governments: The origins and preconditions for governments, the growth and evolution of governments, and the decline and conflict among governments. Political scientists also are interested in how governments are structured, how governments make decisions, the policies that result from political decisions and the consequences of these policies, and how governments manage societal and international conflicts. Political scientists also study people: Their values and positions on issues, their preferences among candidates, their support for public officials, and their appraisals of their government. True to their oldest academic traditions, political scientists retain their concern with the fundamental questions of how governments ought to be constituted, and how they can best serve their citizens.

The study of political science has value in several different ways. First, it contributes to a solid liberal arts education and preparation for citizenship. The Greek word "idiot" was used to refer to one who took no interest in the affairs of state. Today, no less than twenty centuries later, it is incumbent upon all useful citizens to learn something about the political system in which they will spend their lives. Educated people ought to know something of the nature of government even if they have no professional interest in political science.

Second, a degree in political science furnishes an excellent background for graduate study in political science, law, administration, business, and international relations. Political science helps students develop reasoning and analytical skills and build competence in oral and written expression. In addition, the department of political science requires students to acquire basic skills in statistical analysis and computer competency.

Third, there are some careers for which an extensive training in political science can be most useful. This is true especially for those planning to seek careers in higher education, the legal profession, state and local government, urban planning, the federal bureaucracy, journalism, the military, law enforcement, teaching, the civil service, or in any of the proliferating organizations that seek to monitor the political processes to influence content of public policy. Further, the training students receive in political science will be useful to students no matter what their ultimate career choices. The comprehensive career guide, Careers and the study of Political Science, is available from the department chair.

Internships

Internships are offered through the Political Science program and the Walker Institute of Politics and Public Service to provide students practical understanding of political processes in governmental organizations. Many students have received practical training and gained valuable knowledge by working with United States senators, members of Congress, and Utah State senators and representatives. Moreover, some students work as interns in City and County administrations and in the Utah Legal Services office in Ogden.

Pre-Law

The pre-law advisement program is designed to assist students in scheduling courses, in preparing for the law school admissions test, and in obtaining admission at one of the nationally recognized law schools. Data on the placement of graduates in law schools show the success and the immense value of the program to students. (Dr. Richard Price acts as the Pre-Law Advisor.)

Interdisciplinary Minors

The Political Science Department participates in the Asian Studies, Environmental Studies, European Studies, International Politics, Latin American Studies, Legal Studies, and Public Administration Minor Programs and the Urban and Regional Planning Emphasis Program. Students who wish to enroll in one of these programs should indicate their desire to do so with the program coordinator who will help them work out a proper combination of courses to fit their particular needs. (See the Engaged Learning, Honors, and Interdisciplinary Programs section of this catalog.)

Philosophy

The philosophy program offers courses that fall under three general categories: 1) Liberal Education: teaches the ideas of influential past and contemporary thinkers who have sought to understand the world and our experience of it. These ideas concern such topics as the nature of truth and reality, the limits of knowledge, standards of right and wrong, the experience of beauty, and world religions. 2) Methodology: emphasizes methods of sound practical reasoning, deductive logic, and language analysis. 3) Application: critically analyzes non-philosophical disciplines. For example, the philosophy of democracy analyzes the value assumptions behind democratic forms of government, while medical ethics seeks to identify and resolve dilemmas arising from conflicts between medical technology and the quality of life.

Philosophy (BA)

Language Courses Required to fulfill the BA

Students completing a BA in philosophy must complete 6 hours of foreign language courses (these can be taken in more than one language) or demonstrate equivalent competency. Students must also complete 6 hours of language arts, which are automatically satisfied by completing the philosophy course requirements.

Political Science (BA)

- Program Prerequisite: Not required for Political Science major. Political Science Teaching majors must meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Department of Teacher Education). Teaching Majors are also required to take HIST 4500 - Teaching Social Studies in Grades 5-12, for a total of 42 semester hours including HIST 4500.
- Minor: A minor or a double major is required.
- Grade Requirements: Political Science majors must have an overall GPA of 2.00 and a "C" or better grade in courses used toward the major (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable).
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation; 40 upper division credit hours are required (courses numbered 3000 and above). Political Science majors are required to take 39 credit hours within the major; teaching majors must also take HIST 4500 - Teaching Social Studies in Grades 5-12, for a total of 42 credit hours.
- Program Code: 7012BA
- CIPC: 451001

Advisement

All Political Science and Political Science Teaching students are required to meet with Dr. Thom Kuehls, the Political Science faculty advisor, in order to declare their major or minor and to receive program advisement. Call 801-626-6698 or email Dr. Kuehls at tkuehls@weber.edu for more information or to schedule an appointment. Teaching majors are encouraged to also consult with advisors in the Jerry and Vickie Moyes College of Education (call 801-626-6269).

Admission Requirements

There are no special admission or application requirements for the Political Science major. Teaching majors must meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Department of Teacher Education).

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for either Bachelor of Science or Bachelor of Arts requirements. See specific requirements for the BA and BS under the major course requirements. Five Political Science courses can fulfill both general education and Political Science major or minor requirements: POLS 1100 fulfills the American Institutions requirement; POLS 2100, POLS 2200, POLS 2300, and POLS 2400 are all Social Science General Education courses, but students may only count one of these three courses towards the Social Science General Education requirement. Consult with a department advisor for specific general education guidelines. Political Science majors are encouraged to take MATH 1040 (Statistics) to fulfill their Quantitative Literacy Requirement and LIBS 2804 to fulfill of their Information Literacy requirement.

Students who transfer from another institution and who intend to graduate from WSU with a minor in Political Science or a Political Science Teaching minor will be required to take at least two classes in Political Science at WSU. Students who transfer from another institution and who intend to graduate from WSU with a major in Political Science or a Political Science Teaching major will be required to take at least three classes in POLS, plus POLS 4990 Senior Seminar at WSU. These classes must be taken during the calendar year immediately preceding graduation.

AP credit for high school American Government courses will be accepted for Political Science POLS 1100 and POLS 2200. It will count toward the total hours required for graduation and count toward the total of 39 credit hours required for a Political Science major. A score of 3 or higher on the AP U.S. Government and Politics course will count in place of POLS 1100. A score of 3 or higher on the AP Comparative Politics course will count in place of POLS 2200.

Political Science Major Course Requirements for BA

However, none of these courses, if they are being counted for the political science major or minor, may count toward another major or minor. Similarly, if any of these courses are being counted for a major or minor that is not political science, they cannot be counted for the major or minor requirements of political science.

Political Science Teaching (BS)

- Program Prerequisite: Political Science Teaching majors must meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Department of Teacher Education). Teaching Majors are also required to take HIST 4500 - Teaching Social Studies in Grades 5-12, for a total of 42 semester hours including HIST 4500.
- Minor: A minor or a double major is required.
- Grade Requirements: Political Science majors must have an overall GPA of 2.00 and a "C" or better grade in courses used toward the major (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable).
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation; 40 upper division credit hours are required (courses numbered 3000 and above). Political Science majors are required to take 39 credit hours within the major; teaching majors must also take HIST 4500 - Teaching Social Studies in Grades 5-12, for a total of 42 credit hours.
- Program Code: 7013BS
- CIPC: 131317

Advisement

All Political Science and Political Science Teaching students are required to meet with Dr. Thom Kuehls, the Political Science faculty advisor, at least annually for course and program advisement. Call 801-626-6698 or email Dr. Kuehls at tkuehls@weber.edu for more information or to schedule an appointment. Teaching majors are encouraged to also consult with advisors in the Jerry and Vickie Moyes College of Education (call 801-626-6269).

Admission Requirements

To declare your program of study, please contact Debbie Strait in the Political Science Department office at 801-626-6694 (see Enrollment Services and Information). There are no special admission or application requirements for the Political Science major. Teaching majors must meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Department of Teacher Education).

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for either Bachelor of Science or Bachelor of Arts requirements. See specific requirements for the BA and BS under the major course requirements. Five Political Science courses can fulfill both general education and Political Science major or minor requirements: POLS 1100 fulfills the American Institutions requirement; POLS 2100, POLS 2200, POLS 2300, and POLS 2400 are all Social Science General Education courses, but students may only count one of these three courses towards the Social Science General Education requirements. Consult with a department advisor for specific general education guidelines. Political Science majors are encouraged to take MATH 1040 (Statistics) to fulfill their Quantitative Literacy Requirement and LIBS 2804 to fulfill Part D of their Computer and Information Literacy requirement.

Students who transfer from another institution and who intend to graduate from WSU with a minor in Political Science or a Political Science Teaching minor will be required to take at least two classes in Political Science at WSU. Students who transfer from another institution and who intend to graduate from WSU with a major in Political Science or a Political Science Teaching major will be required to take at least three classes in POLS, plus POLS 4990 Senior Seminar at WSU. These classes must be taken during the calendar year immediately preceding graduation.

AP credit for high school American Government courses will be accepted for Political Science POLS 1100. It will count toward the total hours required for graduation and count toward the total of 39 credit hours required for a Political Science major. A score of 3 or higher on the AP U.S. Government and Politics course will count in place of POLS 1100. A score of 3 or higher on the AP Comparative Politics course will count in place of POLS 2200.

Political Science Major Course Requirements for BS

Majors obtaining a Bachelor of Science in Political Science must take a minimum of twelve hours of coursework that emphasizes analysis of data, application of evidence based investigation, formulation and testing of predictive models, or address quantitative methods at a level that requires quantitative literacy. Three of these twelve hours will be met by taking POLS 3990, a core requirement for Political Science majors seeking a Bachelor of Science. Department of Psychological Science

Department Chair: Aaron Ashley

Location: Social Science Building, Room 370

Telephone Contact: Mickey Cole 801-626-6247

Professors: Aaron Ashley, Eric Amsel, Azenett Garza, Joseph Horvat, Leigh Shaw; Associate Professors: Theresa Kay, Shannon McGillivray; Assistant Professors: Sarah Herrmann, Cade Mansfield, Aminda O'Hare, Melinda Russell-Stamp; Instructors: Joel Skaria, Kathryn Sperry

The reasons for selecting a major, minor, or BIS emphasis in Psychology are to understand human behavior and to prepare for careers working or doing research with people. The program is designed for students to learn the core content of psychology and the foundational methods of psychological inquiry, as well as to have opportunities to integrate and apply psychological concepts.

Students majoring (including teaching majors) in Psychology have a program of study which provides training in the foundation in the field but allows for additional coursework in students' areas of interest. BIS students are trained in the conceptual and methodological foundation of the discipline while pursuing topics of interest in the field and related ones. Minors are free to pursue topics of interest to augment their major without the requirement that they acquire the discipline's foundational knowledge, skills, and abilities.

Psychology Curriculum, Requirements, and Policies

The Department of Psychological Science offers a 45 credit hour major, a 20 hour BIS emphasis, and an 18 credit hour minor. The curriculum provides classes addressing the conceptual, methodological, and statistical knowledge of the discipline (Core General Courses), the breadth of the discipline (Core Content Courses), and the integration and application of the discipline (Capstone Experience). Additional classes provide greater content area specialization (Elective Group A) and experiential or individualized instruction opportunities (Elective Group B).

All Psychology major (including teaching major) and minor students must meet with the designated Department

Adviser as soon as they declare to plan their course of study. BIS students with an emphasis in psychology must additionally have their psychology courses approved by the designated Department Adviser (Advising Policy).

To count towards students' degree in Psychology, psychology courses must be passed with a grade of C or higher (Course Grade Policy).

Students declaring a Psychology major, minor, or BIS emphasis in a given catalog year can apply previously completed courses towards their degree (see Course Grade Policy) as long as the courses were taken no longer than 15 years prior to the date of declaration (Course Sunset Policy).

A student with a Psychology major, minor, or BIS emphasis must earn at least a 2.50 Psychology GPA for courses being used for graduation (Psychology GPA Policy).

Students may transfer undergraduate psychology credits from any other accredited institution of higher education toward their degree (see the Sunset Policy) by submitting a request through the University's Transfer Office. Courses taught in departments other than Psychology will not generally transfer as Psychology courses. Lower division (1000- or 2000-level) courses at another institution will not generally count as equivalent to upper division (3000- or 4000-level) WSU courses. To challenge a transfer articulation, please contact the Department Chair with documentation including the syllabi from the courses taken (Transfer Articulation Policy).

Students who are majoring in Psychology must complete at least 9 credit hours of Psychology courses (see Course Grade Policy) in residence at Weber State University; students who are minoring in Psychology must complete at least 6 credit hours of Psychology courses (see Course Grade Policy) in residence at Weber State University (Residency Requirement).

Degree Programs in Psychology

Bachelor of Science

- Psychology Major (BS)
 - 45 credit hours total, including 11 Core General Course credits, 18 Core Content Course credits, 4 Capstone Course credits, and 12 elective credits taken from any area (only 1 course from Area Group 3). However, only a maximum of 6 credits from Electives Group B will be allowed to apply toward the Psychology Major.

- Psychology Teaching Major (BS)
 - 45 credit hours total, including 11 Core General Course credits, 18 Core Content Course credits, 4 Capstone Course credits, PSY 4000 (taken as a capstone or elective), and 9 elective credits taken from any area. Only 6 credits from Electives Group B will be allowed to apply toward the Psychology Teaching Major.

The Psychology Department participates in the Latin American Studies, Linguistics, Neuroscience, and Women & Gender Studies minor programs. Students who wish to enroll in one of these programs should indicate their desire to do so with the relevant program coordinator who will help them work out a proper combination of courses to fit their particular needs. (See the Engaged Learning, Honors, and Interdisciplinary Programs section of this catalog.)

Emphasis Option for Bachelor of Integrated Studies

- Psychology (BIS)
 - 20 credit hours total, including 11 Core General Course credits and 9 credits taken from any area with the approval of the designated Department Adviser.

Honors, Departmental

- Psychology Departmental Honors
 - Department Honors is conferred on students who keep at least a 3.70 GPA in Psychology and 3.25 overall GPA. Students must complete PSY 4910 and 3 credits from the Honors Program. An application for department honors in Psychology is available from the Department Adviser.

Interdisciplinary Minors

Psychological Science (BS)

- Program Prerequisite: None.
- Minor: Required, unless a student is a double major.
- Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better is required in all courses used to fulfill requirements for the psychology major or minor (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable). In addition an overall GPA for Psychology courses of 2.50 or higher is required. Also refer to the general grade requirements for graduation Degree Requirements.
- Psychological Science Sunset Policy: Students declaring a Psychological Science major, minor, or BIS emphasis in a given catalog year can apply previously completed courses towards their degree (see Course Grade Policy) as long as the courses were taken no longer than 15 years prior to the date of declaration.
- Credit Hour Requirements: The University requires a total of 120 credit hours for graduation. For psychology, a minimum of 45 credit hours are required within the major. The University requires a total of 40 upper-division credit hours (courses numbered 3000 and above).
- Program Code: Psychological Science (7055BS)
- CIPC: Psychological Science (420101)
- Students are responsible for applying for graduation: Click here for more information.
- For more information on the major click here to go to the Department of Psychological Science's webpage.

Advisement

After declaring psychology as a major, each student is assigned an advisor. Psychology majors should consult with their advisor each semester prior to registration or as needed. Call the department secretary to schedule an appointment. Psychology teaching majors are encouraged to also consult with an advisor in the Jerry and Vickie Moyes College of Education (call 801-626-6269, Teacher Education Department). (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). There are no special admission or application requirements for the psychology major. Teaching majors must meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Department of Teacher Education).

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. A number of courses in the major fulfill general education requirements (PSY 1010, PSY 2000) or graduation requirements (PSY 2370, PSY 3100).

Psychological Science General Core

General Core

PSY 1010 is required for all courses in the psychology curriculum EXCEPT the following: PSY 1540, PSY 2000, PSY 2020, PSY 2370, PSY 2710, PSY 2400, PSY 3100, PSY 3600, PSY 3605, PSY 3615, PSY 3616, and PSY 4900.

- PSY 1010 SS - Introductory Psychology
Credits: (3)

Statistics and Research Methods

There are two options to complete the required Statistics and Research Methods course sequence in Psychology. A student must complete one option or the other and cannot complete the sequence by a combination of courses in each option.

Option A

This option is strongly encouraged for all Psychology Majors including teaching majors and those with a BIS emphasis. PSY 3615/ 3616 is a yearlong course sequence offered each academic year, with 3615 offered in the Fall of a given academic year and 3616 offered in the Spring. The sequence must be completed in the same academic year and with the same faculty member to complete the departmental Statistics and Research Methods requirement. It is recommended that the course sequence be taken in the junior year and has the prerequisite of PSY 1010 and MATH 1010 or QL with passing grades of C or better.

- PSY 3615 - Psychological Statistics and Methods I Credits: (4)
- PSY 3616 - Psychological Statistics and Methods II Credits: (4)

Option B

PSY 3600 is recommended to be taken no later than first semester junior year and has a prerequisite of MATH 1010, or QL with passing grade of C or better. PSY majors may substitute CJ 3600, SW 3600, or SOC 3600 for PSY 3600, but an additional 3 credits will be added to the graduation requirement (this addition is waived for dual majors).

PSY 3605 is recommended to be taken no later than first semester junior year and has PSY 3600 or its equivalent as a prerequisite/co-requisite.

PSY 3610 is recommended to be taken no later than second semester junior year. PSY 1010 and PSY 3600 (or equivalent with prior approval from the department chair) are required prerequisites. Prerequisite/Co-requisite: PSY 3605 (or equivalent with prior approval from the Department Chair).

- PSY 3600 - Statistics in Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 3605 - Psychology Statistics Lab Credits: (1)
- PSY 3610 - Research Methods in Psychology Credits: (4)

Psychological Sciences Core Content Courses

One of the following courses in each area must be taken to fulfill the core course requirements. However, students may opt to take the other course(s) in each section as electives.

Area A: Biological Basis of Behavior

Select one course from the following:

- PSY 2710 - Biopsychology Credits: (3)
- NEUR 2050 - Introduction to Neuroscience Credits: (3)

Area B: Development Basis of Behavior

Select one course from the following:

- PSY 3000 - Child Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 3140 - Adolescent Psychology Credits: (3)

Area C: Abnormal Psychology

- PSY 3010 - Abnormal Psychology Credits: (3)

Area D: Cognitive Basis of Behavior

Select one course from the following:

- PSY 2250 - Learning and Memory Credits: (3)
- PSY 3255 - Conditioning, Learning, & Behavior Modification Credits: (3)
- PSY 3500 - Cognition Credits: (3)

Area E: Individual Differences and Social Processes

Select one course from the following:

- PSY 3430 - Theories of Personality Credits: (3)
- PSY 3460 - Social Psychology Credits: (3)

Area F: Diversity

Select one course from the following:

- PSY 2000 SS - The Psychology of Human Relationships Credits: (3)
- PSY 2370 - Psychology of Women and Gender Credits: (3)
- PSY 3100 - Psychology of Diversity Credits: (3)

Capstone Requirement

4 credit hours of capstone is required for Psychology Majors and Teaching Majors. Students must complete PSY

4950 (1) and one other 3-credit capstone class listed below to fulfill the capstone requirement.

Students must complete 24 credits in the psychology major and PSY 3610 and PSY 3616 prior to enrolling in capstone courses. Additionally, students must have permission of instructor and/or capstone contract to enroll in the following courses.

Students may opt to take the other courses in this group as an elective.

Note: PSY 4950 requires one of the other capstone courses as a pre-requisite or co-requisite. PSY 4000 is required of teaching majors as a capstone or elective course. PSY 4310 requires PSY 3010 as a pre-requisite. PSY 4905 pre-requisite course(s) will depend on the class topic. PSY 4910 is taken for one semester to complete and defend a research proposal. This course is taken for a second semester to complete and defend the research project.

- PSY 4950 - Capstone Experience: Promoting Psychological Literacy Credits: (1)

Select One Additional Course to Fulfill Capstone

- PSY 4000 - Advanced General Credits: (3)
- PSY 4050 - Evolutionary Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 4090 - History and Systems of Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 4100 - Psychology in the Media Credits: (3)
- PSY 4140 - Theories of Development Credits: (3)
- PSY 4310 - Introduction to Counseling Theories Credits: (3)
- PSY 4760 - Tests and Measurements Credits: (3)
- PSY 4905 - Capstone Selected Topics in Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 4910 - Senior Thesis Credits: (3) (to be repeated twice for credit)

Electives

12 credit hours of electives required for Psychology Majors and Psychology Teaching Majors. Choose courses from Groups A or B below, the General Core, Core Content, or Capstone courses.

Psychological Science Elective Courses

PSY 2830 must be taken prior to completing PSY 3610/PSY 3616, otherwise the student may enroll in PSY 4830. PSY 2830/PSY 4890 require the student to have a current job in the field. PSY 2830 may be taken by non-psychology majors or minors; PSY 4890 requires PSY major or minor status. PSY 4830 requires 18 credit hour of psychology courses, approved by the supervising instructor, one of which must be PSY 1010. Permission of the instructor is also required. PSY 4920 may be used for credit toward a major or minor or BIS in psychology but only when written permission of the department is given at the time of registration.

Electives Group A: Area Specialization Courses

- PSY 2010 - Science and Profession of Psychology Credits: (3)

Psychological Science Teaching (BS)

- Program Prerequisite: None. Psychology Teaching majors and minors must meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Department of Teacher Education).
- Minor: Required, unless a student is a double major.
- Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better is required in all courses used to fulfill requirements for the psychology major or minor (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable). In addition an overall GPA for Psychology courses of 2.50 or higher is required. Also refer to the general grade requirements for graduation Degree Requirements.
- Credit Hour Requirements: The University requires a total of 120 credit hours for graduation. For psychology, a minimum of 45 credit hours are required within the major. The University requires a total of 40 upper division credit hours (courses numbered 3000 and above).
- Program Code: Psychological Science Teaching (7056BS)
- CIPC: Psychological Science Teaching (131335)

Advisement

After declaring psychology as a major, each student is assigned an advisor. Psychology majors should consult with their advisor each semester prior to registration or as needed. Call the department secretary to schedule an appointment. Psychology teaching majors are encouraged to also consult with an advisor in the Jerry and Vickie Moyes College of Education (call 801-626-6269, Teacher Education Department). (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). There are no special admission or application requirements for the psychology major. Teaching majors must meet the Teacher Education admission and licensure requirements (see Department of Teacher Education).

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. A number of courses in the major fulfill general education requirements (PSY 1010, PSY 2000) or graduation requirements (PSY 2370, PSY 3100).

Psychological Science General Core

General Core

PSY 1010 is required for all courses in the psychology curriculum EXCEPT the following: PSY 1540, PSY 2000, PSY 2020, PSY 2370, PSY 2710, PSY 2400, PSY 3100, PSY 3600, PSY 3605, PSY 3615, PSY 3616, and PSY 4900.

- PSY 1010 SS - Introductory Psychology
Credits: (3)

Statistics and Research Methods

There are two options to complete the required Statistics and Research Methods course sequence in Psychology. A student must complete one option or the other and cannot complete the sequence by a combination of courses in each option.

Option A

This option is strongly encouraged for all Psychology Majors including teaching majors and those with a BIS emphasis. PSY 3615/ 3616 is a yearlong course sequence offered each academic year, with 3615 offered in the Fall of a given academic year and 3616 offered in the Spring. The sequence must be completed in the same academic year and with the same faculty member to complete the departmental Statistics and Research Methods requirement. It is recommended that the course sequence be taken in the junior year and has the prerequisite of PSY 1010 and MATH 1010 or QL with passing grades of C or better.

- PSY 3615 - Psychological Statistics and Methods I Credits: (4)
- PSY 3616 - Psychological Statistics and Methods II Credits: (4)

Option B

PSY 3600 is recommended to be taken no later than first semester junior year and has a prerequisite of MATH 1010, or QL with passing grade of C or better. PSY majors may substitute CJ 3600, SW 3600, or SOC 3600 for PSY 3600, but an additional 3 credits will be added to the graduation requirement (this addition is waived for dual majors).

PSY 3605 is recommended to be taken no later than first semester junior year and has PSY 3600 or its equivalent as a prerequisite/co-requisite.

PSY 3610 is recommended to be taken no later than second semester junior year. PSY 1010 and PSY 3600 (or equivalent with prior approval from the department chair) are required prerequisites. Prerequisite/Co-requisite: PSY 3605 (or equivalent with prior approval from the Department Chair).

- PSY 3600 - Statistics in Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 3605 - Psychology Statistics Lab Credits: (1)
- PSY 3610 - Research Methods in Psychology Credits: (4)

Psychological Sciences Core Content Courses

One of the following courses in each area must be taken to fulfill the core course requirements. However, students may opt to take the other course(s) in each section as electives.

Area A: Biological Basis of Behavior

Select one course from the following:

- PSY 2710 - Biopsychology Credits: (3)
- NEUR 2050 - Introduction to Neuroscience Credits: (3)

Area B: Development Basis of Behavior

Select one course from the following:

- PSY 3000 - Child Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 3140 - Adolescent Psychology Credits: (3)

Area C: Abnormal Psychology

- PSY 3010 - Abnormal Psychology Credits: (3)

Area D: Cognitive Basis of Behavior

Select one course from the following:

- PSY 2250 - Learning and Memory Credits: (3)
- PSY 3255 - Conditioning, Learning, & Behavior Modification Credits: (3)
- PSY 3500 - Cognition Credits: (3)

Area E: Individual Differences and Social Processes

Select one course from the following:

- PSY 3430 - Theories of Personality Credits: (3)
- PSY 3460 - Social Psychology Credits: (3)

Area F: Diversity

Select one course from the following:

- PSY 2000 SS - The Psychology of Human Relationships Credits: (3)
- PSY 2370 - Psychology of Women and Gender Credits: (3)
- PSY 3100 - Psychology of Diversity Credits: (3)

Capstone Requirement

4 credit hours of capstone is required for Psychology Majors and Teaching Majors. Students must complete PSY 4950 (1) and one other 3-credit capstone class listed below to fulfill the capstone requirement.

Students must complete 24 credits in the psychology major and PSY 3610 and PSY 3616 prior to enrolling in capstone courses. Additionally, students must have permission of instructor and/or capstone contract to enroll in the following courses.

Students may opt to take the other courses in this group as an elective.

Note: PSY 4950 requires one of the other capstone courses as a pre-requisite or co-requisite. PSY 4000 is required of teaching majors as a capstone or elective course. PSY 4310 requires PSY 3010 as a pre-requisite. PSY 4905 pre-requisite course(s) will depend on the class topic. PSY 4910 is taken for one semester to complete and defend a research proposal. This course is taken for a second semester to complete and defend the research project.

- PSY 4950 - Capstone Experience: Promoting Psychological Literacy Credits: (1)

Select One Additional Course to Fulfill Capstone

- PSY 4000 - Advanced General Credits: (3)
- PSY 4050 - Evolutionary Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 4090 - History and Systems of Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 4100 - Psychology in the Media Credits: (3)
- PSY 4140 - Theories of Development Credits: (3)
- PSY 4310 - Introduction to Counseling Theories Credits: (3)
- PSY 4760 - Tests and Measurements Credits: (3)
- PSY 4905 - Capstone Selected Topics in Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 4910 - Senior Thesis Credits: (3) (to be repeated twice for credit)

Electives

12 credit hours of electives required for Psychology Majors and Psychology Teaching Majors. Choose courses from Groups A or B below, the General Core, Core Content, or Capstone courses. Psychology Teaching majors are also required to take courses required by the Teacher Education program, and also PSY 4000 or PSY 4090. PSY 4000 is recommended as the choice unless a case can be made for PSY 4090.

Psychological Science Elective Courses

PSY 2830 must be taken prior to completing PSY 3610/PSY 3616, otherwise the student may enroll in PSY 4830. PSY 2830/PSY 4890 require the student to have a current job in the field. PSY 2830 may be taken by non-psychology majors or minors; PSY 4890 requires PSY major or minor status. PSY 4830 requires 18 credit hour of psychology courses, approved by the supervising instructor, one of which must be PSY 1010. Permission of the instructor is also required. PSY 4920 may be used for credit toward a major or minor or BIS in psychology but only when written permission of the department is given at the time of registration.

Electives Group A: Area Specialization Courses

- PSY 2010 - Science and Profession of Psychology Credits: (3)
- PSY 2020 - Mental Health Awareness Credits: (3)

Social Work

The goal of social work education at every level is for students to integrate the knowledge, skills, and values of the profession into a generalist practice framework. Social work education takes place in four year undergraduate and two-year graduate programs and leads to professional degrees at the baccalaureate and master's levels, respectively. These levels of education differ from each other in the level of knowledge and skill they expect students to synthesize in practice competence. These distinctions and the discretion provided by the tradition of academic freedom contribute to the desired uniqueness of each program. The Social Work program at Weber State University is accredited at the baccalaureate level by the Council on Social Work Education.

Social Work is a self-regulating profession with sanction from public, private and voluntary auspices. Through all its roles and functions and multiple settings, social work is based on knowledge and competence in evidence-based practice skills, and is guided by professional values and ethics. With its central focus on the transactions between people and their environments, social work uses research and theory from social, behavioral, and biological sciences as well as from social work practice itself, developing a unique perspective on the human condition.

Sound curriculum designs give the educational program the integrated focus inherent in the profession's enduring philosophical base. This ensures historical continuity and provides a stable framework from which to assess and incorporate practice innovations, emerging knowledge, and interdisciplinary exchanges. This combination of curricular stability and flexibility is essential if the program is to respond effectively to changing social forces and provide leadership in the profession's ongoing quest for progressive social change.

It is, therefore, essential that all professional social workers have in common knowledge, skills, and values that are generally transferable from one setting, population group, geographic area, or problem to another.

The Social Work program is designed to: (1) prepare students for generalist entry-level social work practice; (2) prepare students for graduate social work education; (3) prepare students to take the Social Service Worker licensing examination; (4) provide a liberal, interdisciplinary learning experience to help students in their understanding of and adjustment to living in a democratic society; and (5) provide continuing educational opportunities for baccalaureate and paraprofessional social welfare providers.

Gerontology

Gerontology is the multi-disciplinary study of the processes of aging from conception to death with special focus on the later life cycle and the problems associated with aging and the aged in society. Individuals working in the field of aging need a broad range of knowledge that transcends a single academic discipline. The Gerontology Program at Weber State University is designed to: (1) provide preparation for employment in both the private and public sector including working with senior citizen centers, nutrition programs, housing projects, long-term care facilities, state and local aging programs, Hospice, research, senior volunteer programs, job services, retirement planning and other age-related employment; (2) provide continuing education for job enrichment and preparation for persons already in the aging employment sector through consultation, workshops and academic courses to enhance career opportunities; (3) provide general education courses designed to assist students in understanding and dealing with older persons within their family and society at large; (4) encourage students to go directly into aging employment and/or to seek graduate degrees in gerontology or related fields leading to positions in national, regional and local aging network sectors.

Note: No new majors are being accepted in this program at this time. However, the minor, BIS emphasis, and non-degree certificate programs are active and available.

Social Work (BA)

Social Work Major Bachelor's Degree (BS or BA)

- Program Prerequisite: Must be accepted to the program (see Admissions Requirements described later in this section).
- Minor: The Social Work Major requires either: (a) the completion of a minor; or (b) a minor alternative. Minor requirements are found in the University catalog under the specific programs that offer them. As an alternative to a minor, a Social Work Major may choose to complete 18 credits (generally the equivalent of six courses) from a set of approved elective enrichment courses listed below.
- Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better is required in all courses toward and included in this major (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable). In addition, an overall GPA for these courses of 2.5 must be maintained. Also refer to the general grade requirements Degree Requirements. Students not meeting the minimum grade requirements for an individual Social Work course may repeat that course one (1) time before being dropped from the Social Work program. In the rare event a student is unable to complete SW 4860 and SW 4861 in the field agency they are originally placed, at the discretion of the field placement advisor, the student may request a new placement one (1) time only. Students at any time failing to meet the overall GPA of 2.5 will be given a probationary semester to raise their GPA to the minimum standard. Failure to comply with this policy will result in being dropped from the Social Work program.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation; a minimum of 41 of these is required within the major not counting the prerequisite courses totaling 18 semester hours. A total of 40 upper division credit hours is required for graduation from Weber State University (courses numbered 3000 and above).
- Program Code: 7017BA, 7017BS
- CIPC: 440701

Advisement

Students accepted into the program are assigned to a faculty advisor for academic and professional advising. The faculty advisor assists students with course scheduling, academic counseling, and professional self-assessment. Students are required to see their faculty advisor at least one time per semester prior to registration. Call the Social Work/Gerontology office number, 801-626-6157, or the Department Chair, 801-626-6156, for more information or to schedule an appointment. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Requirements

Declare a program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). Satisfactory completion of the following is required prior to formal acceptance into the program:

1. WSU Writing Competency (Composition)*
2. WSU Quantitative Literacy*
3. WSU Information Literacy*
4. 60-63 semester graduation hours (or equivalent) including the prerequisite courses listed below for the Behavioral and Social Sciences, Human Development, and Social Work prerequisites. These courses must be completed with a grade of "C" or better and with a total GPA of 2.5 or better.
5. Students agree to abide by the National Association of Social Workers Code of Ethics.

Note:

 Refer to General Requirements on Degree Requirements*

Courses Required Prior to Formal Acceptance to the Social Work Program

Behavioral and Social Science Prerequisites (9 credit hours)

- ANTH 1000 SS/DV - Introduction to Anthropology Credits: (3)
- PSY 1010 SS - Introductory Psychology Credits: (3)

- SOC 1010 SS/DV - Introduction to Sociology
Credits: (3)

Human Development Prerequisite (3 credit hours)

- ZOOL 1020 LS - Human Biology Credits: (3)

Formal Admission to the Social Work Program

Formal applications for admission to the program will be considered during the semester the student is in the process of completing final prerequisites or anytime thereafter. Applications may be downloaded from the Department's website or obtained at the Social Work office (Lindquist Hall, Room 330). The Admissions and Retention Committee will consider all applications and make one of the following recommendations:

1. Full admission to the program;
2. Admission to the program with contingencies;
3. Denial of admission to the program.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for either Bachelor of Science or Bachelor of Arts requirements. See specific requirements for the BA and BS under the major course requirements. The following courses for the Social Work prerequisite requirements will also fulfill general education requirements: SW 1010 SS CEL - Introduction to Generalist Social Work; ANTH 1000 SS/DV - Introduction to Anthropology; PSY 1010 SS - Introductory Psychology; SOC 1010 SS/DV - Introduction to Sociology; and ZOOL 1020 LS - Human Biology.

Gerontology (BS)

Note: No new majors are being accepted in this program at this time. However, the minor, BIS emphasis, and non-degree certificate programs are active and available.

- Program Prerequisite: Not required.
- Minor: Required.
- Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better is required in all courses used toward the major (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable) in addition to an overall GPA for Gerontology courses of 2.5 or higher. Also refer to the general grade requirements for graduation on Degree Requirements.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation; a minimum of 31 of these is required within the major. A total of 40 upper division credit hours is required for graduation from Weber State University (courses numbered 3000 and above); 19-28 of these are required within the major.
- Program Code: 7006BS
- CIPC: 301101

Advisement

Students are assigned to a faculty advisor for academic and professional advising. The faculty advisor assists students with course scheduling, academic counseling, and professional self-assessment. Students are required to see their faculty advisor at least one time per semester prior to registration. Call the Social Work/Gerontology office number, 801-626-6157, for more information or to schedule an appointment. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). Students must file "Major/Minor Declaration" form with the department office.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. GERT 1010 will fill both a major/minor and general education requirement.

Social Work (BS)

Social Work Major Bachelor's Degree (BS or BA)

- Program Prerequisite: Must be accepted to the program (see Admissions Requirements described later in this section).
- Minor: The Social Work Major requires either: (a) the completion of a minor; or (b) a minor alternative. Minor requirements are found in the University catalog under the specific programs that offer them. As an alternative to a minor, a Social Work Major may choose to complete 18 credits (generally the equivalent of six courses) from a set of approved elective enrichment courses listed below.
- Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better is required in all courses toward and included in this major (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable). In addition, an overall GPA for these courses of 2.5 must be maintained. Also refer to the general grade requirements Degree Requirements. Students not meeting the minimum grade requirements for an individual Social Work course may repeat that course one (1) time before being dropped from the Social Work program. In the rare event a student is unable to complete SW 4860 and SW 4861 in the field agency they are originally placed, at the discretion of the field placement advisor, the student may request a new placement one (1) time only. Students at any time failing to meet the overall GPA of 2.5 will be given a probationary semester to raise their GPA to the minimum standard. Failure to comply with this policy will result in being dropped from the Social Work program.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation; a minimum of 41 of these is required within the major not counting the prerequisite courses totaling 18 semester hours. A total of 40 upper division credit hours is required for graduation from Weber State University (courses numbered 3000 and above).
- Program Code: 7017BA, 7017BS
- CIPC: 440701

Advisement

Students accepted into the program are assigned to a faculty advisor for academic and professional advising. The faculty advisor assists students with course scheduling, academic counseling, and professional self-assessment. Students are required to see their faculty advisor at least one time per semester prior to registration. Call the Social Work/Gerontology office number, 801-626-6157, or the Department Chair, 801-626-6156, for more information or to schedule an appointment. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Requirements

Declare a program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). Satisfactory completion of the following is required prior to formal acceptance into the program:

1. WSU Writing Competency (Composition)*
2. WSU Quantitative Literacy*
3. WSU Information Literacy*
4. 60-63 semester graduation hours (or equivalent) including the prerequisite courses listed below for the Behavioral and Social Sciences, Human Development, and Social Work prerequisites. These courses must be completed with a grade of "C" or better and with a total GPA of 2.5 or better.
5. Students agree to abide by the National Association of Social Workers Code of Ethics.

Note:

 Refer to General Requirements on Degree Requirements*

Sociology

Sociology Coordinator: Marjukka Ollilainen, 801-626-6241

Sociology is the study of social life, social change, and the social causes and consequences of human behavior. Sociologists investigate the structure of groups, organizations, and societies, and how people interact within these contexts. Since all human behavior is social, the subject matter of sociology includes, but is not limited to, street crime and delinquency, corporate downsizing, how people express emotions, welfare or education reform, how families differ and flourish, divisions of ethnicity, gender and social class, religious cults, medicine, media, and other social phenomena. Because sociology addresses the most challenging issues of our time, it is a rapidly expanding field whose potential is increasingly tapped by those who craft policies and create programs. Few fields have such broad scope and relevance for research, theory, and application of knowledge. Sociology is a popular major for students planning futures in such professions as law, business, education, architecture, politics, public administration, urban planning and development, human services, and a myriad of other professions. It also provides a solid foundation for pursuing graduate degrees in related fields. Although a career as a sociologist requires a Master's Degree or PhD, an undergraduate education in sociology can be applied to almost any profession a student pursues.

Interdisciplinary Minors

The Sociology Department participates in the Asian Studies, Ethnic Studies, European Studies, Legal Studies and Women's Studies Minor Programs and the Urban and Regional Planning Emphasis Program. Students who wish to enroll in one of these programs should indicate their desire to do so with the program coordinator who will help them work out a proper combination of courses to fit their particular needs. (See the Engaged Learning, Honors, and Interdisciplinary Programs section of this catalog.)

Anthropology

Anthropology Coordinator: Dr. Brooke Arkush, 801-626-7202

Anthropology takes a holistic approach to describing and explaining human differences and similarities around the world and throughout time. It looks at humans both culturally and biologically within an ecological context. It examines contemporary humans as well as those of the historic and prehistoric past and searches for patterns of human existence. Specialized fields include archaeology, linguistics, ethnology, and biological anthropology. Students are taught to question and examine the significance of beliefs, attitudes and prejudices, and to understand the anthropological position of relativism and valuing cultural and biological variation. The program prepares students for a broad range of public and private sector employment in anthropology-related fields or to enter professional or graduate schools appropriate to their interests. Anthropology is an essential discipline in the 21st Century, contributing knowledge for successful living and working in our diverse human world.

Interdisciplinary Minors

The Anthropology Program participates in the Asian Studies, Ethnic Studies, Environmental Studies, European Studies, Latin American Studies, Linguistics, and Women's Studies Minor Programs. Students who wish to enroll in one of these programs should indicate their desire to do so with the program coordinator who will help them work out a proper combination of courses to fit their particular needs. (See the Engaged Learning, Honors, and Interdisciplinary Programs section of this catalog.)

Archaeological Technician (AAS)

Archaeological Technician

Director: Brooke Arkush

Telephone Contact: (801) 626-7202

Gainful Employment Disclosure

Archaeology can be an emphasis within the anthropology major or minor, part of a Bachelor of Integrated Studies degree, or stand alone as an independent program. The program trains students for work as archaeological technicians, adding a vocational component to an academic discipline. Archaeology, with its modern emphases on scientific problem solving, an evolutionary perspective, and ecological theory, is also a valuable part of a student's science education.

- Grade Requirements: A minimum grade of "C" in courses counted toward fulfilling the major (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable) and an overall GPA of 2.00.
- Credit Hour Requirements: Minimum of 26 credit hours for the Institutional Certificate of Proficiency, which must include ENGL 1010 (3) or equivalent. Minimum of 63 credit hours for the Associate of Applied Science degree, which must include ENGL 1010 (3) (or equivalent), COMM 1020 (3), and MATH 1050 (3) and 9 additional credit hours of general education, including one course in each of the Humanities, Sciences, and Social Sciences areas.
- Program Code: 7019AAS
- CIPC: 450301

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Associate of Applied Science degree requirements.

Transferring students with Anthropology courses can transfer 9 hours of credit from an acceptable Anthropology program.

Advisement

All declared Archaeological Technician students are assigned to the Director of the Archaeological Technician program for advisement. Students are officially notified that they must be formally advised by the Director at least once a year with all contacts posted in their files to be maintained in the department. Contact with the Director is by appointment; undeclared students with questions should also contact the Director of the Archaeological Technician Program, Dr. Brooke Arkush, phone: (801) 626-7202 or the Department of Sociology and Anthropology, phone: (801) 626-6241.

Master of Criminal Justice Program

Program Director: Bradford Reyns
Telephone Contact: 801-626-6151

Who Should Apply

The program is designed for criminal justice and social service professionals who wish to continue their education.

Program Description

The Master of Science Degree in Criminal Justice is designed to provide post-baccalaureate education to criminal justice professionals and traditional students who have not yet begun a career in criminal justice. The primary goal of the program is to develop in graduates the ability to analyze, comprehend, and explore the complex problems confronting the criminal justice system. The program emphasizes theory, research and administration in the criminal justice system. Students will be able to conceptualize the problems of crime and justice from social, cultural, economic, and political perspectives. In addition, the successful graduate will understand research methods and design as well as statistical strategies used to analyze social science research. Course work will also provide a foundation for those students desiring to pursue doctoral studies.

About the Faculty

The graduate faculty brings diverse backgrounds both in terms of education and professional experience. Faculty graduate degrees include Public Administration, Sociology, Criminal Justice, Psychology, and the Law. Past professional experiences among the faculty include law enforcement administration, prosecuting attorney, criminal defense attorney, probation officer, corrections officer, and forensic investigator. Faculty research interests cross the full spectrum of the justice system and include issues related to the police, courts, criminal procedures, adult and youth corrections.

About the Program

The Master of Science Degree in Criminal Justice is a fully on-line degree program that allows students the opportunity to continue their education from anywhere with active Internet service. Applications are accepted on a continuous basis and courses are offered every semester (fall, spring, and summer). In general, students should be able to complete their degree in as few as 12-16 months.

Master of Science in Criminal Justice (MCJ)

Admission Requirements

Admission to the master's program will be competitive and entrance restricted to a limited number of well qualified applicants. Applicants should possess an undergraduate degree from a regionally accredited university or college. Specific admissions criteria include:

- A completed application to the Master of Criminal Justice Program
- A cumulative undergraduate GPA of at least 3.0; or if the cumulative undergraduate GPA is below 3.0, a 3.0 GPA calculated on the last undergraduate work comprising a minimum of 60 semester hours (90 quarter hours) of undergraduate work.*
- Official transcripts from all colleges/universities attended
- A current resume or vita
- A written personal statement explaining interest in the program
- Three (3) Letters of Recommendation
- TOEFL (required for International students and may be required for students who do not use English as their primary language)

*Simply meeting the minimum overall GPA of 3.0 does not guarantee admission into the program

Students should familiarize themselves with the MCJ program policies found on the Criminal Justice Department website.

Graduation Requirements

The Master of Science Degree in Criminal Justice requires the completion of 36 semester hours. Four core courses totaling 12 semester hours are required. These courses are:

- MCJ 6000 - Criminal Justice Statistics (3)
- MCJ 6100 - Contemporary Criminal Justice (3)
- MCJ 6110 - Research Methods in Criminal Justice (3)
- MCJ 6120 - Theories of Crime and Delinquency (3)

A minimum GPA of 3.0 for all courses is required. No "C" grade or lower is allowed in core courses.

The remaining hours will be chosen from elective courses of interest to the student. More than one "C" grade in these courses will not count toward completion of the degree.

Master of Social Work

WSU Master of Social Work (MSW) Eligibility Requirements

To be eligible for admission to the Weber State University Master of Social Work (MSW) Program, applicants must meet the following minimum requirements:

1. Possession of a bachelor's degree or recognized equivalent from an accredited institution. NOTE: Individuals who have earned an undergraduate degree in social work from a CSWE-accredited program can apply for the MSW program with advanced standing status. The undergraduate social work degree must have been granted no more than five years prior the student's first semester in the WSU MSW program.
2. A satisfactory scholastic average, generally a minimum grade-point average of B or better (3.0 on a 4-point scale) in all coursework after the first two years (typically the first 60 semester units or 90 quarter units) of undergraduate study.
3. Significant undergraduate exposure to study in the social sciences. As a minimum this includes at least nine (9) semester credit hours of coursework in the social sciences, such as anthropology, criminal justice, political science, psychology, and sociology (courses in other disciplines a student believes are relevant may be approved by review of course syllabi).
4. A course in introductory statistics, research methods, or quantitative reasoning. This requirement must be satisfied prior to matriculation if you are offered admission.
5. Candidates for advanced standing must also have a course in mental health diagnostics.
6. The following courses are strongly recommended: Introduction to Psychology; Introduction to Sociology; Human Biology or any biology course covering anatomy and physiology that emphasizes the impact of organic, chemical, and body systems impairments on human behavior (NOT Introduction to Biology); social science courses that examine a macro context (e.g., Introduction to Political Science, Introduction to Economics, Introduction to Anthropology, etc.).

WSU Master of Social Work (MSW) Admissions Requirements

Application for admission to the Weber State University Master of Social Work (MSW) Program involves submission of the following:

1. The WSU MSW Program application form.
2. A $30.00 application fee (non-refundable).
3. Official transcripts from all undergraduate institutions attended. Electronic transcripts from a college or university records office are acceptable. Official transcripts in hard copy can be mailed to the ATTN: MSW Admissions, Department of Social Work and Gerontology, Weber State University 1299 Edvalson Street, Ogden, UT, 84408.
4. A resume that outlines the student's employment history, specifically highlighting social work-related experience.
5. An original statement of purpose (three to four double-spaced pages in length, with one-inch margins, and 12-point Times New Roman font). This should include
 - A description of your understanding of the social work profession and its core values. How have you incorporated social work values in your human service experiences and interactions with others? What significant relationships and life experiences have you had in giving or receiving help that have motivated you to enter the field of social work? What personal qualities equip you for the social work profession? Discuss your experiences and feelings about working with populations different from your own.
 - A description of your areas of interest in social work practice, why you have this area of interest, what social problem(s) you expect to address with an MSW, and how the MSW will facilitate change in this or these areas.
 - A discussion of what you expect to be doing in five years and 10 years.
 - An explanation of why the WSU MSW Program is a good fit for your goals.
6. A minimum of three recommendations from academic instructors and/or professional colleagues who have supervised you in a social work-related position (paid, volunteer, or internship). Personal recommendations are not acceptable (i.e., recommendations from friends, family members, or religious leaders).

Grade Requirements

To receive a Master of Social Work (MSW) degree, the student must complete all course in the MSW program, including leveling and/or bridge courses (if applicable) with a grade of "C" or higher, and maintain an overall GPA of 3.0 or higher.

Military Science (Army ROTC)

Chair: Lieutenant Colonel Angelique A. Pifer

Location: Annex 11/Mail Code 4501

Telephone Contact: Jane Michels, 801-626-6518; Fax 801-626-7651

Military Science (Army ROTC) focuses on leadership development. Students pursue the major of their choice while studying Military Science, and graduate with the ability to function effectively as leaders. Upon completion of Army ROTC and graduation from college students become commissioned officers in the active Army, Army Reserve or National Guard.

Instructors, uniforms and equipment are provided at no cost to the student or the University. All contracted students receive $300- $500 per month ($3,000-$5,000 per academic year). Army ROTC also covers the cost of tuition and fees for Army ROTC scholarship students and provides a book allowance of $1,200 per academic year.

The Margin of Difference. Army ROTC cadets learn to be leaders and receive hands-on experience in managing physical, financial, and human resources. They develop self-confidence and superior decision-making skills. Employers value these leadership qualities and recognize associated potential.

Four-Year Program. The traditional Army ROTC program covers four years consistent with normal undergraduate progression (freshman-senior). The four-year program is divided into two parts called the basic course and the advanced course. The basic course is usually taken during the first two years of college. It covers subjects such as land navigation, leadership development, small unit tactics, weapons marksmanship and military history. This program is designed for high performing students who wish to try Military Science without obligation, while enhancing their leadership skills and self-confidence. Upon successful completion of the basic course, students are eligible to enter the advanced course.

Advanced course requirements are normally completed during the junior and senior years. The advanced course further develops and refines leadership competencies, and qualifies the student for a commission in the United States Army. Advanced course students receive a $450 (Junior year) - $500 (Senior year) per month tax-free subsistence allowance [$4,500 (Junior year) - $5,000 (Senior year) per year].

Two-Year Program. This is a special program for junior and community college transfers or students who did not take Army ROTC during their first two years of college. To enter the two year program, a student first participates in a four-week leadership training course. This usually takes place between the sophomore and junior year. Students are paid for attending this instruction, have the opportunity to compete for two-year scholarships, and may receive academic credit.

Scholarships. Army ROTC provides numerous scholarship opportunities. All WSU contracted cadets receive some form of financial assistance, which can include up to 100% tuition, fees, books and other costs paid. High school seniors may qualify for the four-year Army ROTC scholarship. College students may qualify for four, three, or two-year scholarships. Students may choose from two different options. The first option pays the cost of tuition and fees and a flat rate for textbooks and classroom supplies. The second option pays the students up to $10,000 for housing and the same flat rate for textbooks and classroom supplies. The Green to Gold scholarship allows Soldiers serving on active duty to leave the Army early and attend college/ROTC full-time while receiving scholarship benefits. Other scholarship opportunities include: room and book grants and the Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE) program. Nursing students qualify for additional incentives. Call or visit the Department of Military Science for details.

Placement Credit For Veterans. Veterans may qualify for advanced course placement based on prior military experience. Concurrently, they can take full advantage of veteran's benefits and receive financial aid for Army ROTC participation.

Simultaneous Membership Program (SMP). This program is available to cadets who wish to serve in the Army Reserve or National Guard while attending college and pursuing a commission through Army ROTC. SMP students are eligible to receive Reserve drill pay, tuition assistance, other monetary incentives, and $350-$500 per month ($3,000-$5,000 per academic year) from Army ROTC. Call or visit the Department of Military Science for details.

Leave of Absence. Students, including scholarship recipients, who wish to take a leave of absence to serve a mission for their church can do so conveniently before the start of the Junior year.

Commission Requirements. In order to qualify for a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army, each student must:

1. Complete all required Military Science instruction while attending college as a full-time student, and obtain a baccalaureate or higher degree prior to age 31 (age waiver possible for qualified students).
2. Meet medical and physical fitness standards.
3. Be a U.S. citizen.
4. Successfully complete the Leadership Development and Assessment Course.
5. Be recommended by the Professor of Military Science.

Service Obligation. There is no military service obligation for basic course students, unless on scholarship. Advanced course and scholarship (contracted) students incur an obligation to serve in the active Army, Army Reserve or National Guard.

Military Science Minor

- Foundational Courses: In order to enroll in courses leading to the Military Science minor, students should complete MILS 1010, MILS 1020, MILS 2010, MILS 2020 and MILS 2400. The department may award experiential credit for these courses for: prior military service, Advanced Individual Training (AIT), Leader's Training Course (LTC) or Accelerated Cadet Commissioning Training (ACCT).
- Grade Requirements: Obtain a grade of "C" or better in all courses used toward the minor, and a cumulative GPA of 2.5 for Military Science courses.

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics

Dr. Matthew Mouritsen, Dean

The John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics is a leader in preparing students for careers in business. The Goddard School attracts students from across the nation and around the world who desire a quality education.

Nearly 2000 students are enrolled in undergraduate programs in accounting, finance, business administration [with an emphasis in human resource management], marketing, economics, supply chain management, and management information systems; and more than 240 students pursue degrees in the Master of Accounting and Master of Taxation programs, as well as the Master of Business Administration program. Students should note that the Goddard School is accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB) International, the premier global accrediting agency in business and accounting education.

Courses are designed to reflect the rapidly changing business environment. Dedicated faculty use innovative teaching and learning methods throughout the curriculum. The consequences of the global economic environment and international competitive advantage are addressed at the onset of the curriculum and discussed throughout the program. The key issues of technology, analytics, quality management, ethics, and entrepreneurship are applied in many contexts.

A unique feature in the curriculum is the endowed Ralph Nye Lecture Series. In this Series, business leaders visit Weber State University campus to serve as guest lecturers. A wide variety of speakers include executives who have risen to the top of corporate worlds, entrepreneurs who have nurtured an idea into a viable business, and authors and opinion leaders with special insight into the business environment. These speakers make an invaluable contribution to our educational programs.

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Mission Statement

Mission

The John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics provides quality undergraduate and graduate education for developing professionals and career-oriented students. Degree programs are grounded in the university's liberal arts tradition and focused on synthesis of theory across disciplines, the application of theory to practice and the enhancement of professional skills. While we are primarily a regional institution, we seek to prepare our students to succeed in the global economy.

Three principles are central to our mission:

Learning

We champion continuous learning through excellent teaching, close student-faculty interaction, small class sizes, assurance of learning processes, and faculty scholarship designed to improve effective teaching.

Research

Our portfolio of faculty intellectual contributions is diverse including application of theory to practice, advancement within and across disciplines, and utilization of research outcomes to further learning.

Community

We enhance our community through the dissemination of best practices, the provision of economic information and analysis, the engagement in professional organizations and societies, and the creation of strategic relationships which expand life-long learning opportunities for our stakeholders.

Vision

We will be a leader among our peer institutions in providing undergraduate and masters level business and economics education. Through the educational experiences we create, our students will be able to transform themselves into leaders who grow their communities and positively impact the world. We will be known for our scholarship, our commitment to the communities we serve, and our ability to prepare capable graduates.

Graduation Requirements

1. GPA Requirement: Candidates for Goddard School minors, associate degrees, and bachelor of science degrees must complete all prerequisite and required business and economics courses with a grade of "C-" or higher. In addition, the cumulative Business or Economics Foundations GPA, Goddard School (major) GPA, and the overall university GPA must be 2.5 or higher.
2. Residency Requirement: Any student wishing to attain a certificate, minor, associate's degree, or bachelor's degree from the Goddard School must satisfactorily complete 50 percent of the total required course work and 60 percent of the upper-division requirements from the Goddard School. Furthermore, any transferred credit must be approved prior to beginning the program of study.
Any student pursuing a graduate degree from the Goddard School may apply a maximum of 6 credit hours of graduate credit taken at other AACSB International accredited institutions and completed with a grade of B- or better to the Goddard School's graduate degree requirements. Furthermore, the transferred credit must be approved prior to beginning the program of study. All candidates for degrees must be registered at WSU at least one semester following the last commencement prior to graduation.

Admissions

Students intending to pursue a Bachelor of Science, Associate of Science, or minors in Accounting or Economics from the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics must be formally admitted.

Criteria for admittance to the Goddard School:

- Formal admission to Weber State University (WSU)

- Successful completion of ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 and MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 (or their equivalent) with a "C" grade or higher
- Successful completion ("C-" grade or higher) of Business or Economics Foundations with a 2.5 or higher cumulative GPA for the seven or three foundations courses
- Successful completion of admissions course: BSAD 2899 or ECON 2899 (for non-business Economics majors only)
- Overall cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher
- Declaration of business major, minor, emphasis or certificate

Process for admittance to the Goddard School:

1. Register for BSAD 2899 or ECON 2899 (for non-business Economics majors only) concurrent with (same semester as) or after final required Business or Economics Foundations Course. Course objectives are:
 1. Complete assignments found in Canvas.
 2. Complete online application which includes:
 - Goddard School application student information
 - Accepting to abide by the Goddard School Honor Code

A grade of CR (credit) for 2899 equates to being admitted to the Goddard School.

Transcripts need not be submitted unless the student is notified by the Goddard School.

2. Await Notification Email from Goddard School

Advisement

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics majors are strongly encouraged to pursue advising opportunities in the Goddard School. Receiving timely advisement at critical junctures in an academic program will assist students in choosing the appropriate classes, in the appropriate sequence, and in preparing for employment opportunities. Advising for:

- transfer credits, general education, business foundation courses, admission into the Goddard School, major selection, major requirements, minors, second degrees, and certificates is provided by the Goddard School's Advising Team: Alex Muller, WB 211 A, Christine Moua, WB 211B, and Karen Hicks, WB 211C. (801) 626-6534 or advisebusiness@weber.edu.

- major declaration is provided by the Goddard School Advising Center online at <https://weber.edu/goddard/Declare.html>.
- major selection, employment preparation, including internships and resumes, and business etiquette is provided by the Goddard School Career Center, Brett Merrell, WB 213, (801) 626-7914.

Credit Policy

1. Obsolete Credit: John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics credits and certain MATH courses (MATH 1050, 1080, 1090, or 1210) earned more than ten (10) years earlier than the proposed date of graduation will not be accepted toward University or major requirements unless validated through a challenge examination or approved by the appropriate academic department chair.
2. Waiver Requests: Any exceptions to the printed Goddard School graduation requirements must be approved by the appropriate academic department chair prior to waiving, substituting, or taking the course(s) in question.

Transfer Credit Policy

1. Transfer students should submit transcripts from all institutions of higher education to the Weber State University Admissions office. Student Recruitment at (801) 626-6050 will consult with Admissions to determine which general education credits will be accepted by Weber State. Most courses with a grade of "C-" or higher are eligible for credit. However, some courses, such as the General Education MATH and ENGL Core requirements, may require a higher grade.
2. Students should establish transfer of general education work prior to meeting with the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Advisement Center. The Advising Center will consult with Goddard School academic departments to determine credit toward specific Goddard School requirements and address further transfer issues.
3. The Utah System of Higher Education (USHE) Transfer Credit Guide has been established to indicate articulation of equivalent courses between the in-state public colleges and universities. Credits from business courses transferred from institutions not covered by the USHE Transfer Credit Guide are accepted only if approved by the appropriate Goddard School academic departments. Documentation which allows the Advising Center and department chairs to assess the content of courses taken may be required. This documentation may include: catalogs or bulletins; course outlines or syllabi; and transcripts. In the majority of cases, course credit which is not obsolete (see above) taken at institutions accredited by AACSB International will be accepted and applied to the Goddard School's graduation requirements.

4. The Goddard School may require validation for courses taken at other institutions before credit is applied to Goddard School requirements. This validation may consist of either: passing a challenge exam; or completing the next course in a related sequence with a grade of "C" or better. Validation may be required where upper division credit is sought for lower division course work taken at another institution.
5. Students are reminded that the Weber State catalog states, "Acceptance of credit should not be confused with its application. Transfer credit may or may not apply to Weber State's graduation requirements, regardless of the number of credits transferred. Credit other than that intended wholly to meet general education requirements, will be applied to Weber State's specific degree program requirements upon the recommendation of the appropriate department chair." This means credit that is accepted by Weber State may, or may not, apply to specific requirements within the Goddard School.
6. Students transferring credits from institutions outside the U.S. should follow the guidelines for International Students. Transfer credits should appear on the student's WSU transcript before meeting with the Goddard School Advising Center or major department chair.

Jerry & Vickie Moyes Center for Supply Chain Excellence

The Jerry & Vickie Moyes Center for Supply Chain Excellence provides outstanding educational and professional development opportunities for the Weber State Community. For instance, the Center sponsors a broad range of experiential learning activities including case competitions, international study abroad tours, field consulting studies, and mentored-student-led research. The Center also works closely with the business community to advance supply chain thinking and practice, offering development seminars on the "Whole-Brain Supply Chain". Finally, the Center funds research in the areas of supply chain collaboration, process improvement, risk, and sustainability. The Center is located in room 205 of the E.O. Wattis Business Building.

Center for Tax Education & Research

The primary mission of the Center for Tax Education & Research is to provide high quality tax education to WSU students, interested members of the community and business professionals. The Center also actively supports tax research efforts by tax faculty, works with employers to supply jobs to Master of Taxation graduates, fosters relationships with alumni, and supports student recruiting efforts. Additionally, the Center offers continuing education programs to tax professionals and engages in other tax-related activities such as providing tax return preparation assistance to qualifying members of the public at no cost through the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program, hosting student tax competitions, and organizing seminars to discuss contemporary issues in taxation.

Center for Leadership in Corporate Social Responsibility

The Center for Leadership in Corporate Social Responsibility is an action-research center within John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics. We work closely with academia, business, partner organizations, and students to understand and promote socially responsible decision-making and research across the 3Ps (People, Planet, Profit). The Center will inspire students and leaders to engage fully with all of the dimensions of socially responsible decision-making in the workplace.

Hall Global Entrepreneurs hip Center

The Hall Global Entrepreneurship Center offers a wide-range of opportunities to motivate, inspire, and provide unique resources to help students achieve their dream of starting a business, or increase their creativity and develop an entrepreneurial mindset, which is highly sought after by today's employers. Entrepreneurship students can qualify for up to $15,000 in seed funding to help launch a new business. Each year, our center also offers several full-tuition scholarships and nearly $40,000 in prize money from our various business competitions. Students can also attend our lecture series each semester and learn first-hand about the unique challenges and successes from inspirational, local entrepreneurs.

Bill Child Start-Up Center

The Bill Child Start-Up Center provides entrepreneurship students with a comfortable, collaborative space in which to work on their fledgling businesses. The Center also hosts activities for student clubs, such as the Weber Entrepreneurs Association (WEA), and the Young Subaru Entrepreneurship Lecture Series. Each week, Entrepreneurs-in-Residence hold office hours so that students can talk about their start-ups with entrepreneurs, angel investors, venture capitalists, startup lawyers and other key professionals. The Center is located in room 203 of the E.O. Wattis Building.

International Programs

The John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics offers a number of curricular programs and study opportunities designed to enhance the global expertise of our students.

- The Goddard School annually offers faculty-led study abroad programs to countries all over the world. Typical programs are 10 to 14 days in duration.
- The Goddard School is a member of the TransAtlantic Business School Alliance (TABSA), an alliance that unites four European and four U.S. business schools to enable students to have cultural and educational experiences across geographic boundaries. Students may study in a two-to-four-week summer program, in a semester or year-long exchange, or in a double-degree two-year program in which students earn a degree in Business Administration from Weber State University, and a second bachelor's degree from the foreign partner university in international business. The European partners are:

- KEDGE Business School (Marseille, France); Bremen University of Applied Sciences (Bremen, Germany); University of Hertfordshire (Hatfield, England); and University of Valencia (Valencia, Spain). With respect to tuition, Goddard students attend foreign partner universities as pure exchange students. This means that they pay normal Weber State tuition and fees without any additional tuition charge at the partner institution.
- In addition to TABSA partners, the Goddard School has signed cooperative agreements that allow for student exchanges with universities in the following countries: Austria (IMC University of Applied Science Krems, University of Applied Sciences Upper Austria in Steyr); Argentina (Austral University); Belgium (Université Catholique de Louvain); China (Shanghai Normal University); Germany (Hof University of Applied Sciences); Japan (Konan University); South Korea (University of Seoul, Incheon National University, Sookmyung Women's University, Sangmyung University, Kyungpook National University); Poland (University of Warsaw); Spain (University of Alicante). As with TABSA partners, Goddard School students pay normal Weber State tuition without any additional tuition charge.
- The Goddard School offers an International Certificate which may be awarded with a baccalaureate degree offered by the School. This program description can be found under Institutional Certificate in the Degrees and/or Major Minor list.

Business Administration

The Business Administration (BSBA) degree is a general management degree. This major has been described as an undergraduate MBA because of its emphasis on breadth of education across all of the functional areas of business. This degree would be especially appropriate for students who wish to prepare for a generalist career in management rather than a focused career in a specialized area of business such as finance or marketing. It is also a very appropriate degree for the entrepreneurial students who aspire to start or run their own business one day.

Business Administration Human Resource Management (HRM) Emphasis

The student who concentrates in Human Resource Management prepares to apply the knowledge and skills needed to design, manage and deliver key organizational HRM functions. Through this, the HRM professional aids the effective alignment of people management objectives with organizational strategy for the purpose of increasing organizational efficiency and effectiveness. In addition to the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics core requirements, the HRM student studies organizational behavior, leadership and teamwork skills, continuous improvement, effective communication, and information technology. HRM students will also take specialized courses in employment and labor law, employee training & development, recruitment & hiring decisions, and compensation & benefits.

Marketing

This is the only marketing program on WSU's campus. Students concentrating in marketing specialize in course work that deals with business activities involved in developing, communicating, delivering, and exchanging value for all stakeholders.

Courses provide students with traditional and digital marketing concepts and experience in applying them. These courses prepare students to assume responsible positions in industry. Those desiring careers in marketing research or higher levels of corporate management are well prepared to enter graduate programs of their choice.

Business Administration (BS)

- Program Prerequisites: Most business and economics courses with numbers above 3000 require formal admission to the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics and completion of ACTG 2010, ACTG 2020, BSAD 4620, ECON 2010, ECON 2020, MIS 2010, and QUAN 2600. These seven courses are referred to collectively as "Business Foundations." (Refer to John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Requirements.)
- Minor: Not required.
- Grade Requirements: Candidates for the bachelor of science degree must complete all prerequisite and required business and economics courses with a grade of "C-" or higher. In addition, the cumulative Business Foundations GPA, Goddard School (major) GPA, and the overall university GPA must be 2.5 or higher.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation. The required 40 upper-division credit hours (courses numbered 3000 and above) are included in the School and major requirements.
- Residency Requirement: Students must satisfactorily complete 50 percent of the total required course work and 60 percent of the upper-division requirements from the Goddard School. Furthermore, any transferred credit must be approved prior to beginning the program of study. Refer to John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics for credit policy and transfer credit policy.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for the University Bachelor of Science requirements. The following courses required for the Business Administration major will also satisfy general education requirements: ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 (English Composition); MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 (Quantitative Literacy); ECON 2010 or ECON 2020 (Social Science); ECON 1740 is recommended to fulfill the Senate Bill Requirement in American Institutions.

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Requirements

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Curriculum

The program of study within the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics is designed to assist the students from admission to career placement. All degree programs within the Goddard School follow the same general pattern which is composed of five required elements: (1) Liberal Support Curriculum, (2) Business Foundations, (3) Admission and Major Declaration, (4) Business Core, and (5) Major Discipline.

1. Liberal Support Curriculum (6-7 credit hours)

The Liberal Support Curriculum consists of courses outside the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics which provide critical skills and information useful to all business students. Students should complete the Liberal Support Curriculum as soon as possible because the knowledge attained in these courses will be used throughout the business curriculum.

Complete one of the following English courses:

- ENGL 2010 EN2 - Intermediate College Writing Credits: (3)
- ENGL 2015 EN2 - Intermediate College Writing & Research Credits: (4)

Complete one of the following Math courses:

- MATH 1050 QL - College Algebra Credits: (4)

- MATH 1090 QL - Business College Algebra
Credits: (3)

ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 and MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 must be completed with a grade of "C" or higher and may not be taken on a CR/NC basis. Courses required in the Liberal Support Curriculum for Goddard School majors may be used to satisfy specific university and general education requirements.

MATH 1010 is a prerequisite for ECON 2010 and ECON 2020. MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 is a prerequisite for QUAN 2400 and QUAN 2600. Students seeking a degree within the Goddard School of Business & Economics should plan to take the necessary mathematics courses as early as possible in their program of study.

2. Business Foundations Curriculum (17 credit hours)

Each major discipline within the Goddard School designates different course work. Consult the Degrees/Programs listing for the Major course work required. Generally, students should begin taking courses within their major area before completing all of the courses in the Business Core. Refer to department degree maps for assistance in course sequencing.

The Business Foundations Curriculum provides the base for all business and economic degree programs and should be completed early in the student's academic studies. To satisfy the Business Foundations requirement, courses must be completed with a grade of "C-" or higher. However, admittance to the Goddard School requires a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher for the seven Business Foundation courses.

Marketing (BS)

- Program Prerequisites: Most business and economics courses with numbers above 3000 require formal admission to the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics and completion of ACTG 2010, ACTG 2020, BSAD 4620, ECON 2010, ECON 2020, MIS 2010, and QUAN 2600. These seven courses are referred to collectively as "Business Foundations." (Refer to the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Requirements.)
- Minor: Not required.
- Grade Requirements: Candidates for the bachelor of science degree must complete all prerequisite and required business and economics courses with a grade of "C-" or higher. In addition, the cumulative Business Foundations GPA, Goddard School (major) GPA, and the overall university GPA must be 2.5 or higher.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation. The required 40 upper-division credit hours (courses numbered 3000 and above) are included in the School and major requirements.
- Residency Requirement: Students must satisfactorily complete 50 percent of the total required course work and 60 percent of the upper-division requirements from the Goddard School. Furthermore, any transferred credit must be approved prior to beginning the program of study. Refer to John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics for credit policy and transfer credit policy.

Advisement

Advisement is strongly encouraged for all Goddard School majors and minors. See more information on available advising resources in the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics section of this catalog.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for the University Bachelor of Science requirements. The following courses required for the Marketing major (BS) will also satisfy general education requirements: ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 (English Composition); MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 (Quantitative Literacy); ECON 2010 or ECON 2020 (Social Science); ECON 1740 is recommended to fulfill the Senate Bill Requirement in American Institutions.

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Requirements

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Curriculum

The program of study within the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics is designed to assist the students from admission to career placement. All degree programs within the Goddard School follow the same general pattern which is composed of five required elements: (1) Liberal Support Curriculum, (2) Business Foundations, (3) Admission and Major Declaration, (4) Business Core, and (5) Major Discipline.

1. Liberal Support Curriculum (6-7 credit hours)

The Liberal Support Curriculum consists of courses outside the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics which provide critical skills and information useful to all business students. Students should complete the Liberal Support Curriculum as soon as possible because the knowledge attained in these courses will be used throughout the business curriculum.

Complete one of the following English courses:

- ENGL 2010 EN2 - Intermediate College Writing Credits: (3)
- ENGL 2015 EN2 - Intermediate College Writing & Research Credits: (4)

Complete one of the following Math courses:

- MATH 1050 QL - College Algebra Credits: (4)

- MATH 1090 QL - Business College Algebra
Credits: (3)

ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 and MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 must be completed with a grade of "C" or higher and may not be taken on a CR/NC basis. Courses required in the Liberal Support Curriculum for Goddard School majors may be used to satisfy specific university and general education requirements.

MATH 1010 is a prerequisite for ECON 2010 and ECON 2020. MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 is a prerequisite for QUAN 2400 and QUAN 2600. Students seeking a degree within the Goddard School of Business & Economics should plan to take the necessary mathematics courses as early as possible in their program of study.

2. Business Foundations Curriculum (17 credit hours)

Each major discipline within the Goddard School designates different course work. Consult the Degrees/Programs listing for the Major course work required. Generally, students should begin taking courses within their major area before completing all of the courses in the Business Core. Refer to department degree maps for assistance in course sequencing.

The Business Foundations Curriculum provides the base for all business and economic degree programs and should be completed early in the student's academic studies. To satisfy the Business Foundations requirement, courses must be completed with a grade of "C-" or higher. However, admittance to the Goddard School requires a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher for the seven Business Foundation courses.

- ACTG 2010 - Survey of Accounting I Credits: (3)
- ACTG 2020 - Survey of Accounting II Credits: (3)
- BSAD 4620 - Executive Lectures Credits: (1)

- ECON 2020 SS - Principles of Macroeconomics Credits: (3)
- QUAN 2600 - Business Statistics I Credits: (3)
- MIS 2010 - Business Computer Skills Credits: (1)

3. Admissions Process (0 credit hours)

Students intending to pursue a Bachelor of Science or Associate of Science from the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics must take the appropriate admissions course listed below. Students wishing to minor in Accounting or Economics must also take the appropriate admissions course. Other minors and certificates do not require any admissions course. Students should register for this course concurrent with (same semester as) or after their last required Business Foundations Course.

- BSAD 2899 - Business Foundations and Admissions Process Credits: (0)
- ECON 2899 - Economics Foundations and Admissions Process Credits: (0) (for non-business Economics majors only)

Admission and Major Declaration

Refer to the criteria and process for admittance to the Goddard School by visiting John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics.

4. Business Core (33-34 credit hours)

The Business Core exposes students to the traditional areas of business and provides the competencies needed to analyze problems and interact with individuals from different units of an organization.

Everyone working in business needs a knowledge of these areas. Students should take course work within the Business Core as they are completing the courses within the Major Discipline. Many of the courses in the Business Core are prerequisites for other classes. Keeping this in mind and using department degree maps will assist students in course sequencing.

Department of Economics economic tools needed to evaluate complex national and international events that are a part of their daily existence.

Department Chair: Brandon Koford

Location: Wattis Business Building, Room 226

Telephone Contact: Alexa Jones, 801-626-6066

Professors: Doris Geide-Stevenson, Therese Grijalva, Brandon Koford, John Mbaku, Jeff Steagall, Michael Vaughan; Associate Professors: Nazneen Ahmad, Matthew Gnagey, Álvaro La Para-Pérez; Assistant Professors: Andrew Keinsley, Sandeep Rangaraju, Gavin Roberts; Visiting Assistant Professor: Alexey Yukhov

The Department of Economics offers six different degree programs. The career field selected will determine the educational goals a student must set and will be an important element in deciding which of the many avenues towards a bachelor's degree available in economics is best suited for you.

Economics provides general analysis of decision making where resource constraints are present. Within the area of business, the fields of economics and finance are perhaps the most rigorous in terms of the use and application of mathematical and statistical reasoning. Students with a bachelor's degree in Business Economics are generally prepared to start their careers in any area of business, but are particularly prepared for jobs that call for data analysis, pricing, purchasing, and report writing. Business economists are often employed in private business firms in the financial, retailing, and industrial sectors. A complete career guide is available from the department chairperson. A degree in Business Economics is also regarded by graduate business schools as excellent preparation for advanced work toward an MBA, as well as advanced degrees in other business related disciplines such as human resource management, public administration, finance, and international business. Students seeking an advanced degree in economics, law, other social and behavioral sciences, urban and regional planning, actuarial science, etc., should also investigate the Economics Major.

Center for Economic Education

The Department has established a Center for Economic Education. Its basic function is to help educators in secondary and elementary schools improve their understanding and knowledge of economics. This will assist them in providing their students with the fundamental

Business and Economics (AS)

Program Description: The Associate of Science (AS) degree in Business and Economics provides foundational skills and knowledge in accounting, economics, statistics, management information systems, as well as other functional business areas of the students' choice. This skill- and knowledge set will make students more effective business professionals as it introduces communication and analysis tools critical in a professional business environment.

Grade Requirements: Even though a minimum grade of "C-" will be accepted in courses used to satisfy the associate's degree requirements, an overall GPA of 2.5 or higher is required.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 60 credit hours is required; a minimum of 20 of these is required in residence (for transfer students).

- Program Code: 4041AS
- CIPC: 520601

Advisement

Advisement is strongly encouraged for all Goddard School majors and minors. See more information on available advising resources in the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics section of this catalog.

Refer to Degree Requirements for the University Bachelor of Science requirements. The following courses required for the Economics major (BS) will also satisfy general education requirements: ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 (Composition); MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 (Quantitative Literacy); ECON 2010 or ECON 2020 (Social Science); ECON 1740 is recommended to fulfill the Senate Bill Requirement in American Institutions.

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Requirements

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Curriculum

The program of study within the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics is designed to assist the students from admission to career placement. Non business Economics degree programs within the Goddard School follow the same general pattern which is composed of four required elements: (1) Liberal Support Curriculum, (2) Economics Foundations Curriculum, (3) Admission and Major Declaration, and (4) Major Discipline.

1. Liberal Support Curriculum (7-8 credit hours)

The Liberal Support Curriculum consists of courses outside the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics which provide critical skills and information useful to all business students. Students should complete the Liberal Support Curriculum as soon as possible because the knowledge attained in these courses will be used throughout the business curriculum.

- ECON 2010 SS - Principles of Microeconomics (3)
- MATH 1050 QL - College Algebra (4) or MATH 1090 QL - Business College Algebra (3)
- ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 and MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 must be completed with a grade of "C" or higher and may not be taken on a CR/NC basis. Courses required in the Liberal Support Curriculum for Goddard School majors may be used to satisfy specific university and general education requirements.
- MATH 1010 is a prerequisite for ECON 2010 and ECON 2020. MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 is a prerequisite for QUAN 2400 and QUAN 2600. Students seeking a degree within the Goddard School of Business & Economics should plan to take the necessary mathematics courses as early as possible in their program of study.

NOTE: Students looking at Quantitative Economics should take MATH 1050 NOT MATH 1090 as MATH 1090 does not meet the prerequisite requirement for MATH 1210 Calculus I.

2. Economics Foundations Curriculum (9 credit hours)

Each major discipline within the Goddard School designates different course work. Consult the Degrees/Programs listing for the major course work required. Refer to department degree maps for assistance in course sequencing.

The Economics Foundations Curriculum provides the base for all economic degree programs and should be completed early in the student's academic studies. To satisfy the Economics Foundations requirement, courses must be completed with a grade of "C-" or higher. However, admittance to the Goddard School requires a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher for the three Economics Foundation courses.

- ECON 2010 SS - Principles of Microeconomics (3)
- ECON 2020 SS - Principles of Macroeconomics (3)
- QUAN 2600 - Business Statistics I (3)

3. Admissions Process (0 credit hours)

Students intending to pursue a Bachelor of Science or Associate of Science from the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics must take the appropriate admissions course listed below. Students wishing to minor in Accounting or Economics must also take the appropriate admissions course. Other minors and certificates do not require any admissions course. Students should register for this course concurrent with (same semester as) or after their last required Business Foundations Course.

- BSAD 2899 - Business Foundations and Admissions Process (0) or
- ECON 2899 - Economics Foundations and Admissions Process (0) (for non-business Economics majors only)

International Business Economics (BS)

The International Business Economics program is intended for business and economics majors who are strongly interested in working for a multinational business organization or in employment outside of the United States. Apart from building strong foundations in all business disciplines, the program is designed to provide students with study abroad and professional experiences that are complemented with foreign language skills.

- Program Prerequisites: Most business and economics courses with numbers above 3000 require formal admission to the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics and completion of ACTG 2010, ACTG 2020, BSAD 4620, ECON 2010, ECON 2020, MIS 2010, and QUAN 2600. These seven courses are referred to collectively as "Business Foundations".
- Minor: None required.
- Grade Requirements: Candidates for the Bachelor of Science degree must complete all prerequisite and required business and economics courses with a grade of "C-" or higher. In addition, the cumulative Business Foundations GPA, John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics (major) GPA, and the overall university GPA must be 2.5 or higher.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation. The required 40 upper-division credit hours (courses numbered 3000 and above) are included in the School and major requirements.
- Residency Requirement: Students must satisfactorily complete 50 percent of the total required course work and 60 percent of the upper-division requirements from the Goddard School. Furthermore, any transferred credit must be approved prior to beginning the program of study. Refer to John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics for credit policy and transfer credit policy.

3. Admissions Process (0 credit hours)

Students intending to pursue a Bachelor of Science or Associate of Science from the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics must take the appropriate admissions course listed below. Students wishing to minor in Accounting or Economics must also take the appropriate admissions course. Other minors and certificates do not require any admissions course. Students should register for this course concurrent with (same semester as) or after their last required Business Foundations Course.

- BSAD 2899 - Business Foundations and Admissions Process Credits: (0) or
- ECON 2899 - Economics Foundations and Admissions Process Credits: (0) (for non-business Economics majors only)

Admission and Major Declaration

Refer to the criteria and process for admittance to the Goddard School by visiting John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics.

4. Business Core (33-34 credit hours)

The Business Core exposes students to the traditional areas of business and provides the competencies needed to analyze problems and interact with individuals from different units of an organization.

Everyone working in business needs a knowledge of these areas. Students should take course work within the Business Core as they are completing the courses within the Major Discipline. Many of the courses in the Business Core are prerequisites for other classes. Keeping this in mind and using department degree maps will assist students in course sequencing.

Required Core Courses

Advisement

Advisement is strongly encouraged for all Goddard School majors and minors. See more information on available advising resources in the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics section of this catalog.

Use Grad MAPs to plan your degree

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for the University Bachelor of Science requirements. The following courses required for the International Economics major (BS) will also satisfy general education requirements: ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 (Composition); MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 (Quantitative Literacy); ECON 2010 or ECON 2020 (Social Science); ECON 1740 is recommended to fulfill the Senate Bill Requirement in American Institutions.

MATH 1010 is a prerequisite for ECON 2010 and ECON 2020. MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 is a prerequisite for ECON 2010, QUAN 2400, and QUAN 2600. Students seeking a degree within the Goddard School of Business & Economics should plan to take the necessary mathematics courses as early as possible in their program of study.

Course Requirements for International Business Economics BS Degree

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Requirements

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Curriculum

The program of study within the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics is designed to assist the students from admission to career placement. Non business Economics degree programs within the Goddard School follow the same general pattern which is composed of four required elements: (1) Liberal Support Curriculum, (2) Economics Foundations Curriculum, (3) Admission and Major Declaration, and (4) Major Discipline.

1. Liberal Support Curriculum (7-8 credit hours)

The Liberal Support Curriculum consists of courses outside the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics which provide critical skills and information useful to all business students. Students should complete the Liberal Support Curriculum as soon as possible because the knowledge attained in these courses will be used throughout the business curriculum.

- ECON 2010 SS - Principles of Microeconomics (3)
- MATH 1050 QL - College Algebra (4) or MATH 1090 QL - Business College Algebra (3)
- ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 and MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 must be completed with a grade of

"C" or higher and may not be taken on a CR/NC basis. Courses required in the Liberal Support Curriculum for Goddard School majors may be used to satisfy specific university and general education requirements.

- MATH 1010 is a prerequisite for ECON 2010 and ECON 2020. MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 is a prerequisite for QUAN 2400 and QUAN 2600. Students seeking a degree within the Goddard School of Business & Economics should plan to take the necessary mathematics courses as early as possible in their program of study.

NOTE: Students looking at Quantitative Economics should take MATH 1050 NOT MATH 1090 as MATH 1090 does not meet the prerequisite requirement for MATH 1210 Calculus I.

2. Economics Foundations Curriculum (9 credit hours)

Each major discipline within the Goddard School designates different course work. Consult the Degrees/Programs listing for the major course work required. Refer to department degree maps for assistance in course sequencing.

The Economics Foundations Curriculum provides the base for all economic degree programs and should be completed early in the student's academic studies. To satisfy the Economics Foundations requirement, courses must be completed with a grade of "C-" or higher. However, admittance to the Goddard School requires a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher for the three Economics Foundation courses.

- ECON 2010 SS - Principles of Microeconomics (3)
- ECON 2020 SS - Principles of Macroeconomics (3)
- QUAN 2600 - Business Statistics I (3)

3. Admissions Process (0 credit hours)

Students intending to pursue a Bachelor of Science or Associate of Science from the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics must take the appropriate admissions course listed below. Students wishing to minor in Accounting or Economics must also take the appropriate admissions course. Other minors and certificates do not require any admissions course. Students should register for this course concurrent with (same semester as) or after their last required Business Foundations Course.

- BSAD 2899 - Business Foundations and Admissions Process (0) or
- ECON 2899 - Economics Foundations and Admissions Process (0) (for non-business Economics majors only)

4. Admission and Major Declaration

Refer to the criteria and process for admittance to the Goddard School by visiting John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics.

3. Major Course Requirements for International Economics BS Degree (46 credit hours)

School of Business & Economics Courses Required (31)

Department of Supply Chain & Management Information Systems

Department Chair: Seokwoo Song

Location: Wattis Business Building, Room 205

Telephone Contact: Nancy Tomon, 801-626-7368

Professors: Randy Boyle, Stan Fawcett, Taowen Le, Shane Schvaneveldt, Seokwoo Song; Associate Professors: Dee Fawcett, Grace Zhang; Assistant Professors: Evan Barlow, Jeffrey Clements, Francois Giraud-Carrier, Alicia Ingersoll, Ben Neve

The Department of Supply Chain & Management Information Systems offers two Bachelor of Science degree programs. Supply Chain Management (SCM) provides students with the specialized skills to manage key value-added processes, inspire creative decision-making, and collaborate effectively with decision makers across the firm and around the world. The SCM program offers a whole-brain approach that incorporates relational and interpersonal skills with the technical side of logistics and operations management. Management Information Systems (MIS) prepares students to successfully navigate the business world by building technical, managerial and communication skills. The depth and breadth of technical know-how gained in the MIS program prepares students for a successful career as an Information Systems professional, helping organizations support business processes and solve business problems.

Supply Chain Management (SCM)

Supply Chain Management is "the value creation engine of every organization."

Everyone who participates in the creation and distribution of a product is part of a supply chain, and a Supply Chain Management major learns how to choreograph and manage this entire chain of activities from suppliers, manufacturers, service providers and distributors, to consumers.

With its origins dating back to 1969, Weber State University's Supply Chain Management program is one of the oldest programs in the United States. Our program covers the depth and breadth of SCM, giving our students the foundation for successful careers in logistics, purchasing, operations, and other areas of supply chain management.

Employers recognize our graduates as some of the best in the field, and the demand for Weber State University SCM graduates is strong. Traditionally, graduates from our SCM program enjoy the highest average starting salary of all business majors, and job opportunities exceed the number of graduates. Global and area companies hiring our SCM graduates include Kimberly Clark, Toyota, Ford Motor Company, Autoliv, Orbital ATK, Intermountain Healthcare, Wal-Mart, J.C. Penney Company, UPS, Northrop Grumman, and the U.S. Air Force.

The endowed Jerry & Vickie Moyes Center for Supply Chain Excellence supports opportunities in research, scholarship, and experiential learning for faculty and students. We are fortunate to enjoy an active relationship with our industry partner board which provides real-world insight for our program along with mentoring and internship opportunities for our students. In addition to many opportunities for internships, our supply Chain Management majors frequently also receive several scholarships from professional associations and area companies as well as from the Moyes Center.

Management Information Systems (MIS)

A bachelor's degree in Management Information Systems provides students with a balanced education between business and information technologies. It provides students with a broad background in basic business knowledge, problem solving, and computer technology and skills. Graduates from this major are prepared to help organizations use computer technology to support their business processes and solve their business problems. Technologies that all MIS majors study include software development, computer architecture, database design, computer networks, and systems analysis and design. In addition, students may also elect to study advanced networks, web development and management, data analytics, information security and computer forensics. The MIS lab provides hands-on experience in the latest technologies, including 3D printing, machine learning, and AI technologies.

Management Information Systems graduates may work for a large organization, specializing in one aspect of information technology, or as one of a few people supporting all areas of a smaller firm's computer technologies. The job will involve working with people to understand how they do their jobs and where computers can be most effective, implementing computer-based solutions, training people to use computer systems, installing and troubleshooting hardware, software, or networks, and helping management understand and plan for the best new technologies to integrate in the organization's business processes.

MIS graduates are well prepared for graduate school as well, frequently accepted to top graduate programs. The MIS Advisory Board maintains strong relationships with national and local employers, ensuring our program is developing graduates with skills to meet the current and future needs of business.

Management Information Systems (AS)

- Program Prerequisite: Most business and economics courses with numbers above 3000 require formal admission to the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics and completion of ACTG 2010, ACTG 2020, ECON 2010, ECON 2020, MIS 2010, and QUAN 2600. These six courses are referred to collectively as "Business Foundations." All IST courses numbered above 3000 require Business Foundations except MIS 3210 and MIS 3610. (Refer to the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Requirements.)
- Grade Requirements: Even though a minimum grade of "C-" will be accepted in courses used to satisfy the associate's degree requirements, an overall GPA of 2.5 or higher is required.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 60 credit hours is required; a minimum of 25 of these is required within the AS program.
- Program Code: 4045AS
- CIPC: 521201

Advisement

Advisement is strongly encouraged for all Goddard School majors and minors. See more information on available advising resources in the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics section of this catalog.

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Requirements

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Curriculum

The program of study within the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics is designed to assist the students from admission to career placement. All degree programs within the Goddard School follow the same general pattern which is composed of five required elements: (1) Liberal Support Curriculum, (2) Business Foundations, (3) Admission and Major Declaration, (4) Business Core, and (5) Major Discipline.

1. Liberal Support Curriculum (6-7 credit hours)

The Liberal Support Curriculum consists of courses outside the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics which provide critical skills and information useful to all business students. Students should complete the Liberal Support Curriculum as soon as possible because the knowledge attained in these courses will be used throughout the business curriculum.

Complete one of the following English courses:

- ENGL 2010 EN2 - Intermediate College Writing Credits: (3)
- ENGL 2015 EN2 - Intermediate College Writing & Research Credits: (4)

Complete one of the following Math courses:

- MATH 1050 QL - College Algebra Credits: (4)
- MATH 1090 QL - Business College Algebra Credits: (3)

ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 and MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 must be completed with a grade of "C" or higher and may not be taken on a CR/NC basis. Courses required in the Liberal Support Curriculum for Goddard School majors may be used to satisfy specific university and general education requirements.

MATH 1010 is a prerequisite for ECON 2010 and ECON 2020. MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 is a prerequisite for QUAN 2400 and QUAN 2600. Students seeking a degree within the Goddard School of Business & Economics should plan to take the necessary mathematics courses as early as possible in their program of study.

2. Business Foundations Curriculum (17 credit hours)

Each major discipline within the Goddard School designates different course work. Consult the Degrees/Programs listing for the Major course work required. Generally, students should begin taking courses within their major area before completing all of the courses in the Business Core. Refer to department degree maps for assistance in course sequencing.

The Business Foundations Curriculum provides the base for all business and economic degree programs and should be completed early in the student's academic studies. To satisfy the Business Foundations requirement, courses must be completed with a grade of "C-" or higher. However, admittance to the Goddard School requires a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher for the seven Business Foundation courses.

- ACTG 2010 - Survey of Accounting I Credits: (3)
- ACTG 2020 - Survey of Accounting II Credits: (3)
- BSAD 4620 - Executive Lectures Credits: (1)
- ECON 2010 SS - Principles of Microeconomics Credits: (3)
- ECON 2020 SS - Principles of Macroeconomics Credits: (3)
- QUAN 2600 - Business Statistics I Credits: (3)

- MIS 2010 - Business Computer Skills Credits: (1)

3. Admissions Process (0 credit hours)

Students intending to pursue a Bachelor of Science or Associate of Science from the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics must take the appropriate admissions course listed below. Students wishing to minor in Accounting or Economics must also take the appropriate admissions course. Other minors and certificates do not require any admissions course. Students should register for this course concurrent with (same semester as) or after their last required Business Foundations Course.

- BSAD 2899 - Business Foundations and Admissions Process Credits: (0) or
- ECON 2899 - Economics Foundations and Admissions Process Credits: (0) (for non-business Economics majors only)

Admission and Major Declaration

Refer to the criteria and process for admittance to the Goddard School by visiting John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics.

4. Business Core (33-34 credit hours)

The Business Core exposes students to the traditional areas of business and provides the competencies needed to analyze problems and interact with individuals from different units of an organization.

Everyone working in business needs a knowledge of these areas. Students should take course work within the Business Core as they are completing the courses within the Major Discipline. Many of the courses in the Business Core are prerequisites for other classes. Keeping this in mind and using department degree maps will assist students in course sequencing.

Required Core Courses

- QUAN 3610 - Business Statistics II Credits: (3)
- BSAD 3200 - Legal Environment of Business Credits: (3)

Gainful Employment Disclosure

The Graduate Certificate in Sustainability for Business is designed for graduate students to explore and evaluate how business organizations can address sustainability issues to meet societal needs and create competitive advantages. Students must complete four courses (minimum of 12 credit hours) of existing MBA elective courses in environmental sustainability in order to be awarded the Graduate Certificate in Sustainability for Business. The certificate can be completed along with the MBA Degree at the Goddard School of Business and Economics or as a stand-alone certificate.

- Program Prerequisite: Applicants must possess a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited institution or be in the final stage of completing the undergraduate degree. Completion of a course in college algebra or equivalent is required to enroll in MBA courses. Basic computer competency is also required.
- Grade Requirements: Students must complete all MBA program courses with a grade of "C" or higher. In addition, the overall program GPA must be 3.0 or higher.
- Credit Hour Requirements: Twelve credit hours of existing MBA elective courses in environmental sustainability.
- Program Code: 4039GC
- CIPC: 520101

Courses Required for Graduate Certificate

- MBA 6700 - Managing for Sustainability Credits: (3)
- MBA 6715 - Sustainability Tools and Methods Credits: (3)

- MBA 6720 - Business, Economics, and the Environment Credits: (3)

Elective Courses for the Graduate Certificate

- MBA 6730 - Consulting Project in Sustainability Credits: (3) Or
- Any approved MBA course Credits (3) And
- MBA 6800 - Directed Study Credits: (1-3)
(The subject of the directed study should build upon sustainability topics related to the approved MBA class)

Master of Business Administration (MBA)

- Program Prerequisite: Applicants must have earned a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited institution (or international equivalent) or be in the final stage of completing the undergraduate degree. If proof of completion of the bachelor's degree has not been received prior to the start of an admitted student's first semester in the MBA Program, they will not be allowed to start classes in the program until an official transcript with the posted bachelor's degree has been received by the MBA Program office. Completion of a course in college algebra or equivalent is required to enroll in MBA courses. Basic computer competency is also required.
- Grade Requirements: To earn the MBA degree, candidates must complete all MBA program courses with a grade of "C" or higher. In addition, the overall cumulative MBA Program GPA must be 3.0 or higher, excluding transfer credits from other WSU graduate programs or other institutions. An elective course in which a grade lower than "C" is earned may be repeated or another elective may be taken in its place. Failure to maintain a 3.0 grade point average after two consecutive semesters, will result in academic probation in accordance with departmental policies. Students must meet with their academic advisor after notification of academic probation. Two consecutive semesters of academic probation will result in suspension from the program. A waiver of suspension will be considered according to due process.
- Credit Hour Requirements: The MBA degree ordinarily requires a minimum of 36 semester hours of graduate work for persons with a recent undergraduate business degree from an AACSB-accredited business school. Individuals with business undergraduate degrees from non-AACSB-accredited schools may be required to complete additional foundations course work contingent on departmental analysis of their undergraduate transcripts. For persons with a non-business undergraduate degree, the program typically requires 54 semester hours, including foundations or leveling courses. Exemptions from foundations courses may be made based on equivalent undergraduate coursework. Specific program and course requirements are shown below.

- Program Code: Business Undergrade (4026MBA1), Non-Business Undergrade (4026MBA2)
- CIPC: 230101

Major Field Exemption

Students with business-related undergraduate degrees are exempted from the required MBA course in their major field of study (e.g. accounting, finance, economics, information systems, marketing, management, supply chain management, human resources) and will take an additional elective MBA course in its place.

The MBA Program Office must approve each MBA student's plan of study. The plan of study will show all courses necessary to meet the degree requirements. A formal plan of study will be filed when a student is accepted into the program.

If students deviate from their program of study without PRIOR written and documented departmental approval, those courses will NOT be counted toward graduation. Taking unapproved courses will be a costly and time intensive mistake. If you are in doubt about a course, please call or email the office and make an appointment with your advisor BEFORE starting the class.

Non-MBA Electives

Qualified students may take up to two MACC (Master of Accounting), MHA (Master of Health Administration), or MTAX (Master of Taxation) courses as MBA electives, counting six credit hours toward their MBA elective requirements. Four MHA courses may be counted towards MBA elective requirements for dual MBA-MHA degree students. Please contact the department to assure you meet pre-requisites for your desired elective and for assistance in getting an over ride in order to add the class to your schedule.

Qualified graduate students currently accepted into other Weber State University grad programs may cross over and take classes from the MBA. Students must meet all pre-requisites for any MBA class they may choose. An email from your graduate advisor stating that they will accept the MBA class as an elective into your program is required. Have them email staylor13@weber.edu requesting the course with the student's W number. An over ride to register will be placed in Banner and the student notified that they can add the class to their schedule.

Transfer Credits/Residency Requirements

The minimum residency requirements for the Goddard School MBA Program is two-thirds of the required number of credit hours for undergraduate business majors (the 36-hour track) and for non-business majors (the 54-hour track). Students who have completed business-related graduate course work at another AACSB-accredited institution prior to admission to the program may apply for transfer of graduate credits to satisfy their Goddard School MBA program of study, the number of transfer credits not to exceed the minimum residency requirements for the 36-hour or 54-hour program tracks (see above). Once admitted to the program, students may transfer only elective credits into the program from another AACSB-accredited institution. Required course credits may be accepted in transfer from another institution after admission to the Goddard School MBA Program only in circumstances where the student is unable to complete all required courses in residence due to relocation. All transfers are subject to program approval.

Time to Degree Completion

MBA students have a maximum of six calendar years to complete their degree completion requirements, starting from the first semester during which the student has registered for and begun taking classes. Students who exceed this requirement may submit a letter of appeal to the MBA Program Director to request that this requirement be waived. Students who fail to enroll in MBA courses for more than six years must apply for readmission to the program.

Admission Requirements

In addition to the program prerequisites specified above, the primary criteria in determining eligibility for admission to the Goddard School MBA Program are: previous academic achievement, performance on the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT) or Graduate Record Examination (GRE), and other factors such as work experience and career progression. The ideal applicant will present a strong overall previous academic record, strong letters of recommendation, and an above average total GMAT/GRE score, including high achievement on the verbal, quantitative, and analytical writing assessments.

Applicants are exempt from the GMAT/GRE requirement under the following circumstances:

- if you have successfully completed one semester of college algebra AND;
- if you have previously earned a graduate degree from a regionally-accredited university (or international equivalent) OR;
- if your undergraduate GPA and relevant career experience match the following criteria:
 - 3.5+ GPA and 5+ years of relevant post-undergraduate career experience
 - 3.0 - 3.5 GPA and 10+ years of relevant post-undergraduate career experience

Applicants must submit a completed application form and current resume, as well as transcripts from every institution of higher education attended. Letters of recommendation from appropriate professional and/or academic references are also required. Each applicant is considered on an individual basis. The MBA program will have limited enrollment. Any applicant who is admitted while other courses or programs are still in process of completion is admitted conditionally.

Additional Admission Requirements for International Students:

All international students and any applicant educated outside the U.S. must demonstrate proficiency in English. Those whose native language is not English, or whose language of instruction for their undergraduate degree was not English, will be required to submit a score from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) which is not more than two years old and on which a minimum score of 550 (paper-based) or 213 (computer-based) or 80 internet based has been earned. Equivalent IELTS score also accepted in place of TOEFL.

In addition to a TOEFL or IELTS score, all applicants educated outside the U.S. must submit transcripts that have been evaluated by a WSU approved foreign credentials evaluation service. For a list of approved agencies, click here: <http://www.weber.edu/issc/credentials.html>

A translated transcript is not accepted. Transcripts must be evaluated on a course-by-course format, showing U.S. semester credit and grade equivalent for each course based on a 4.0 GPA scale.

Students participating in WSU approved "Exchange Programs" within the Goddard School of Business and Economics must meet the following requirements:

1. Partner school must nominate student
2. Provide evidence of English proficiency by a TOEFL or IELTS score as indicated above
3. Meet all application and visa requirements as established by the International Students office. More information is available at this link: <http://www.weber.edu/issc>

Master of Accounting Program (MAcc)

Program Director: Ryan Pace, 801-626-7562

Website: www.weber.edu/macc

An accounting professional in today's environment must possess a high level of technical competence, a sense of commitment to service, communication skills, analytical skills, and the ability to work well with people. To obtain the required body of knowledge and to develop the skills and abilities needed to be successful accounting professionals, serious consideration must be given to study beyond a four-year baccalaureate program. The Master of Accounting (MAcc) Program provides an additional year of training for the professional accountant. In addition, the MAcc satisfies the requirements of the Utah Certified Public Accountant Licensing Act for those wishing to sit for the Uniform CPA Examination. It gives the students an opportunity to increase the depth of their understanding in key areas and allows a broadening of perspective by providing course work in a variety of areas that cannot be considered in an undergraduate program due to time constraints.

- Grade Requirements: A Master of Accounting MAcc student must complete all MAcc program courses, including electives, and any leveling courses, with a grade of "C" or higher. In addition, the overall program GPA must be 3.0 or higher.
- Credit Hour Requirements: The program requires a minimum of 30 semester hours beyond a bachelor's degree in accounting.
- Exit Survey Requirements: The program requires all graduating students to satisfactorily complete all exit surveys as assigned by the department.
- Program Code: 4037MAcc
- CIPC: 520301

Admissions Requirements

- A four year Bachelor's degree. If the degree is not in Accounting, leveling courses will be required for acceptance into the program.
- Acceptable GMAT results unless the applicant has secured a GMAT waiver. Contact the program director for more details regarding possible GMAT waivers.

- Acceptable grade point average in each of the following three areas:
 1. Overall GPA
 2. The last 60 credit hours of undergraduate work
 3. Accounting course work only

Applicants must submit an online application, official GMAT results, current resume, and official transcripts from every institution of higher education attended. Two letters of recommendation are required. At least one of those letters should come from individuals who can evaluate the applicant's academic abilities. All letters should address the applicant's potential for successful graduate study. Each applicant is considered on an individual basis.

Additional Admission Requirements for International Students:

All international students and any applicant educated outside the U.S. must demonstrate proficiency in English. Those whose native language is not English, or whose language of instruction for their undergraduate degree was not English, will be required to submit a score from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) or International Language Testing System (IELTS) which is not more than two years old. The TOEFL must have a minimum score of 80 (Internet-Based) and the IELTS must have a minimum of 6.5 with a minimum of 5.0 on each section. International students may be required to have their foreign transcript evaluated for U.S. equivalency.

Application

Application for admission to the Master of Accounting Program should normally be made by August 1 (fall semester), December 1 (spring semester), and April 1 (summer semester) of the year during which admission is sought. Application for admission must include official GMAT results, official undergraduate transcripts, resume, and two letters of recommendation.

It is expected that the Master of Accounting Program will entail a minimum of two semesters of full-time study for a student with a bachelor's degree in accounting. Students with other business-related degrees can expect to spend about two years in the program. Those with non-business related undergraduate degrees should plan to spend at least three years in the program.

Contact the School of Accounting & Taxation for a separate and detailed bulletin on the Master of Accounting Program.

Advisement

For questions concerning academic advisement, the primary source of contact will be the Master of Accounting Program Advisor or Director. For issues regarding registration and scheduling, students will contact the School of Accounting & Taxation Administrative Specialist. Career services are offered through the Goddard School of Business & Economics Career Center.

Master of Taxation (MTax)

Program Director: Ryan Pace, 801-626-7562

Website: www.weber.edu/mtax

The tax laws are vast, complex, and dynamic. Basic tax courses at the undergraduate level do not provide sufficient breadth or depth of coverage for future CPAs and tax consultants. Consequently, instruction at the graduate level is necessary. Tax law is a major branch of accounting. The Master of Taxation degree gives more recognition to a graduate as a tax specialist than does a Master of Accounting degree. The program is designed to provide students with the highly technical and demanding skills necessary to be effective tax and business consultants. Students will also acquire important tools necessary for effective research and communication in taxation.

- Grade Requirements: A Master of Taxation (MTax) student must complete all MTax program courses, including electives, and any leveling courses, with a grade of "C" or higher. In addition, the overall program GPA must be 3.0 or higher.
- Credit Hour Requirements: The program requires a minimum of 30 semester hours beyond a bachelor's degree in accounting.
- Exit Survey Requirements: The program requires all graduating students to satisfactorily complete all exit surveys as assigned by the department.
- Program Code: 4033MTAX
- CIPC: 521601

Admissions Requirements

- A four year Bachelor's degree. If the degree is not in Accounting, leveling courses may be required.
- Acceptable GMAT results unless the applicant has secured a GMAT waiver. Contact the program director for more details regarding possible GMAT waivers.

Accounting

The School of Accounting & Taxation creates a synergy between accounting, business, and economic theory and contemporary practice to prepare working professionals and full-time students for careers in a global, culturally diverse, information-driven economy. Three principles are central to our mission:

- Education - The first, and foremost, is fostering learning through excellent teaching, individual attention, and scholarship, which develops, assesses, and disseminates good practice.
- Research - The second is the application of theory to practice through applied research and scholarship, and the utilization of applied research to further learning in the classroom and through co-curricular activities.
- Community - The third is advancing contemporary practice and creating learning opportunities by contributing to the accounting profession and to business and the community.

Accounting is defined as the process of gathering, classifying, interpreting, and presenting financial and non-financial information for decision-making purposes to diversified user groups. The field of accounting encompasses the well-recognized profession of public accounting including auditing, management advisory services, and tax services; professional careers in industry such as management accounting (controllanship), cost accounting, and internal auditing; careers in various governmental agencies and other accounting and business-related fields.

Certification in public accounting in Utah requires 30 semester hours beyond a baccalaureate degree. Students should take advantage of opportunities to prepare themselves to sit for one of the professional examinations

(such as Certified Public Accountant, Certified Management Accountant, and/or Certified Internal Auditor) at the culmination of their accounting program.

Finance

After studying in the School's core courses about the various functions in organizations, the student who concentrates in finance learns how to efficiently acquire, allocate, and control a firm's financial resources.

A background in finance will prepare the student to: (1) conduct detailed financial analyses; (2) relate the financial environment of an organization to the policies that organization will need for optimum returns; and (3) select and analyze investment opportunities for both individuals and organizations.

Accounting (BS)

- Program Prerequisites: Most business and economics courses with numbers above 3000 require formal admission to the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics and completion of ACTG 2010, ACTG 2020, BSAD 4620, ECON 2010, ECON 2020, MIS 2010, and QUAN 2600. These six courses are referred to collectively as "Business Foundations." All Accounting courses numbered above 3000 require admission to the Goddard School and Business Foundations except ACTG 3110 and ACTG 3400.
- Minor: Not required.
- Grade Requirements: Candidates for the bachelor of science degree must complete all prerequisite and required business and economics courses with a grade of "C-" or higher. In addition, the cumulative Business Foundations GPA, John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics (major) GPA, and the overall university GPA must be 2.5 or higher.
- Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation. The required 40 upper-division credit hours (courses numbered 3000 and above) are included in the School and major requirements.
- Residency Requirement: Students must satisfactorily complete 50 percent of the total required course work and 60 percent of the upper-division requirements from the Goddard School. Furthermore, any transferred credit must be approved prior to beginning the program of study. Refer to John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics for credit policy and transfer credit policy.
- Exit Survey Requirements: The program requires all graduating students to satisfactorily complete all exit surveys as assigned by the department.

Advisement

Advisement is strongly encouraged for all Goddard School majors and minors. See more information on available advising resources in the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics section of this catalog.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for the University Bachelor of Science requirements. The following courses required for the Accounting major (BS) will also satisfy general education requirements: ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 (Composition); MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 (Quantitative Literacy); COMM 1020 or 2110 (Humanities); ECON 2010 or ECON 2020 (Social Science); ECON 1740 is recommended to fulfill the Senate Bill Requirement in American Institutions.

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Requirements

John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics Curriculum

The program of study within the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics is designed to assist the students from admission to career placement. All degree programs within the Goddard School follow the same general pattern which is composed of five required elements: (1) Liberal Support Curriculum, (2) Business Foundations, (3) Admission and Major Declaration, (4) Business Core, and (5) Major Discipline.

1. Liberal Support Curriculum (6-7 credit hours)

The Liberal Support Curriculum consists of courses outside the John B. Goddard School of Business & Economics which provide critical skills and information useful to all business students. Students should complete the Liberal Support Curriculum as soon as possible because the knowledge attained in these courses will be used throughout the business curriculum.

Complete one of the following English courses:

- ENGL 2010 EN2 - Intermediate College Writing Credits: (3)
- ENGL 2015 EN2 - Intermediate College Writing & Research Credits: (4)

Complete one of the following Math courses:

- MATH 1050 QL - College Algebra Credits: (4)
- MATH 1090 QL - Business College Algebra Credits: (3)

ENGL 2010 or ENGL 2015 and MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 must be completed with a grade of "C" or higher and may not be taken on a CR/NC basis. Courses required in the Liberal Support Curriculum for Goddard School majors may be used to satisfy specific university and general education requirements.

MATH 1010 is a prerequisite for ECON 2010 and ECON 2020. MATH 1050 or MATH 1090 is a prerequisite for QUAN 2400 and QUAN 2600. Students seeking a degree within the Goddard School of Business & Economics should plan to take the necessary mathematics courses as early as possible in their program of study.

2. Business Foundations Curriculum (17 credit hours)

Each major discipline within the Goddard School designates different course work. Consult the Degrees/Programs listing for the Major course work required. Generally, students should begin taking courses within their major area before completing all of the courses in the Business Core. Refer to department degree maps for assistance in course sequencing.

The Business Foundations Curriculum provides the base for all business and economic degree programs and should be completed early in the student's academic studies. To satisfy the Business Foundations requirement, courses must be completed with a grade of "C-" or higher. However, admittance to the Goddard School requires a cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher for the seven Business Foundation courses.

- ACTG 2010 - Survey of Accounting I Credits: (3)
- ACTG 2020 - Survey of Accounting II Credits: (3)

Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions

Dr. Yasmen Simonian, Dean

The Weber State University Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions, in cooperation with affiliated clinical facilities and other departments on the campus, offers an expanding program for the education and training of health care professionals. The programs emphasize an integration of the sciences, discipline-specific skills and knowledge, clinical experiences, and liberal arts which enable the graduate to make a maximum contribution to patient care as a member of the health care team.

All of the health and medical science education programs in the Dumke College of Health Professions share a common core curriculum. Students have the unique opportunity to meet and work together in their semesters of study, learning to apply the biomedical sciences and foster the team concept of health care to patient needs.

Program History

Founded in 1953, nursing at Weber State University offers students career progression from Associate RN Degree to Associate of Science (PN to RN) or Associate of Applied Science Degree Nursing (AAS) (PN to RN), to Baccalaureate Nursing (BSN), to Master of Science in Nursing via a ladder curriculum. The curriculum model enables student progression through various preparation levels in accordance with individual ability, aspirations, career goals and changing life circumstances. The program ensures entry level practitioners by providing a foundation from the physical, biological, behavioral and nursing sciences for application in caring for clients in a variety of nursing environments.

The nursing program embraces three levels of preparation for nursing practice: Associate's Degree Nursing (ADN), RN to BSN (BS), and Master of Science in Nursing (MSN). Educational offerings provide distinctive purposes and expectations for each level of nursing preparation while recognizing common areas of achievement within each level. Competency standards define graduate characteristics at each preparation level.

Four entry options are available for students. Two of these lead to licensure by examination at AS/AAS levels. The third option leads to a baccalaureate degree in nursing. The fourth option leads to a master of science in nursing with either a concentration in nursing administration or nursing education.

Entry Options

Registered Nurse (RN) [AS]: Two years are required for students entering this option. Students selecting this option must complete nursing major credits plus fulfill university general education credits required for graduation with an associate of science degree. Students selected for an associate of science degree in nursing may take the NCLEX-PN through the equivalency clause in the Utah Nurse Practice Act at completion of the first year. An additional year of course work entitles graduates to take the National Examination for licensure as a registered nurse.

PN to RN Program (RN Completion) [AS/AAS]: This entry option is open to PN's and those eligible to take the NCLEX-PN. Students selecting this option must complete one additional year of nursing major credits plus fulfill university general education credits required for graduation with an associate of applied science / associate of science degree.

Registered Nurse to BSN (RN-to-BSN) [BS]: The BSN Option is available to registered nurses who have completed an AS degree in nursing. Potential students must have an active unencumbered Utah license or plan to successfully pass the NCLEX-RN exam within the first semester of the BSN program.

Previous graduates of an AAS degree will need to complete the WSU general education requirements for the AS Degree prior to requesting admission to the RN to BSN program.

Admission is dependent upon program space availability.

Master of Science in Nursing (MSN): The MSN program is designed to prepare 1) nurse administrators, 2) college-level nursing faculty, and 3) nurse educators employed within healthcare institutions. The concentrations of nursing educator and nurse administrator will prepare students for advanced careers in nursing. Both concentrations are specifically intended for individuals with nursing experience who want to advance their careers as nurse administrators or college faculty.

Please refer to Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) for requirements.

Licensure

Applicants who have been convicted of a felony, treated for serious mental illness or substance abuse should discuss their eligibility status with the Utah State Board of Nursing. Acceptance to the nursing program does not assure eligibility for a RN license. The Utah Board of Nursing makes final decisions on issuance of professional licensure.

Accreditation

The School of Nursing programs (AAS/AS, BSN, and MSN) are accredited by:

Admission Requirements: Graduate of an Accreditation Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN) Program or equivalent program. A challenge examination may be required for those graduating from an equivalent program. Current licensure as a registered nurse in the State of Utah without restrictions is required.

Minor: Not required.

Grade Requirements: A minimum grade of "B-" or better is required in all upper division nursing courses, and a grade of "C" or better is required for all support courses.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for a Bachelor of Science Degree. Of the 120 hours, 40 must be upper division level. The BSN nursing curriculum provides 28 upper division hours.

Program Code: 2009BS

CIPC: 513801

Advisement

Contact the School of Nursing Enrollment Director at (801) 626-7774, prompt 6, for admission advisement.

Admission Requirements

Admission is competitive; therefore, the criteria listed on the application form should be considered as minimum standards.

Applicants must first apply for admission to, or be a current matriculated student of, Weber State University. Applicants must also apply for admission to the Bachelor of Science Degree Nursing program. Applications may be obtained through the School of Nursing Enrollment Director.

Applications must be completed and on file by the admission cycle application deadline. An application fee must be paid at the time the application is submitted. Admission applications are reviewed by the School of Nursing Program Admissions and Advancement Committee. Applicants are notified of committee decision by mail. Admission requirements are outlined on the applicant website available at <http://weber.edu/nursing>.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements.

Prerequisites

Students must have completed the following classes or their equivalent.

CHEM 1110 PS - Elementary Chemistry Credits: (5) or CHEM 1130 PS - Introduction to General, Organic & Biochemistry Credits: (5)

*Human Anatomy and Human Physiology (8 cr) OR HTHS 1110 LS - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology I Credits: (4) and HTHS 1111 - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology II Credits: (4)

Students may meet prerequisite by taking either
PSY 1010 OR CHF 1500

PSY 1010 SS - Introductory Psychology Credits: (3)

CHF 1500 SS/DV - Human Development Credits: (3)

ENGL 2010 EN2 - Intermediate College Writing Credits: (3)

WSU Quantitative Literacy Requirements (Math 1030, 1040, 1050, 1080)

Note:

HTHS LS1110 and 1111 (or previous 111, 112, and 113 is an acceptable equivalent)*

Major Course Requirements for BS Degree (RN to BSN)

Nursing Courses Required (25 credit hours)

Complete the following classes:

NRSG 4100 - Care Coordination and Interdisciplinary Collaboration for Safe Patient Outcomes Credits: (3)

- NRSG 4200 SUS - Scholarship for Evidence-Based Practice Credits: (3)
- NRSG 4300 - Healthcare Policy and Decision Making Credits: (3)
- NRSG 4400 SUS/CEL - Population Health in Nursing Credits: (4)
- NRSG 4500 - Nursing Management and Leadership Credits: (3)
- NRSG 4600 - Communication, Collaboration, and Information Management in Healthcare Credits: (3)

Select six (6) credit hours from the following courses:

- NRSG 4045 - ELNEC: End-of-Life Nursing Education Consortium Credits: (3)
- NRSG 4050 - Nursing Assessment Across the Life Span Credits: (3)
- NRSG 4060 - Oncology Nursing Credits: (3)
- NRSG 4070 - Disaster Nursing Credits: (3)
- NRSG 4080 - Adult Critical Care Credits: (3)
- NRSG 4090 - Nursing: High Risk OB/Pediatric Patient Credits: (3)
- NRSG 4392 - Care Management: Implications for Nursing Practice Credits: (3)
- NRSG 4700 - Forensic Nursing Credits: (3)
- HAS 3240 - Human Resource Development in Healthcare Credits: (3)
- NRSG 3400 - Mental Health: The Complex Role Credits: (3)

Upper Division Elective (3 credit hours)

Complete 3 hours of upper division credits from any department.

Department of Athletic Training

Department Chair: Valerie Herzog, EdD, LAT, ATC

Location: Reed K. Swenson Building, Room 224

Telephone Contact: Margarita Lopez 801-626-8631

Professor: Valerie Herzog; Associate Professor: Matthew Donahue; Assistant Professors: Alysia Cohen, Conrad Gabler; Instructor: Hannah Stedje

The Department of Athletic Training (AT) in the Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions, offers programs that educate students in the prevention, evaluation, management, and rehabilitation of injuries and illnesses. The variety of teaching environments and facilities are supported by faculty with diverse expertise and offer graduate and undergraduate students exceptional educational, clinical, and research experiences. The state-of-the-art facilities, including fully equipped laboratory classrooms, research labs, and hydrotherapy pool provide outstanding opportunities for student instruction and research. With curriculums designed to develop professional knowledge and skills, graduates from the department are prepared for careers in athletic training (via the MS in Athletic Training), or professional graduate programs in athletic training, physical therapy, occupational therapy, physician's assistant, and medicine (via the BS in Athletic Therapy).

The department of Athletic Training offers a Master of Science degree in athletic training, and Bachelor of Science degrees in athletic therapy and athletic training. Note that the BS in Athletic Training is being phased out and is no longer accepting students.

The department also supports the efforts of undergraduates seeking the bachelor of integrated studies degree, offering sports medicine as an emphasis for the BIS Program.

See also Master of Science in Athletic Training (MS).

Rehabilitation Sciences (BS)

The Department of Athletic Training (AT) offers an undergraduate program in Rehabilitation Sciences. This program is designed for students preparing to enter professional graduate programs in athletic training, physical therapy, occupational therapy, physician's assistant programs, and/or medicine. Students who graduate from this major only will NOT BE ELIGIBLE TO SIT FOR THE BOARD OF CERTIFICATION (BOC) EXAM TO BECOME A CERTIFIED ATHLETIC TRAINER OR ANY OTHER PROFESSIONAL MEDICAL CERTIFICATION EXAM.

Program Prerequisites: Make application and be accepted to Weber State University. Formally declare Rehabilitation Sciences as an intended major with the College of Health Professions (CHP) advisement coordinator. (See Admission Requirements below.)

Minor: Not required.

Grade Requirements: Grade of "B-" or better in all Rehabilitation Sciences major courses and grade of "C" or better in all support courses and electives in addition to a Weber State University GPA of 3.00 or higher in all courses required for this major.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for graduation; 40 of which must be upper division (courses numbered 3000 and above).

Program Code: 2081BS

CIPC: 511199

Advisement

The Rehabilitation Sciences Program Director serves as the faculty advisor to Rehabilitation Sciences majors. The CHP advisors will serve as the academic advisors prior to admission to the program, and the Rehabilitation Sciences Program Director will assist with advisement after admission into the program. Advisors are available to the student for counseling on grades and progress toward graduation. Athletic Therapy majors are encouraged to meet with an advisor at least once within the first four weeks of each semester.

Admission Requirements

Before a student can be considered for the Rehabilitation Sciences program, the following application requirements must be met:

Admission to Weber State University.

Declare Rehabilitation Sciences as a major

Submit a Rehabilitation Sciences Student Application which demonstrates the following:

Completion of 25 credit hours with a minimum 3.00 Weber State University GPA. Of these 25 credits, the students must demonstrate completion of

HTHS 1110 and HTHS 1111; or ZOO 2100 and ZOO 2200

HTHS 1101

RHS 1550

RHS 2890

RHS 1300; or RHS

2300; or PAR

1000 and PAR

1001 (lab)

Grade "B-" or better in all Rehabilitation Sciences core courses and "C" or better in support courses and electives.

Applications may be obtained from the Rehabilitation Sciences Program website at <http://www.weber.edu/rehabsciences/Admissions.html>.

Students are accepted on a rolling basis, but they are encouraged to submit their application by the fourth week of the new semester (after the admission requirements have been completed and met). Students who fail to meet admission requirements will not be allowed to enroll in RHS 3080; RHS 3200; RHS 3301; RHS 4150; RHS 4250; RHS 4650; RHS 4800 or RHS 4890.

Retention Requirements

After students are selected into the Rehabilitation Sciences program, retention in the program will be based on the following criteria:

Grade "B-" or better in all Rehabilitation Sciences core courses.

Grade "C" or better in all the support courses and electives.

Students must maintain a Weber State University GPA of 3.0 or higher.

Students who fail to meet the retention criteria will be placed on probation in the Rehabilitation Sciences program for one semester. If standards are not met by the end of the probationary period, the student may be dismissed from the program at the discretion of the program director.

Students who receive any grade below a "B-" in a Rehabilitation Sciences core course must repeat that course and receive a grade of "B-" or higher to remain in the major.

Students who receive any grade below a "C" in a Rehabilitation Sciences support course or elective must repeat that course and receive a grade of "C" or higher to remain in the major.

Failure to repeat the course (when offered) will result in dismissal from the program at the discretion of the program director.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. These courses also fulfill General Education or degree requirements: ANTH 1000, CHEM 1010, CHEM 1210, HTHS 1110, MATH 1050, MICR 2054, NUTR 1020, PHYS 1010, PHYS 2010, PSY 1010, SOC 1010, SOC 1020, ZOOL 1010, ZOOL 1020, ZOOL 1110.

Major Course Requirements for BS Degree (60-65 credit hours)

It is the responsibility of the student and academic advisors to determine which courses to take when an "OR" option is noted. This is largely determined by the prerequisite coursework of the student's prospective graduate program(s).

Core Courses (32-36 credit hours)

RHS 1550 - Introduction to Rehabilitation Sciences Credits: (2)

RHS 2175 - Introduction to Sports Medicine Credits: (3)

RHS 1300 - First Aid: Responding to Emergencies Credits: (2)

or

RHS 2300 - Emergency Response Credits: (3)

or

PAR 1000 INT - Emergency Medical Technician Credits: (4) and

PAR 1001 - Emergency Medical Technician Lab Credits: (2)

RHS 2890 - Introduction to Cooperative Work Experience Credits: (1)

RHS 3080 - Evidence Based Practice for Rehabilitation Sciences Credits: (3)

RHS 3200 - Psychology of Sport, Injury & Rehabilitation Credits: (3)

RHS 3300 - Evaluation and Care of Musculoskeletal Injuries: Lower Extremities Credits: (3)

RHS 3301 - Evaluation and Care of Musculoskeletal Injuries: Upper Extremities Credits: (3)

RHS 4150 - Therapeutic Modalities for Rehabilitation Sciences majors Credits: (3)

RHS 4250 - Rehabilitation for Rehabilitation Sciences majors Credits: (3)

RHS 4650 - Management for Rehabilitation Sciences Majors Credits: (3)

RHS 4890 INT - Cooperative Work Experience Credits: (1-6) Minimum of 3 credits required

Some students will be required to complete an FBI background check and drug test prior to completing the work experience (RHS 4890).

The expenses will be paid for by the student.

Some students may also be required to secure additional immunizations, including a hepatitis B vaccination, depending on the cooperative work experience site. The expenses, approximately will be paid for by the students.

Support Courses (28-29 credit hours)

CHEM 1010 PS - Introductory Chemistry Credits: (3) or

CHEM 1210 PS - Principles of Chemistry I Credits: (5)

ESS 3450 - Structural Kinesiology Credits: (3)

Physiology I Credits: (4) and HTHS 1111 - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology II Credits: (4)
or
ZOOL 2100 - Human Anatomy Credits: (4) and
ZOOL 2200 LS - Human Physiology Credits: (4)

Recommended Electives (120 credits needed for BS degree, with 40 being upper-division credits)

The list below consists of elective courses that are recommended for Rehabilitation Sciences students based on their pre-professional route (athletic training, physical therapy, occupational therapy, physician's assistant, and/or medicine). This is NOT an all-inclusive list. Graduate school pre-requisite coursework tends to vary somewhat from program to program, and it is the student's responsibility to ensure that their pre-professional (undergraduate) coursework fulfills the entrance requirements of the graduate programs that they are applying.

Recommended for All Students

RHS 3505 - Standardized Patient Training

Sports Medicine (BIS)

Bachelor of Integrated Studies

Grade Requirements: A minimum grade of "C" (2.0) in each of the courses taken for the three emphases.

Credit Hour Requirements: The student must take a minimum of 18 credit hours each from at least three (3) different academic departments or recognized disciplines. A student has numerous possibilities in developing a BIS degree using the academic disciplines both in HPER and campus wide.

The course of study in each discipline must be approved by the appropriate program director.

BIS Possible Options

These are only recommendations; many combinations and options for potential careers are possible.

Department of Emergency Healthcare

Department Chair: William Robertson, MEd, NRP
Location: Marriott Allied Health Building, Room 409
Telephone Contact: Ana McMurry 801-626-6521
Associate Professor: William Robertson; Assistant Professors: Andrea Lalumia, Christine O'Neil
Medical Advisor: Jon Apfelbaum, M.D.

A paramedic is a person who usually renders advanced life support care to persons at the site of an illness or injury or en route to a hospital facility. They function under the direct supervision of an Emergency Physician or Registered Nurse and are certified for such functioning by a state Emergency Medical Services agency.

The institutional certificate and two-year applied science degree program in Paramedic Studies are based on a national curriculum designed to provide an academic background in science, health related fields, and communication using critical thinking and assessment based management. The program prerequisites provide the general requirements and foundation that prepares the student to meet the demands of the paramedic courses.

Satisfactory completion of the prerequisite requirements are required prior to starting the paramedic sequence and include:

- a "C" or better in ENGL 1010, MATH 0990 ,
Anatomy and Physiology classes, and Medical Terminology; and
- an overall GPA of 2.7 or above; and
- Current state EMT Certification; and
- a score of 75% or better on the departmental EMT assessment exam on no more than two attempts

The longstanding Utah Bureau of EMS policy requiring one year of EMS experience or Advanced EMT has been relaxed. Eligible students may wish to consider PAR 1005 and PAR 1006 to gain EMS field experience prior to entering the paramedic program.

This program may require more than two years for completion depending upon the timing it takes for an individual to complete the prerequisite requirements.

Weber State contracts with authorized clinical and field agencies to precept students for EMT and paramedic certification. Background criminal investigation and drug testing of students is required prior to starting PAR 2000 in the fall semester.

"The WSU Emergency Healthcare Department's paramedic program is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Allied Health Education Programs (www.caahep.org) upon the recommendation of the Committee on Accreditation of Educational Programs for the Emergency Medical Services Professions (CoAEMSP)."

The paramedic program will "prepare competent entry-level Paramedics in the cognitive (knowledge), psychomotor (skills), and affective (behavior) learning domains," with or without exit points at the Emergency Medical Responder, Emergency Medical Technician, and Advanced Intermediate levels.

Acceptance to the paramedic program does not assure eligibility for a state or National Registry certification. Utah or a related state Office of EMS makes the final decisions on the issuance of professional licensure or certification. For students that may have a disability or testing accommodation concerns you must contact the Utah Bureau of EMS or National Registry of EMT's. See health.utah.gov/ems and nremt.org.

Paramedic Studies (AAS)

Program Prerequisite: Acceptance to the program via application process. See the Admission Requirements listed below.

Grade Requirements: "C" or better in all prerequisite and support courses, with a minimum GPA of 2.7. All courses with the PAR prefix must be passed with a "B-" or better in order for a student to progress through the paramedic program sequence and be awarded an institutional certificate and/or the AAS degree.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 60-63 credit hours is required for graduation; 36 of these are required within the program. Three upper division credit hours (HLTH 3400) are required within the program.

Program Code: 2046AAS

CIPC: 510904

Advisement

Paramedic Studies students must meet with the Dumke College of Health Professions academic advisor prior to application. Call 801-626-6136 for more information or to schedule an appointment.

Admission Requirements

Students are eligible to apply for admission to the Paramedic Studies program upon completion of the following:

- Making application to Weber State University
- Obtaining admissions counseling by a Dumke College of Health Professions advisor
- Satisfactory completion of the prerequisite requirements
- Completion of the Paramedic program application form by designated date:
 - Successful completion of the program EMT written assessment exam with a minimum score of 75% on no more than two attempts
 - Payment of the $25 application fee
 - Entrance testing and application must be completed by May 15th for confirmed fall acceptance.
 - Applications received between May 15 and August 1 will be approved on a "space available basis."

Current Utah or appropriate state EMT certification

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Associate of Applied Science Degree requirements. The following courses required for this program will also fulfill general education requirements: Biomedical core courses (see below), COMM 2110, PSY 1010 and SOC 1020. MATH 1010 and ENGL 2010 are required.

Major Course Requirements for AAS Degree

Paramedic Courses Required

All courses with the PAR prefix must be passed with a "B-" or better in order for a student to progress through the paramedic program sequence and be awarded an institutional certificate and/or AAS degree.

Emergency Healthcare Sciences (BS)

This degree builds on the Institutional Certificate in Paramedic and AAS in Paramedic Studies using additional upper division program (PAR) courses, support and general education courses. A strong core of Health Administration Services (HAS) and Health Information Management (HIM) courses will be utilized to provide a more diverse healthcare background. The degree in Emergency Healthcare Sciences was designed to be broad enough to enhance those working in medical education, QA/QI, supervision, human resources, air medical services, public health and mobile integrated healthcare.

In response to the needs of working fire and EMS, with the exception of five on-campus days for PAR 3110, Critical Care Transport, the entire degree can be completed online. Curriculum maps will provide projected timelines and department recommended, online general education courses.

Admission Requirements: Minimum GPA accepted is 2.7. Also required is a current National Registry or State certification or license as a paramedic without restrictions. After formal degree advisement by the Dumke College of Health Professions, an departmental degree application process is initiated.

Minor: Not required.

Grade Requirements: A minimum grade of "C" or better is required in all program (PAR) courses, general education and support courses.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours is required for a Bachelor of Science Degree. Of the 120 hours, 40 must be upper division level. The BS in EHS curriculum provides 35 upper division hours with 6 credits coming from the Cardiac and Medical Emergency section in the Institutional Certificate. (Any General Education course may be utilized, however, courses below feature online delivery)

Department of Dental Hygiene

Department Chair: Frances McConaughy

Location: Allied Health, Room 475

Telephone Contact: Kaila Rawlinson, 801-626-6130

Professor: Frances McConaughy; Associate Professors: Susan Alexander, Shelly Costley, Shane Perry; Assistant Professors: Kimberlee Caldwell, Joe Hopkin; Instructor: Kathren Diamond

The dental hygienist is a health educator and clinician concerned with the prevention of dental disease. Dental hygienists perform their services in a variety of settings, and are members of the dental team who are licensed to provide services directly to the client. Dental hygienists provide oral health education, remove deposits from around the teeth and gums, expose dental radiographs and deliver other treatments to prevent and manage dental disease.

The dental hygiene curriculum is three years in length. The first year may be completed at any accredited college or university and consists of pre dental hygiene courses. These courses include: chemistry, anatomy, physiology, microbiology, English, public speaking, psychology, sociology and nutrition. This year of pre-dental hygiene courses is followed by two years of specialized study in dental hygiene.

The two year dental hygiene curriculum includes practical experience in the WSU Dental Hygiene Clinic. Students also rotate to off-campus sites for extended clinical experiences.

Students who successfully complete the three-year curriculum are awarded an Associate of Science degree from Weber State. A fourth year leading to a bachelor's degree is optional. To become a licensed dental hygienist, each student must successfully pass a written National Board Exam and a practical regional exam. The Dental Hygiene Program is accredited by the American Dental Association's Commission on Dental Accreditation, a specialized accrediting agency recognized by the Council on Post-secondary Accreditation and the United States Department of Education.

Dental Hygiene (AS)

Program Prerequisite: Completion of the prerequisite courses listed under the Admission Requirements below.

Grade Requirements: Prerequisite course work must meet a standard of 2.5 GPA. All courses required for the major must be successfully completed with a grade of "C" or better (a "C-" grade is not acceptable).

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 44 credit hours of dental science course work is required for the Associate degree. Additionally, 35 hours of prerequisites are necessary. Students must also complete nine additional credit hours to meet WSU requirements for the Associate of Science Degree. Total credit hour requirements equal 88 hours.

Program Code: 2002AS

CIPC: 510602

Advisement

Prospective students are advised by the advisement counselors in the Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions Advisement office. The number of this office is: 1-801-626-6136. The Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions Advisement Office will send brochures and applications upon request. Individual counseling appointments can be made for direct assistance.

Admission Requirements

Students must apply to and be accepted into the program to be admitted into any of the courses offered by and required for a degree in Dental Hygiene. The science and all prerequisite courses are listed below and must be completed with a minimum GPA of 2.5 prior to being admitted into the program. These basic science courses must have been taken within five years of the date of anticipated enrollment in the Dental Hygiene Program.

Application Process

Applicants to the program must complete a specific Dental Hygiene Program application form to be considered for admission into the Dental Hygiene Program, this application package can be obtained from the Advisement Office in the Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions (801-626-6136). The application package will request that you submit current transcripts and verification of previous health-related work experience. The application deadline for Fall Semester enrollment is January 15 of each year. A $50.00 application fee must be paid at the time the application is submitted.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Associate of Science requirements. The majority of general education requirements for the AS degree are taken as prerequisites to the program. However, students must complete all Associate of Science general education requirements to earn the degree in Dental Hygiene.

The Health Administrative Services Department (HAS) provides an opportunity for health practitioners, students in the health disciplines, and others to prepare themselves for healthcare management, healthcare information, and public health roles in both traditional and nontraditional health care settings. In addition, many students use the programs in the department to prepare themselves for graduate studies in health administration and other related disciplines. The curriculum is organized so that students may tailor their studies in any one of the following program options: Health Administration, Health Information Management (HIM), Public Health, and Health Information Technology. All study emphases lead to a Bachelor's Degree except for Health Information Technology, which leads to an Associate of Applied Science degree. Two Institutional Certificate programs are also housed within the HAS Department in both Healthcare Coding and Classification as well as a Post-Baccalaureate certificate program in Health Information Management. A Master's Degree (with two different formats) is also offered in Health Administration within the HAS Department. For more information on this program visit www.weber.edu/mha. The HAS Department was developed to better prepare health practitioners and others to take advantage of the challenges and opportunities facing them as vital members of the nation's health care team.

Bachelor Degrees

Health Administration: Designed to provide health care practitioners and others with the skills and competencies to function as supervisors and managers in health care settings. In the changing health care environment, new and challenging demands are placed on health care personnel to expand their conventional roles to include increased administrative responsibilities. This curriculum provides a working foundation in management and interpersonal skills, while at the same time introducing the student to the health care delivery system and its many and varied issues and challenges. Graduates are not only better prepared to assume increased management responsibilities, but to do so with a better understanding of the complex system in which they work. The degree is certified by the Association of University Programs in Health Administration.

Health Information Management: This profession focuses on health care data and the management of health care information resources. The profession addresses the nature and structure of health data and the translation of that data into usable forms of information which support the health care of individuals and populations. HIM professionals collect, integrate, and analyze primary and secondary collections of data and manage information resources related to the research, planning, provision, and evaluation of health care services. This emphasis provides students with the knowledge and skills necessary to become self-directed learners who possess critical-thinking skills and problem-solving abilities, communication and interpersonal skills, a commitment to life-long learning, and important ethical values. The program fosters the acquisition of leadership abilities and systems thinking necessary for adapting careers within a changing health care environment. The HIM emphasis is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Health Informatics and Information Management Education, making students eligible to write the national certification exam of the AHIMA, the Registered Health Information Administrator.

Public Health

The Bachelor of Science in Public Health prepares graduates to take entry-level jobs in epidemiology and public health administration and local and state department of health. Graduates will also be prepared to fill positions supporting public health research at academic institutions, pharmaceutical companies, and private research organizations. Additionally, completion of the degree will prepare students to enter a graduate program in Public Health, Biomedical Informatics, or Health Administration.

Associate Degree

Health Information Technology: Health Information Technology is a program offered under Health Administrative Services.

Health Information Technicians perform the essential functions of maintaining health data and records in acute, long-term, and ambulatory health care settings. Opportunities also exist in related health care settings, e.g., insurance companies, medical clinics, computer software vendors, and health maintenance organizations. These functions include, but are not limited to, the coding of diseases and operations, maintaining statistics, transcribing medical reports, performing DRG and utilization review procedures, supervising employees.

In addition to classroom and laboratory course work, students participate in a supervised clinical experience in a hospital medical record department or other health information environment.

The Health Information Technology program is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Health Informatics and Information Management Education.

Successful completion of the Health Information Technology two-year program leads to an associate of applied science degree and the student is then eligible to sit for the national certification exam. Students passing this national examination may use the professional designation Registered Health Information Technician.

Institutional Certificates

Healthcare Coding and Classification: This program develops the ability of students to use the International Classification of Diseases, version 10 (ICD-10-CM), and the International Classification of Diseases, version 10, Procedural Coding System (ICD-10-PCS) of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and the Common Procedural Terminology (CPT) of the American Medical Association. The program develops expertise for both outpatient/office practice and acute-care inpatient levels of proficiency. Students will also use and apply both coding schemes in the systems of reimbursement for healthcare services.

Health Information Technology (AAS)

Program Prerequisite: HTHS 1101 - Medical Terminology and HTHS 1110 LS - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology I with a grade of "C" or better.

Minor: Not required.

Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better in required courses (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable).

Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 63 credit hours is required for graduation.

Program Code: 2025AAS

CIPC: 510707

Advisement

After the student has completed all the prerequisites they should meet with a faculty advisor for course and program advisement. Call 801-626-7242 for more information or to schedule an appointment. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Requirements

Each student must complete a program application after successful completion (grade of C or better) of the program pre-requisites.

All students admitted to the WSU Health Administrative Services AAS and BS program may be required to comply with a departmental background check and drug screen test prior to internship or other professional practice experience. If the background check reveals a history of convicted criminal actions, or the drug test results are positive for controlled substances, the students may be dismissed from the program and will not be entitled to any refunds of tuition or other fees. Most Healthcare employers have this same requirement as a condition of employment.

Program Description

This program provides training to candidates interested in the application of disease and operation codes to episodes of care in the U.S. healthcare system. There currently is a nationwide shortage of qualified healthcare coders.

Qualified coders are needed at all levels of the healthcare system to provide coded clinical data for reimbursement and research purposes.

The program develops the ability of students to use the International Classification of Diseases, version 9 (ICD-9-CM) and version 10 (ICD-10-CM), and the International Classification of Diseases, version 10, Procedural Coding System (ICD-10-PCS) of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and the Common Procedural Terminology (CPT) of the American Medical Association. The program develops expertise for both outpatient/office practice and acute-care inpatient levels of proficiency. Students will use and apply both coding schemes in the systems of reimbursement for healthcare services.

Completion of all courses earns the student a Healthcare Coding & Classification Certificate of Proficiency and prepares them to sit for the American Health Information Management Association's Certified Coding Associate (CCA) certification examination.

Health Administration (BS)

Health administration is rapidly growing, as is the demand for qualified individuals. A bachelor's degree in our Health Administration program prepares you for a leadership role in hospitals, clinics, nursing homes, health departments, rehabilitation centers, skilled nursing facilities and a variety of other organizations within the healthcare industry. As a fully certified AUPHA program, our Health Administration degree provides the skills and competencies required for supervisors and managers in a healthcare setting.

Program Prerequisite: Health Administration has a set of course prerequisites which are expected to be completed prior to declaration of cohort for this major. See the list of prerequisites in the course requirements discussed below. An application for this program is required upon completion of general education and prerequisites. A cohort designation for the major will be made upon receipt and processing of the program application. Students will not be allowed to register for classes in the major without designation of this cohort.

All students admitted to the Health Administration BS program may be required to comply with a departmental background check and drug screen test prior to internship or other professional practice experience. If the background check reveals a history of convicted criminal actions, or the drug test results are positive for controlled substances, then the students may be dismissed from the program and will not be entitled to any refunds of tuition or other fees. Most healthcare employers have this same requirement as a condition of employment.

Minor: Not required.

Grade Requirement: A grade of "C" or better in courses required for all emphases (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable), in addition to a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75.

Credit Hour Requirements: 120 credit hours are required for graduation. Forty-(40) upper division credit hours is required (courses numbered 3000 and above). Please see requirements under emphases as discussed below.

Advisement

Students are encouraged to meet with a faculty advisor annually for course and program advisement. For additional information, or to schedule an appointment, call 801-626-7242.

Use Grad MAPs to plan your degree

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study. In addition, the following steps are required:

Schedule an appointment for academic advisement with a member of the Department of Health Administrative Services faculty.

Make application to the program and the Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions. Overall GPA of 2.75 is required.

General Education

All general education courses should be completed before applying to the Health Administration program. Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. Some of the courses required by this program may also fulfill general education requirements. Check with a department advisor if you have questions.

Health Information Management (BS)

Health Information Management (HIM) is a rapidly emerging field within the healthcare industry. HIM professionals work to acquire, analyze, and protect electronic health records. These highly trained professionals work with the latest technologies to manage, secure and protect healthcare information and data. They are vital parts of healthcare organizations of all sizes from private physician offices to large hospital complexes.

Program Prerequisite: Health Information Management (BS) degree requires the following prerequisites:

HTHS 1101 - Medical Terminology (2)
HTHS 1110 LS - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology I (4)

An application for this program is required upon completion of these prerequisite courses. A cohort designation for the major will be made upon receipt and processing of the program application. Students will not be allowed to register for classes in the major without designation of this cohort.

All students admitted to the Health Information Management (BS) degree program will be required to comply with a departmental background check, drug screen, provide proof of immunizations prior to internship or other professional practice experience. If the background check reveals a history of convicted criminal actions, or the drug test results are positive for controlled substances, then the students may be dismissed from the program and will not be entitled to any refunds of tuition or other fees. Most healthcare employers have this same requirement as a condition of employment.

Minor: Not required.

Grade Requirement: A grade of "C" or better in courses required for all emphases (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable), in addition to a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.75.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours are required for graduation. A total of 40 upper division credit hours is required (courses numbered 3000 and above). Please see requirements under emphases as discussed below.

Advisement

Students are encouraged to meet with a faculty advisor annually for course and program advisement. Call 801-626-7242 for more information or to schedule an appointment. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Use Grad MAPs to plan your degree

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study. In addition, the following steps are required:

Schedule an appointment for academic advisement with a member of the Department of Health Administrative Services faculty.

After completing the program prerequisites, make application to the program and the Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions. Applications will be processed two times each academic year. Application deadlines are February 15th and September 15th each year. Overall GPA of 2.75 is required.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. Some of the courses required by this program may also fulfill general education requirements. Check with a department advisor if you have questions.

Health Administrative Services Departmental Honors

Please see weber.edu/honors/contracts.html for a list of current Departmental Honors contracts and Departmental Honors Advisors. For additional information about the Honors Program, please refer to the Honors Program section of the WSU Catalog.

Post-Acute Nursing Administration Certificate

Program Prerequisite: Applicants must possess current license as a Registered Nurse (RN) and an associate degree to be accepted into the certificate program.

Grade Requirements: To receive a Post-Acute Nursing Administration Certificate the student must complete all courses in the certificate program with a grade of "C" or higher (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable).

Credit Hour Requirements: 16 credit hours as specified below (a minimum of 10 semester credit hours must be completed in residence at Weber State University).

Program Description

The Post-Acute Nursing Administration Certificate program is a joint program offered by the Health Administrative Services department and the School of Nursing. This certificate program provides essential management training to registered nurses (RNs) currently working in nursing homes, assisted living facilities, home health and hospice agencies, and other post-acute care settings.

Course Requirements for Certificate

Courses Required (16 credit hours)

HAS 3240 - Human Resource Development in Healthcare Credits: (3)

HAS 3750 - Healthcare Financial Administration Credits: (3)

HAS 4520 - Long-Term Care Administration Credits: (3)

HAS 4800 - Individual Study Credits: (1-3)

The Associate of Science in Health Sciences (ASHS) prepares students for entrance into a wide variety of health professions programs currently housed in the Dumke College of Health Professions (DCHP) such as: Dental Hygiene, Emergency Care and Rescue, Nursing, Radiologic Sciences, Respiratory Therapy, Medical Laboratory Sciences, Health Information Management and Health Administrative Services. It also serves as a preparatory associate degree for other Weber State University Bachelor of Science majors including: Anthropology, Gerontology, Athletic Training, Athletic Therapy, Health Promotion, Human Performance Management, Recreation, Sales and Service Technology, and the Bachelor of Integrated Studies (BIS).

Students can choose to complete an ASHS degree or a specific ASHS degree track to customize their academic program: Associate of Science in Health Sciences - Dental Hygiene Track, Associate of Science in Health Sciences - Nursing Track, Associate of Science in Health Sciences - Radiologic Sciences Track, Associate of Science in Health Sciences - Medical Laboratory Sciences Track, and the Associate of Science in Health Sciences - Respiratory Therapy Track. The ASHS degree tracks are designed to expose students to a health professions program as well as provide specific training for potential career opportunities.

Interdisciplinary Minors

The Health Sciences Department participates in the interdisciplinary Neuroscience Minor Program. Students who wish to enroll in this program should indicate their desire to do so with the program coordinator who will help them work out a proper combination of courses to fit their particular needs. (See the Engaged Learning, Honors, and Interdisciplinary Programs section of this catalog.)

Health Sciences (AS)

Grade Requirements: An overall GPA of 2.5 or higher is required. A course grade of "C" or higher is required for all Health Sciences and the health professions (DENT, NRSRG, MLS, RADT, and REST) support courses.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 60 credit hours is required for graduation.

Program Code: Health Science (2029AS), Health Science Dental Hygiene Track (2029ASDENT), Health Science MLS Track (2029ASMLS), Health Science Nursing Track (2029ASNRSRG), Health Science Respiratory Therapy Track (2029ASREST), Health Science Radiologic Science Track (2029ASRADT)

Advisement

Students may contact an advisor in the Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions Admissions Advisement Office (Marriott Allied Health Building, Room 108, Phone 801-626-6136, Email healthprofessions@weber.edu) for program information.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Associate of Science requirements. The following courses suggested for the AS Degree in Health Sciences will also fulfill general education requirements: CHEM 1110, CHEM 1130, COMM 1020 or COMM 2110, HTHS 1110, MICR 1113, NUTR 1020, PSY 1010, SOC 1010/SOC 1020.

Consult with Academic Advising or the Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions Admissions Advisement office regarding general education guidelines.

Major Course Requirements for the Associate of Science in Health Sciences Degree and Degree Tracks

Health Sciences Core Courses Required (10 credit hours)

HTHS 1101 - Medical Terminology Credits: (2)

HTHS 1110 LS - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology I Credits: (4) and

HTHS 1111 - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology II Credits: (4)

or

ZOOL 2100 - Human Anatomy Credits: (4) and

ZOOL 2200 LS - Human Physiology Credits: (4)

or

Associate of Science in Health Sciences (13 credits)

WSU General Education Requirements, Health Sciences Core Requirements, and the following support courses:

HTHS 1103 - Introduction to Health Careers and Care in a Diverse Society Credits: (3)

HTHS 1120 - Case Studies in Health Sciences Credits: (3)

HTHS 2230 - Introductory Pathophysiology Credits: (3)

HTHS 2231 - Introductory Pathophysiology Laboratory Credits: (1)

HTHS 2240 - Introduction to Pharmacology Credits: (3) or

HTHS 3240 - Pharmacology Principles and Clinical Applications Credits: (3)

Associate of Science in Health Sciences-Dental Hygiene Track (10 credits)

WSU General Education Requirements, Health Sciences Core Requirements, and the following support courses:

HTHS 1120 - Case Studies in Health Sciences Credits: (3)

HTHS 2230 - Introductory Pathophysiology Credits: (3)

HTHS 2231 - Introductory Pathophysiology Laboratory Credits: (1)

HTHS 2240 - Introduction to Pharmacology Credits: (3) or

HTHS 3240 - Pharmacology Principles and Clinical Applications Credits: (3)

Associate of Science in Health Sciences-Medical Laboratory Sciences (MLS) Track (11 credits)

WSU General Education Requirements, Health Sciences Core Requirements, and the following support courses:

MLS 1113 - Introduction to Medical Laboratory Practices Credits: (4) ***

MLS 1114 - Principles of Hematology and Hemostasis Credits: (4) ***

HTHS 1120 - Case Studies in Health Sciences Credits: (3)

* Online MLS students must have a signed affiliation agreement prior to registering for these courses.

Associate of Science in Health Sciences-Nursing Track (10 credits)

WSU General Education Requirements, Health Sciences Core Requirements, and the following support courses:

HTHS 1120 - Case Studies in Health Sciences Credits: (3)

HTHS 2230 - Introductory Pathophysiology Credits: (3)

HTHS 2231 - Introductory Pathophysiology Laboratory Credits: (1)

HTHS 2240 - Introduction to Pharmacology Credits: (3) or

HTHS 3240 - Pharmacology Principles and Clinical Applications Credits: (3)

Associate of Science in Health Sciences-Respiratory Therapy Track (12 credits)

WSU General Education Requirements, Health Sciences Core Requirements, and the following support courses:

HTHS 1120 - Case Studies in Health Sciences Credits: (3)

HTHS 2230 - Introductory Pathophysiology Credits: (3)

HTHS 2231 - Introductory Pathophysiology Laboratory Credits: (1)

HTHS 2240 - Introduction to Pharmacology Credits: (3) or

HTHS 3240 - Pharmacology Principles and Clinical Applications Credits: (3)

REST 1540 - Survey of Respiratory Therapy Credits: (1)

REST 1560 - Multi-Skilled Health Care Worker Credits: (1)

Associate of Science in Health Sciences-Radiologic Sciences Track (10 credits)

WSU General Education Requirements, Health Sciences Core Requirements, and the following support courses:

RADT 1022 - Introduction to Radiologic Technology Credits: (2)

RADT 1542 - Radiographic Anatomy and Positioning V Credits: (2)

RADT 1681 - Clinical Simulation V Credits: (1)

RADT 2803 - Independent Research Credits: (1-3)

RADT 2921 - Workshop, Conferences and Telecourses Credits: (1-3)

Recommended Elective Courses to fulfill AS degree credit-hour requirement (60 credits), if necessary:

HTHS 1103 - Introduction to Health Careers and Care in a Diverse Society Credits: (3)

HTHS 1108 - Biocalculations for Health Professions Credits: (5)

HTHS 1120 - Case Studies in Health Sciences Credits: (3)

HTHS 2240 - Introduction to Pharmacology Credits: (3) or

HTHS 3240 - Pharmacology Principles and Clinical Applications Credits: (3)

HTHS 2830 - Health Sciences Directed Readings Credits: (1-3)

HTHS 2904 - Information Resources in the Health Professions Credits: (1)
HTHS 2990 - Health Sciences Seminar Credits:
(1)
NEUR 2050 - Introduction to Neuroscience
Credits: (3)

PAR 1000 INT - Emergency Medical Technician
Credits: (4) and
PAR 1001 - Emergency Medical Technician Lab
Credits: (2)

HIM 2250 - Health Care Privacy and Security
Credits: (3)
HIM 3000 - Health Informatics Credits: (3)
HIM 3200 - Epidemiology and Biostatistics
Credits: (3)
HIM 3300 - Introduction to Quality Improvement in Healthcare Credits: (3)
HAS 3000 - The Healthcare System Credits: (3)
HAS 4400 - Legal and Ethical Aspects of Health

MLS 4410 - Interdisciplinary Health Care Teams
Credits: (3)

Electroneurodiagnostics (BIS)

Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better in courses used toward the BIS emphasis (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable).

Credit Hour Requirements: Minimum of 18 credit hours in Neuroscience; minimum of 23 credit hours in Health Sciences; minimum 30 credit hours in Electroneurodiagnostics (courses taken in collaboration with the University of Utah Electroneurodiagnostics Program).

For advisement contact the Department of Health Sciences or Department of Neuroscience END advisor who will help you select courses. This is a predefined set of Concentrations for the BIS degree. Students cannot combine these END concentrations with other BIS concentrations.

Program Code: Neuroscience (END) 7051, Health Science (END) 2063, Electroneurodiagnostics (END) 2064

CIPC: 51.0903

Neuroscience (END) Concentration Courses Required

Students must complete coursework in each of the following areas (cognitive/behavioral neuroscience; cellular/molecular neuroscience; clinical/medical neuroscience).

NEUR 2050 - Introduction to Neuroscience
Credits: (3)

Cognitive/Behavioral Neuroscience Area

NEUR 3750 - Cognitive and Behavioral Neuroscience Credits: (3) or PSY 2710 - Biopsychology Credits: (3) or PSY 3730 - Perception Credits: (3)

Cellular/Molecular Neuroscience Area

NEUR 3950 - Cellular and Molecular Neuroscience Credits: (3) or ZOOL 3200 - Cell Biology Credits: (4) or ZOOL 3300 - Genetics Credits: (4) or ZOOL 4100 - Vertebrate Embryology Credits: (4)

Clinical/Medical Neuroscience Area

NEUR 3850 - Clinical Neuroscience Credits: (3)
or
PSY 3740 - Neuropsychopharmacology Credits: (3) or

HTHS 2240 - Introduction to Pharmacology
Credits: (3) or
HTHS 3240 - Pharmacology Principles and Clinical Applications Credits: (3) or ZOOL 1020 LS - Human Biology Credits: (3) or
ZOOL 2200 LS - Human Physiology Credits: (4)

Additionally, students will complete 6 credit hours of electives in consultation with their advisor.

Health Sciences (END) Concentration Courses Required

Before applying to the University of Utah Electroneurodiagnostic Program, students should complete the following required courses:

HTHS 1101 - Medical Terminology Credits: (2)

HTHS 1110 LS - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology I Credits: (4) and

HTHS 1111 - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology II Credits: (4)

or

ZOOL 2100 - Human Anatomy Credits: (4) and
ZOOL 2200 LS - Human Physiology Credits: (4)

HTHS 1103 - Introduction to Health Careers and Care in a Diverse Society Credits: (3)

HTHS 1120 - Case Studies in Health Sciences
Credits: (3)

HTHS 2230 - Introductory Pathophysiology
Credits: (3)

HTHS 2231 - Introductory Pathophysiology Laboratory Credits: (1)

HTHS 2240 - Introduction to Pharmacology
Credits: (3) or

HTHS 3240 - Pharmacology Principles and Clinical Applications Credits: (3)

University of Utah Electroneurodiagnostics (END) Program Courses Required

Students will apply for admission to the University of Utah Electroneurodiagnostics (END) Program (<https://medicine.utah.edu/neurology/epilepsy/eeg-course/>).

HTHS 4010 - Interdisciplinary Health Care
Teams Credits: (3)
NEUR 3850 - Clinical Neuroscience Credits: (3)
HTHS 3410 - Foundations of Health Science Technology Credits: (3)
HTHS 3412 - Health Science Technology
Applications Credits: (3)
BIS 3850 - BIS Internship Credits: (1-3) (3 credits required)

Students will complete an additional five specially-designed courses in consultation with their advisor.

Department of Medical Laboratory Sciences

Department Chair: Matthew Nicholaou
Program Director: Janice Thomas
Online Program Coordinators: Cindi Kranek, Kandi Tait, Ashley Wilkinson
Practicum Coordinator: Christy Achter
Laboratory Manager: Kent Criddle
Location: Marriott Allied Health Building, Rm 208

Professor: Yas Simonian; Associate Professors: Matthew Nicholaou, Janice Thomas; Assistant Professors: S. Kendal Beazer, Kenton Cummins, Justin Rhees, Michael Moore

Medical Laboratory Scientists (MLS) and Medical Laboratory Technicians (MLT) - also known as Clinical Laboratory Scientists (CLS) and Clinical Laboratory Technicians (CLT) - perform laboratory tests on patient samples to provide information needed to diagnose or monitor treatment. These professionals do everything from providing cancer-testing results, to predicting the correct antibiotic to prescribe, to typing the correct blood for surgery. Examples of common laboratory tests include tests to detect anemia, diagnose diabetes and strep throat, and provide a transfusion to an accident victim. Doctors rely on laboratory test results to make informed patient diagnoses. Patient history along with physical signs and symptoms are vital, but most diagnoses need confirmation that only laboratory tests can provide. The laboratory professionals provide answers to life-and-death questions every day.

The MLS program follows a ladder approach from the Associates of Applied Science (AAS) degree through a Bachelor of Science (BS) degree. Students interested in applying to the campus associate level MLT program must first meet with an academic advisor and complete prerequisite courses. If accepted into the MLT program, successful completion of two academic semesters leads to an Associates of Applied Science degree, and allows graduates eligibility to national certification (ASCP MLT). Qualified students wishing to continue can apply for acceptance into the MLS BS program, which generally requires two years of study and provides eligibility to national certification (ASCP MT) upon successful completion of all academic requirements.

Students interested in the online MLS AAS Program must be employed, or have the support of, a clinical laboratory. Students will receive the didactic (lecture) portion of each course online, while completing specific laboratory competencies in the clinical laboratory under the supervision of qualified clinical laboratory mentors where they work. Please refer to the employer support information on the MLS Department web site: <http://www.weber.edu/mls> (online DEGREES/PROGRAMS).

Accreditation

The Medical Laboratory Sciences Programs are nationally accredited by the National Accrediting Agency for Clinical Laboratory Science (NAACLS) 5600 N. River Rd. Suite 720, Rosemont, IL 60018-5119. <http://www.naacls.org>.

Medical Laboratory Sciences (AAS)

Program Prerequisite: Completion of the support courses listed under the Admission Requirements.

Grade Requirements: A grade of "B-" or better in all MLS courses, and a grade of "C-" or better in all support courses. A "C" is required in HTHS 1110 in order to continue to HTHS 1111.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 67-68 credit hours is required for graduation, 33-34 of these are required MLS courses, 22 are required support courses, and 12 are required general education courses.

Program Code: 2039AAS
CIPC: 511004

Advisement

Students interested in the MLS program are required to meet with a health professions advisor located in the Dumke College of Health Professions Admissions and Advisement Office room 108. After initial advisement, students are encouraged to meet with an MLS advisor after acceptance into the program. To schedule an advising appointment, contact the advisement office at 801-626-6128.

Admission Requirements

Campus students:

Applicants must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 and meet with an advisor.

Complete MLS 1113 and MLS 1114 and most or all of the MLS support courses by April 1 of the year of application (student may be enrolled in those courses that spring semester). For the list of support courses, see Course Requirements for the AAS Degree.

Apply for the AAS program and include a non-refundable $25 fee by April 1st for fall semester acceptance. Applications can be found online at https://www.weber.edu/mls/campus_AAS_application.html. For more information, call the MLS office at 801-626-6118.

Complete a federal background check and drug screen by the end of fall semester after acceptance into the program.

Students for whom English is not their native language need to submit documentation of proficiency in English. Please refer to the MLS website at <http://weber.edu/mls/> for more details.

Online students:

Applicants must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.7.

Must be currently employed by an accredited (TJC/CAP/COLA/CLIA) laboratory that can provide a multidisciplinary laboratory experience. Contact the AAS MLS online academic advisor, Ashley Wilkinson at ashleywilkinson2@weber.edu for advising.

Have employer read and sign a Statement of Support form, available at <http://www.weber.edu/mls/degrees/online/SOS.html>.

Apply to WSU for general admissions. Applications are available online at <http://www.weber.edu/admissions>.

Send all official transcripts from other institutions to the WSU admissions office.

Complete an MLS AAS online application, available at <https://portalapps.weber.edu/gradadmissionsform2/undergraddefault.aspx?program=MLS>. Submit a completed Statement of Support along with the application. A $95 non-refundable departmental application fee is also required.

Complete a federal background check and drug screen, if required by employer.

Once supporting documents listed above are received and reviewed, students are notified of acceptance and enrolled the following semester.

For more information about the online application requirements and process, go to <http://www.weber.edu/mls/degrees/online/AAS.html>, and contact Ashley Wilkinson, at 801-626-6120 or ashleywilkinson2@weber.edu for advising.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Associate of Applied Science requirements. The following required courses will fulfill both program requirements and general education requirements in the Life and Physical Sciences areas:

CHEM 1110, CHEM 1210, HTHS 1110, MICR 1113,
MICR 2054, and PHYS 1010. Remaining general education requirements can be fulfilled by taking the required 12 credit hours from each of the following areas:

6 credit hours Composition
3 credit hours Creative Arts & Humanities
3 credit hours Social Sciences

Some requirements may be met by ACT, CLEP, and/or AP scores as designated by the University (contact the Admissions Office for more information).

Pre-Medical, Pre-Dental, Pre- Vet, and Pre-Professional, Medical Laboratory Sciences

Pre-Med/Pre-Dental/Pre- Vet/Pre-Professional

Since the MLS Programs offer a curriculum with a direct application to applied medical science, it offers an attractive alternative approach to traditional pre-professional degree tracks. The AAS and BS Programs have a designated Track II curriculum pattern with specific course integration with required pre-professional courses.
See Kendal Beazer, the MLS pre-professional faculty advisor, for more specific information. Call the MLS secretary at 801-626-6118 to schedule an advising appointment.

Medical Laboratory Sciences (BS)

Program Prerequisite: Completion of MLS AAS Degree requirements. Students transferring from another college or university must have a MLS/MLT AAS Degree and/or CLT/MLT certification.

Minor: A minor is not required, but minors are available in chemistry and microbiology with successful completion of additional courses as specified by the department offering the minor.

Grade Requirements: A grade of "B-" or better in all MLS courses, and a grade of "C-" or better in all support courses.

Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 120 credit hours is required for graduation.

Program Code: Medical Laboratory Professional (2039BS) with Lab Track (2040), or Pre-Professional Tracks (2041).

CIPC: Medical Laboratory Professional (511004) with Lab Track (511004), or Pre-Professional Tracks (511102).

Advisement

All medical laboratory science students are required to meet with an advisor prior to application. Thereafter, advisement with a faculty each year is recommended. To schedule an advising appointment, call the MLS office at 801-626-6118.

Admission Requirements

Campus students:

Must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0.

Must have completed WSU MLS AAS Program.

Transfer students must have a MLS/MLT AAS Degree and/or CLT/MLT ASCP certification.

Meet with an MLS faculty advisor.

Apply for the BS program and include non-refundable $25 fee by April 1st for fall semester acceptance.

Applications can be found online at http://www.weber.edu/mls/campus_BS_applications.html. For more information, call the MLS office at 801-626-6118.

Complete a federal background check and drug screen by the end of fall semester after being accepted into the program. If students have completed a background check and drug screen when accepted into the WSU MLS AAS Program, this does not need to be repeated.

Students for whom English is not their native language need to submit documentation of proficiency in English. Please refer to the MLS website at <http://weber.edu/mls/> for more details.

Online students:

Must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.7.

Must be currently employed by an accredited (TJC/CAP/COLA/CLIA) laboratory that can provide a multidisciplinary laboratory experience.

Must have a MLS/MLT AAS Degree and/or CLT/MLT certification. (Note: acceptable certification; MLT(ASCP), MT(AMT), or MT(AAB).)

Contact the BS MLS online advisor, Christy Achter at 801-626-6874 or christyachter@weber.edu for advising.

Have employer read and sign Statement of Support form, available at <http://www.weber.edu/mls/degrees/online/SOS.html>.

Apply to WSU for general admissions. Applications are available online at <http://www.weber.edu/admissions>.

Send all official transcripts from other institutions to the WSU admissions office.

Complete a MLS BS online application, available at <https://portalapps.weber.edu/gradadmissionsform/2/undergraddefault.aspx?program=MLS>. Submit a completed Statement of Support along with the application. A $95 non-refundable departmental application fee is also required.

Complete a federal background check and drug screen, if required by employer.

For more information about the online application requirements and process, go to <http://www.weber.edu/mls/degrees/online/BS.html>, and contact Christy Achter at 801-626-6874 or christyachter@weber.edu.

General Education Requirements

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. The following required courses will fulfill both program requirements and general education requirements in the Life and Physical Sciences areas: CHEM 1110, CHEM 1210, HTHS 1110, MICR 1113, MICR 2054, PHYS 1010. Remaining general education requirements can be fulfilled by taking the required credit hours in the following areas:

6 credit hours Composition
3 credit hours Quantitative Literacy
3 credit hours American Institutions
9 credit hours Creative Arts & Humanities
5-1.0 credit hours Computer Information Literacy
6 credit hours Social Sciences
3 credit hours Diversity

Some requirements may be met by ACT, CLEP, and/or AP scores as designated by the University (contact the Admissions Office for more information).

Medical Laboratory Sciences Departmental Honors

Please see weber.edu/honors/contracts.html for a list of current Departmental Honors contracts and Departmental Honors Advisors. For additional information about the Honors Program, please refer to the Honors Program section of the WSU Catalog.

Medical Laboratory Sciences Clinical Laboratory Assistant (CLA) Certificate of Completion

The Clinical Laboratory Assistant (CLA) certificate of completion is designed to teach core clinical laboratory skills to individuals from various health care professions. The curriculum will focus on basic laboratory methods in quality control, quality assurance, information recording and transfer, normal and abnormal laboratory values, and problem recognition. Students will receive basic technical instruction in laboratory safety, microscopy, phlebotomy, specimen collection and processing, and laboratory instrumentation in the areas of hematology, serology, urinalysis, clinical chemistry, and microbiology. Upon successful completion of the course, students will receive a Certificate of Completion from the Dumke College of Health Profession's Clinical Laboratory Assistant (CLA) program and are designated as CLA level assistant IV by local industry.

For campus students, the CLA certificate is granted after successful completion of MLS 1113, Intro to Medical Laboratory Practices.

Online students must complete MLS 1010, Core Clinical Laboratory Skills, and have the support of a clinical laboratory to fulfill the laboratory requirement. The laboratory component will address applications with a focus on point-of-care-testing (POCT). Students will be required to spend a minimum of 64 unpaid hours during the semester working on laboratory competency. If students wish to continue to further their education, MLS 1113 will be waived upon enrollment into the MLS AAS Program at WSU. Contact the AAS/MLT online academic advisor, Christy Achter, at 801-626-6874 or christyachter@weber.edu for advising.

Department of Respiratory Therapy

Department Chair: Paul Eberle, PhD, RRT

Medical Director: Christopher Anderson, M.D.

Location: Marriott Allied Health Building, Rm 309

Telephone: Administrative Assistant, Amy Heaps (801) 626-7071

Professor: Paul Eberle; Associate Professors: Janelle Gardiner, Mich Oki; Instructor: Sharri Vasas, Heidi Voorhees

Respiratory care professionals are actively involved, as members of the health care team, in the diagnosis, treatment, management, education, and long-term care of patients with cardiopulmonary problems. These patients may be in the newborn nursery, surgical/medical/rehabilitation units, outpatient clinics, Emergency Room, or cardiac/shock-trauma/burn/neurologic intensive care units. Respiratory Care Practitioners [RCPs] are employed in both acute and long-term care hospitals, skilled nursing facilities, and home health agencies.

Licensed RCPs perform therapeutic and diagnostic procedures under the direction of a physician. Respiratory care practitioners are competent in basic patient care and assessment, medical gas administration, aerosol and humidity therapy, medication administration, hyperinflation techniques, bronchopulmonary drainage and percussion, mechanical ventilation, airway management, advanced cardiac life support, pulmonary function studies, and blood gas sampling and analysis. Patient education, smoking cessation/nicotine intervention, and health promotion are also included in the RCP scope of practice.

The respiratory therapy program follows a career-ladder approach from the pre-professional level through a Bachelor of Science degree. The pre-professional level requires two academic years, leads to an Associate of Applied Science degree, and qualifies the student for the Respiratory Therapy Bachelor of Science program providing eligibility to national credentialing and licensure to practice respiratory care (RCP). Acceptance to the pre-professional level requires program completion through the Bachelor of Science degree level.

Licensure

Applicants who have been convicted of a felony, treated for serious mental illness or substance abuse should discuss their eligibility status with the Utah Department of Professional Licensing. Acceptance to the respiratory therapy program does not assure eligibility for a RCP license. The Utah Department of Professional Licensing makes final decisions on issuance of professional licensure. Any student that is convicted of a felony will be dismissed from the program.

Accreditation

The Respiratory Therapy Program is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Respiratory Care (CoARC), P.O. Box 54876 Hurst, Texas 76054-4876.

To fulfill its mission, the department sets the following goals for graduates of the program: 1) To prepare graduates with demonstrated competence in the cognitive (knowledge), psychomotor (skills), and affective (behavior) learning domains of respiratory care practice as performed by registered respiratory therapists (RRTs) and,

2) to prepare leaders for the field of respiratory care by including curricular content that includes objectives related to acquisition of skills in one or more of the following: management, education, research, advanced clinical practice (which may include an area of clinical specialization). Program credentialing, attrition, and on-time graduation outcomes may be reviewed at the following site:

<https://coarc.com/getattachment/Students/Programmatic-Outcome-Data/2017-RCS-Program-Outcomes.pdf.aspx?lang=en-US>

Respiratory Therapy, Pre-Professional (AAS)

Program Prerequisites: Completion of all prerequisite courses with a grade of "C" or better ("C-" or CR are not acceptable in prerequisite courses). In addition, students must complete an application/selection process, which requires prior completion of current CPR certification at the BLS-C level (also see Admissions Requirements below).

Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better in each course is required by this program (a "C-" is not acceptable). CR/NC courses in this program require a "C" or better to receive CR. A cumulative GPA of 2.5 is required to enter the program.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 60-67 credit hours is required for graduation; 38 of these are required REST courses and 18 are required general education courses.

Program Code: 2022AAS

CIPC: 510908

Advisement

Students may contact an advisor in the Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions' Admissions & Advisement Office (Marriott Allied Health Building, room 108, phone 801-626-6136, email healthprofessions@weber.edu) for program information and an application.

Admissions Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). Meet with a Dumke College of Health Professions advisor and then file a Program Application (at the Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions Admissions Office, MH 108 on or before February 1). Program selection criteria includes cumulative GPA, prerequisite GPA, completion of application process, previous healthcare experience, and formal Selection Committee interview. Complete all prerequisite courses with "C" (2.0) or better.

Admission requirements include the following:

Graduation from high school or equivalent program
Cumulative grade point average of 2.5
Complete FBI criminal background check or designated background check. Any student that is convicted of a felony will be dismissed from the program.
Admission to Weber State University
Completed application to Associate of Applied Science Degree and payment of the $25 application fee

Prerequisite Courses

REST 1540 - Survey of Respiratory Therapy (1)
MATH 1010 - Intermediate Algebra (4) (with a grade of "C" or better) or 23 or above on the ACT
ENGL 1010 EN1 - Introductory College Writing (3)

COMM 1020 HU - Principles of Public Speaking (3)
or
COMM 2110 HU CEL - Interpersonal and Small Group Communication (3)

PSY 1010 SS - Introductory Psychology (3) or PSY 2000 SS - The Psychology of Human Relationships (3)

HTHS 2230 - Introductory Pathophysiology (3)
REST 1560 - Multi-Skilled Health Care Worker (1) or CNA, military medic, or EMT course either

HTHS 1110 LS - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology I (4) and HTHS 1111 - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology II (4) or introductory level courses in the three basic sciences:

CHEM 1010 PS - Introductory Chemistry (3)
MICR 1113 LS - Introductory Microbiology (3)
ZOOL 2200 LS - Human Physiology (4)

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Associate of Applied Science requirements. The following general education courses will fulfill both general education and program requirements: PSY 1010 or PSY SS2200, ENGL 1010, COMM 1020 or COMM 2110, and either HTHS 1110/HTHS 1111 or introductory-level courses in some of the basic sciences (human biology, chemistry and microbiology). One additional course in a physical or life science is required for students taking the HTHS option.

Consult with Academic Advising or Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions Admission Advisor regarding general education guidelines.

Respiratory Therapy (BS)

Program Prerequisite: Completion of Respiratory Therapy, Pre-Professional (AAS) degree or Certificate of Completion from an accredited, respiratory therapy program (R.R.T. eligible) or complete CRT SAE with cut score of 95/140 following pre-professional year.

Grade Requirements: A grade of "C" or better in each course required by this program (a "C-" is not acceptable). CR/NC courses in this program require a "C" or better to receive CR. A GPA of 2.75 is required to enter the program.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credits are required for graduation (includes AAS degree requirements); 76 of these are REST credits. A total of 40 upper division credit hours are required (courses numbered 3000 and above); 38 of these are required REST credits. Departmental standards are applied to independent projects and directed readings.

Program Code: 2022BS

CIPC: 510908

Advisement

All respiratory therapy students are required to meet with a faculty advisor before beginning bachelor's degree courses, and at least annually after entering program, and complete an academic contract specifying major courses, approved electives, and graduation requirements. Call 801-626-7071 for more information or to schedule an appointment.

During June, July and August, students may contact an advisor in the Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions' Admissions & Advisement Office (Marriott Allied Health Building, room 108, phone 801-626-6136, email healthprofessions@weber.edu) for program information and an application, if a faculty member of the Respiratory Therapy Department is not available.

Admissions Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). Complete Respiratory Therapy, Pre-Professional (AAS) degree requirements (or provide Certificate of Completion from an accredited, respiratory therapy program). Meet with faculty advisor and establish an academic contract.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. Of the Quantitative Literacy courses [MATH 1030, MATH 1040, or MATH 1050], MATH 1030 QL - Contemporary Mathematics is the preferred course for program completion. The following general education courses will fulfill both general education and program requirements: PSY 1010 or PSY SS2200, ENGL 1010, COMM 1020 or COMM 2110, and either HTHS 1110/HTHS 1111 or introductory-level courses in some of the basic sciences (human biology, chemistry and microbiology).

Consult with department advisor or Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke College of Health Professions Admission Advisor regarding general education guidelines.

Major Course Requirements for BS Degree

Complete the requirements for the AAS degree or equivalent in addition to the courses listed below.

Respiratory Therapy Courses Required (38 credit hours minimum)

- REST 3210 - Advanced Cardiopulmonary Anatomy and Physiology Credits: (3)
- REST 3220 - Advanced Cardiopulmonary Pathophysiology Credits: (3)

Doctor of Nursing Practice

Chair: Dr. Sally Cantwell

Director: Melissa Neville-Norton, DNP, APRN, CPNP-PC

Location: Marriott Allied Health Building, Rm 438

Graduate Nursing Administrative Assistant: Cheryl Hyatt (801) 626-6137 or cherylhyatt@weber.edu

Enrollment Director: Robert Holt (801) 626-7774, prompt 6 or rholt@weber.edu

The Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) degree is a practice-focused terminal degree in nursing, designed for nurses who are seeking preparation and excellence at the highest level of clinical nursing practice. The DNP program of study has two emphases: a family nurse practitioner emphasis and a leadership emphasis. Both emphases focus on direct and indirect advanced nursing practice leadership and healthcare provision to influence the health outcomes of individuals and populations from a systems approach. The DNP-Family Nurse Practitioner (FNP) emphasis prepares nurses with a Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) to become eligible for national FNP certification, which is an advanced practice registered nurse (APRN) and future healthcare leadership. The DNP-Leadership emphasis prepares nurses who possess a BSN and a master's degree in one of the following-nursing, public health, business, or health administration for healthcare transformation and leadership.

Graduates of the DNP program are prepared to fully evaluate, translate, and implement science for improved healthcare outcomes and healthcare systems improvement. The practice-focused DNP degree is distinctly different from a Ph.D. or research doctoral degree program. The Annie Taylor Dee School of Nursing is responsive to national APRN academic and practice mandates recommendations and community workplace demands for leadership and access to primary care in our regional health care systems.

The DNP degree at WSU ensures optimally prepared nurse practitioners and nurse leaders who achieve the university's dual mission; integrating access, learning, and community in the service of high-quality health care and favorable outcomes for regional patients, families, and communities. Nationally, the DNP degree is replacing the Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) for all APRNs as this terminal degree in the field becomes the requirement by 2025. The DNP degree is the preferred degree for advanced nursing practice for the provision of direct and indirect care (executive leadership, health policy, informatics, and population health).

Admission

Admission is competitive; therefore, the criteria listed on the application form should be considered as minimum standards.

Applicants must apply for admission to the DNP-Leadership program. Applications may be obtained online on the Annie Taylor Dee School of Nursing website <http://weber.edu/nursing>.

Applications must be completed and on file by the admission cycle application deadline. An application fee must be paid at the time the application is submitted. Admission applications are reviewed by the Annie Taylor Dee School of Nursing Program Admissions and Advancement Committee. Applicants are notified of committee decision by email and/or US Postal Service mail. Admission requirements are outlined on the applicant website available at <http://weber.edu/nursing>.

Accreditation

Effective July 7, 2020, this nursing program is a candidate for initial accreditation by the Accreditation Commission for Education in Nursing. This candidacy status expires on July 1, 2022.

Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP)

The Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) degree is a practice-focused terminal degree in nursing, designed for nurses who are seeking preparation and excellence at the highest level of advanced nursing practice.

The DNP program of study has two emphases: including a post-BSN to DNP Family Nurse Practitioner (FNP) emphasis and post-Masters to DNP Leadership emphasis. Both emphases focus on direct and indirect advanced nursing practice leadership and healthcare provision to influence the health outcomes of individuals and populations from a systems approach. The DNP-FNP emphasis prepares nurses with a Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) for an advanced practice degree (APRN) who are eligible for national FNP certification upon successful graduation from the program.

The post-master's to DNP leadership emphasis prepares nurses with a BSN and a master's degree in one of the following areas (nursing, public health, business, or health administration) for translational science, healthcare transformation, and healthcare leadership.

Graduates of the DNP program are prepared to fully evaluate, translate, and implement science for improved healthcare outcomes and healthcare systems improvement. The practice-focused DNP degree is distinctly different from a Ph.D. or research doctoral degree program. By establishing a Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) program, the Annie Taylor Dee School of Nursing supports the national APRN practice mandates, leadership recommendations and community workplace demands for leadership and access to primary care in our regional health care systems.

The DNP graduate meets the university's dual mission of; integrating access, learning, and community service by providing high-quality health care and favorable outcomes for regional patients, families, and communities upon graduation.

Grade Requirements: To earn the DNP degree, candidates must successfully complete all DNP program courses with a grade of "B-" or higher and maintain an overall program GPA of 3.0 or higher.

Program Code: Nursing Practice (2060DNP) with Concentration/Emphasis in Family Nurse Practitioner (2062) or Leadership (2061).

Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP), Family Nurse Practitioner Emphasis

The Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) Family Nurse Practitioner (FNP) emphasis prepares the post-BSN student to complete the requirements for certification as an advanced practice registered nurse (APRN) in the role of a family nurse practitioner (FNP). The DNP is a terminal nursing degree, which prepares graduates for translational science to influence direct and indirect health outcomes not only for individuals but for populations and healthcare systems.

The DNP-FNP program utilizes a hybrid delivery format with various learning opportunities in didactic, lab, clinical, and community engaged learning experiences. The program of study consists of 75 credit hours to be completed over seven, full-time academic semesters with an optional 8th semester extension available for completion of student project and clinical. Students must complete 1000 DNP practice hours, with a minimum of 500 FNP clinical practice hours. All DNP students complete a DNP project during their program of study, which includes associated practicum hours.

Grade Requirements: To earn the DNP degree, candidates must successfully complete all DNP-FNP program courses with a grade of "B-" or higher, complete all FNP clinical courses with a "B" or higher, and maintain an overall program GPA of 3.0 or higher.

Program Code: Nursing Practice (2060DNP) with Concentration/Emphasis in Family Nurse Practitioner (2062).

The Master of Health Administration (MHA) program at Weber State University is designed to meet the needs of working healthcare professionals and to prepare them for executive leadership in the healthcare industry. Firmly grounded in the development of three overarching domains: Personal, Professional, and Applied Skills, the program fosters self-development, critical thinking and life-long learning.

Full-time students can complete the MHA or the eMHA in two academic years. All courses in the campus MHA are offered in a hybrid, face-to-face/online, eight-week format on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at our WSU Davis campus. eMHA students spend 1.5 days on campus each semester with the balance of the coursework completed online. MHA and eMHA courses are taught by an optimum blend of academic professors and working healthcare executives and culminate in a real-time final project resulting in a deliverable of importance and measurable value to one of their local healthcare organizations.

Master of Health Administration (MHA)

Minimum Admission Requirements

A Bachelor's Degree*

GPA of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale

GMAT or GRE scores

At least two years of supervisory experience (preferred)

Practicing physicians may be admitted without the GMAT/GRE or supervisory requirement

 Applicants below the minimum required GPA may be considered. Please provide an explanation of circumstances regarding your GPA.*

* Significant weight is given to GRE aptitude (verbal and quantitative reasoning) with scores of at least 153 and 144, respectively. The GMAT aptitude score should be at least 500. However, indications of academic ability as expressed by undergraduate grade point average and professional experience will be of greater importance than specific undergraduate background and GRE or GMAT scores. Students considering an additional MBA should take the GMAT.*

This requirement may be waived for applicants with 5 or more years of healthcare experience. Practicing physicians and others holding a Master's, Law, or Doctoral degree may be admitted without the GMAT/GRE or supervisory requirement.

Grade Requirements

To receive a Master of Health Administration degree, the student must complete all courses in the MHA program with a grade of "C" or higher, and maintain an overall program GPA of 3.0 or higher.

Master of Science in Athletic Training Program

Director: Valerie W. Herzog, EdD, LAT, ATC

Location: Room 224, Swenson Building

Telephone Contact: Margarita Lopez, 801-626-8631

Faculty: Valerie W. Herzog, EdD, LAT, ATC; Conrad Gabler, PhD, LAT, ATC; Matthew Donahue, PhD, LAT, ATC; Alysia Cohen, PhD, MPH, LAT, ATC; Hannah Stedje, MS, LAT, ATC

The WSU Master of Science in Athletic Training (MSAT) degree is designed to enable students with a bachelor's degree in an area other than athletic training to obtain eligibility for the Board of Certification (BOC) examination. This program is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation of Athletic Training Education (CAATE). Graduates of the MSAT are eligible for the Board of Certification (BOC) examination.

The program provides students with knowledge and skills in the prevention, evaluation, treatment, and rehabilitation of musculoskeletal injuries and general medical conditions. The Master of Science in Athletic Training program is specifically designed to prepare students for a career in health care as a certified athletic trainer. Athletic trainers are currently employed in colleges and universities, public and private high schools, corporations, rehabilitation clinics, professional sports organizations, the military, factories, and hospitals (www.nata.org - National Athletic Trainers' Association).

Master of Science in Athletic Training (MS)

Minimum Admissions Requirements

Bachelor's degree

Admission to Weber State University (Students apply only to the MSAT and will be admitted to WSU and the MSAT concurrently. Students do NOT need to apply through the WSU general admissions process)

GRE scores (only required if GPA is below a 3.0)
Minimum 3.0 GPA*

Submit Graduate Athletic Training Student Application through ATCAS (found online at: <https://atcas.liaisoncas.com>)

Submit Application Essay/Personal Statement (see online application in ATCAS for details)

Two References - at least one reference must be a college-level instructor

Grade of C or better in all prerequisite courses (all prerequisites must have been completed within the last 10 years prior to application)

Documentation of at least 50 observations hours with a Certified Athletic Trainer (or similar healthcare provider for international applicants)

Program Interview - in person or over the phone

Completed Technical Standards Form - can be completed after admission (Form can be found at: <https://www.weber.edu/msat/admission.html>)

Official Transcripts from ALL other colleges/universities attended (send directly to ATCAS)

Proof of immunizations (completed after admission)

Hepatitis-B vaccination (can be completed in first semester if deficient)

Pay Application fee (paid directly to ATCAS)

 Grade point averages between 2.75 and 2.99 will be considered if GRE scores are above average.*

 Students who are deficient in four or fewer prerequisite courses may be admitted on a conditional basis if the courses can be added to the schedule while still meeting the prerequisites prior to each graduate course.*

The priority application deadline is January 15 for the following fall semester. Applications received after the deadline will be considered on a rolling admissions basis if available slots still exist. Students are encouraged to apply by the January 15th deadline, as the program will likely reach capacity at that point. The online application may be accessed on-line at: <https://atcas.liaisoncas.com>.

Post-Admission Requirements

After formal admission to the Athletic Training Master's degree program, students are required to complete an FBI background check and drug test. The WSU Master of Science in Athletic Training Program enters into Affiliation Agreements with multiple healthcare facilities and schools throughout the state. These agreements provide WSU MSAT students and faculty authorized access to facility resources and patients. In response to stipulations contained within one or more of these Agreements, the WSU MSAT requires students admitted to the program to submit to an FBI level criminal background check as well as a urine drug test. This screening process has been mandated by the WSU MSAT in an effort to more effectively protect the safety and well-being of the patients, clients, and residents of those facilities, and is fully supported by the Department of Athletic Training and the MSAT faculty.

Both the background check and the drug test will be completed during the student's first semester. The expenses (approximately $80) will be paid for by the student.

Additional Admission Requirements for International Students

All international students and any applicants educated outside the U.S. must demonstrate proficiency in English. Those whose native language is not English, or whose language of instruction for their undergraduate degree was not English, will be required to submit an official score from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) which is not more than two years old and on which a minimum score of 563 (paper-based), or 85 (internet-based) with a minimum score of 17 in each section, has been earned. The MSAT Program also accepts the International English Language Testing System (IELTS) - applicants may have an official score report sent to the MSAT Program Director which is not more than two years old and on which a minimum score of 6.5 overall, with a minimum of 6.0 in each section, has been earned.

Students who have not earned the minimum required English proficiency scores may still be admitted conditionally. Student who have at least a score of 70 on the TOEFL exam (internet-based) would be required to begin ESL and other coursework at Weber State University one semester prior to beginning MSAT coursework. During this preparatory semester, students would be required to complete, with a grade of a C+ or better, approximately 8 credits of ESL courses and complete, with a grade of C or better, approximately 6 credits of MSAT prerequisite courses.

Students who have a 61-69 score on the TOEFL exam would be required to begin ESL and other coursework at Weber State University for two semesters prior to beginning MSAT coursework. During this preparatory semester, students would be required to complete, with a grade of a C+ or better, approximately 8 credits of ESL courses per semester and complete, with a grade of C or better, approximately 6 credits of MSAT prerequisite courses per semester.

The MSAT Program Director will determine which ESL and prerequisite courses are most appropriate based on the student's undergraduate coursework and English proficiency scores.

Minimum English Proficiency scores for conditional admissions:

TOEFL (internet-based) - 70 (one semester); 61 (two semesters)

TOEFL (paper-based) - 525 (one semester); 500 (two semesters)

IELTS - 6.0 (one semester); 5.5 (two semesters)

Selection Process

All applications will be ranked by using a numerical scale to rate the elements of the application.

Students receiving the highest scores in the rating process will be invited to enter the Master of Science in Athletic Training Program. The selection committee is comprised of the MSAT faculty. The number of students chosen to enter the program each year will vary, in compliance with accreditation guidelines related to professor and preceptor-to-student ratios. Selection into the MSAT is competitive and satisfaction of the minimum requirements does not guarantee admission.

Applicants not invited to enter the MSAT may reapply the following year. All applicants who reapply must meet all requirements in effect at the time of reapplication. Students who choose to reapply must review the program website and/or catalog for current admission requirements at that time.

All students selected for the MSAT must provide evidence of being able to meet the Technical Standards for Admission of the program. Only those students who verify that they can meet those technical standards, with or without reasonable accommodations, will be allowed to enter the program. The Technical Standards can be found on the program's website at: <https://www.weber.edu/msat/admission.html>

Retention Requirements

After students are selected into the MSAT, retention in the program will be based on the following criteria:

Grade "B-" or better in all required MSAT courses (includes Graduate Practicum courses).

Maintain an overall Weber State University Graduate GPA of 3.0.

Adhere to MSAT Athletic Training Student Handbook Policies.

Students who fail to meet the retention criteria will be placed on probation in the MSAT program for one semester. If standards are not met by the end of the probationary period, the student will be dismissed from the program. Students who receive a grade lower than a "B-" in any required MSAT course must repeat that course and receive a grade of "B-" or higher to remain in the program. Failure to repeat the course (when offered) will result in dismissal from the program. Students who receive a grade lower than a "B-" in two or more MSAT courses will be dismissed from the program.

Early Admission for Weber State students

Students enrolled in any Bachelor's degree program at Weber State with 75 credits completed towards a degree may apply for early admissions consideration. Students applying for early admissions are still required to complete all Admissions requirements listed above. To be eligible for early admissions consideration, the following must be completed prior to application.

Students must have completed 17 credits of MSAT prerequisites as follows:

- 8 credits of Anatomy and Physiology
 - ZOOL 2100 - Human Anatomy (4) or
 - HTHS 1110 LS - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology I (4); AND
 - ZOOL 2200 LS - Human Physiology (4) or
 - HTHS 1111 - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology II (4)
- 9 additional credits from the MSAT prerequisite requirements (see below).
- Students must have a minimum of 3.0 GPA in their completed prerequisite courses.
- The required 50 observation hours with a Certified Athletic Trainer must be completed prior to application.
- Students will also need to complete a program interview during the early admission process.
- The early admission process will take place in March of each year. Please refer to the program website for specific deadlines: <https://weber.edu/msat>.

Advisement

Students enrolled in the MSAT program will be assigned a faculty advisor. Students will be encouraged to meet with their faculty advisor at least once a semester and to engage in dialogue when necessary regarding academic success, clinical assignments, and/or personal or professional issues.

Transfer Credits

In compliance with the Higher Education Act, Weber State University only accepts transfer credit from regionally accredited colleges and universities.

Students who have completed graduate athletic training coursework at another CAATE-accredited professional master's degree program in Athletic Training may apply for up to 9 transfer credits. The transfer of graduate credits from non-CAATE-accredited programs will be considered on a case-by-case basis. Approval of all transfer credits requires an official transcript, a copy of the course syllabus, and approval by the WSU MSAT Program Director.

Master of Science in Nursing Program

Chair: Sally Cantwell, PhD, RN

Director: Melissa Neville-Norton, DNP, APRN, CPNP-PC

Location: Marriott Allied Health Building, Rm 438

Program Secretary: Cheryl Hyatt (801) 626-7833

Enrollment Director: Rob Holt (801) 626-6753

The Weber State University Annie Taylor Dee School of Nursing Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) program is designed to prepare the graduate as a nurse executive and a nurse educator with knowledge and skills to lead change, promote health, and elevate care in various roles and settings. The emphases of nursing educator and nurse executive are specifically intended for individuals who want to advance their practice and careers in these areas.

The MSN Executive and Educator degree consists of 39 credit hours beyond the earned baccalaureate degree which includes core courses (15 credits) and emphasis of nurse administrator or nurse educator (20 credits per concentration) which includes 4 credits of project hours. The WSU executive and educator graduate nursing programs are completely online. There are limited face to face experiences during Residency courses.

Certificate courses may not be concurrently applied towards the WSU MSN degree. The School of Nursing programs are nationally accredited by the Accreditation Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN) 3343 Peachtree Road NE, Suite 850, Atlanta, Georgia, 30326. www.acenursing.org.

Nurse Educator Graduate Certificate

The Nurse Educator Graduate Certificate is a stand-alone certificate.

Program Prerequisite: Completion of an MSN degree.

Grade Requirements: A minimum grade of "B-" is required in all courses and an overall program GPA of 3.0 or higher.

Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 12 credit hours is required.

Program Code: 2055GC

CIPC: 513817

The certificate can be completed in two (2) semesters based on course availability and optional residency. Students may choose to register for an optional 90-hour supervised residency in the area of focus. The certificate will be awarded upon completion of all required graduate-level courses. All courses are delivered in a 100% online except for the optional 90-hour residency.

Certificate courses may not be concurrently applied towards the WSU MSN degree.

Master of Science in Nursing (MSN)

The Weber State University Annie Taylor Dee School of Nursing Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) program prepares nurse leaders who are capable of shaping and advancing the practice and profession of nursing in a variety of advanced roles (nurse executive, nurse manager, or nurse educator) in healthcare organizations/systems or academic institutions.

The MSN program offers two emphases—the Nurse Executive (30 credits) and the Nurse Educator (33 credits). The program is full-time requiring completion in three (3) continuous, 8-week block semesters. Coursework is delivered 100% online. There is a required 90-hour supervised residency during the last semester of study in the chosen emphasis setting (academic or healthcare setting).

Weber State University offers two post-MSN certificates—the Nurse Executive Certificate (12 credits with an optional residency) and the Nurse Educator Certificate (14 credits with an optional residency). Both certificate programs offer an optional 90-hour (2 credits) supervised residency at the conclusion of their coursework. The programs can be completed in up to two semesters depending on course availability and an optional residency.

Grade Requirements: To earn the MSN degree, candidates must successfully complete all MSN program courses with a grade of "B-" or higher and maintain an overall program GPA of 3.0 or higher.

Master of Science in Nursing- Nurse Practitioner (MSNP)

The Master of Science Nursing Family Nurse Practitioner Program is a 5 semester clinically focused program to prepare Baccalaureate RNs with 2 years or more experience for the role of nurse practitioner.

The hybrid model learning experiences afforded students include: collaborative community healthcare partnerships, arrangement of required nurse practitioner program clinical hours, and collaborative community and College of Health Professions' interdisciplinary healthcare provider skills and procedures labs.

Students are prepared to complete the national nurse practitioner certification exam and to practice as independent licensed practitioners with understanding of the nurse practitioner role, new scope of practice, essentials of healthcare policy, and interdisciplinary collaborative partnerships to provide safe quality care to clients throughout the lifespan.

Master of Science in Radiologic Sciences Program

Department Chair: Robert Walker, PhD,
RT(R)(MR)(CT)(QM), FASRT
Location: Marriott Health Building, Room 363
Telephone Contact: Cathy Wells, 801-626-8538
DCHP Admission Office: 801-626-6136

The Master of Science in Radiologic Sciences (MSRS) program allows you to build the program based on your educational and professional interests. Students can focus in areas of advanced practice, education, management, research, interventional cardiology, Radiology Asssitant, musculoskeletal sonography, radiology nursing, and interprofessional education (IPE).

Master of Science in Radiologic Sciences (MSRS)

Areas of Emphasis

Master of Science in Radiologic Sciences (MSRS), Radiologist Assistant Emphasis: The Masters of Science of Radiologic Sciences with emphasis on Radiologist Assistant is intended to prepare students to work as a Registered Radiologist Assistant (RA). The role of the RA provider is to improve efficiency and patient care in imaging services by providing advanced level support to radiologists. The curriculum incorporates the RRA certification requirements as published by the American Registry of Radiologic Technologists (ARRT). Students will learn advanced patient care, safety, and procedures through academic work and clinical experience.

Master of Science in Radiologic Sciences (MSRS), Innovation and Improvement Emphasis: The Masters of Science of Radiologic Sciences with emphasis in Innovation and Improvement is focused on elevating the imaging professional and patient care by providing students with diverse and customized skills and knowledge necessary to connect their imaging practices with policy. Imaging professionals will broaden their clinical comprehension, develop their leadership and educational expertise, enhance their research ingenuity, and extend their professional versatility within the imaging industry.

Master of Science in Radiologic Sciences (MSRS), Cardiac Specialist Emphasis: The student choosing the Cardiac Specialist emphasis will acquire the knowledge and clinical skills necessary for a career in the cardiac cath lab. The invasive cardiovascular technology student will develop analytical thinking skills and research capability while studying a wide range of disciplines, including coronary and structural heart disease, multimodality cardiac imaging, and interventional cardiac catheterization. Students will learn alongside cardiologists while assisting with cath lab procedures such as angiography, hemodynamic assessment, coronary stenting, and valve implantation. Upon graduation, students will be qualified to sit for the Registered Cardiovascular Invasive Specialist (RCIS) and/or the Cardiac - Interventional Radiography (CI) exam.

The maximum time for completion of the degree, including thesis, will be three years if the maximum time is exceeded, the student must petition to the program for an extension.

Admission Requirements for All MSRS

Criteria to be considered for acceptance into the program include:

- Admission to Weber State University and online application for the MSRS Program.
- Payment of the MSRS program application fee.
- Graduate of an accredited baccalaureate academic program in health science (includes, but not limited to, cardiovascular technology, ultrasound, radiologic technology, respiratory therapy, or nursing)
- Official transcripts from all institutions attended.
- Overall GPA
- Letters of recommendation

Additional Requirements for International Students

- Please seek advisement/assistance from WSU's International Student and Scholar Center at 801-626-6853 or intladmissions@weber.edu.

- Submit an official score from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) of 550 (paper-based), or 213 (computer-based). The score may not be more than two years old.
- Oral language proficiency assessment.
- Weber State University-accepted bachelor's degree. All applicants educated outside the U.S. must submit transcripts that have been evaluated by a WSU approved foreign credentials evaluation service. For a list of approved agencies, click here: <http://www.weber.edu/issc/credentials.html>. A translated transcript is not accepted. Transcripts must be evaluated on a course-by-course format, showing U.S. semester credit and grade equivalent for each course based on a 4.0 GPA scale.
- Evaluation of foreign health imaging professional certifications by MSRS faculty.
- Graduate students must first apply and be accepted by the MSRS graduate program before the admission can be processed for Weber State University.

Student Advisement

A program advisor will be appointed by the School of Radiologic Sciences Chair from the graduate faculty in the program. All MSRS candidates must consult the program advisor at least once a semester. The School of Radiological Sciences Chair will serve as chair of the advisement committee, which will comprise all MSRS faculty. For issues regarding registration and scheduling, students should contact the MSRS Enrollment Manager at msrs@weber.edu.

Continued program evaluation and improvement will assure a high-quality program that meets the students' needs. The student's needs and success will be monitored continuously throughout the program.

Master of Science in Radiologic Sciences (MSRS), Radiologist Assistant Emphasis

Grade Requirements: All required courses must be completed with a grade of "B" or higher.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 62 credit hours are required.

Program Code: 2037MSRS with Emphasis in 2066
CIPC: 510911

The maximum time for completion of the degree, including thesis, will be three years; if the maximum time is exceeded, the student must petition to the program for an extension.

Admission Requirements for All MSRS

Criteria to be considered for acceptance into the program include:

- Admission to Weber State University and online application for the MSRS Program.
- Payment of the MSRS program application fee.
- Graduate of an accredited baccalaureate academic program in health science (includes, but not limited to, cardiovascular technology, ultrasound, radiologic technology, respiratory therapy, or nursing)
- Official transcripts from all institutions attended.
- Overall GPA
- Letters of recommendation

Additional Requirements for International Students

- Please seek advisement/assistance from WSU's International Student and Scholar Center at 801-626-6853 or intladmissions@weber.edu.
- Submit an official score from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) of 550 (paper-based), or 213 (computer-based). The score may not be more than two years old.
- Oral language proficiency assessment.
- Weber State University-accepted bachelor's degree. All applicants educated outside the U.S.

must submit transcripts that have been evaluated by a WSU approved foreign credentials evaluation service. For a list of approved agencies, click here:

<http://www.weber.edu/issc/credentials.html>. A translated transcript is not accepted. Transcripts must be evaluated on a course-by-course format, showing U.S. semester credit and grade equivalent for each course based on a 4.0 GPA scale.

Evaluation of foreign health imaging professional certifications by MSRS faculty.

Graduate students must first apply and be accepted by the MSRS graduate program before the admission can be processed for Weber State University.

Student Advisement

A program advisor will be appointed by the School of Radiologic Sciences Chair from the graduate faculty in the program. All MSRS candidates must consult the program advisor at least once a semester. The School of Radiological Sciences Chair will serve as chair of the advisement committee, which will comprise all MSRS faculty. For issues regarding registration and scheduling, students should contact the MSRS Enrollment Manager at mrs@weber.edu.

Continued program evaluation and improvement will assure a high-quality program that meets the students' needs. The student's needs and success will be monitored continuously throughout the program.

The Master of Science in Radiologic Sciences (MSRS) program allows you to build the program based on your educational and professional interests. Students can focus in areas of advanced practice, education, management, research, interventional cardiology, musculoskeletal sonography, radiology nursing, and interprofessional education (IPE).

Additional Requirements for RA Emphasis

Admission to the program requires a bachelor's degree, health imaging certification and Health Care experience.

Criteria to be considered for acceptance into the program include:

Health Care Responsibility and Clinical Radiologist
Preceptorship Agreement Form
Active Clinical Site Affiliation Agreement with WSU
An annual report of all radiologic procedures provided by the intended clinical site from the prior year Evidence of accreditation from the intended clinical site
Radiologic Technology (RT) credentials from the ARRT
Documentation of current Basic Life Support (BLS) certification

The degree candidate must complete 3 hours of thesis work MSRS 6999 - Master's Thesis in Radiologic Sciences (3). The master's thesis will be a complete body of work, either accepted for publication in a peer-reviewed journal in the field or deemed publishable by the student's committee.*

Master of Science in Respiratory Therapy

Director: Paul Eberle, PhD, RRT

Location: Marriott Allied Health Building, Rm 309B

Telephone: Administrative Assistant, Amy Heaps (801) 626-7071

Enrollment Director: Alisa Kimball (801) 626-6840

The MSRT program is designed for post-professional career development and to prepare respiratory care practitioners as 1) department or clinical administrators, 2) college-level faculty and/or asthma educators, and 3) clinical researchers employed within a variety of healthcare institutions. Two of five post-professional practice credentials (Certified PFT [CPFT] or Registered PFT [RPFT], Sleep Disorders Specialist [SDS] or Registered Polysomnographic Technologist [RPSgT], Adult Critical Care Specialist [ACCS], Neonatal/Pediatric Specialist [NPS], and Asthma Educator [AE-C]) relative to practitioner expertise are required for completion of the degree. Additionally, specific concentrations/emphasis of practice will prepare students for advanced careers in respiratory care. These concentrations are specifically intended for individuals with clinical experience pursuing advanced career pathways in administration, as college faculty, or as clinical researchers or health care consultants. Master of Science in Respiratory Therapy graduates participate in the health care arena as post-professional leaders with roles as clinical respiratory therapists prepared to provide guidance and administrative leadership to departments and to undergraduates throughout the educational processes associated with providing, managing, coordinating, and consulting in respiratory care.

The MSRT degree consists of 36 credit hours beyond the earned baccalaureate degree. This includes core courses in medical writing, medical pathophysiology, and medical ethics and law (9 credits), and providing a mechanism for two post-professional practice credentials. Additionally, concentrations chosen by the student in areas of health administration, college-level faculty or asthma educator, or clinical research (9 credits per concentration) are required for emphasis. MSRT students are required to complete 6 credits as a capstone project incorporating research principles learned throughout the curriculum. The MSRT program is developed with "hybrid" educational courses. This means the majority of coursework will be online with a few scheduled classroom experiences dependent on the area of concentration/emphasis chosen.

Master of Science in Respiratory Therapy (MSRT)

Grade Requirements: To earn the MSRT degree, candidates must complete all program courses with a grade of "B-" or higher and maintain an overall program GPA of 3.0 or above.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 36 credit hours are required.

Program Code: 2047MSRT

CIPC: 510908

Admission Requirements

Bachelor degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher education (see below for the AS to MSRT optional admission track)

An NBRC-issued Registered Respiratory Therapist (RRT) credential

Minimum GPA of 3.0 on approved undergraduate/graduate coursework OR an acceptable score on Miller Analogies Test (MAT) or Graduate Record Examination (GRE)

Research Emphasis Only: basic statistics course (MATH 1040, Intro to Statistics or equivalent)

Applicants must submit an online application to include: transcripts from every institution of higher learning, proof of the NBRC RRT credential, three recommendation forms completed by appropriate professional references, and if applicable, MAT/GRE scores. Admission requires a complete application. Applications will not be considered until a complete application has been submitted and all items requested have been received by the MSRT department. With departmental approval, an applicant may be allowed to take up to six MSRT credit hours prior to formal acceptance.

Additional Admission Requirements for International Students

All International students and any applicant educated outside the United States must demonstrate proficiency in English and register with the International Office in the Student Services Center. Those whose native language is not English must submit official scores from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) of 570 (paper-based) with a TSE-A of 50, or 83 (computer-based) with a 26 or higher on speaking. The score may not be more than two years old.

Application

The application is available online at <https://weber.edu/msrt/admission.html>. An application fee is required for the application to be considered complete. Application for admission should be made by July 1 for fall semester admission and November 1 for spring semester admission.

Advisement

Any questions regarding the MSRT program including academic advisement should be directed to the MSRT Program Director.

Optional Application Track for AS to MSRT

Admission Requirements for AS to MSRT

Conditional acceptance to the AS to MSRT program requires the following:

- Associate degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher education
- An NBRC-issued Registered Respiratory Therapist (RRT) credential
- Minimum GPA of 3.0 on approved undergraduate/graduate coursework OR an acceptable score on Miller Analogies Test (MAT) or Graduate Record Examination (GRE)
- Research Emphasis Only: basic statistics course (MATH 1040, Intro to Statistics or equivalent)

Applicants must submit an online application to include: transcripts from every institution of higher learning, proof of the NBRC RRT credential, three recommendation forms completed by appropriate professional references, and if applicable, MAT/GRE scores. Admission requires a complete application. Applications will not be considered until a complete application has been submitted and all items requested have been received by the MSRT department.

AS to MSRT students must satisfy the degree requirements for the Bachelor of Science in Respiratory Therapy, excluding the 30 institutional residency credits, prior to matriculating into MSRT courses.

Additional Admission Requirements for International Students for AS to MSRT

All International students and any applicant educated outside the United States must demonstrate proficiency in English and register with the International Office in the Student Services Center. Those whose native language is not English must submit official scores from the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) of 570 (paper-based) with a TSE-A of 50, or 83 (computer-based) with a 26 or higher on speaking. The score may not be more than two years old.

Application for AS to MSRT

The application is available online at <https://weber.edu/msrt/admission.html>. An application fee is required for the application to be considered complete. Application for admission to the AS to MSRT program can be made at any time. Matriculation into MSRT coursework will occur on an individual basis.

Advisement for AS to MSRT

All students who are interested in the conditional acceptance of AS RRT to MSRT application track are required to schedule an appointment with the MSRT Program Director prior to application. Once admitted to the program, the student will be required to complete an academic contract specifying major courses, approved electives, and graduation requirements for both the BS and MSRT degrees. All students in the AS to MSRT admission track are held to the program requirements outlined in the catalog for both the BS and MSRT degrees.

Course Requirements for MSRT Degree

Required MSRT Core Courses (9 credit hours)

- MSRT 6010 - Medical Writing, Research Methods & Design Credits: (3)
- MSRT 6020 - Medical Pathophysiology/Cardiopulmonary Case Reviews Credits: (3)
- MHA 6440 - Health Ethics and Law Credits: (3)

Post-Professional Credential Courses (6 credit hours required)

- MSRT 6410 - Certified Pulmonary Function Technologist (CPFT) Credits: (3)
- MSRT 6420 - Sleep Disorders Specialty (SDS) Credits: (3)
- MSRT 6460 - Neonatal Pediatric Specialty (NPS) Credits: (3)
- MSRT 6470 - Adult Critical Care Specialty (ACCS) Credits: (3)
- MSRT 6480 - Asthma Educator Specialty Credential (AE-C) Credits: (3)

Concentration/Emphasis Courses Required (9 credit hours)

Select one of the following concentrations:

Health Administrative Services Concentration

- MHA 6000 - Health Systems & the Healthcare Economy Credits: (3)
- MHA 6100 - Leading & Managing People in Healthcare Credits: (3)
- MHA 6240 - Human Resources Management in Healthcare Credits: (3)

Education Concentration

- MSRT 6030 - Adult Learning Theory & Simulation Strategies Credits: (3)
- MED 6050 - Curriculum Design, Evaluation & Assessment Credits: (3)
- MED 6230 - Instructional Technology for Teachers Credits: (3)

Research Concentration

MED 6080 - Conducting Educational Research

Credits: (3)

MSRT 6130 - Evidence-based Practice Credits:

(3)

MSRT 6140 - Applied Research in Respiratory

Care Credits: (3)

MSRT Capstone Project (6 credit hours)

MSRT 6700 - Capstone Project Credits: (3)

Note:

Electives (6 credit hours) may be fulfilled with additional advanced-practice credential(s) or other concentration/emphasis courses. Additionally, proof of two advanced-practice specialty credentials are required for awarding of MSRT degree.

Radiologic Sciences is a medical field that uses ionizing radiation, sound waves and magnetic fields to produce medical images for diagnostic purposes or to treat diseases by combining medical procedures with technology.

Please refer to the Master of Science in Radiologic Sciences (MSRS).

Radiography

The Radiography program provides integrated didactic instruction with the utilization of on campus x-ray rooms and clinical experience in Radiology departments of the affiliated health facilities. During the course of the program, radiologic physics, anatomy, radiographic procedures, positioning, and patient assessment are taught. The student will participate in clinical education within the affiliate health facilities throughout the program.

The program is 5 continuous semesters. The student qualifies for an Associate of Applied Science degree upon completion of the general education requirements and the professional course work. Upper division elective courses completed during the program may be applied toward a baccalaureate degree.

Diagnostic Medical Sonography

The Diagnostic Medical Sonography program is designed as an advanced discipline of study for two-year graduates of radiography programs or equivalent as determined by the School of Radiologic Sciences. A student can complete the required courses and be eligible to sit for the national certification examination. The courses offered in Diagnostic Medical Sonography are upper-division and will be accepted as satisfying the requirements for a primary area emphasis for those students who have been accepted into the Bachelor of Science program.

The program and support courses are four (4) semesters in length for the Cardiac Emphasis or the Medical Emphasis and three (3) semesters in length for the Vascular Emphasis. A competency-based evaluation system is utilized throughout the program. A student must achieve a predetermined level of competency in the academic and clinical courses in order to receive grades for the course. The clinical education courses require a minimum of 24 clock hours per calendar week in an affiliated health care facility.

Nuclear Medicine

The Nuclear Medicine program is designed as an advanced discipline of study for ARRT registered technologists or the acceptable equivalent. A student can complete the required courses, obtain a certificate of completion, and be eligible to sit for the national certification examination. The courses offered in the Nuclear Medicine program are upper-division and will be accepted as satisfying the requirements for a primary area emphasis for those students who have been accepted into the Bachelor of Science program.

The program is three (3) full semesters in length, which requires the student to attend in the summer. A competency-based clinical evaluation system is utilized throughout the program. A student must achieve a predetermined level of competency in the academic and clinical courses in order to receive grades for the course. A minimum of 24 clock hours per week of clinical education must be completed in an affiliated health care facility.

Radiation Therapy

The Radiation Therapy program is designed as an advanced discipline of study for graduates of accredited programs. A student can complete the required courses, obtain a certificate of completion, and be eligible to sit for the national certification examination. The courses offered in the Radiation Therapy program are upper-division and will be accepted as satisfying the requirements for a primary area emphasis for those students who have been accepted into the Bachelor of Science program.

The program is three (3) full semesters in length, which requires the student to attend in the summer. A competency-based clinical evaluation system is utilized throughout the program. A student must achieve a predetermined level of competency in the academic and clinical courses in order to receive grades for the course. A minimum of 24 clock hours per week of clinical education must be completed in an affiliated health care facility.

Advanced Radiologic Science

The Advanced Radiologic Sciences program is designed as an advanced discipline of study for ARRT registered technologists or equivalent as determined by the School of Radiologic Sciences. Students in the program must select an area or combination of areas of emphasis. These areas are designed to meet your career goals in medical imaging modalities and for technical management and educational positions. The courses offered in the Advanced Radiologic Sciences are upper-division and will be accepted as satisfying the requirements for a primary area emphasis for those students in the Bachelor of Science program.

The programs are either three (3) or four (4) semesters in length, depending on the emphasis, which requires the student to attend in the summer. A competency-based clinical evaluation system is utilized throughout the program. A student must achieve a predetermined level of competency in the academic and clinical courses in order to be eligible to sit for the national certification examinations. A minimum of 24 clock hours per week of clinical education must be completed in an affiliated health care facility.

The following emphases are available:

- Computed Tomography (CT)
- Interventional Radiology (IR)
- Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI)
- Women's Imaging

Radiography (AAS)

Radiography is a program offered under School of Radiologic Sciences. The program provides integrated didactic instruction with the utilization of on campus x-ray rooms and clinical experience in Radiology departments of the affiliated health facilities. During the course of the program, radiologic physics, anatomy, radiographic procedures, positioning, and patient assessment are taught. The student will participate in clinical education within the affiliate health facilities throughout the program.

The program is 5 continuous semesters. The student qualifies for an associate of applied science degree upon completion of the general education requirements and the professional course work. Upper division elective courses completed during the program may be applied toward a baccalaureate degree.

Program Prerequisite: Complete the prerequisite courses, make application and be accepted to the program. Please contact the DCHP Admissions Advisement Center at 801-626-7136/6136 for a list of specific prerequisite courses.

Grade Requirements: Demonstrate ability to achieve scholastically with grades of C or better.

Credit Hour Requirements: The credit hours required for graduation with an AAS degree are 23-26 credit hours of prerequisite courses and 79 credit hours of didactic and clinical education courses.

Program Code: 2013AAS

CIPC: 510911

Advisement

Students accepted into the program should meet annually with assigned faculty advisor for course and program review.

Admission Requirements

Be accepted to Weber State University and declare program of study as Radiography applicant.

Apply to the Radiography Program for acceptance and follow the procedures as outlined on the program application, which is in addition to the Weber State Admissions Application. The deadline date for applications to be received is January 10 of each year. Student selection is made during Spring semester and those accepted into the program begin their professional phase of the curriculum the following fall semester.

Pay the $25 program application fee.

Present a satisfactory high school and/or college(s) transcript(s).

Complete the general education courses listed below.

Limited Radiographer Certificate of Proficiency

The Limited Radiographer Certificate for Proficiency is a program offered under School of Radiologic Sciences. The program provides integrated didactic instruction with the utilization of clinical simulation. During the course of the program, radiologic physics, anatomy, radiographic procedures, positioning, and patient assessment are taught.

The program is one semester and is offered during fall, spring and summer semesters. The student qualifies for a certificate of proficiency upon completion of the program.

Program Prerequisite: None.

Grade Requirements: Demonstrate ability to achieve scholastically with grades of C or better.

Credit Hour Requirements: The credit hours required for completion of the certificate will include the 10 credit hours (5 courses) within the Limited Radiographer program as well as the 8 credit hours of life science covering Anatomy and Physiology (HTHS 1110 LS - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology I (4) and HTHS 1111 - Integrated Human Anatomy and Physiology II (4)) or (ZOOOL 2100 - Human Anatomy (4) and ZOOOL 2200 LS - Human Physiology (4)).

Advanced Radiologic Sciences (BS)

The Advanced Radiologic Sciences program is designed to fill the continuing education needs of registered technologists, to provide a career ladder for those who wish to obtain additional skills in a specialized area, and to provide an opportunity to earn a Bachelor of Science (BS) degree. Programs of study are designed to meet the career goals of students in medical imaging modalities and for technical, management and educational positions.

Areas of Emphasis

Advanced Radiologic Sciences (BS), Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) Emphasis

Advanced Radiologic Sciences (BS), Interventional Radiology (IR) Emphasis

Advanced Radiologic Sciences (BS), Computed Tomography (CT) Emphasis

Advanced Radiologic Sciences (BS), Women's Imaging Emphasis

Program Prerequisite: Must be an ARRT registered technologist or acceptable equivalent as determined by the School of Radiologic Sciences, make application and be accepted to the program of choice (refer to the Admission Requirements below).

Minor: Students may select any approved minor in consultation with a faculty advisor and the completion of an academic contract. A minor is not required for the Radiology Assistant (RA) program.

Grade Requirements: After admittance into the program of choice, a GPA of 2.0 is required in all professional courses.

Credit Hours: A total of 120 credit hours are required for graduation; 30-48 of these must be within the major emphasis.

Program Code: Advanced Radiologic Science (2016BS) with Advanced Radiologic Sciences Emphasis (2073), Magnetic Resonance Imaging Emphasis (2074), Interventional Radiology Emphasis (2075), Computed Tomography Emphasis (2076), or Women's Imaging Emphasis (2077)

Advanced Radiologic Sciences (BS), Interventional Radiology (IR) Emphasis

Program Prerequisite: Must be an ARRT registered technologist or acceptable equivalent as determined by the School of Radiologic Sciences, make application and be accepted to the program of choice (refer to the Admission Requirements below).

Minor: Students may select any approved minor in consultation with a faculty advisor and the completion of an academic contract. A minor is not required for the Radiology Assistant (RA) program.

Grade Requirements: After admittance into the program of choice, a GPA of 2.0 is required in all professional courses.

Credit Hours: A total of 120 credit hours are required for graduation; 30-48 of these must be within the major emphasis.

Program Code: 2016BS with Emphasis 2075
CIPC: 510911

Advisement

Students must meet with a faculty advisor for the program of study selected and should meet with a faculty advisor at least annually for course and program review. Call 801-626-6057 for more information or to schedule an appointment. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Requirements

- Apply for admission to Weber State University;
- Apply to the program of choice and submit a $25.00 application fee;
- Submit copy of active ARRT certification card or acceptable equivalent;
- Submit transcripts from all colleges and universities attended;
- Complete an academic contract in consultation with a faculty advisor;
- The Program of Study within the Advanced Radiologic Sciences major will be declared upon acceptance into modality.

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements.

Radiologic Sciences Core (4 credit hours)

Students must complete an upper division research course in either the major area of emphasis or in the minor emphasis. The course must be equivalent to RADT 4943 - Baccalaureate Thesis (2) and approved by a faculty advisor.

Diagnostic Medical Sonography (BS)

Program Prerequisite: Must be an ARRT registered technologist or acceptable equivalent as determined by the School of Radiologic Sciences, make application and be accepted to the program of choice (refer to Admission Process below).

Minor: The Advanced Radiologic Sciences minor is automatically satisfied by the requirements for the Diagnostic Medical Sonography major.

Grade Requirements: After admittance to the program, a GPA of 2.0 or a grade of "C" is required in all professional courses.

Credit Hour Requirements: Credit hours required will vary according to the chosen emphasis. Consult with a faculty member to complete an academic contract.

Program Code: Major Diagnostic Medical Sonography (2069BS) with one or more of the following emphases: Cardiac (2070), Medical (2071), Vascular (2072)

CIPC: Major Diagnostic Medical Sonography (510910) with one or more of the following: Cardiac (510910), Medical (510910), Vascular(510910)

Advisement

Students should meet with the admissions counselor at least annually for course and program review. Call 801-626-6057 for more information or to schedule an appointment. (Also refer to the Department Advisor Referral List.)

Admission Process

To be eligible for admission to the Diagnostic Medical Sonography program, the following criteria must be met:

Application must be made to Weber State.
Demonstrate ability to achieve scholastically.
Complete an application to the desired program and pay the $25 application fee.

Provide the following with the application transcripts from hospital certificate program or colleges and universities; high school transcripts if no previous college experience; and copy of ARRT certification or equivalent.

Have all pertinent material on file January 10.
The Program of Study within the Diagnostic Medical Sonography emphasis area will be declared upon acceptance into modality.

College of Science

Dr. Andrea Easter-Pilcher, Dean

The College of Science provides quality education in the natural sciences and mathematics. The college offers majors and minors in seven departments (Botany, Chemistry, Earth and Environmental Science, Mathematics, Microbiology, Physics, and Zoology). The college also supports students through its Developmental Mathematics Program. The departments and programs of the College of Science support professional and graduate school preparatory programs, and contribute significantly to the general education of students by improving scientific understanding of the natural world and quantitative literacy. Education is provided through formal classes, laboratory and field experiences, and undergraduate research projects.

Science and Mathematics Programs, offered as both majors and minors allow students to pursue in-depth study in the science discipline of one's choice. They also allow one to experience a more diverse education through broader study outside of the sciences. Graduates in the sciences and mathematics are able to find employment in a variety of entry-level positions directly related to their major discipline. They are also able to move into graduate school or professional programs. Our graduates possess the broad liberal arts educational background and depth of expertise for significant career ladder movement in their discipline fields. They also have the breadth of knowledge and skills to exercise unique job mobility to become entrepreneurs and pioneer new career directions.

Student learning is also supported by departmental clubs and professional preparatory organizations. The college promotes science and mathematics teaching through the Center for Science and Mathematics Education, and community outreach through such facilities as the Layton P. Ott Planetarium and Museum of Natural Science.

Pre-professional Programs are designed for students interested in specific professional careers requiring additional education at professional schools elsewhere. Weber State University has an excellent record of graduates being admitted into a wide range of professional school programs.

Professional Teacher Preparation Programs are designed to meet the needs of students seeking certification to teach in elementary and secondary schools. The Center for Science & Mathematics Education coordinates with the Jerry and Vickie Moyes College of Education to provide opportunities for students to investigate science teaching careers. There are many excellent career opportunities for graduates with teaching majors or minors in science or mathematics.

Technical Education Programs are offered to meet the needs of individuals seeking vocational and technical preparation required for skilled job-entry or reentry employment, as well as for career updating and occupational enhancement. Currently Associate of Science and Associate of Applied Science degrees are offered for Biotechnician training and Chemical Technician training, respectively, and Institutional Certificates are offered for Biotechnician training, Chemical Technician training, and Geomatics.

Students planning to major or minor in the College of Science should contact the appropriate department for assistance in planning their program. The details of the requirements for all majors and minors are listed within the respective departments. Students completing the teaching majors, minors, or emphases will also work closely with the Center for Science & Mathematics Education and the Jerry and Vickie Moyes College of Education.

Center for Science & Mathematics Education

Director: Dr. Jennifer Claesgens

Location: Tracy Hall Science Center, Room 205

Telephone: 801-626-7772

Web Site: weber.edu/csme

Effective science and mathematics education of the citizenry requires rich and active experiences with the concepts and methods of science and math throughout life. To this end the Center for Science & Mathematics Education seeks to share the resources and expertise of the faculties at Weber State University with the surrounding schools and community.

The mission of the Center for Science and Math Education is to:

- To provide training and advisement for pre-service secondary education science and mathematics teaching majors.
- To provide coordination for science and mathematics education at Weber State University, liaison with the WSU Department of Teacher Education, the Utah State Office of Education and the local school districts.
- To provide in-service training and support for science and mathematics teachers.

To provide opportunities and support for K-12 students related to science and mathematics.

The Center for Science & Mathematics Education also administers and advises students in the Biology Composite Teaching (BS) and the Biology Teaching Minor.

See Mathematics Education (MTHE) under Course Descriptions.

Science Education courses are listed following Master of Education (MED) under Course Descriptions.

Chemical Technology Center

Director: Dr. Edward B. Walker

Location: Tracy Hall Science Center, Room 255P

Telephone: 801-626-6162

Email: ewalker@weber.edu

The mission of the Chemical Technology Center is to enhance the learning environment at Weber State University. The Center involves students and faculty in applied research activities that concomitantly provide extra-curricular learning opportunities, service to the community, and productive relationships with local and regional industries.

Layton P. Ott Planetarium

Director: Dr. John Armstrong, planetarium@weber.edu, 801-626-6215

Web Site: weber.edu/ottplanetarium

The Planetarium, featuring a 30-foot hemispherical dome, is used for instruction in undergraduate astronomy classes. It is also a science education facility featuring programs of interest to elementary students, secondary students, and the general public. For the general public, a program featuring some topic of current interest in astronomy is given one evening a week. Any teacher wishing instructional materials or wanting to set up an appointment for a class visit should contact the Director of the Planetarium, 801-626-6871.

Pre-Professional Programs

For information see weber.edu/premedicalprofessionalprograms or call the Pre-Medical Professional Programs office 801-626-7755.

Students pursuing one of the following programs should satisfy the pre-professional requirements while completing a bachelor's degree. Students should work closely with both their pre-professional advisor and their academic major advisor. Since course loads are typically heavy, and requirements and application procedures vary among post-graduate programs, students should plan their academic strategies early and with full information.

Advisement

Students should be familiar with requirements in the Weber State catalog and consult with the pre-professional advisor and an advisor in their major department.

Pre-Chiropractic Program

For information see weber.edu/premedicalprofessionalprograms or call the Pre-Medical Professional Programs office 801-626-7755.

Students pursuing this program should satisfy the pre-professional requirements while completing a bachelor's degree. Students should work closely with both their pre-professional advisor and their academic major advisor. Since course loads are typically heavy, and requirements and application procedures vary among post-graduate programs, students should plan their academic strategies early and with full information.

Advisement

Students should be familiar with requirements in the Weber State catalog and consult with the pre-professional advisor and an advisor in their major department. Please visit the pre-professional advisement office to be added to department roster and communications.

Pre-Chiropractic Advisor: Jane Stout

Location: TY 381V

Telephone: 801-626-6302

Courses

Use pre-medical requirements and follow the catalog from the chiropractic school of your choosing.

Pre-Medical Program, The Dr. Ezekiel R. Dumke Family

The goal of the pre-medical program is to prepare students for a national competitive examination (the MCAT) and for medical school admission and courses. The pre-medical program is compatible with a variety of majors. Pre-medical classes and/or emphases exist within several departments of the College of Science.

For information see weber.edu/premedicalprofessionalprograms or call the Pre-Medical Professional Programs office 801-626-7755.

Students pursuing this program should satisfy the pre-professional requirements while completing a bachelor's degree. Students should work closely with both their pre-professional advisor and their academic major advisor. Since course loads are typically heavy, and requirements and application procedures vary among post-graduate programs, students should plan their academic strategies early and with full information.

Advisement

Students should be familiar with requirements in the Weber State catalog and consult with the pre-professional advisor and an advisor in their major department. Please visit the pre-professional advisement office to be added to the department roster and communications.

Other Electives

Electives should include general education graduation requirements.

More advanced classes in the sciences may be taken at the option of the student.

Pre-Physical Therapy Program Options

There are multiple programs at WSU for pre-physical therapy students to consider. Options exist in the College of Science (Zoology Program), College of Health Professions (Athletic Therapy Program), and College of Education (Exercise and Sport Science Program). For information see weber.edu/premedicalprofessionalprograms or https://weber.edu/premedicalprofessionalprograms/Pre-Physical_Therapy.html or <https://www.weber.edu/athletic-training/bsathletictherapy.html> or <https://weber.edu/ens/exercise-sport-science.html>.

Students pursuing pre-physical therapy should satisfy the pre-professional requirements while completing a bachelor's degree within the College of Science or in Rehabilitation Sciences (BS) or in Exercise and Sport Science (BS). Students should work closely with both their pre-professional advisor and their academic major advisor. Since course loads are typically heavy, and requirements and application procedures vary among post-graduate programs, students should plan their academic strategies early and with full information.

Advisement

Students should be familiar with requirements in the Weber State catalog and consult with the pre-professional advisor and an advisor in their major department.

Pre-Physical Therapy Advisors can be located through the Student Success Center. See <https://www.weber.edu/ssc>

Department of Botany and Plant Ecology

Department Chair: Sue Harley

Location: Tracy Hall Science Center, Room 416

Telephone: 801-626-6174

Professors: Sue Harley, Barbara Wachocki; Associate Professor: Heather Root; Assistant Professors: James Cohen, Bridget Hilbig, Katharina Schramm

While plants have intrigued and delighted people for thousands of years, they still remain undervalued and too little appreciated. We see a faint connection between plants and our basic needs for food, shelter, clothing, and energy, but only in a rather limited way. Remote connections are made, if at all, between the history of exploration; present-day social, economic, and political conditions; and access to plants and plant products. Interest and understanding of plants is becoming much more intense. During the last few decades we have seen an unprecedented increase in the variety of plants and plant products available in our markets as the popularity of ethnic cuisines has grown. Also, worldwide, people are becoming increasingly aware of sound nutrition and the role plants play in our general health. We now appreciate plants as reservoirs of untold numbers of pharmaceuticals important in our war on diseases. These interests are stimulating our collective concerns about understanding the past, present, and future uses of plants. Recently we have begun to address our most serious problems, such as the loss of ecosystem integrity and habitats for animals dependent upon vegetation. This we have done through increased understanding of plants. We now know how valuable plants are in maintaining the health and stability of the global environment and that in its survival is the survival of the human species.

Botany is the study of all aspects of plants, including systematics, morphology, diversity, metabolism, and ecology. Through a study of plants, students gain an understanding and an appreciation of life at the cellular, organismal, population, and community levels of organization. The study of Botany can lead to a variety of professional careers, including soil science, forestry, range management, biotechnology, plant breeding, horticulture, environmental science, natural medicine, and teaching.

The Botany Department at Weber State University offers undergraduate training in all areas of botany. Students who are interested in specializing in a particular area are encouraged to meet with an advisor. Students who are interested in Field Botany can earn a certificate of proficiency in field botany while working on their Botany (BS) or as a stackable credential with a Biology (AS).

The Botany Department cooperates with the departments of Microbiology and Zoology in offering a Biology Composite Teaching (BS) Major for individuals who are interested in teaching Biology at the secondary school level and a Biology (AS).

The Botany Minor provides valuable support for students majoring in a variety of other fields, including anthropology, geosciences, and zoology.

Herbarium

The Herbarium of Weber State University is housed in the Tracy Hall Science Center, room TY345. It contains more than 28,000 preserved plant specimens, primarily collected from Utah and the Western United States. This collection serves as an important reference for students, faculty, biologists, and all others who need to know the identity of plants or learn something about their geographic distributions and ecological associations.

Interdisciplinary Programs

The Botany Department participates in the interdisciplinary Urban and Regional Planning Emphasis Program. Students who wish to enroll in this program should indicate their desire to do so with the program coordinator who will help them work out a proper combination of courses to fit their particular needs. (See the Engaged Learning, Honors, and Interdisciplinary Programs section of the catalog.) The Department of Botany also contributes courses and faculty expertise to the interdisciplinary Environmental Science major (BS) sponsored by the College of Science.

Field Botany Certificate of Proficiency

The Certificate of Proficiency in Field Botany provides 24 semester credit hours in botany, the minimal botany course work needed for federal job code 0430, botanist. This certificate can be earned as a stand alone certificate, as a +1 with the Biology AS, or while working on a Botany BS. An additional 5 credit hours in botany and an appropriate mathematics course are required beyond the requirements for the botany minor.

Program Prerequisite: Not required.

Grade Requirements: Students completing a certificate in Field Botany must have a minimum grade of "C" in all courses used toward the certificate (a grade of "C-" is not acceptable).

Credit Hour Requirements: A minimum of 27-28 credit hours is required for the certificate.

Advisement

Majors are encouraged to consult with their advisor each semester. Contact the Botany department (801-626-6174).

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). No special admission or application requirements are needed for this program.

General Education

Refer to pages Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. The following courses required for the Botany major will also satisfy general education requirements:

All Botany majors are required to complete a Botany Capstone Seminar. The requirements for the Capstone are explained in detail when a student takes BTNY 2121. The final evaluation of the capstone seminar takes place in BTNY 4990.

- BTNY 2114 - Evolutionary Survey of Plants Credits: (4)
- BTNY 2121 - Career Planning for Botanists Credits: (1)
- BTNY 2600 - Laboratory Safety Credits: (1)
- BTNY 2750 - Topics in Science and Society Credits: (3)
- BTNY 3624 - Taxonomy of Vascular Plants Credits: (4)
- BTNY 4990 - Botany Capstone Seminar Credits: (2)

Botany Elective Courses (Minimum of 21 Credit Hours)

A minimum of 21 additional credits is required within the major. Of these, a minimum of 3 credit hours in each of the three categories (A, B, and C) is required. A maximum of 6 lower division credits can count towards the major course requirements.

Category A: Genetics, Cell, and Molecular (3 credit minimum)

- BTNY 3153 - Biology of the Plant Cell Credits: (3)
- BTNY 3303 - Plant Genetics Credits: (4)
- BTNY 4252 - Cell Culture Credits: (2)

Category B: Physiology and Organismal (3 credit minimum)

- BTNY 3105 - Anatomy of Vascular Plants Credits: (4)
- BTNY 3204 - Plant Physiology Credits: (4)
- BTNY 3504 - Mycology Credits: (4)
- BTNY 3583 - Medicinal Plants-Chemistry and Use Credits: (4)

Category C: Evolution, Ecology, and Environmental (3 credit minimum)

- BTNY 2413 - Introduction to Natural Resource Management Credits: (3)
- BTNY 3214 - Soils Credits: (4)
- BTNY 3454 - Plant Ecology Credits: (4)
- BTNY 3473 - Plant Geography Credits: (3)
- BTNY 3643 - Intermountain Flora Credits: (3)
- BTNY 4113 - Plant Evolution Credits: (3)
- BTNY 4950 - Advanced Field Botany Credits: (3-5)

Additional Botany Elective Courses

BTNY 4750 - Topics in Botany, BTNY 4920 - Short Courses, Workshops, Institutes, and Special Programs, and other variable title courses may count towards one of the three categories with approval from the Botany Department chair.

- BTNY 2203 - Home and Garden Plants Credits: (3)
- BTNY 2303 - Ethnobotany Credits: (3)
- BTNY 2890 INT - Cooperative Work Experience Credits: (1-3)
- BTNY 4750 - Topics in Botany Credits: (1-5)
- BTNY 4800 - Individual Research Credits: (2)
- BTNY 4830 - Readings in Botany Credits: (1-3)
- BTNY 4840 - Thesis Readings Credits: (2)
- BTNY 4850 - Thesis Research Credits: (1-4)
- BTNY 4890 INT - Cooperative Work Experience Credits: (1-6)
- BTNY 4920 - Short Courses, Workshops, Institutes, and Special Programs Credits: (1-4)
- BTNY 4970 - Botany Thesis Credits: (2)

MATH 3450 - Advanced Statistical Methods
Credits: (4)

Required Support Courses (23-36 credit hours)

For each of the following categories in the College of Science you must choose one of the course groupings to satisfy your required support courses.

Chemistry (10-15 credit hours)

CHEM 1110 PS - Elementary Chemistry Credits: (5) and CHEM 1120 - Elementary Organic Bio-Chemistry Credits: (5)
or
CHEM 1210 PS - Principles of Chemistry I Credits: (5) and CHEM 1220 - Principles of Chemistry II Credits: (5)
CHEM 2310 - Organic Chemistry I Credits: (4) and CHEM 2315 - Organic Chemistry I Lab Credits: (1)

Mathematics (3-5 credit hours)

MATH 1040 QL - Introduction to Statistics Credits: (3) or MATH 1050 QL - College Algebra Credits: (4) or MATH 1080 QL - Pre-calculus Credits: (5) or
MATH 1210 - Calculus I Credits: (4)

Physical Sciences (7-10 credit hours)

PHYS 1010 PS - Elementary Physics Credits: (3) and GEO 1110 PS - Dynamic Earth: Physical Geology Credits: (3) and GEO 1115 - Physical Geology Lab Credits: (1)
or
PHYS 2010 PS - College Physics I Credits: (5) and PHYS 2020 - College Physics II Credits: (5)
or
PHYS 2210 PS - Physics for Scientists and Engineers I Credits: (5) and PHYS 2220 - Physics for Scientists and Engineers II Credits: (5)

Other Life Sciences (6 credit minimum)

MICR 1113 LS - Introductory Microbiology Credits: (3)
MICR 2054 LS - Principles of Microbiology Credits: (4)
MICR 3012 - Microbiology and Global Public Health Credits: (2)
MICR 3053 - Microbiological Procedures Credits: (3)
MICR 3203 - The Immune System in Health & Disease Credits: (3)
MICR 3254 - Immunology Credits: (4)
MICR 3305 - Medical Microbiology Credits: (5)
MICR 3403 - Tropical Diseases Credits: (3)
MICR 3484 - Environmental Microbiology Credits: (4)
MICR 3753 - Geomicrobiology Credits: (3)
MICR 3853 - Food Microbiology Credits: (3)
MICR 4054 - Microbial Physiology Credits: (4)
MICR 4154 - Microbial Genetics Credits: (4)
MICR 4554 - Virology Credits: (4)
ZOO 1010 LS - Animal Biology Credits: (3)
ZOO 1110 LS - Principles of Zoology Credits: (4)
ZOO 2100 - Human Anatomy Credits: (4)
ZOO 2220 - Diversity of Animals Credits: (4)
ZOO 3200 - Cell Biology Credits: (4)
ZOO 3300 - Genetics Credits: (4)
ZOO 3450 - Ecology Credits: (4)
ZOO 3470 - Zoogeography Credits: (3)
ZOO 3500 - Conservation Biology Credits: (3)
ZOO 3720 - Evolution Credits: (3)
ZOO 3730 - Population Biology Credits: (3)
ZOO 4050 - Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy Credits: (4)
ZOO 4100 - Vertebrate Embryology Credits: (4)
ZOO 4120 - Histology Credits: (4)
ZOO 4210 - Advanced Human Physiology Credits: (4)
ZOO 4220 - Endocrinology Credits: (4)
ZOO 4250 - Radiation Biology Credits: (4)
ZOO 4300 - Research Applications in Genetics Credits: (4)
ZOO 4470 - Wildlife Ecology and Management Credits: (4)
ZOO 4480 - Aquatic Ecology Credits: (4)
ZOO 4490 - Marine Ecology Credits: (4)
ZOO 4500 - Parasitology Credits: (4)
ZOO 4600 - Protozoology Credits: (4)
ZOO 4640 - Entomology Credits: (4)
ZOO 4650 - Ichthyology Credits: (4)
ZOO 4660 - Herpetology Credits: (4)

ZOOL 4670 - Ornithology Credits: (4)
ZOOL 4680 - Mammalogy Credits: (4)

Botany (BIS)

Botany (Minor/BIS)

Grade Requirements: An overall GPA of 2.00 in all courses used toward the minor.

Credit Hour Requirements: Minimum 19 credit hours in Botany courses.

Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry

Department Chair: Laine Berghout

Location: Tracy Hall Science Center, Room 255H

Telephone Contact: Colleen Boam 801-626-6952

Professors: Laine Berghout, Charles Davidson, Don Davies, Timothy Herzog, Todd M. Johnson, Andreas Lippert, Barry A. Lloyd, Michelle Paustenbaugh, Edward Walker; Associate Professor: Tracy Covey; Assistant Professor: Brandon Burnett; Instructors: Carol Campbell, Brooke Jenkins

The Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry is approved by the American Chemical Society (ACS). Chemistry and Biochemistry- ACS Certified Bachelor of Science degrees meets all the requirements of the ACS. Both Chemistry BS or Biochemistry BS programs provide good foundations in chemistry and biochemistry that prepares students to enter the work force directly, or enter graduate research programs. They also provide our students excellent preparation for Pre-Medical, Pre-Dental, Pre-Pharmacy, other Pre-Medical Professional students and who need a sound chemical background. The Chemistry Teaching Major leads to a Bachelor of Science Degree with secondary education licensure. A Chemistry Minor and a Chemistry Teaching Minor are also available. The two-year Chemical Technician Program, leading to an Associate of Applied Science Degree or a Certificate of Skill Proficiency, is designed to emphasize skills required for employment as a technician in chemical laboratories.

Interdisciplinary Programs

The Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry contributes courses and faculty expertise to the Interdisciplinary Environmental Science major (BS) sponsored by the College of Science. In addition, the department participates in A.A.S. Physical Science.

Chemical Technician (AAS)

Grade Requirements: Minimum overall GPA of 2.00 or "C".

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 63 credit hours are required for graduation; 35 of these are required within the program.

Program Code: 6004AAS

CIPC: 410301

CHEM 2315 - Organic Chemistry I Lab Credits: (1)

CHEM 3000 - Quantitative Analysis Credits: (4)

CHEM 3070 - Biochemistry I Credits: (3)

CHEM 3075 - Biochemistry I Lab Credits: (1)

CHEM 3410 - Foundations in Physical Chemistry Credits: (4)

CHEM 3610 - Foundations in Inorganic Chemistry Credits: (4)

Advisement

It is recommended that a student consult with a chemistry advisor annually. Call 801-626-6952 for information and to arrange an appointment.

Support Course Required (4 credit hours)

MATH 1050 QL - College Algebra Credits: (4)

General Education

Refer to Degree Requirements for Associate of Applied Science requirements. The following course required for the Chemical Technician program will also satisfy part of the general education requirement for physical sciences: CHEM 1210.

Major Course Requirements for AAS Degree

Courses Required

CHEM 1210 PS - Principles of Chemistry I
Credits: (5)

CHEM 1220 - Principles of Chemistry II Credits: (5)

CHEM 2990 - Chemical Technician Seminar
Credits: (1)

Foundation Courses

Students are required to take 2 of the following foundation courses:

Please note the combined CHEM 2310 and CHEM 2315 and CHEM 3070 and CHEM 3075 count as one foundation course. CHEM 2310 and CHEM 2315 must be taken concurrently.

CHEM 2310 - Organic Chemistry I Credits: (4)

Chemical Technician Certificate of Completion

Grade Requirements: Minimum overall GPA of 2.00 or "C".

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 41 credit hours are required.

Program Code: 6004CC

CIPC: 410301

Course Requirements for Institutional Certificate of Completion

Courses Required (21 credit hours)

CHEM 1210 PS - Principles of Chemistry I

Credits: (5) and

CHEM 1220 - Principles of Chemistry II Credits:

ZOOL 2200 LS - Human Physiology Credits: (4)

ZOOL 3200 - Cell Biology Credits: (4)

ZOOL 3300 - Genetics Credits: (4)

ZOOL 4300 - Research Applications in Genetics

Credits: (4)

CJ 1350 - Introduction to Forensic Science

Credits: (3)

CJ 4110 - Physical Methods in Forensic Science

Credits: (4)

CJ 4115 - Friction Ridge Analysis Credits: (4)

CJ 4125 - Research Methods in Forensic Science Credits: (4)

Note:

Other courses may be used to fill these 10 hours of electives if approved by the Chemistry Department Chair.

Biochemistry - ACS Certified (BS)

Program Prerequisite: Students are eligible for admission to the Biochemistry (BS) Program upon completion of the requirements for the Chemical Technician (AAS) degree, the requirements of which are a subset of the Biochemistry (BS) requirements.

Minor: Not required.

Grade Requirements: Average GPA of 2.00 or better in courses within the major.

Credit Hour Requirements: A total of 120 credit hours are required for graduation. A minimum of 56 credit hours of chemistry and chemistry related course work are required with a further 18 credits in required cognate courses outside of chemistry. A total of 40 upper division credit hours (in courses numbered 3000 and above) are required for all Biochemistry majors to fulfill University graduation requirements; 36 upper division credit hours are earned while completing the Biochemistry program requirements.

Program Code: 6036BS

CIPC: 260202

General Education Requirements

Refer to Degree Requirements for Bachelor of Science requirements. The following courses required for the Biochemistry major also satisfy general education requirements for the physical sciences: CHEM 1210 and PHYS 2210 or PHYS 2010.

Advisement

All Biochemistry majors should meet with their assigned faculty advisor at least annually for course and program advisement. Initial advisement is with the Chemistry Department Chair. Call 801-626-6952 for information and to arrange an appointment.

Admission Requirements

Declare your program of study (see Enrollment Services and Information). Students are eligible for admission to the Biochemistry (BS) program upon completion of the requirements for the Chemical Technician (AAS) degree, the requirements of which are a subset of the in Biochemistry (BS) requirements.

Biochemistry-ACS Certified (BS)

Students applying for the Biochemistry Major will first complete the requirements for the Chemical Technician AAS. Courses for the AAS are included here for completeness.

Required Introductory and Foundation Courses (32 credit hours)

The following are introductory and foundation level courses that are required for the Biochemistry major.

- CHEM 1210 PS - Principles of Chemistry I
Credits: (5)
- CHEM 1220 - Principles of Chemistry II Credits:
(5)
- CHEM 2990 - Chemical Technician Seminar
Credits: (1)
- CHEM 2310 - Organic Chemistry I Credits: (4)
- CHEM 2315 - Organic Chemistry I Lab Credits:
(1)
- CHEM 3000 - Quantitative Analysis Credits: (4)
- CHEM 3070 - Biochemistry I Credits: (3)
- CHEM 3075 - Biochemistry I Lab Credits: (1)
- CHEM 3410 - Foundations in Physical Chemistry
Credits: (4)
- CHEM 3610 - Foundations in Inorganic
Chemistry Credits: (4)

Required In-Depth Courses (16 credit hours)

The following are required courses beyond the foundation and include either ZOOL 3200 - Cell Biology, or MICR 4154 - Microbial Genetics.

- CHEM 2320 - Organic Chemistry II Credits: (4)
- CHEM 2325 - Organic Chemistry II Lab Credits:
(1)
- CHEM 3080 - Biochemistry II Credits: (3)
- CHEM 3090 - Biochemical Techniques Credits:
(1)

- CHEM 4250 - Medicinal Chemistry Credits: (3)
and MICR 4154 - Microbial Genetics Credits: (4) or

ZOOL 3200 - Cell Biology Credits: (4)

Elective In-Depth Courses (select at least 8 credit hours)

Students will complete 8 hours of elective credits from the list below including courses from the chemistry, botany, microbiology or zoology departments. At least two hours of CHEM Laboratory are required. One hour of laboratory credit is embedded in most in-depth CHEM courses. Please consult the course description for more details.

- BTNY 3153 - Biology of the Plant Cell Credits: (3)
- BTNY 3204 - Plant Physiology Credits: (4)
- BTNY 3303 - Plant Genetics Credits: (4)
- BTNY 3583 - Medicinal Plants-Chemistry and Use Credits: (4)
- CHEM 3050 - Instrumental Analysis Credits: (4)
- CHEM 4150 - Nuclear Magnetic Resonance
Spectroscopy Credits: (2)
- CHEM 4420 - Quantum Chemistry Credits: (4)
- CHEM 4540 - Spectrometric and Separation
Methods Credits: (4)
- CHEM 4620 - Advanced Inorganic Chemistry
Credits: (4)
- CHEM 4630 - Materials Chemistry Credits: (4)
- CHEM 4700 - Special Topics in Chemistry
Credits: (1-3)
- CHEM 4800 - Research and Independent Study in Chemistry Credits: (1-3)
- CHEM 4990 - Senior Seminar Credits: (1)
- MICR 3254 - Immunology Credits: (4)
- MICR 3305 - Medical Microbiology Credits: (5)
- MICR 4054 - Microbial Physiology Credits: (4)
- MICR 4154 - Microbial Genetics Credits: (4)
- MICR 4252 - Cell Culture Credits: (2)
